Sound Judgement

Has always approved of those with dependents having adequate life insurance. But apart from the actual protection it gives, life insurance is one of the best and at the same time safest method by which a man can save his money. At this season of the year, when crop returns are coming in, it is both wise and timely to look forward to the day when the hand is not so strong on the plow and the step is less sprightly..

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

John Patterson, former Premier of New Brunswick at Wellington, died Dec. 21. He was a grand officer of the Legion of Honor and was born in 1845. He had also been ambassador at Madrid.

A campaign has been started by Mrs. J. H. Henderson, Washington's grand old woman, to lengthen women's skirts, and to stop the modern fingers from smoking cigarettes.

The method by which the ancient Mayas counted time based on the return of the planet Venus in the sixth century, B.C., has been discovered by Dr. Herbert Spinden, of Harvard University. It is announced.

The national death rate in the United States is placed by the commerce department at 13.9 per 100,000 of population, on the basis of figures for 1924, as compared with 12.3 in 1923, 11.8 in 1922, and 11.6 in 1921.

Ask Protection For Children

Wandering Bands In U. S. Raise Funds For Unscrupulous Purpose

Travelling across the continent, wandering bands of children, ranging in ages from 4 to 15 years, have been discovered in agenda of the department of labor, Washington. They are being used by unscrupulous persons to raise funds, presumably for their benefit.

National action to protect this new group of "migratory children" is being asked for by Miss Grace Abbott, chief of the children's bureau, in her annual report made public recently.

This sensible existence on the part of children has never been duplicated before in History since the time of the children's crusade in the middle ages.

Received Wonderful Gift

Blind From Birth Two Virginia Girls Had Sight Restored Day Before Christmas

Two mountain girls, blind since birth, walked Dec. 24 into Hahnemann hospital, Dec. 24, and marveled at the wonders they gazed upon. Their sight had been restored, a Christmas gift from their mountain neighbors, said a Huntington airport.

Neighbors interested Dr. C. M. Harris, of Huntington, in their cases and the doctor said he was willing to perform the delicate operation necessary, without cost.

The neighbors raised a fund to defray hospital expenses.

Using Reclaimed Land

Twenty thousand acres of peralluvial land in the Wabasaun district, west of Edmonton, Alberta, will be needed to thinskin and leased to farmers who want to raise hay on a large scale. It is believed the silt bottom of the shallow lake that formerly covered the area will yield four tons of hay per acre. Clovers and grasses do well in that part of the country. One farmer harvested three crops of alfalfa this season.

Any fool can talk, but only wise men know how to think.

Gave Everything To Charity

Late Queen Mother Left Little Money But Extraordinary Property

If the will of Queen Mother Alexander is published it will be found that she left almost no money. This is the understanding in court circles, where it is said that the Queen Mother's generosity was limited only by her resources. She gave away all her surplus income, and for many years she pledged all her annual allowance of £70,000 to answer to needy institutions and individuals.

However, she had much valuable property, including coins, furs, china and the art collections left by her husband, Edward VII. She also had fine libraries at Sandringham House, where she died, and at her town residence, Marlborough House. Sandringham House was left, with its furniture, to King Edward.

It is commonly supposed that King George will be able to add almost all, of his mother's property. Queen Alexandra gave most of her jewelry to other members of the royal family several years ago.

Miracle Of Sound Waves

Wonderful Things Are Performed Every Hour of the Day

As an electrical event, called "Start!" at the Nottingham Electricity Exhibition, the driving wheel of a motor whirred into movement. As he said "Light!" a cluster of electric lamps began to glow. Like the magician in the Arabian Nights, he had but to say the word and Power and the forces of Nature obeyed.

But this modern miracle was not achieved at all. The engineer had invented a device which connected sound waves, such as the human voice, up into electric waves, and these, acting on an electric circuit, released the current which turned the motor as followed through the sine-lamps to make them light. Miracles like these are performed every hour of the day when sound waves are turned into electric waves and are waited over sea and land to be transformed into sound waves again on the crystal sets of the wireless.

Importance Of Moving Pictures

Famous Movie Director Speaks Of Industry to Toronto Audience.

The importance of the movie picture as an international factor was emphasized by David Wark Griffith, famous "movie" director, in an address before the Canadian Club at Toronto. He declared that the moving picture was a great international advertiser and ambassador.

"To war and peace, it is a key industry," he said. "I would almost go a step as to say that no great country of the future can control and maintain territories throughout the world if it does not possess a strong moving picture industry. It is as of great importance to national commerce as banks and great steel industries."

Enlarging on his theme, Mr. Griffiths pointed out that the screen provided trade advertisements that needed no translation, information that no business propaganda could compare with.

Woman Has Business Genius

Started Small Store in Paris and Now Has Large Business

A woman business genius, who boasted that she had never taken a single day's vacation in fifty years, Mme. Louise Cognacq, died recently in Paris at an advanced age, she and a partner, her husband, Theodore Cognacq, set up philanthropist, but when working as clerks in a Paris drygoods house. They were married in 1822 and with their joint savings founded in Paris a little establishment, which in now a department store of enormous proportions, said to have the largest turnover in France. They amassed a colossal fortune. Every day, rain or shine, the couple, even when both were over eighty years, were the first in the store when the doors opened and the last to leave when they were closed.

Nails Used To Curb Speeders

Greek traffic cops have found that barb wards and fast motorcycles are little help in discouraging speed law violators and have resorted to the use of boards covered with long nails. These nail filled boards are crude but effective substitutes and have already planked more than any other system used by the Greek traffic cops to curb speeders.

The New Costume Blouse

One of the new silks having an attractive border design has been chosen for the trimming of this charming blouse. The waistcoat top may be cut off, making a slip over which this blouse may be worn, making a charming costume. The sleeves are gathered into cuff-like bands at the wrists, and a collar with long ends to tie in front in the back. No. 1246 is in sizes, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. A Forbidding Factor

Time Is Found to be Formidable Obstacle to Empire Broadcasting

An obstacle to empire broadcasting, which was heralded as the great event of more permanent than static, threatens at present to defeat the purpose, dominion radio listeners in England and station in England.

The idea centering in the so-called of a station which would relay the most interesting programmes through out the empire.

The forbidding factor is time. Australia's sixth is England's fifth. Dominion broadcast from London at 1 p.m. would reach Australia at 1 a.m. just as the work day began. Canada is affected by time differentials a factor never, but only in South and West Africa is the difference in time sufficiently slight to permit the maintenance of a regular programme.

Instrument Measures Trees

Shows Growth Every Day and Records Last Expansion

There has been invented a wonderful new instrument which measures the growth of a tree from day to day. It is placed around the trunk of a tree and records the growth, as the tree pushes its way upward. The instrument is known as the dendrometer, and is the invention of Mr. Chamberlain, of the forestry branch of the department of the interior. A Tribute To Chamberlain

Locarno Treaty the Biggest Stone Yet Laid in the Temple of Peace

Says the Manchester Guardian: "This country has long prided itself on the little measure that there is in its political life. The storms and bankcos of debate quickly subside among the corrugates of personal intercourse between people who do not always inspire much confidence in those with whom they disagree. But the dinner which was given to Mr. Chamberlain's honor, and which included people distinguished in a variety of the walks of life, was not exactly of this character. It was a tribute as rare as it was well deserved even in a country where friendship between political opponents is not rare. It marked not only the esteem of his opponents but their belief that he had handled an exceedingly delicate piece of business with conspicuous credit to himself and his country. For his share in the work of the Locarno treaty he has won almost universal and unqualified admiration. The Locarno treaty may not be perfect, but it is the biggest stone laid on the Temple of Peace since the foundation of the League of Nations. And among the criticisms which are levelled at Mr. Chamberlain brought just the proper, judgment and character that were needed. He did not criticize his collaborators, as he has generously acknowledged, but they were certainly not less fortunate in him."

Messages For Far North

Mounties in Arctic Circle Received New Year Greetings Over Radio

The Mounties in Baffin Land and Wollaston Land, where the Arctic Circle cut, had a New Year's Eve reception.

The wireless station operated by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police were not necessary, for the reception was merely a test, but special messages were sent from families and friends broadcast by programmes from Ottawa, Montreal, Winnipeg, Edmonton, Prince Albert, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Vancouver, Victoria, Prince Rupert, Dawson City, Aklavik and Herschel Island.

The broadcast took place Thursday night, the midnight hour marking also the relaying of the Arlington time signals.

As the old days, the Canadian police posts actually did not hear from civilization until the middle of January, when the supply ship came to Pond Inlet, Baffin Land.

Now, all the posts have their radio sets and listen to the Canadian and United States stations as they come through the bear winter.

The messages were sent by the families of the police to the police headquarters in Ottawa and forwarded for transmission.

Object Of Punishment

Protection of Law-Abiding Citizens Is First Consideration, Says Judge

Sir Walter Shaw, late chief justice of the Straits Settlements, writing to the Daily Mail, says:

I notice that the home secretary, in his address to the Penal Reform Review Aid Society, appears to have subscribed to the view that the aim of punishment is reformation. I am, I am sure, as the work day began. Canada is affected by time differentials a factor never, but only in South and West Africa is the difference in time sufficiently slight to permit the maintenance of a regular programme.

Beaverbrook's Fascinating Career

A Man of Striking Personality and Marked Versatility

Born over 46 years ago, the son of a penniless preacher; lonely associates; Montreal financier; British M.P.; peer of the realm; man of and breaker of ministries; journalist and author; half Imperialist and half Radical; Conservative and realist—Beaverbrook's career, no matter how judged, is as strange and as fascinating as a fairy tale. Summing up such a character, indeed, it is not easy to generalize. Arnold Bennett has committed himself to the statement that Beaverbrook is one of the great living Britons, and that, of course, is serious. But in entertainment a great figure, one of the forces of his time, with a personality and a career that will keep them interested for a long time to come.—Ottawa Journal.

Answer to Last Week's Puzzle

Canadian Granite For War Graves

Fifteen-Ton Granite Slabs To Be Shipped to Battlefields of France and Belgium

Embellished with fifteen-ton granite slabs from Stanstead, Que., seven of the eight miniature parks that have been designed to cover shell-scarred areas in France and Belgium, will be completed this coming summer according to Brig.-General H. F. Pinsher, of Toronto, D.S.O., engineer of Canadian battlefield memorials in three Dominion countries.

"We thought for the sake of sentiment," says Brig.-General Pinsher, "that a little bit of Canada would be a good thing to introduce into the memorials to Canadian soldiers who fought over there. Six of these blocks of granite will be shipped in January. On the stone will be traced inscriptions stating who we have selected for places in Valhalla. It is said as a suitable area for each memorial park. The dimensions of wording will be to French and English.

Turkey and Russia Cannot Join League

Prevented by Terms of Neutrality Contained in Treaty

One point which, in the discussion of the recently signed Russo-Turkish commercial pact is that it apparently prevents both countries from joining the League of Nations, inasmuch as under the terms of neutrality which the treaty establishes neither country could allow passage through its territory of troops acting on behalf of the League of Nations, against which the two have had a regard.

The French Task in Morocco

The security of Morocco as a whole has been assured for the time being, but Abdel-Krim has not suffered any decisive check; the French offensive commenced too late, must be started afresh in the spring. The intentions of the Spaniards must also be ascertained. A premature peace would ruin the seeds of war in the near future.

Silver Block Feeds

British Girl Decorates Ship

Entirely Furnished New Steamship Which Was Recently Launched

There is scarcely a woman who does not take pleasure in the interior adornment of her home, no matter how small the place in which she resides. Nevertheless, though the daughters of Eve have displayed marked talent in the many matters and professions, none has heretofore made her mark as a great decorator. But there is an exception to every rule—a fact which, in the present instance, is supported by Miss Gladys Markley. This young British society girl recently furnished and decorated the ocean steamship which bears her name. What is more, she has received compliments on the work from other vessels, variously owned.

Growth Of Poultry Industry

Two Thousand Turkeys Shipped East From Manitoba For Holiday Trade

One of the most interesting developments of mixed farming in Manitoba during the past five years, has been the unusually rapid growth of the poultry industry. Whereas a few years ago it was customary for this province to import poultry products to supply its own needs, Manitoba is now producing more of these than it can use. Two thousand turkeys in fact were shipped to Ontario alone two thousand turkeys to meet the Christmas demands of that market.

The filming of a bullet travelling at 1,000 feet per second through space so that it can be made to appear on the motion picture screen as if it were only progressing at two miles an hour has been made possible with the aid of a new camera, which is capable of taking pictures at the rate of five thousand per second.

Slightly Salt Water Prevents Exhaustion

Kidneys Can Endure High Temperature If Drinking Water Contains Salt

How a pinch of salt in the drinking water prevents the exhaustion of workers in hot coal mines and steel plants was told before the Institute of Mining Engineers in London by Sir Joshua Court recently. A similar discovery was made by Prof. Norton Moss, of the University of Birmingham. He found miners who ascended rapidly when working in a temperature of about 100 degrees were able to endure it better when their drinking water contained even one-fifth of one per cent. of salt.

Dr. J. B. S. Haldane, an English physiologist, explains that during work at a high temperature the body gives off much perspiration and with it a large amount of salt; to this depletion of salt the physical exhaustion is partly due. The addition of salt to the drinking water makes up for the loss.

SYNOPSIS

The factor, Roberval, having killed Pierrot, the trapper, buried him by the fireplace in his cabin. Then he left wife and the mother of the girl, Neposset. Then he set fire to the cabin, which had been the home of Pierrot and Neposset. Then he killed Neposset's father, who had thrown her self down a deep abyss when McTaggart tried to take her. The cabin burned, and the girl was left alone in the forest where she had always been happy. She was the daughter of a trapper and a Cree woman. She was called Neposset, which means "Little Snowbird." She was the only white person in the region. Her father had been a Scotch-Canadian. Her mother was a Cree. Neposset was born in the forest, and she knew no other life. She was a child of the wilderness. She was as much a part of the forest as the wild animals, and she was protected by the whole forests farther back. Pierrot had built a shelter for his dog Baree, and in this shelter Baree made his temporary home.

All the next day he remained outside the door of the trap-line, admiring the edge of the barren and the shadowy depths beyond. Within the cabin he could hear Neposset moving about, and he knew that she was safe. Once she came to the door and looked out, but she did not see Baree. Baree was gone.

Yesterday Baree had smelled death, and he knew without guessing that it was the same death that had overtaken Pierrot. Then he knew that Neposset was alone, and he knew that she was in danger. He knew, without guessing, that Roberval was somewhere in the trail ahead, and on to the trap-line. He had seen Pierrot. Pierrot was gone forever. His nose and his ears associated death with Roberval. He was filled with a great uneasiness; what came to him from out of the cabin told him that he was in danger. There were no tracks of Roberval's dogs. He would never hear again the swish-swish which of his approach in the trail ahead, and on on the trap-line. He did not see

THE DAIRY POOL

WITH THE new year the dairy pool is functioning in earnest. It is with considerable satisfaction that we learn that the local pool members can sell their cream to the Tofield Creamery. Apart from any satisfaction that is derived by knowing that the cream is being manufactured locally, there is the economic feature. The ultimate success of the dairy industry will rest upon the favor Alberta butter finds with the consumer. Practically everybody realizes this. It is also well known that the best cream makes the best butter and the less cream is handled before churning the better the finished product. In other words creameries close to farms have a better chance to turn out high grade butter than those a considerable distance away. We have heard it quoted that a butter maker had said some years ago that high grade butter could not be made out of cream that had travelled on a train. This was probably splitting hairs, but there is no question to the assertion that rail journeys does not help it any. The time to ship is when it is butter. In Denmark, which has for years been held up as an example for Alberta dairymen to follow, we understand creameries are numerous and close to the source of supply. Then again, with one creamery handling both independent and pool products it is only a matter of a short time before one system or the other is going to find favor. It is of course quite possible that the pool contract suits one farmer and not the other owing to the peculiarities of each man's endeavor.

THE CATTLE INDUSTRY

THERE ARE few farmers in this district that need to be reminded of the condition of the cattle industry during the past year or so. A good many of them are painfully aware of the fact that the portion of the beef cattle raiser for the most part has been plenty of work and little profit. The horizon looks a little brighter now. The market has held steady this fall, something it has not done for some years, while another cause for hope is the recent lifting of the embargo by the States. If beef cattle raisers are due for a bright spell, they surely deserve it.

We have made mention on previous occasions of the chilled beef industry. From time to time we see references regarding it in the daily and weekly press and while it has not assumed any proportions the powers that be are evidently delving into the subject and one of these days a concrete plan is likely to be submitted.

This opens up another question. Is the popular demand for baby beef a good thing for the farmer and general public? Should an animal be slaughtered at two or three years old. One farmer we spoke to was emphatic in expressing his opinion. He said, "the first year a calf grows mostly hair, the second year mostly bone and the third year beef. Most of Alberta stock is sold when around two years old and a great deal before it has ceased growing. This might in some measure explain the almost universal call for better finished stock. Anyway here is room for thought and discussion, and if you like correspondence on the subject. There are few farmers raising cattle for fun and if three year olds are more profitable than two year olds, it is good business to make it known.

Provincial Paragraphs

Issued by Publicity Commissioner, Government of Alberta, Edmonton, January 4th, 1926

Dairy Pool Starts Operations

Officials of the Alberta Co-operative Dairy Pool announce the marketing of the members' cream will commence through the agency at the beginning of the new year. The manufacturing part of the undertaking is to be handled through three creamery companies, the P. Burns Co., from deliveries at Edmonton, Stettler, Camrose, Penoka, Vermilion and Wainwright; the Wetaskiwin creamery at Wetaskiwin and the Sedgewick Co-operative creamery for that territory. It is anticipated that though these agencies the pool will be able to take care of all the cream for members north of Red Deer, this comprising 75 per cent of the provincial supply. For handling deliveries in the southern part of the province negotiations are now being carried on.

Successful Colonization Means Increased Immigration

The continued development, progress and prosperity of Canada is depended on upon a continued increase in population, and having now entered upon the second quarter of "Canada's Century" it is of prime importance to them settlers and their country that all Canadians take a keen and active interest in promoting this, the foundation stone and greatest asset.

It has, however, become increasingly evident during the past few years that the problem that confronts Canada in the field of immigration is not so much immigration itself as colonization. If the Federal Government and Parliament are to take to heart the best interests of the country and the settlers and not carry large numbers of people from Europe, a connection would come to Canada. But it is open to serious question whether an unrestricted influx of people would be in the best interests of the Dominion, or of those becoming people themselves.

Neither Government and Parliament, nor Canadians in general, are of the opinion that such an unrestricted influx of people would be desirable. The opinion still prevails, and wisely so, that there must be selection of land grants, although it is now recognized that there can well be, and ought to be, some relaxation of the restrictions imposed during those years immediately following the war.

While, therefore, immigration regulations will undoubtedly be modified, and efforts put forth to receive a larger number of people in this and succeeding years, the main effort of the Dominion Government, immigration agents, and all bodies primarily interested in the settlement of our vacant areas, will be in the direction of successful and therefore permanent settlement; in a word, the promotion of colonization, rather than the mere immigrant element of the immigration of people to Canada.

That experience establishes the wisdom and necessity of such a policy. Carrying it into effect, however, cannot be left solely to Government. It will be well for the active interest and participation of the whole people be enlisted, and may well constitute one of the major activities of all organizations such as Boards of Trade, Canadian Clubs, the various service clubs, farmers' organizations, churches, Community Clubs, and all kindred organizations.

Successful colonization means the placing of new settlers in districts where their lands will be contiguous with others, where their environments and neighbors will be congenial, where they will not lack the essentials necessary to the success of proper, prosperous, contented homes.

To this end Canadians, late in 1924 the Swiss Reformed Society was organized in Canada under a Dominion Charter with headquarters in Montreal, with the object of encouraging Swiss settlement in Canada. This Society in its first year, has been markedly successful in securing the support, financial and otherwise, of prominent people throughout Canada, in Switzerland and the United States. It is engaged in getting in touch with all Swiss now resident in Canada and ascertaining the measure of their success here, the problems which confronted them and how they were overcome, the problems and difficulties still to be overcome. The Society aims to help them, but in the same time to make known to prospective immigrants from Switzerland the actual experiences and successes of their countrymen in Canada, and to assist such new immigrants to locate, to desirable communities on arrival here and to help them in all possible ways to succeed. That is, there is an organized society to which all Swiss in Canada can turn for helpful advice and assistance.

Reference may be made to another development which is bound to have a permanently beneficial colonization effect. In its constitution work the Canadian Red Cross Society since at the inauguration of health, the prevention of disease, and the mitigation of suffering. In its efforts in those directions it has taken particular notice of the need of medical care for expectant mothers and children, and sick and accident cases among the new settlers in remote and pioneer districts where doctors are few in number and far distant from the settlers' homes, and where as yet the population is too small to warrant the establishment of hospitals. In such districts, the Red Cross, it entails nothing hurried or foolish will only qualified nurses in charge. Two such districts have now been established by the Red Cross in Alberta, one in Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Northern Ontario. Others are being opened as rapidly as the funds of the Red Cross will permit, and only recently an Outpost Hospital nursing association donated funds for the equipment of two additional outposts in Saskatchewan in districts into which British settlers are now going.

These are real means adopted to promote permanent and successful colonization. Such activities as the two cited, and others that might be mentioned in this same short to view, are deserving of the united sympathy and hearty support of the people of Canada. They are helpful to both Canada, and to bring about the realization of the prophecy that the "Twentieth Century belongs to Canada."

Successful colonization means not only retaining the settlers who do come, but it means larger immigration because an ever increasing number of people will come to participate in the success of those others. That will Canada grow and prosper as it could to do and as Nature by her varied and bountiful gifts intended it should.

Arabs Using Autos Instead Of Camels

Sheiks Find Them Practical in Raising Enemy Tribes

American automobiles, which had already put the sheik on the blink, is now getting him into a Ford. For centuries camel-riding, says a London Morning Post dispatch from Bagdad, has also raided Arab, relying on the camel as a means of traversing the vast spaces which separate one desert encampment from another.

But in this country of change the time-honored "ship of the desert" seems doomed to be replaced by the motor car, for one of the Iraq tribes recently carried out a raid against another in Syrian territory by means of three Ford cars.

The tall, bearded figured of Alf Al-Yawwar, sheik of the tribe concerned has forgotten more about cars in driving Arab drove during his Ford in the streets of Bagdad. The discovery of the tactical value of which the Ford can be put has, in the eyes of the Bedouin, evoked a once menial task to fine charms.

THE CHEERFUL WOMAN

Is One Who Has the Rich, Red Blood of Good Health

The fact that one woman is bright-eyed, rosy cheeked, strong and cheerful, while another is pale, weak and depressed is due more often than not to the condition of the blood. The way to remedy this defect is to build up the blood-cells and get this purpose there is no other medicine like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A case in point is that of Mrs. Hedda Hall, who lives on Acton Street, Hamilton, Ontario. "About two years ago I was completely run down and was unable to do my housework. I had no appetite, suffered from headaches and was troubled with dizziness. I was also very nervous and could not sleep. I was under the doctor's treatment for some time but got no better. I began to get new health and strength after I had taken a few boxes, and day by day this improvement continued until I was again well and able to do all my housework, and I have to do all of my own work. I can, therefore, recommend your pills too highly and advise those who are looking for health and happiness to give them a fair trial."

Sound Judgement

Has always approved of those with dependents having adequate life insurance. But apart from the actual protection it gives, life insurance is one of the best and at the same time safest method by which a man can save his money. At this season of the year, when crop returns are coming in, it is both wise and timely to look forward to the day when the hand is not so strong on the plow and the step is less sprightly.. Apprenticeship Plan in B.C.

Beginners Will Be Indentured Same As System in Great Britain

The indentured apprentice system practised with success in the British Isles by many years, will be given a thorough tryout in the building trades of British Columbia.

The Vancouver board of trade and the trades and labor council have thrown their support behind the project and a committee of labor and contractors' representatives has been appointed to act as an apprenticeship council. The first work of the committee will be the undertaking of a survey to secure the interest of contractors in the apprenticeship principle and to ascertain the requirements of apprentices.

The apprenticeship plan has received much interest among the youth of the city and many inquiries have been made. It is expected to be an important benefit to contractors who, under present conditions, complain that it is difficult to encourage boys and young men to continue as a specific trade long enough to acquire skill. The plan is expected to lead to a general stimulation of industrial efficiency.

Says Hoover's Statements Unwise

London Times Comments On His Criticism of Britain Regarding Rubber

The London Times, which previously had not commented editorially on the rubber controversy, says:

"We regret that Secretary Hoover allowed himself to be drawn into a series of statements which can only be described as inaccurate, misleading and calculated to cause ill-feeling among Americans imperfectly familiar with the facts. His allegations of profiteering—for that is what they amount to—are quite unjustified.

"It is not a case for overstimulation, but for common sense. At the best, Mr. Hoover's interests cannot increase the world's production of rubber; at the worst, they may serve to check a world-wide movement for the understable adjustment of economic differences between nations by mutual concession and agreement."

Canada In 1926

Dominion Is Now On the Crest Of a Wave of Prosperity

Canada is entering upon a new year with possibility the best prospects she has ever had. For some reason or other, whether it has been of our own making or that nature has been particularly kind to us, says the natural resources intelligence service of the department of the interior, we have just passed through a year of good crops, our mining industry has been active, our forest resources have been actively developed and our manufacturing plants have greatly increased production. In fact, the possibilities seem to be about all we could desire, and there is only one question to be answered, "Are we prepared to make the most of our opportunities?"

If we sit down and limit the range of our vision to our immediate view we may not see the bright outlook, while if we wish to be pessimists we can certainly find an excuse for being so, but we would have difficulty in finding a less fair reason for any feeling of despondency. Canada's climate, the result of past war conditions, are rapidly clearing away, and from the silver lining is shining forth a brightness that bids fair to place Canada upon the crest of the wave of prosperity in the coming year.

World Championship Dog Derby Planned

Will Exceed The Pan Derby By Twenty-three Miles

A world championship dog derby to be "top of the world and back," will be run for the first time in the month of June, according to the Banff winter carnival this year. This course, from Calgary to the Arctic circle and return to Banff will be the longest dog race ever staged, covering a total of 2,500 and will exceed The Pan derby by 23 miles. The Stampeders' trophy and $1,500 in cash will be the prizes.

From Calgary, the dog teams will travel to a point 60 miles north of Lacombe, a distance of 125 miles. The contestants will then return to Banff via Lake Louise, completing the first section of 175 miles. Radio May Cure Deafness

Manitoba Government Considering the Installation of Receiving Apparatus in School for the Deaf

Installation of radio receiving apparatus in the Manitoba School for the Deaf is under consideration by the Provincial Government. Such action awaits only receiving sets that each would be beneficial, according to Dr. H. Fletcher, deputy minister of education.

The authorities, while inclined to postpone action pending expert opinion on the curative influence of radio, have been assured by the head of a class of deafness which have recently had the benefit of radio in their class facilities through the use of the radio. Many children at the provincial school for the deaf have been trained in purely as an experiment, Thomas Rodwell, superintendent, declares. Concentration of sound, he said, would make it possible for those almost deaf to distinguish between sounds, but as nothing extraordinary had yet been obtained he did not think it right to raise false hopes in those afflicted.

The remainder is made up of two Farmer-Labor candidates, three Independent Conservatives, two Liberal-Protectionists, five Independents, one Independent Progressive, one Socialist, and six who were officially nominated, but who did not go in the polls. Three of the four women candidates forfeit their deposits.

Designs New Cloth

New Fabric Is Invented By a Noted London Designer

London and Paris fashion will see an entirely new fabric created by a noted London designer. He claims the invention has been kept a secret but it is known that ostrich feathers pinched from the cuffs and specially prepared and woven are the basis of it.

The cloth is lighter than thistledown and softer than the finest crepe de chine, and it displays a different appearance in every light. The colors and shades of yards of the material are beautiful, the striking is the cloth that the manufacturers say they expect it to be all the rage in the West End ballrooms this winter.

Cancer Not Infectious

Leading U. S. Medicos Give Views On This Dread Scourge

Three outstanding conclusions were announced by leading exponents of medicine and surgery during a symposium on cancer, conducted in the University by the American Society of Zoologists.

These conclusions were:

(1) That cancer is not an infectious disease.

(2) That cancer cannot be developed except by changes in tissue that is a hereditary cancerous strain.

(3) That every person inherited at birth with a cancerous strain cannot develop the disease spontaneously, but only through the agency of some external force, chief among which is fractional irritation.

The first was expounded by Dr. James B. S. Murphy, of the Rockefeller Foundation for medical research; Dr. L. C. Strong, of the Bussey Institute, Harvard, expounded Dr. Murphy in his finding, and added his conclusions on heredity, which were diagnosed, however, by Dr. James Ewing, of Cornell.

Another announcement of significance was that of Dr. H. J. Barge, of the Cornell Medical College, who reported that experiments with tobacco and study of the clinical history of 200 cancerous patients indicated that the smoking of babies bum little, if any, effect in producing cancer of the throat. Scientists have supposed to the contrary, he believed, had a noticeable effect in fostering cancer (not cancer-ridden).

Kaiser Preaches Sermon

Gave Discourse Christmas Morning On a Just Peace

Exiles did not interfere with the sermon Germany's emperor delivered Christmas morning. They began in the great hall of the palace of Doorn, Holland, with a sermon by William who, with black skull cap protecting his head from the cold, preached on "Peace." Briefly and a just peace between an ardent desire which he and Princess Hermine, and her children.

The invited guests included members of the household and the friend of the Dutch gendarmes, and the staff of the former Emperor's court. One of the guests later said that William delivered his sermon with the gestures of a dramatic actor.

At 4 o'clock in the evening, in the "Imperial" apartments of Princess Hermine, accompanied by his wife, visited the guests, and later princes from Germany, and the four families of the village. Some of them also received compliments of the former emperor by William on his estate.

The iron tubing will be surrounded by eight feet of concrete and also will be lined with concrete to prevent corrosion.

New Power For Engines

Scientists Say Discovery of Dutch Inventor May Be Important

A Dutch patent office has issued a patent for running an engine on powder of compressed iron. The inventor, a Dutchman, has found that if mineral sands containing titanium are heated to 1,200 degrees centigrade, the atoms will disintegrate, and an energy-bound power of new will be developed. The sand is heated in a small electric furnace, and the heat which is produced in the breaking up of the atom is used to heat the water in a boiler, and this drives an engine or turbine.

It is too soon to say anything about the commercial practicability of the process, but our scientific experts assure us that if we can only harness the power which golden in the atom we can accomplish wonders, and our own map our fingers as the coal mine. The scientific it is, however, rather an important one, and while we hope for cheap power we are not too confident of securing it immediately.

Quebec Tourist Trade

Estimated Province Benefitted to Extent of Twenty Million Dollars Last Year

During the tourist season of 1925, $15,000,000 was spent in the province of Quebec from the United States and other Canadian provinces. This amount was derived, according to the Quebec Automobile Club which draws its information from official and semi-official sources. On the basis of four persons to a car, it would appear that one million persons came into the provinces of Quebec by automobile during the past season. Each of these is estimated to have spent at least twenty dollars. Quebec, therefore, benefitted to the extent of $20,000,000.

Study Of Cancer

Difference In Mortality in Various Countries Remains Unexplained

The reason for the pronounced difference in the mortality from cancer in Ry from manner remains unexplained and may be attributed to a great variety of causes. This report has been made by the cancer commission of the League of Nations after an exhaustive inquiry into the subject. The commission declares, however, that the investigation has developed material for a more detailed comparison than has previously been possible on the incidence of mortality from cancer in terms of locality and nationality.

Queen Mother Left Gems to Prince of Wales

Another hint to marriage-able young women has been added to the mental load charme of the Prince of Wales. The new hire, if hire were needed, is jewels, gorgeous, regal jewels. The late Queen Alexandra, Edward's grandmother, left her jewels, valued at several hundreds of thousands of dollars, to the gay Prince for the decoration of his coronation robes, according to reports of the royal will. Alexandra's will, like all such documents, is secret. Its terms might be published after all concerned are dead, but never before.

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyright, 1917, by James Oliver Curwood

SYNOPSIS

Baree, the wolf-dog, coursing through the forest, meets Wabigoon, beloved the trap-line she and her father used to trap-line. She frees a number of rabbits in the trap and he did not get hungry, but he found Wabigoon of the girl. He was a changed Baree. He was more than half wolf, but he never saw the wolf-bred now, and when Wabigoon drop in the throat when he found the cry of the pack.

CHAPTER XXIII.—Continued.

Again, in the heart of a fierce February storm, he pursued a bull caribou to the death, and plunged over a cliff and broke his neck.

Again, in the heart of a fierce February storm he pursued a bull caribou down the river, and plunged over a cliff and broke its neck.

All these things were happening, and the birds had mated and nested, and still Baree was alone. And at last something broke inside of Baree, his last hope, perhaps, his last dream, and he fled deep south by the Grey Lown.

CHAPTER XXIV.

It was early in August when Baree left the Grey Loon. He had no objective in view. But there was still left upon his mind, like the dullness of impending evil, a shadow on a negative, the memories of his early days. Things and happenings that he had almost forgotten recurred to him now, as his trail led him farther and farther away from the Grey Loon, and his earlier experiences became more vivid. He remembered how in his mind by the breaking of the last thaw, he held down to the lower of Wilson Post Knives and Gray Beaver, and the old wildmind, and put now these came back to him terribly and with Papoonhow. It was his fate's experiences that caused the older memories. His sense to the Mistassini Indian, who befriended him when Sagoosa and Dreux had chased him. That started him yesterday.

And now, for the first time in many days, a bit of the old time carelessness crept into Baree's feet. Memories that had been rusty and indistinct through forgetfulness were becoming restless again, and as he would have returned to the Grey Loon had Wabigoon been there or now, with something of the feeling of a wanderer coming home, he returned to the old haunts.

It was that most glorious time of summer's day—sunset—when he reached it. He stopped a breathless away, with the pant still hidden from his sight, and sniffed the air, and listened. The pool was there. He caught the cool, honey smell of it. He heard the splash of fish, and all the others! Would he find them? He strained his ears to catch a familiar sound, and after a moment or two it came—a hollow splash in the water. He went quietly through the alders and stood at last close to the spot where he had first made the acquaintance of Unlok. The surface of the pond was undulating slightly; two or three heads popped up, he saw, and

Self-Poisoning Takes Huge Toll

Many Fall in Life Through Sheer Neglect of Fundamental Rule of Health

Thousands of men and women are daily victims of their own negligence. Grouchy, listless, quick-tiring, suffering from headaches and biliousness, they spend enormous sums in medicines without avail. They would give much to regain their old vitality.

Can it be done? Yes! Fred Hoyt Simply by recognizing the importance of one fundamental rule to health—the proper elimination of the bowel contents every day. Here is the way to do it, says Miss Wilkes' Worm Powders. They stimulate, weaken the nerves and thus save the way to ill-health. Stop this self-poisoning by taking Nadrid—the scientific laxative that complements the work of Nature's laboratory when, through modern living conditions, the natural supply fails.

Nadrid can be taken indefinitely without injury to the system. Try Nadrid to-day. Ask for it at your nearest drug store, but remember there is only one Nadrid. Watch for the name "Nadrid" in red on the label and package.

Believes All Life Originated In Asia

R. C. Andrews Says People Related to American Indians

Mr. Roy Chapman Andrews, who is connected with the American Museum of Natural History third expedition into the depths of Mongolia and the Gobi Desert, declared: "My personal conclusions on our second expedition to the Gobi Desert are that all life originated and thrived on the Asiatic plateau, now the Gobi Desert. We found traces of human bodies who lived 20,000 years ago. These people migrated to other parts of the world, but the cradle of life is there. I believe people were related to the American Indians. I am convinced that a land bridge once connected Asia and North America, and that a great sea extended, in palaeolithic times, through the entire central Asiatic plateau, from the Caspian Sea to the Pacific ocean."

SHOPPING AT THE MADEIRA ISLANDS

Empress of Scotland in Madeira Bay

To buy, or not to buy,—that is the question. 'Tis a simple question to answer at the Madeira Islands, where cruise boats usually make their first stop, because of the wonderful display of lacework and embroideries which have gained much in advertising the beauties of the islands where Columbus found his wife! The difficulty is, which pieces of the thousands displayed should be selected. Madeira luncheon sets, pillow cases, tea cloths and doilies are both attractive and practical, and if you have ring friends or polite nieces at home, you will not be able to resist the adorable little baby dresses of the sheerest linen and daintiest embroidery.

At Funchal, first stop of the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Scotland" on its Mediterranean cruise, there are dozens of shops where this embroidery is sold. The natives also make intricately woven baskets and reed furniture, but furniture is not easy to carry round on a cruise, and even baskets are rather cumbersome, although there's scarcely any limit to the amount of luggage long suffering steamship companies allow their passengers. Funchal, the sunny streets of Funchal, paved with small, round topped stones laid in geometrical designs, that the lady shopper may make no purchases. Sensible, if such is with you, you may be able to buy an exquisite piece of handwork from a poorly woman engrossed in her fragrant garden. But if you are a bachelor, remember the fate of Columbus and beware the fair maids of Madeira.

It is not even necessary to set foot on the soil of Madeira to buy the tempting native products, for hundreds of small boats, with natives vociferously displaying their wares, come dancing over the waves to meet the cruise steamers. But the prices are not so reasonable and the handwork not so fine as in the shops along the narrow, queerly paved streets. Then, too, it would be a pity to miss a ride in the peculiar toboggan sleds which are the chief means of transportation down Funchal's big mountain, Terrace de Funchal.

Radium Hot Springs In The Rockies

Sixty-four years ago, when Sir Georges Simpson was making the first overland tour around the world, he came across some hot springs on the western slopes of the Rocky Mountains which the local Kootenay Indians frequented on account of their curative properties.

As the white settlers came in after the Wild Horse Creek Gold Rush, these came to be called The Fairmont Hot Springs, and became a well known landmark on the Government road from Lake Windermere to Golden. Sir Henry Mc-Laren Tate reached the Hon. Hugh Holland, purchased them and erected baths, pavilions, and two years ago made extensive improvements in connection with the development of a bungalow camp. The waters on analysis prove to contain a higher percentage of radium in solution than any other Springs on the American Continent, higher even than those at Arkansas, in addition to valuable curative deposits of magnesium and lime. The Canadian Pacific Railway had obtained right of way through his property in consideration of calling their station Radium, and these Radium Hot Springs now attract many visitors, the camp having a capacity for seventy persons.

A special bath is now being constructed for the Indians, under the superintendence of Louis Arbel, the Kootenay Chief, while they will also have a spacious swimming pool surrounded by sympathetic dark green rooming rooms. There is a tennis court and horses with guides are available for riding the neighboring trails, while large numbers of automobilists visit the Springs during the summer months. Mr. Owen Holland has the idea of making this an all-year resort, as the springs have a temperature of 120° even in winter. The only fly in the ointment is that the Government refuses to run cruises in automobiles traffic through the Rockies.

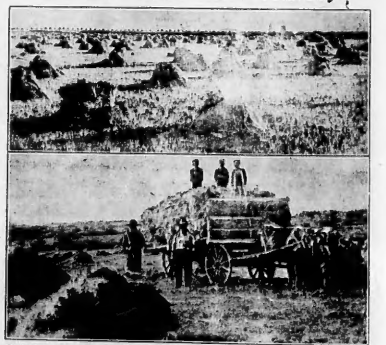
C.P.R. Makes Grain History



In handling the Canadian banner grain harvest of 1925, the Canadian Pacific Railway left established record after record in the marketing and hauling of grain so that the figures for the current year constitute a record not only for Canada but for the world.

Hector, assistant superintendent of transportation of the C.P.R., has issued a report covering the movement of grain from Canadian Pacific western lines from August 1 up to midnight Friday, November 13. It is shown that on one day, Friday, November 6, 2,339,000 bushels of grain were marketed and on Friday, November 13, 1,924,000 cars containing approximately 2,021,000 bushels of grain were loaded. In the twenty-four hours of that day this represents 84 cars loaded every hour or a little more than one and one-third cars per minute.

Usually marketings and loadings take a sudden drop with the approach of the close of navigation but this year there was little diminution as the report shows loadings on December 8 at 1,425 cars.

Despite adverse weather conditions in the month of October which retarded threshing, marketings up to December 13 on Canadian Pacific lines in Canada totalled 195,815,000 bushels of wheat and 96,545,500 bushels of coarse grains. During the same period 818,180 cars carrying approximately 773,194,000 bushels were loaded. Of the loading, 2,000 cars went to Vancouver, and a considerable amount was delivered by interior flour mills, but the great bulk went to the head of the lakes, Fort William and Port Arthur, passing through the Winnipeg yards, including North Transcona, the largest individual yards in Canada having a capacity of 10,000 cars.

From Vancouver the movement was over a 420 mile stretch of double track line to the lake front and on the run some records were also made, the highest number of loads moved eastward in any one day being 1,646. The daily average was in numbers of four figures.

The arrangements made by the Canadian Pacific Railway for the conveyance of the crop worked smoothly, and there was not a single case of car shortage justifying the provinces made in the way of up-to-date facilities and heavy freight power.

Here and There

During the twelve months ended October 31st, 1925, Canada exported to 53 countries and colonies 12,304 cars valued at $13,103,802 and trucks valued at $5,116,000 and also auto parts worth $4,572,875. Automobile exports during the corresponding period 1923-24 totalled 43,154 cars valued at $23,103,537.

A total of 10,261 acres was planted to tobacco in Ontario in 1925, yielding 20,623,000 pounds according to figures issued by the Federal Government. In 1924, 12,572 acres were planted, yielding 12,153,000 pounds. In 1923 the average yield per acre was 1,330 pounds as compared with 914 pounds per acre last year.

Branch offices of Japanese flour mills are to be established in Winnipeg soon, it is understood, so as to be in a good position to buy wheat. Two representatives of the Mitsui Flour Mills and Mitsui Grain Company, of Tokio, were in Winnipeg recently, making arrangements for the purchase of 160,000 tons of wheat for the two firms.

Ernest Rolph, a Toronto architect, has claims to the discovery of the first fossilized remains of eggs of prehistoric reptiles. He found them in a deep cutting between Lethbridge and MacLeod in the shape of about 15 perfectly round stones. The eggs measure 2½ inches in diameter and are now being investigated by Professor Parks of Toronto.

In order to create a better understanding of the game, an all-star team of Big Brothers, under Mr. C. Courlier, plans arrived in Saint John, N.B., recently and made a tour right across the country, exclusively on Canadian Pacific lines, playing exhibition games in the largest cities for George Thomas, Bart., is captain of the team which sails for home on December 30.

M. U. Bates, who operates a chain of camps in the Matagama district of Ontario, reported to the tourist department of the Canadian Pacific Railway that the record for the 1925 season was fourteen moose, two deer and nine bear, taken by ten parties of full hunters totalling 29 persons. Most of the visitors were satisfied as 79 percent of them made reservations for next year.

A prize of $1,000 weekly, offered by a Chicago publication for a deed of bravery, came to Canada for the first time. J. D. Partridge, fireman on the Canadian Pacific Railway, out on the run between Calgary, Alta., and Field, B.C., is to receive the reward for saving the lives of five men who were in danger from a huge rock and mud slide on the Field Hill, August 21 last.

Canadian roses grown at Brampton, Ontario, and sent to Sir Georges McLaren Brown, European general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, stationed in London, scored a decided hit with Londoners. Large crowds gathered to see the Canadian blooms which were on display in the windows of the offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Trafalgar Square.

Christmas holiday passenger traffic to the British Isles was especially heavy this season on Canadian Pacific Railway lines. Over 1,200 passed over those lines in the last two weeks of November, while others arrived later in time to get the S.S. Melita and the S.S. Metagama which sailed from Saint John, N.B., on December 10 and 11. Westerners all seem to be in very good financial circumstance owing to the good crops the past season.

Trade and War

The League of Nations is about to conduct an exhaustive inquiry into the subject of industry and commerce as they affect war. It is about time such an international probe to ascertain because there is a growing belief among the masses of people in all countries that many of the wars of the past have been deliberately incited by industrial interests or by groups not so compacted, but yet broad national interests, but because of selfish trade rivalries and hostility.

It is to be earnestly hoped that the proposed inquiry will include a study to the effect which protective tariff have not only on trade itself, but on patriotic aspirations and feelings of the people of one country towards another. That is to say, the effect of the erection of one nation in imposing a high tariff wall against the products or another upon the maintenance of friendly feelings between the two countries. We venture the opinion that if all international trade was free and unrestricted by any man-made artificial barrier, there would be fewer prejudices, enmities, and jealousies, leading to ill-feeling and in some cases war between nations.

No two national groups in the world are closer together in thought, sentiment and ideals than the United States of America and the British Commonwealth of Nations. They have lived in peace with each other for over one hundred years, and where United States and British territory join not a fort exists nor a gun is mounted. Yet over and above friendship and ideals is nearly every instance some petty industrial or commercial question is at issue.

For example, at the present time a great hostility is being raised in the United States because of the high price of rubber, of which almost three quarters of the world's supply is raised within the British Empire. On the other hand, the United States sometimes shows this same quantity during the war, prices of crude rubber ranged almost fifty cents a pound. Following the war the price dropped to around seventeen cents, which was below production. The British Government established a special type of export duty which was declared to reduce production. It was so arranged as to discourage production only during periods of high prices, the idea being to create a steady supply at a fair return. The measure went into effect in 1922 and last year the effects began to be felt, rubber rising in price to around 34½c a pound.

The big United States automobile manufacturers and other large users of rubber are bitterly complaining and charge the British with an unfair hold by policy. Some very severe things are being said against the British attitude and much anti-British feeling is being engendered. The United States Government and Congress are taking official cognizance of the situation. Not only so, but this threats are being made as to United States action should Canada, for its own national interests, find it necessary to impose an export duty on pulpwood and paper. All kinds of retaliatory measures are being threatened.

The United States constitution prohibits the imposition of export taxes. But the United States has for years maintained the highest protective tariff on imports known to the world, a tariff which amounts in many cases to an actual prohibition of imports. Canada and Great Britain are the chief sufferers from these protective tariffs. They operate to close the United States markets—one natural market—to Canada's cattle and wheat. But while Canadians do not like it, too consider it very friendly, they are not complaints but, but are going about their own business of developing other markets.

During the war, Great Britain borrowed billions of dollars from the United States, but it expended every dollar in the purchase of goods in that country, paying without protest the very high prices demanded in the States. Thus the United States became inordinately prosperous and wealthy while Britain was impoverished. And Britain was obliged to do that, lest for her very existence, her fighting forces and her other allies, in the person of Canada complained.

The adversity and inconsistencies of the United States position is seen, however, in that, while denouncing the British action in regard to crude rubber, proposals are now before the United States Government and Congress to adopt exactly the same principle in order to raise United States agricultural values of the doldrums. About 40 per cent of United States farm products are sold abroad. That is the surplus or production over domestic consumption. To sell the entire crop, prices have to go down to the foreign level, and that level is frequently below the cost of production. Hence the farmers have a real grievance.

As best as can be seen unless United States cost of production in the end was reduced there can be made profitable to sell at prices obtained abroad. This means curtailed production for the time being. Just what the British hoped about in the case of crude rubber. Unless some similar action is taken to curtail farm production in the United States to the required amounts at its home market, the only other way to curtail production is for farmers to abandon their unprofitable. It is proposed, therefore, that the United States should fix prices, but if the Government should do this, without the assignments of the British plan, and thus make farming profitable, then it would be increased, rather than decreased, production, and the problem of the surplus would become worse and worse.

Man made a total blunder when he undertook to interfere with the economic law of supply and demand and mankind is restless and regular international trouble is the impossible of tariff walls. It has resulted in trouble and dissatisfaction at home, and international ill-will abroad. Perhaps the Chinese of Nations inquiry will result in some helpful suggestions, even though a complete solution may not be possible.

If Your Daughter Shows Signs of Anaemia a Tonic is Needed

Anaemia is simply a lack of blood in one of the most common and at the same time most dangerous troubles from which growing girls suffer. It is common because the blood of every human being needs renewing occasionally, when girls often grow rapidly, and when they are recovering from attacks of measles, scarlet fever or influenza. It is common because of the thoughtless way in which mothers allow their girls to grow sturdy and healthy. Every girl should be taught to look after her own health by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The wonderful power in her enhanced by the small price at which it sells.

Put Your Prosperous For Canadian National

Freight and Passenger Traffic Have Both Shown Increase

Having witnessed the transition from a period of operating deficits to one where the lines in the western region have earned operating profits for the company, the calendar year 1925 will go down in history as a successful one for the Canadian National Railways in Western Canada, declared Mr. W. A. Kingsland, general manager of western lines, in an interview at Winnipeg. Freight and passenger traffic, express and telegraph business all have shown increases, and operating costs have been reduced to a full parting with the annual figures which will be issued from system headquarters in Montreal shortly, will show an operating profit for the lines throughout the western region, which stretches from Armstrong, Ont., at the head of the lakes, to the Pacific coast. While the latter part of the year showed a decrease in due to the industrial relief of crops in the prairie provinces, there have also been increases in other commodities handled and the Canadian National as well as the great increase in the passenger traffic handled.

Reflections at the present time are that the lines starting with the year 1926, as all signs point to continued improvement in business in the west and to a greatly increased handling of the tonnage movement which, of course, will have its effect on the net earnings during the coming year. Plans for handling this prosperity are already being made, Mr. Kingsland declared. The Canadian National Railways system, he said, continued thought is given to methods whereby any improvement in the transportation service in the public can be made.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JANUARY 17

JESUS AND NICODEMUS

Golden Text: God so loved the world, that He gave His only-begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish, but have eternal life. John 3:16.

Lesson: John 3:1-17; 7:45-52; 19:38-42.

Devotional Reading: John 3:31-36.

Explanations and Comments

Nicodemus Came to Jesus.—Verse 1, 2—Nicodemus was a Jew with a Greek name. He was a Pharisee, a member of that sect which as a rule spoken by the Gospels as bigoted and hypocritical, and a ruler of the Jews, a member of the Sanhedrin, the council of seventy men who formed the Jewish Court of Justice. He appears in the Gospels also in John 7:45-52; 19:39. Gradually he came to be brought more and more into the confessing of Christ's body.

It was at night that Nicodemus made his famous visit to Jesus. He was only willing to risk his reputation by being seen visiting the new Rabbi. (We are told later that some even on the Sanhedrin believed in Jesus, but did not dare let it be known lest they be put out of the Synagogue, Jn. 12:42.)

"Rabbi," said Nicodemus, "we know that thou art a teacher come from God, for no one can do these signs that thou doest, except God be with him." Nicodemus was convinced that Jesus was a divinely-commissioned Teacher, that Jesus' teaching was God-given and that Jesus' miracles had no other meaning than that God was with Him.

Will Link Empire

With Air Service

Former Air Secretary Predicts This Will Come Early

That nations of the British empire would be closely-linked by air transportation systems within the next few years, is the opinion expressed by Lord Thomson, who was secretary of state for air in the British Labor Government. Lord Thomson is a firm believer in aircraft particularly.

"I feel since the time is coming when Canada will be linked up air with the Motherland," he said.

Canada should be an advantageous country for the development of commercial aviation. Lord Thomson thought. With such vast territory to be utilized for the use of mails. Many can hardly go to by power in allaying pain, and many more can certify that they owe their health to it. Its wonderful power is not confined to the small pains and ailments which it relieves.

Hope To Reduce Cost Of Paper

May Use Eucalyptus Wood For Newsprint, Says United States Official

A source that will give a plentiful supply of newsprint paper at low cost has been found, according to Dr. Raphael Zon, chief of the forest experiment station of the United States department of agriculture.

Successful experiments, conducted by the laboratory, have resulted in the production of paper from eucalyptus wood grown in San Pedro, Brazil. A small roll has already been pressed and a newspaper showed favorable printing quality and ample strength, Dr. Zon declared. Further experiments say. This paper can be produced at about half the cost of the newsprint imported now—print, the labor salary estimated.

Sun Spots May Not Affect Weather

Experts at the Toronto meteorological office doubt very much if the spots on the sun have any effect on the weather. W. H. Jackson, assistant meteorological expert, said he was looking at the sun and saw only a small cool groups of sun spots. "You could drop the earth into the corner of either one of them," he declared. "There were 51 spots in one group alone. He said it had not been definitely decided what influence, if any, the sun spots had on weather conditions.

Why He Succeeded

Dr. Pierre's Golden Medical Discovery is a study of medicine in Cincinnati, where he was graduated in 1902, was the secretary of Dr. R. V. Pierce and,

By his younger days he practised medicine over a large district. It was then the Dr. Pierre established Invalids' Hotel. He determined to put up some of his own medicines, and called it after the late Dr. Pierce's larger knowledge of medicine.

He then only owned to Buffalo, N. Y., and established the Invalids' Hotel there where he put up Dr. Pierre's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood as well as the Favorite Prescription for women, carefully-graded from these two medicines are and placed them with druggists everywhere.

During the last sixty years Dr. Pierre's Golden Medical Discovery has been the largest specialties by druggists than any other medicine for the blood as well as the stomach, and digestive apparatus. It is an alterative to purify the blood, and skin. It increases the appetite, tones the digestion, enriches the blood, and makes both men and women feel as they did when they were young and care free.

Ask your druggist for Dr. Pierre's Discovery, in tablet or liquid form, or send for his trial pkg. of tablets to Dr. Pierre's Laboratory, in Bridgeburg, Ont.

WANT LOWER FREIGHT RATES ON ALBERTA COAL

Toronto.—Following a half-hour conference on ways and means of securing adequate coal supplies from Alberta for Ontario, Premier Howard Ferguson gave Hon. J. Brownlee, premier of Alberta, the assurance that as soon as the Alberta Government was able to secure from the Dominion Government an order-in-council which will permit a special reference of Alberta coal rates to the Dominion railway board the Ontario Government will co-operate with Alberta in joint representation of the case. Premier Brownlee held a number of conferences in connection with the movement of coal from Alberta to Ontario.

One conference was attended by the coal commission for Ontario, which includes representatives of the United Farmers of Ontario, Toronto Board of Trade, Canadian Manufacturers' Association and other associations. The only stumbling block to consumers of the scheme was cost of transportation, it was stated.

SAY THAT U.S. RUBBER PROBE IS PROPAGANDA

Washington.—Continuing with its investigation of the British control of the crude rubber supply and other foreign monopolies, the house committee engaged in the probe yesterday listened to a number of representatives of the United States rubber industry.

Meanwhile in the house the advisability of the investigation was questioned by several Democratic members, Representatives Black, New York, and Connally, of Texas, both asserting that the committee should turn its attention to monopolies in this country over which congress has legislative powers.

Secretary Hoover's position in view of the rubber inquiry was termed as "propaganda plan," in the opinion of Mr. Black, who charged that the United States tire companies were "skinning the farmers." Hoover on the British side, he said, was not alone in the rubber price.

Mr. Connally advised the committee to take a look at "the trusts that are running between Ice logs," and declared that the country is interested in such monopolies.

Another Democrat, Representative Culler, also of New York, asserted that Mr. Hoover has united and failed against the British and other European monopolies in title country.

OLD TIMER PASSES AWAY

A well known and highly respected member of the community passed away on Friday of last week, in the person of Mr. Chinneck. Deceased, who had been cared for by Mrs. Eastham for the last three or four years, had been in indifferent health for some time and took to his bed about a week before he died. He left Eng. at the age of 4 years and was 80 years old on the 2nd of December. He had resided in this district about 30 years, having homesteaded here in the early days of this district's development. The deceased, although his homestead had changed hands, he died on the same quarter he homesteaded on. He was for a number of years in business as a shoe repairer in Tofield. He leaves three sons and one daughter. The funeral was held in Edmonton on Saturday.

CARD OF THANKS

The annual school meeting was to have been held on Tuesday, but owing to only two ratepayers being present, no meeting was called. U. S. Spends One-Third More On Pleasure Than On Education

The people of the United States, according to the Educational Digest, a monthly publication, spend almost twice as much in tobacco as on public school instruction. The women in the Republic spend more on cosmetics, perfumes and anti drinks than it expended in public education. We do not for a moment deprecate the expenditure of money for these things—they keep industry going—but we simply call attention to the expenditures by way of comparison, as in the United States, as well as in Canada there is a constant complaint over the costs for educating the children of the Nation. The Canadian women and men spend equally as much for tobacco, perfumes, cosmetics, drinks, guns and candy as do the people of the United States, three dollars for personal definite to $1 for public insurance. So, the most essential thing is done away.—Hanson Whig.

"Economy In British Army

War Office Demands Use of Iron Rations For Cavalry

British cavalry officers have been trembling in their boots because of an economy wave which has swept through the war department.

Spare have been toned down a bit in their skins and pallet, but their place has been reinforced with ripsin in the army cans under the ban some weeks ago as unnecessary. Now the steel attempt, of which the cavalrymen have been proud, are to be replaced by iron rations, which are cheaper, and the officers' spurs to be handed out by the department are to be of a steel substitute, which will still shake but not cost the government so much money.

Find Skeletons Painted Red

Human skeletons painted a deep red have been found by Russian archaeologists in the vicinity of Novgorod. They are believed to belong to the Chudzian race which inhabited the coast of Kortch Bay 2,000 years before Christ. It was the custom of this ancient race to cover the corpse of their dead with ochre, which was believed to preserve the bodies against decomposition.

Men in advance of their age may be as useless as a comet that runs too fast.

Two-Piece Costume Approved By Smart Women

Tailored suits and tailored costumes are things of much more distinction as far as fabric is concerned than those worn earlier in the season. Soft wools are used for the skirt and wrap and cravat. Navy blue and black divide is toward making these costumes in crepe satins and velvet, or a combination of both. In the model pictured here satin has been chosen for the new flange the lustrin blouse and velvet for the skirt. The velvet was employed to fashion the coat in wing collar, cuffs and the wrap-around. The skirt is joined to a bodice top and has two inverted plaits at the front to add freedom and the latest flared movement. The pattern shows just how to put the dress together and No. 1242 is to size 16, 18 and 20 years (34, 36 and 38 inches bust). Size 16 years (36 inch) requires 4½ yards 36 inch, or 2¾ yards 54-inch material. The bodice top of skirt requires 1¼ yards 36 inch additional lining or with ribbon straps over the shoulders ¾ yard. Price 20 cents.

The Fall Fashion Book illustrating the newest and most practical styles, will be of interest to every home dressmaker. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

Want "Leap Year" Week

German Spinsters Want More Chances To Secure Husband

German spinsters weary of indirect methods of starting the chase male are agitating for recognized "leap year" week in early year, during which it shall be their privilege to propose. The idea has been presented to the government morning, heroes and proposes that there be such year not one, but seven days dedicated to St. Catherine, the patroness of unmarried women.

Several spinsters' organizations are backing the proposal.

Officials of the marriage bureau say that when a girl is German by 27 years old and unmarried her chance of getting a husband are about one in three. Although the number of men in the country has been restored to pre-war figures, it is notable that there are seven middle aged men and romantic young girls are more, and more frequent.

Another Great War Would Crush Civilization

Premier Baldwin Reads Leaden Pages History of the Roman Empire

Grave warning of danger arising from the loss of many of the best British lives in war was uttered by Premier Stanley Baldwin in his presidential address at the meeting of the Classical Association in London. After dwelling on the history of Greece and Rome, the Premier said the time rang, in the history of the Roman Empire when there were not enough Romans to carry on the work of Rome.

There were fears among those in responsible government today that war, by the destruction of the best lives in each great numbers, had left Britain without enough of her breed to carry on the work of the British Empire.

"Our task is hard enough but it will be accomplished," Mr Baldwin said, "but in former days not more than that one more war in the west and the civilization of area will fall with as great a shock as that of Rome. She has left danger signals along the road. It for us to read them."

Mr. Baldwin added that for nations of Western Europe who, in historical times, have been members of the same great empire, to be at war was "fratricidal insanity."

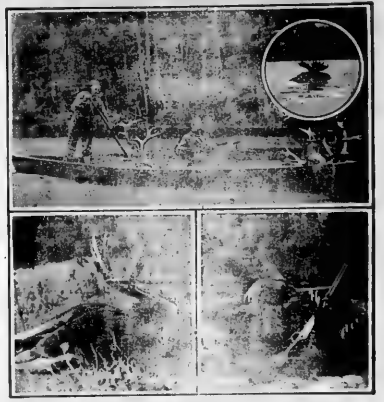
BIG GAME HUNTERS' PARADISE



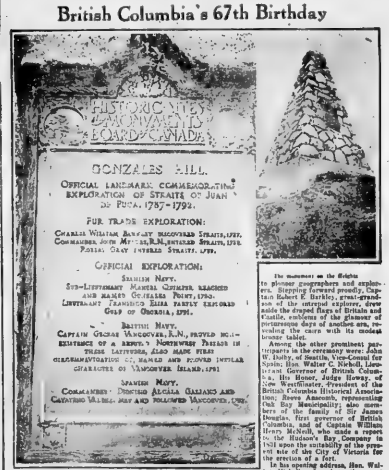
[illegible] Northern Thompson and its brother, of Barkerville, [illegible] Columbia, are considered among the best hunting guides in the Canadian Pacific Rockies. They took a basket hunting last fall and after starting their way up a mountain creek Norm asked the hunter if he would like to find his way back "Not on your life," said the man of dollars and cents, "as I tried to follow that trail I would get lost myself and fall out of the saddle."

The latter had what he called the "most wonderful time in my life getting lost away off in the Rockies." Later he got what he term after a bear, a cariboo and a tricky grizzly. Two years ago Norm showed a fellow three days' sport and the latter got a kind up camp only about nine miles from town.

Only some of those who have explored the Canadian Pacific Rockies for game can convey to the [illegible] the [illegible] lust in the heart of the hunter. [illegible] of the forest running swiftly, [illegible] shot in a terrific gallop, the [illegible] amidst the ruins of a wooded domain is prone and [illegible] at the foot of some straight-shooting hunter. Never will he roam the wilds again or hear the rolling waves in evening time and stream and river. Never will he know the sweet, fragrant odors of [illegible] in early spring, or the [illegible] of [illegible] in autumn even to death.

Perhaps some few months later his head will grace the library of a man's home in a city. Then the rapture and thrill of the first hunt and capture may be his first prize. But to the connoisseur, the hunter goes forward. The Rockies are also the playground of rarities and grandeur, and the visitors are plentifully supplied with trophies, before they turn back toward civilization.

British Columbia's 67th Birthday



The monument on the Heights to pioneer geographers and explorers, fronting forward proudly, Captain Robert E. Barkley, great-grandson of the intrepid explorer, drew aside the draped flags of Britain and Castile, emblems of the pioneer of portuguese days of southern era, revealing the clues with its message bronze tablet.

Among the other prominent participants in the ceremony were: John W. Dafoe, of Seattle, Vice-Consul for Spain; Hon. Walter C. Nichol, Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia; Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Minister of Finance; Hon. Simon Fraser Tolmie, Premier; Hon. Wm. Sloan, Minister of Mines; Reeve Anscomb, representing Oak Bay Municipality; also members of the family of Sir James Douglas, first governor of British Columbia, and of Captain William Henry McNeill, who made a report to the Hudson's Bay Company in 1846 upon the suitability of the present site of the City of Victoria for the erection of a fort.

In his opening address, Hon. Walter Nichol referred to the great debt owed the pioneers who had willingly dared all in their voyages of discovery. The speaker also reviewed the great potential resources of the new land they had taken possession of on the Western rim of the World.

In the course of the proceedings credit was repeatedly given the Victoria Branch of the British Columbia Historical Association to whom, through the efforts of C. C. Pemberton and others, the amassing of so much historical detail was due.

U. S. Farmers In Trouble

Political favors in all countries usually stem from somebody's trouble. The manufacturer of machines and supports a policy of tariff protection because he finds himself unable to make as the result of foreign competition. The farmer finds himself unable to sell his products profitably, especially in years of large crops, because of a system of marketing so and has persuaded himself and his neighbors that he is entitled to a price which would enable him to pay a profit on the cost of production, plus interest on the investment in land, machinery and buildings, plus wages for himself and his family. Then the producer of rubber, finding himself unable to sell his product at a profit because of the competition of rubber from plantations in the Far East,

Swift Rise To Fame

Struggling Artist Suddenly Becomes Fashionable Portrait Painter In London

Bron Mr Sean O'Casey, who could not read when he was twelve, and now has a play running to full houses in London, is less remarkable than Dupar, the Montmartre artist, who has become a fashionable portrait painter. A few months ago he was cooking and selling fried potatoes on a stall, and counting himself fortunate if one who came to buy chips could be persuaded to buy a picture. He was "discovered" by an art dealer, and had a portrait of a princess hung in the Paris Salon the moment artists each other for his work. Like Mr. O'Casey he still clings to his old lodgings, but he has acquired a handsome motor car and a house in the country.

Turning Point For China

Next Few Months May Decide Her Fate For Another Century

China is clearing her decks. The most significant developments of the last decade are contained in the reported retirement of Chang Tso-Lin, dictator of Manchuria, and Feng Yu-Hsiang, the power behind the central government. The irreconcilables, both sustained by arms in their respective spheres, have heeded the lesson of insecurity and have become wedded to discretion. So much for the present aspect; what of China?

The older order is passing, yielding place to new. The day of the war lord is nearly past. The Chinese people, with much travail, is shedding its mediaeval swaddling. Youth is in the ascendant, as youth has seized the reins of Italy, Turkey and that other sort of ancient culture, Persia. All indications point to the birth of a united China—a militant China indeed—but upon taking her place as a great power in the world's echelons.

The civil war lords are disappearing. What will take their place, just since the deposition of the Manchus has there arisen a new species ripe for the appearance on the stage of a dictator to unite and rule. The most likely candidate will be rich in interest to the watcher. They may decide on China's fate for a century. Montreal Gazette.

May Police The Seas

French Opinion Seems To Think That Britain Will Take on the Job

The British admiralty's preparations with leading British shipbuilders for the construction of a hun- dreds ton cruiser has made French marine experts believe the London Government expects to be forced eventually to call a conference of Nations with the entire policing of the seas.

The largest warship in the British navy is 41,000 tons. The 10 battleships nearly finished for the all-future battleships to 35,000 tons, but it is considered that the country's present demand a 8,000,000,000 dry dock with a capacity for 50,000-ton ships, a job will be the largest naval dry dock in the world and will be completed by 1934.

French marine officials point out that this is the first time any government exceeds British capital ships to 16 and a year later to 15, while the Japanese are only entitled to nine big ships in 1936

Since this apparently minimizes the danger of conflict in the Pacific the preparations at Singapore are taken to mean that the Washington agreement will be invalidated soon or that the British expect the Dominions consent to control them with control of the seas.

Motor Cars Becoming Necessity

Highest Point of Production Is Far in the Future

When the output of passenger cars and trucks in 1921 went over the 3,000,000 mark, it was said that the motor industry had reached its peak but in 1925 there was an increase of about 350,000 motor vehicles over the 1923 total. Apparently the forecasters failed to take into account the fact that the automobile was increasingly being looked upon as a necessity, both in town and country. There seems to be no common agreement on what proportion of modern motor roads is still in its infancy If this is true, the manufacturing end of the automobile industry is still too far ahead for the people to for-see.—Buffalo Courier.

Urges Linking Of Railways

Premier Oliver Suggests Idea to Solve Transportation Problems of Peace River Country

On the summarize of the Pacific Great Eastern and the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railways, experts have estimated that they will be the most feasible and practical solution of the transportation problem of the Peace River country, with its agricultural lands of about 75,000,000 acres, Premier John Oliver declared in addressing the Vancouver board of trade. While it would include the alliance between Vancouver and the Peace River country by about 120 miles to analyst the Pine Pass route to coast, he said, would be no greater and the engineering problems would be greatly reduced.

Real Religion In Russia

"Never has Russia had more religion than now, for in persecution religion either dies or is born again," said Baroness De Hauck in an address before the Women's Art Association. "The official church has collapsed," she continued, "but many faithful souls are leading the country back to a spiritual religion that will never die."

ON THE AIR

What Is Doing in the World of Radio

Weighing less than 100 pounds, a small radio device by which one can automatic distress call, has been built has been perfected recently in the United States.

The listener is cheated-ored the biggest thrill of broadcasting by radio. Practically every broadcast system is sending out tele programmes to determine the desires of the radio public

Setting a record for Saskatchewan in two way wireless conversation, L. H. Farrer, 2004 Albert Street, Regina radio artist, talked to A. B. Chung, of Honolulu, Hawaii, from 8.55 to 10.13 o'clock one evening recently

A score of men, on top of the world, at remote points within the Arctic Circle, recently clustered around radio sets to jostle workers or tending post huts to hear greetings from the most master general of Canada and Hudson's Bay Company officials, and a musical programme broadcast from radio station, KFKX at Hastings, Neb. The programme began at 8 o'clock and lasted utter midnight. Results of the radio test will not be known until the Arctic regions open up next summer.

Is radio developing a mysterious and uncanny "radio sense" in talented re-ceivers?

It is well known that the depletion of one of the senses serves to sharpen and make more acute those remaining. KFI officials at Los Angeles believe that there are persons who is essentially blind before a loud speaker, has instinctive development of unbelievable perception gained through hearing.

KFI bases its theory on thousands of letters which graphically and at most interesting way describe persons who take part regularly on the programmes. These letters are written up by persons who have never seen the performers.

Pastor Gave Away Millions

Every Dollar of Earnings Was Spent On Poor

Rev. Dr. Russell H. Conwell, of the Baptist Temple, New York, was a follower of Jesus in going about doing good, according to Miss Agnes Conwell $11,000,000 by his own efforts. Every dollar of it was spent in behalf of the poor, the needy, the untrust. By his charity to men with the title of the penniless millionaire. Eleven million dollars was given away by this means for the cause of charity and education. Rockefeller, Carnegie, Stevens, Pitt and a half dozen others have given millions for charity and education, but none gave as much in proportion as did this man. He gave millions and died with an empty purse and glorified life. He received $11,000,000 and left to a rich and daughter. He also left an imperishable name.—Kingston Herald Wigh

Says Parley Would Be Mostly Political

London Paper Comments on Proposed Imperial Conference

The Evening Standard says that if the proposed Imperial conference is held in October next it will be principally political.

The political United States, however, is in no immediate danger. The Standard adds, but the economic explanation the Imperial economic committee is practically non-existent.

Continuing, The Standard says:

"The formulation of definite plans for the development of empire markets and the utilization of empire trade cannot be done in six months but could be done by October, 1926."

Exhibition at Federal Capital May Get Dominion Government Grant

At the meeting of the Inter-city with Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture in the Dominion Government, Ottawa will likely receive a grant from the Dominion Government towards extensions to the exhibition buildings at Lansdown Park, Mayor Balharris stated. The fact that the world's poultry congress is coming to Ottawa in 1927, makes it necessary that extensions to the present accommodation be made with the requirements of this big congress.

Prince Christian of Hesse dined with King George and Queen Mary recently, thus giving the answer to the question which has been raised often since the war as to who would be the first individual of German origin to be entertained at Buckingham Palace after the close of hostilities. Prince Christian went to London to attend the funeral of Queen Mother Alexandra—Anni Anne" he called her. Early in the war he attracted public notice by writing an open letter to Rainer Wilhelm at the beginning of the submarine campaign and resigning his commission in the German navy as a protest

Livestock in Good Condition

Western Cattle Running Outside and Keeping Fat Well

The department of agriculture and colonization of the Canadian National Railways reports that livestock in the West are in better condition, at this time of the year than they were at any previous time. Although the winter has been severe, cattle are running outside, and are keeping fat well. Hay is also reported to be plentiful and cheap. This was discovered by officials in a monastery on Mount Sinai, and presented to Tsar Alexander II. It is believed to be the oldest known manuscript of the Old and New Testament, and probably was written some time during the fourth century.

SYNOPSIS

It was in the manner that a half breed found in the snow temptate of Baree, the wolf dog. Meanwhile Corporal Thorpe, the factor, that he had seen petition that Baree be killed. Wolf and the factor's stepchildren were around. Henri had been the agency. He had tried to kill the dog and the dog had inflicted wounds on his face. Moreover, McTaggart had shot Pierrot, the trapper, in the back and Henri had accused the animal to be separated from Pierrot, the trapper's daughter.

CHAPTER XXV.—Continued.

The next day saw the beginning of the struggle that was to follow between the wife of man and beast. For Henri Carrigan's trap line was not war; it was outdoors. It was to banish him food, and Henri knew that he had taken food for many months. But he would die by the trail, and as he was last breaker and had an enemy to outwit. Had it been good hunting he might have left the trail for the Grey Loup. At it was with the snow deep and a killing cold he dropp that in places he plunged knee deep he never left the trail. Always it was like a trail of ambush made for his special use. He followed in the Factor's tracks to the third trap tilled a rabbit. When he had finished with it nothing but the skin and crimson patches of blood lay upon the snow. Carrigan knew that he was filled with a wolfish hunger, and before the day was over he robbed the last trap. A cold fear of Wolf Dog gat'n'gone. Provincial Paragraphs

Issued by Publicity Commissioner, Government of Alberta, January 25th.

Legislature Called

The Provincial Legislature has been called to convene for the regular winter session on February 11th.

Provincial Liquor Profits

Net profits of $1,317,185 were made by the Alberta Government on its operations under the Liquor Act in 1925, the full amount realized through the Brewers of the Liquor Control Board was $1,566,57[illegible], covering the full calendar year. Sales of permits for the year amounted to $112,172.

Out of the gross receipts of the board during the year the sum of $37,818 was placed to reserve accounts, the policy of the government being to build up a reserve fund that will give protection against possible future losses.

Last year was the first full 12 month period for which the liquor control board has reported, since the act was not operated at the beginning of 1924. For the eight months of that year covered by he operations of the board as reported to the last legislature, the net profits were $1,023,821. The 1925 figures are therefore slightly in advance of the proportionate figures for 1924. In both cases they represent the entire net revenue received from vendor's sales and land beer licenses.

Alberta's Wool Business

That splendid progress was being made by wool growers in Alberta was instanced at the annual meeting of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers Limited at Calgary. It was stated that Alberta had sent forward for co-operative sale 1,540,000 pounds of wool an increase of 600,367 pounds as compared with the previous year.

Highest Winter Temperature

During December 1925, Alberta recorded what is stated to be the highest temperature in Canada during that month, when in the city of Calgary a temperature of 63 was recorded. The entire month was one of the mildest Devonshire experienced, other points in Alberta being close behind Calgary with high temperatures, Medicine Hat recording 60 and Edmonton 56.

Dairy Convention

The annual convention of the Alberta dairymen's association held under the auspices of this association and the provincial department of agriculture is being held this week at Edmonton, when matters affecting the dairy industry will be discussed.

INTEREST

THERE IS one thing the councillors of the town of Tofield must have learned by this time—the unrelenting nature of interest. When some number of years ago, obligations were assumed by the selling of debentures, it was confidently expected that by the year 1926, the debenture debt of the town would be very materially decreased. But instead of decreasing it is increasing. The cause is the piling up of interest, as, up till this year their has almost always been some debenture arrears, in spite of a real effort to pay, a good many thousand dollars going that road. The debenture indebtedness is now over $98,000.00, but though it has increased during the past year or so, from now on it should gradually decrease, if payments are made when they fall due. The new arrangements of spreading the total debentures over a further period of forty years was good business providing it was the best that could be done. The councillors were not very keen on endeavoring to get a reduction of interest or any similar concession, and it is doubtful if they could have got it even if they had tried. Nevertheless it is distinctly noticeable that all through the financial stringency and the bursting of the realestate boom, the town as borrower, always assumed the losses, while the lender was fully protected. This in view of the fact that borrowing was only made possible by an assessed valuation, thought sufficient to take care of the borrowings. Another phase is that those who abandoned their property conveniently relieved themselves of their share of the debt, and this share had to and is being borne by those who kept their property. The security of financial paper should never be cheapened, but one cannot help but recognise that the amount of interest the citizens of Tofield pay in the form of taxes is out of all proportion to the benefits derived from the borrowings and the amount borrowed.

THE RATEPAYERS' MEETING

ON FRIDAY, February 20th the annual meeting of ratepayers will be held at the Town Hall, at which the chairman of the different committees, (which means all the councillors)) will present a report regarding their work for the preceding year. This meeting is an annual event and in previous years has been very poorly attended, in fact, last year resulted in no attendance at all. Town councillors attend, or should attend twenty-six meetings a year, and unless former engagements have been made, ratepayers should turn out one night a year to hear what the councillors have to say. If it is at all convenient, let's have a good ratepayers' meeting this year.

GOOD LUCK TO THE BONSPIEL

EACH YEAR sees curling assume a greater popularity among both sexes. The climax of curling interest each year in each town is centred in the annual bonspiel. This week, Tofield and visiting curlers are working as hard as they ever did in their lives and enjoying it. Here's hoping they have good ice, a genial time and that there are plenty of prizes.

BIG CORPORATIONS AND THE PUBLIC

THERE SEEM to be a sort of continual warfare between a certain section of the public and any and all big corporations. There has been in the past no doubt, plenty of proof that large corporations, financial, tructional, electrical and suchlike, have not only traded with the public, but exploited the public. On the other hand, simply because a concern is "big" is not sufficient reason to become hysterical and imagine that it is out to exploit and rob the people regardless. Just now, some feeling is being worked up against the Northwestern Utilities. According to some expressed ideas, the price of gas is too high and the pressure is too low, while the company itself is made out to be something of an octopus, first entangling the public in its tentacles and then feasting on its life blood. We hold no brief for this or any big concern, our sympathies are with the public when the public is right. Our conception of the Northwestern Utilities was that it was something in the nature of a public benefactor. We know, of course, that little of the philanthropic spirit enter into big companies doings, but we also know that sinking wells and laying a pipe line from Viking to Edmonton was no two by four job. Considerable forethought and a great deal of money had to be expended before Edmonton was able to burn its first foot of gas. As a consumer, we find the pressure steady and the cost reasonable, compared to other forms of heating, while the convenience of it is an item not to be overlooked. However, the franchise that it holds, the product it sells and the finance it controls should not blind it from taking the servants' viewpoint—a viewpoint demanding all the just rights and privileges of a servant, but a servants' viewpoint just the same.

Professionalism Is Killing Sports

It has been realized for some time that youth devotion to the enemy of sport, but there is now an awakening to the fact that it is likewise killing the sports themselves. Real sport is to be found in everything which is by the masses of the people for the downright fun of one thing and for the recreation thereby enjoyed. But I, the modern mad race for money even on the backbones of participants, boost commercialized, and today, thousands of people are gazing in games they never play, and drifting pleasure, the relaxing and gaining physical strength and better health, they pay large prices to sit in the grand stand and cheer their home teams, over the exploits of a few high salaried experts.

The old day when the runner for half dozen tried with him amateur, and the town rumoured was the scene of a spirited game of lacrosse or football, have gone into the discard. The youth of the present do not appear to play games for the game's sake, and for their own recreation and betterment, but are content to watch from the sidelines and bleachers.

In sport the present generation has degenerated and harked back to the dark days of Rome when the arenas were packed with a multitude watching the performance of a few gladiators. In fact a state of the by-gone to the end for Rome existed. The Duke of Wellington has been credited with the statement that the battle of Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton. Today, however, the newspapers tell of the thrilling deeds performed by sportsmen watching the teams of professional players.

Boxing and the kindred art of self defence has degenerated into petty fighting, the petty fighting pastures of money changing into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Professionalism killed lacrosse, the Canadian national game and one of the finest of all field games. A quarter of a century ago every town and village in Eastern Canada had its lacrosse clubs, and dozens of the best men and young men participated in its health giving activities. Then the idea of commercializing the game was introduced, and its delighting effect is seen in the present disappearance of the game.

Canada's status is same, hockey, is going the same way. Professionalism flourishes for a while, kills the amateur game, and then it too will pass, leaving but little in its place. Professionalism is a curse in all its branches, but the most disastrous aspects is the development of players come to an end and the supply of players for professional ranks falls off.

It has been thought that professional baseball was so thoroughly well established and so deeply entrenched in the United States that it could withstand almost anything. But a recent survey of baseball made for the National Amateur Athletic Federation has established beyond dispute that even baseball is slipping. Major League matches have approached amateur aspects and are offering competition for existing sport because they foreseen a famine of players.

It is seen, then, that the advent of pseudo-professionalism not only kills the sporting instincts of the people, turning them into mere spectators, but for a group of paid entertainers instead of active participants in the game themselves, but it destroys the game itself. So long as a city or town maintains a professional baseball or hockey team, the amateur game suffers, but with the professional teams out of the way, amateur teams multiply, the game feels flourishes, and the attention, physique and health of the youth improves. The truth of this statement has been demonstrated over and over again in Western Canada.

Professionalism has a further demoralizing effect. The player is not to win, and said that alone. His salary depends upon it, and any trick or act perfect that will get past the referee or umpire, is described "whether it is "sporting" or not. They are not playing for the "game's sake," but for the box office receipts and a prosperity-like ends to whose other ends is a higher salary.

A crowd of spectators see wild and spectacular spasms of joy over a win by the "home" team without the slightest realization that the men have been recruited from the four corners of the continent, and have no interest in or regard for the "home" town—except the salary they are getting out of it. And the same "home" crowd will groan and howl if the visiting team achieve victory by superior play. Accompanying this so-called sport is a tendency to bring out gambling for supposing on attendant on amateur games.

Elimination of professionalism and a general revival of interest and participation in amateur sports in all kinds is a task to be desired development in Canada and one calculated to build up a more virile, robust, self-reliant young Canadian.

Endorse Hudson's Bay Road

Toronto Business Men Now Recognize Claim of Western Citizens

Word is received by C. C. Cook, secretary of the Toronto Conservative branch, Canadian Bar Association, that Colonel F. J. Dixon, president, had interviewed prominent financiers in Toronto on the completion of the Hudson's Bay Railway. In a letter to Mr. Cook, Mr. James states that the business men with whom he had met are entirely sympathetic toward west ern claims for completion. Mr. James' letter is published in full in another column.

Other letters received by Mr. Cook from Toronto business men endorse the project through weakness, hesitancy, bark aches and northwesterners. Experimenting With Gas

British War Office Would Have Tetania Moved From Hamra Adjoining Factory

That the British War office I can finding its gas experiments was revealed rather curiously when a rep Presidential of the government applied to the courts for the dispossession of the tenant of 16 houses adjoining a factory at St Helen's, Lancashire, where experiments with gas are being carried on. The government owns both the factory and the houses and the argument for the dispossession of the tenants in question was based on the danger they were in by living near to the factory.

The tenants, however, were ready to run the risk of being gassed because of the difficulty they would Live in finding other accommodation. Fir Judge decided in favor of the government in the matter. He held that the notice was not bound by the Rent Restriction Act under which ordinary property notice would be unable to dispense with.

The government alone knows what it gains on behalf these walls," the judge said, "and if an accident happened the government alone would be blamed.

Impressed With South Africa

The favorable impressions received by the Prince of Wales during his recent tour of South Africa seem to have had an influence on his brother, Prince Henry. The London Daily Express prints a dispatch from Cape Town saying it is reported there that Prince Henry has applied for an appointment on the staff of his uncle, the Earl of Athlone, who is governor general of South Africa.

Madge—Wasn't there some talk of Mabel marrying a duke?"

Ethel—Yes, but you see the duke didn't say anything to her about it."

ON THE AIR

What Is Doing in the World of Radio

All circuits must be at least slightly regenerative to obtain maximum distance and volume

Investigations are being made to determine the feasibility of connecting American and English telephone lines by radio.

Unity among farmer organizations was the theme of an address given from CKCK, Regina, by George F. Edwards, president and secretary of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Associa tion.

A mysterious practical joking broadcaster who signed himself "Elder Tuttle, Paris," was traced by Philadelphia, after the Radio Week committee had received a radio portrait from France that the Eiffel Tower was on the air.

A South Dakota correspondent sends in the following letter to KGO, Oakland: "I'm almost dun north of town, where I get most of my radio. The weather gives to 60 degrees below zero. When it's zero cold to sleep I sometimes stay up all night and listen to radio programmes."

Calls in handling headphones will add greatly to their service to owners. When properly made, headsets are of high sensitiveness and should not be thrown about or allowed to drop. Complete loss of sensitiveness or complete reception are probably results of rough treatment. A small headset screw which is also one of the smaller binding screws to hang the phones on when they are not in use and will eliminate the likelihood of their being knocked to the floor and damaged

Another Important Discovery

Insulin Can Now Be Developed In Chemically Pure Form

Development of Insulin, discovery of Dr. F G Banting and Dr Best, of Toronto, in the form of a chemically pure product was announced before the Chicago Institute of Medicine by Dr John J. Abel, professor of pharmacology in Johns Hopkins Medical School

Purifying and obtaining insulin in a chemically pure crystal has been looked upon by scientists as of great importance because of the great ability that such a crystal will lend to the accurate preparation of insulin in absolutely pure form.

Insulin, as now made, is a crude solution, derived from pancreas of pigs, and heretofore its chemical form, as distinct from the separate material with which it is mixed, has not been known. A discovery such as Dr Abel has announced would enable means of ascertaining the way for exact analysis of insulin's component parts

Another important phase of the discovery from a practical standpoint is that it may lead to knowledge of chemical which will act as diabetic preventatives. The present use of insulin to diabetic treatment is not as a curative but as a preventative agent. It protects the patient from effect of the disease and from death, but the case must be continued throughout life

Automobile Accidents

Autos Took Heavier Toll Than Ever In U. S. Last Year

Automobile accidents caused the death of more deaths in 1925 than in 1924, according to the annual survey of the National safety council. It puts from more than 20 American cities for the 1925 death toll as 21,000, the council's figures show.

Some cities with previous high death records showed substantial decreases as a result of street improvements, legislation and law enforcement. In Akron, Ohio, was an outstanding example of the speakers expected are: C. A. Dunning, Premier of Saskatchewan; Hon. Justice Brown, K.C. Court of Saskatchewan; Professor G. H. Wolf, C.L.I. secretary of the board; Hon. R. J. Lantz, minister of education; Ven. Archdeacon Lucas, Regina; Dr. H. J. Snell, of Alberta. A special committee from the board is being made by the Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation and, as usual, a large part of the discussion will be devoted to discussion on pensions. In the past these have usually been well in line with needed reforms in school administration and have been a most important part of the convention work. Probably the trustees at this convention will have a very busy and interesting three days on hand. It is sincerely hoped that the school board in the province will have adequate representation. It is hoped also that the school trustees will be able to arrange a meeting with the minister of education to send a representative who will bring back to them the message of school board progress that means a commendation to all the school children of Saskatchewan.

All the salaries and wages received in a year in U.S. are estimated as total about $52,000,000,000.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FEBRUARY 7

JESUS HEALS AND SAVES A BLIND MAN

Golden Text: I am the light of the world; he that followeth Me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life. John 8.12.

Lesson John 9 1-41.

Devotional Reading Isaiah 42.1-7.

The Text Explained and Illustrated

The Question Concerning the Condition Between Blindness and Sin (verses 1-3.—The Jews held that calamities were always the result of sin Herod here mistakenly Job's friends tried to make him acknowledge something which was the cause of all his troubles. The disciples' question rested upon a man who had been blind from his birth, sitting where beggars sat at the gate of the temple, and they questioned Jesus saying, "Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?" Their question implied that either the man was suffering for the sins of his parents or that he himself had committed in some previous state of existence. Jesus said, "Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents: but that the works of God should be made manifest in him."

In pointing out the absurdity of this question, Dr. W. J. Dawson adds: "Here there is no sin to be specially rebuked. It is the indictable moral instinct which has been corrupted by a faulty will, wrong doing. Let men see what they will, all men have a certain instinct that the Power which rules the universe is Just, that moral values and effort run through all the world, that no one can escape from the arm of the Almighty. A small hooked arrow will kill a bird of the air under the same way as long the plumes on which they are set, but our own arrow pierces the likelihood of their being knocked to the floor and damaged

A Challenge To The Rural School Trustees

Support of Every School Trustee Necessary to Secure Advancement of Ever-Changing Needs

In a recent address at Saskatoon, Rev. G. W. Kirby, of Calgary, stated that the children of the rural districts had a square deal and are not getting a square deal today. In his opinion more than one-half of the rural schools rests with the rural trustee. What are the trustees doing? Some rural schools are excellent, most of them are fairly good; in a number, considering the opportunities, the work is poor. Under the rural school reflects very largely the attitude of the local newspaper. Where schools are not satisfactory, you will find that very little interested in keeping down the taxes and educating the children and their teachers. The trustee has a very little, if any, contact with the pupils outside of the local inspector calls at the school once or twice a year, but the trustee never sees him. His relation with the department of education is almost entirely through correspondence. It is surprising, therefore, that all rural schools are not more backward than they are. What is the rural schools be brought to a high standard of efficiency? The work of the inspectors and of the department alone cannot solve the problem. The hearty support and cooperation of every trustee is also necessary if we are to keep the rural schools on a maximum efficiency dependable for the ever-changing curriculum needs of the present day. The most important for our schools is the selection of the right kind of teacher, and right here is where the trustee has a very large responsibility. Many poor teachers are kept in the profession by other states and child, who, rating a notable example, show Liverpool Physique

Good Price For Pelts

Mink Reaches Record Price at Recent New York Sale

The highest price for mink since the end of the post-war boom was paid at New York recently at the opening sale of the season's catch of the world's supply of raw furs, when fine, dark New England skins brought $40 each. This price was just twice that paid in the same month a year ago, when the market reached $16.25, while top for British Columbia and Manitoba pelts was $11.75.

White fox reached $60; blue fox, $66, green $65, $61, lynx, $30, wild cat, $7; Japanese mink, $2.20; badger, $3.50; fisher, $2.90; and skunk, $1.80.

Self - Poisoning Increasingly Common

Modern Living Habits Promote Self - Poisoning - Thousands are Victims

The average man or woman does not enjoy consistent good health. Loss of appetite, bodily lassitude and a lack of enthusiasm for either work or play are prevalent complaints.

So little have we yet learned that such a condition is usually caused by self-poisoning resulting from constipation. Even in modern living habits, the natural sewerage which promotes proper bowel movement is often lacking. Constipation, in effect, is the most prevalent among middle-aged people. The poisons which result from constipation in the system of people thus affected is the insidious enemy of good health.

Such people need Nujol, because Nujol relieves the toxic matter and permits thorough and regular bowel elimination without overtaxing the intestinal muscles. It helps Nature help you.

Ask your druggist for Nujol to-day—a tasteless laxative known for the name on the red can bottle inside label see package.

SYNOPSIS

Baree, his beloved Nepeese, daughter of the trapper, gave Wabi refuge from the trails through the forests, everywhere he meets find food and shelter. Baree, the son of Kazan, the wolf dog, and Nepeese, the daughter of a Cree woman, is a true child of the forest. He is a wolf in his wildness, but in his tenderness he is a man. Baree's first love is Nepeese, and his first enemy is Bateese Larose, a half-breed, who tries to force Nepeese to marry him. Bateese, learning of Baree's love for Nepeese, sets a trap for him, and Baree is caught. Bateese takes him to the village of Fort Dufresne, where he is put in a log cabin. Nepeese, learning of Baree's capture, follows him to the village. Baree escapes from his cabin and kills Bateese in a fight. Nepeese and Baree flee to the forest. Nepeese is shot by Bateese's men, and Baree, in his rage, kills Bateese. Nepeese dies in Baree's arms. Baree, broken-hearted, wanders into the Arctic wastes, where he finds Wabi, the wolf dog, and Kazan, his father. Wabi and Kazan lead Baree to the cabin of Sandy McTaggart, a Scotch trapper, who takes him in and cares for him. Baree, in his madness, thinks McTaggart is the man who killed Nepeese. Baree, with Wabi and Kazan, escapes from the cabin and flees to the forest. McTaggart, with Wolf, the war dog, and Jacques, a French-Canadian trapper, follow Baree in the search. Baree, with Wabi and Kazan, reaches the cabin of Jacques, but finds it empty. He then goes to the cabin of Pierre Radisson, a fur trader, and finds Pierre dead. Baree, with Wabi and Kazan, flees from the cabin and finds refuge in

The possibility of amalgamating teh publicity branch with that of the King's Printer was considered by the members of the government, but in view of the prospective development of the work of the publicity branch in connection with the return of the natural resources and the movement of immigration, it was finally decided that the amalgamation would not be advisable. It has been decided, however, that all government advertising will be concentrated and in future handled through the publicity branch.

Mr. McLean, the new acting King's Printer, was brought up in the printing business. He learned the trade on the Huron Expositor at Seaforth, Ontario, and later was engaged in printing in a large job printing establishments in Toronto and Brantford. DOCTORS AND ADVERTISING

IT HAS often occured to us, that for downright topsy turveydom, the field of medicine takes the cake. On the one hand we have patent medicine manufacturers using every trick that can be turned with paper, ink and a fertile brain, while on the other hand, almost every medical graduate leaves with the deep rooted determination not to advertise. "Hanging out a shingle" and perhaps a professional card in a newspaper is, for medical men, going the limit. Of all the professions, that of medicine, is perhaps the most important. We need a doctor to help us into this vale of tears and generally call on one to prevent us from prematurely going out. If during the passage from nothing to three score years and ten, a doctor is called, we expect him to come on the run and perform miracles when he arrives. That, in the main, the profession lives up to its oportunities in this regard, is well known and a matter of history. In the field of research, too, history shows a brilliant array of conquests by the medical profession. In spite of civilization's perverse determination to make an imperfect man, the medical profession never seems to give up hope but is equally determined to make a perfect one. The sacrifices made, as evidenced by victims of the X-Ray, does not halt it and one triumph only creates the desire for a greater one. But with all its virtues the medical profession makes a grave omission by allowing and encouraging other people to tell the public, what it is, or should be best able to explain. While patent medicine manufacturers buy columns upon columns of advertising space and take ten's of thousands of dollars from the public (some of which is spent wisely and some unwisely) many doctors sit in their offices awaiting patients. In scientific research the medical profession has never lagged but in acquainting the public regarding itself and its work, it is woefully behind the times.

There was a time, no doubt, when advertisements were meant to contain nothing more than a straight solicitation of business. But those days have passed. Today, many advertisements are a real source of information, and the reader is wiser for having read them, whether he actually responds to the message or not. The implication of "touting" has almost disappeared from modern advertising, rather, the individual or firm who neglects to advertise is neglecting an opportunity for service to the public which his trade or profession makes him responsible for. The medical profession would lose nothing of its dignity by proper advertising, instead its field of usefulness would be enlarged and if in the process its finances were increased, no one would complain about that.

STATION LIGHTS

TRAVELLERS TELL us that the Canadian National trains No. 1 and 2 running between Montreal and Vancouver are among the finest in the land. The appointments are up-to-date in every particular, the cuisine in the dining cars all that can be desired and the personel efficient and obliging. While there is no evidence of downright extravagance, it is also true that nothing has been omitted that would increase the comfort of passengers. This being so, makes it very hard to understand why the management do not use a more up-to-date method of lighting at the Tofield station. In May, 1923, circumstances made it necessary for the station to revert to coal oil lamps. Almost immediately an effort was made to have the station lighted by electricity. Again, while at the same time efforts were being made to have the station lighted by gas. This really tells the story from 1923 to now. For some unaccountable reason, with both gas and electricity available, the management has refused to approve of either. We have been loth to write of this matter previously, as the Mercury was in a touch and go manner, negotiating with the company to supply them light. But the delay has been so long and the inconvenience to the public so great, that even at the cost of being misunderstood, something had to be written regarding it. One evening prior to Christmas, the writer was at the depot to see friends off on the six o'clock train. The conditions there were like a page from Dicken's. There was a small lamp in the waiting room, and the only way one could recognise friends, was to peer into their faces, slightly aided by the faint light emerging from the interior, where employees were carrying around coal oil lamps to the place where they had to work. If a child broke away from its parents there was a wild rush to reclaim it, because if it got many feet away it was out of sight. Luckily, the days are now getting longer, but even so, a more up-to-date method of lighting the station would be welcomed and appreciated.

Fathers and Sons

From either the contemplation of abstract phases of life, or the dis and battle of ordinary affairs, it is refreshing to turn to an occasion of robust, rudi-fibred companionship such as is called forth by the association of fathers and sons in the annual observance of Father and Son Week.

There is much philosophizing on the Brotherhood of Man, much despairing on the Fatherhood of God, but all is meaningless without a proper appreciation of the vital relationship between the individual father and the individual son.

No more essential field for development can be given a boy in which he may discover the true relationships which should exist in life than in the atmosphere of an understanding father's fellowship. And what interests a child a report in a very low year, time depend on the impressions obtained in early childhood.

A long stride has been made from the days when the old-moulded father view was about the only criterion on which a father became intimate with his son and assumed his place as a calm-bodied position of the father as pedagogue, all that only, with regime a thoughtful more devoted to the boy as a friend that he may be, than before, when required and out of sight the time. We are thankful that today we can point to the fellowship of father and son in innumerable channels throughout all the family activities, in the social interests of the community and finally in the church, where father and son worship side by side.

To what may be attributed this change? In a large measure it is due to a better appreciation of all the spheres and limits of childhood—a science so that now boy is father to the man." The fathers realize it is the blind passage of time, daily stripping the opportunities for these progress, and also, their fields to greater things than they themselves have done and in the urgency of fulfilling their petty-typed duty of handing out their boy toward a larger usefulness.

The son's perception of it is not to be beyond its power to see this time, which forever beckons to public—the time of the realization of high possibilities. And the sense of his not long to be denied of responsibility thrust upon him is often inaugurated by the father's confidence, "up with a matter, mind, might give him." And in the impact of this meeting for the best in each the father knows the gap not merely as a generation, but as the sympathetic counsellor and guide—and the son realizes he is not only the male offspring of this man but is of the fibre of his very heart and soul and home at his shoulder the best of which the father is capable.

So, with the thought of the need, the place and purpose of this high role, the relationship between Father and Son, the C.E.T.C. movement has made a very definite place for its development. During the month of February a speak to set aside in which to foster the fellowship of Fathers and Sons. To many Fathers this time is a time of real reconsecration to the biggest job of their lives—that of upholding and extending the life of a boy, and to the boys—sometimes a realization that, though often preoccupied with business cares, Father has their best interests at heart, and a renewed trust is awakened and strengthened in the vitality of all the relationships of the home, and this finds expression in the more faithful performance of their obligations to the home.

Not only are home relationships emphasized, but also Christian fellowship in the Church. That time in Longfellow depicting the village blacksmith going on Sunday to Church and sitting amongst his boys a prouder and humbler man than delivered by the smith's muscled arms and hands on the red-hot metal at the anvil. It is the unanswerable argument with those who would have you "do as I say, not do as I do."

Not only are public upon public provided for in Church services and organized for expression and development, but Father's place in the Church is recognized as given to the more personal and private interchange of confidence and love in the use of the "old home church." There are golden opportunities for such conversations in each participant to make his contribution to that happy estate of perfect understanding between both.

My prophet is—and of all of the programme of activities during Father and Son Week. Suffice it to say that, while emphasis is laid on recognition of Fatherhood and Sonship and all they involve during the short period of one week, this is to be taken only as an indication of the necessity for a better acquaintance or an understanding between Fathers and Sons based on a supportable knowledge each and deep respect on each other's part, and from this achievement of the week will flow out a real spirit of brotherhood, celebrating the light, breadth and depth of all human relationships, breathing good will to man and honor to maker. Pains and Aches Disappear When the Blood is Built Up

When the blood is thin, watery or poor, the body suffers. So anaemia shows up in headaches, dizziness, nervousness, heart troubles as well as in loss of color in the face. Miss Mary Simpson, of Toronto, tells in the subjoined statement how Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People helped her when anaemia was approaching. The symptoms she mentions are those which indicate that the blood will drive away all these troubles, and that only a tonic like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will bring about a real cure. Miss Simpson says:—"I am speaking from experience when I tell a friend to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for they did wonders for me. I was in a badly run-down way, and could not sleep. I had pains and aches in my back and limbs, and also suffered from headaches. I was very nervous and dizzy, I tried various medicines but they did not help me. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I must say how glad I am that I acted on this advice. I took a few boxes and continued using them when I felt a change for the better. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a splendid tonic for building up the blood and driving disease from the system. They are sold by all druggists or can be had by mail from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The following statement was issued by Wheat Pool, W. G. Weir, U. S. Harper, and A. J. M. Poole issued a statement in connection with a statement of elevator policy recently made by Colin H. Barnett, president of the pool, and published in the Free Press of Dec. 12. The statement in part is as follows:

"The Free press of Jan. 13 contains a statement purporting to have been issued without consultation with the board of directors of the Manitoba pool, and without authority from them.

"As three members of the Manitoba board were present when the recent months have been directed to attempting to get the backing of the pool and the U.G.G. together to discuss frankly any difficulties of opinion that may exist.

"We feel we have can be done in this way than by the boards rising apart and each in their own meetings making plans to put up to the other."

It Testifies for Itself.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil needs no testimonial of its powers other than itself. Canadian Banks In Better Position To Serve Public.

One of the most complete and satisfactory statements ever submitted to the Canadian banking public is that issued by the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, and the remaining Mr Neill will take part.

Through amalgamation, the number of banks in Canada has been slowly reduced until the present time is small analogous to the condition existing in the United States. From the point of view of the banking needs of the country is an advantage. Few people realize that there has been a trend that the currency in circulation of banking institutions has been no easy load to bad results, such as short selling of commodities or politics and interests. The feeling in regard to the condition seems to have been in exception in the fear of a bust may happen in the near future, but as a result of developments to date, for us one can say that the amalgamations have been a benefit rather than a loss to the public. The number of banks has been reduced to two banks is less severe than it has been in the past. The number of banks in the country is the case, and that a number of the savings effected through amalgamations have been passed on to the public in the form of increased service and relatively lower charges.

The moving of branch banking as a system is the result of and banks followed as a substitute for the United States today, and some of branch of local interests of having a local banking business in the hands of branch institutions, which, also claimed to be more rationally in touch credit and those at the points concerned. For this, however, the arguments in favor of branch banking are, in my opinion, immeasurably stronger than those supporting the unit banking system. Under the present system of banking, the money funds have been supplied from other districts, and at more favorable rates than those current in the United States at the same relative stage of development. The banking history of the United States, moreover, contains a long list of banks which have failed, entailing the loss of proper perspective during boom periods, or owing to districts having everything depends on the success of one industry, the bond holders all their eggs in one basket. I have been asked by those visiting the eastern Canada how it was that banks the situation in 1921-22 could cause such a shock of stagnation.

"A great financial institution such as The Royal Bank of Canada, operating the whole country, must have investments in every part of Canada. We have responsibilities not only to our shareholders, but, to a degree, which I hope we fully realize, to the public of Canada; in fact, there is no conflict of interest, because it is only to the extent that we contribute to the sound economic development of the country that we shall deserve or receive the confidence of the public. Self-interest will prompt us to secure a diversity of risk through the encouragement of the industries indigenous to the, rural districts, and we have found that we have always before us the fact that we can achieve the greatest measure of success only if our actions and policies promote and foster the best interests of every part of Canada."

FARMERS SHOULD REDUCE COST AT PRODUCING END

Saskatoon.—Not only must the farmers, through their co-operatives, see that they secure a better price for their commodities, but they must prevent the price of commodities they have to buy from being advanced in such unduly, was the message conveyed to the delegates attending the annual convention of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association here by Donald U. McKenzie, secretary of the United Farmers of Manitoba and director of the United Grain Growers, Ltd.

Stating that the U.F.M. member ship was standing by leaps and bounds, Mr. McKenzie said the farmers in that province proposed to tackle their problems in such a way as to create conditions surrounding the farmer that will ensure him a reasonable return for his work. To do this they must not only devote their attention to co-operative marketing of their products, but also to the reduction of costs of production.

Mr. McKenzie said that if these present could have gone with the farmers' delegation that went to Ottawa in connection with the freight rates were not advocated and observed what was necessary, they would see very clearly the necessity for being strongly organized.

Mr. McKenzie said that during the past decade the status of the farmer has been very little improved. To-day the farmer was no longer referred to as "hayseed" or "rosebuck", he was the "backbone of the country," a phrase would that he was quite capable of looking after his interests.

Fay, University of Toronto, speaking before the annual convention of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers here, as the result of his official visit to the offices of the organization that, from the standpoint of farmers, would give lasting results.

Professor Fay said that the farmers of Western Canada, wondering if this was a permanent business basis on which Wheat Pool has to say as to the methods of meeting the situation that naturally arise in the development of such an undertaking, I believe that you can safely say that it can do this.

It is expected that more than 10,000 cars are held up at sidings in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

RAILWAYS COME UP FOR DEBATE IN PARLIAMENT

Ottawa Canada's railway problem received some attention from speakers during the continued debate on the address in the House of Commons. W. F. McCrea, Conservative member for South York, advocated amalgamation of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways. Unnecessary duplication of lines, with consequent waste of millions, would thus be eliminated, he said, and the new system would be equipped with a great steamship service operating on the two oceans. He told the house that the time had come to stop petty feuding and get together to solve the railway problem. The railways, he declared, were willing to discuss a proposal for consolidation.

C. R. McIntosh, Liberal member for Nonth Battleford, Sask., supported Mr. McLean, emphasized the importance of the Hudson Bay Railway. It was a short route for Canadian products to the markets of the world he said and would be open for navigation for five months, since the ice question made no difficulty in the straits of the bay opening it.

From the Peace river north, John Blue, member for Athabasca, Sask., called the tariff "a diabolical transportation system." Canada was paid a tribute." He estimated that the Canadian people would pay $225,000,000 this year through the tariff.

Reach Agreement On Debt

Easy Terms Accorded to Italy by Great Britain

As per the exact terms of settlement are not known. It seems safe to assume, however, that the British agreement will be really disappointed, according to it understand that the Count Volpi obtained more easy terms than they seemed to hope for when they visited Britain.

It is believed that the main flaw in the agreement results for the payment of an annuity of 1,700,000 pounds during the next 62 years, the annuity commencing in 1929. Italy's debt to Britain is only slightly in excess of the first payment. Italy proposes to pay the British government in accordance a substantial part of this problem. Increase In Farm Products

A total value of grain crops grown in the province in 1925 is placed at $146,289,814, as compared with $106,- 109,214, an increase of $40,180,600 in 1924. He did not refer to these areas. The government would also co-operate with the Dominion government in securing a substantial part of the cost of the investigation. The amount set aside for it from the Dominion's 1925-26 share to the Province would will be applied to the cost.

. A Verse SWEET CLOVER

(Experimental Farm Note)

Conservation of soil fertility and soil fibre, weed destruction, and the production of an adequate supply of roughage for the increasing numbers of livestock are matters deserving of the most earnest attention of the western farmer. The legumes best adapted for these purposes are alfalfa and sweet clover. The choice of these depends on a number of considerations.

Sweet Clover has the advantage of a plentiful supply of good, cheap seed, while the best alfalfa seed is scarce and expensive. Sweet clover has a greater soil range and will stand more alkali. Both do well when seeded at ten pounds per acre, with practically no difference between nurse crops. The biennial nature of sweet clover makes it adaptable to a short rotation.

Alfalfa leads in the amount and quality of the hay produced, which is the basic standard by which these should be measured. Undoubtedly, this will not apply in all sections, but is true where both can be grown successfully. The hay of sweet clover is more difficult to cure. When used properly, both make excellent pasture. Alfalfa sod is more difficult to break. Northwestern grown seed of Grimm Alfalfa and Arlic sweet clover should be used. Every prairie farmer should become acquainted with the production and utilization of both these leguminous crops. To the latter, sweet clover should be tried first. Their widespread use will give heavy profit and greater permanence to our agriculture. Two recent publications by the Dominion Department of Agriculture deal in detail with the growing and uses of these crops for farmers under prairie conditions.

Communication

The Editor,
Tofield Mercury.
Dear Sir:

In view of the fact that the condition of the finances of the town is of vital importances and concern to local taxpayers, I feel it my duty to remonstrate against, at least, one statement contained in your editorial headed "Interest" of January 27th.

You state that when the debenture obligations were undertaken it was confidently expected that by 1926 the debenture debt of the town would be materially decreased, but instead it is increasing.

The real fact of the matter is that the original debenture indebtedness of the town was $118,000.00. All of this amount excepting $1963.00 was borrowed in the so called boom days. Today, as the 1925 financial statement shows, the total debenture debt is $96,336.00. This clear, indisputable fact clearly—

That the debenture debt has been decreased by $20,750.31 and that all interest payments have been made. There are no coupons for either principal or interest outstanding at this time.

Even during the post-war years some progress has been made in reducing the debt. The period from January 1st, 1920 to December 31st, 1925. This is the period during which the town has functioned under the jurisdiction of the Municipal Finances Commission. As at January 1st, 1920 the debenture debt stood as follows:

Debentures not yet due	$90,389.23
Debentures in arrears and unpaid	27,961.12
Past due interest owing on above	29,811
Total debenture indebtedness

The financial statement for 1925 shows, as stated before, that at present the total debenture indebtedness is $96,336.02. This indicates that there has been a net reduction in the past six years of $3752.66, in addition to all interest having been paid.

In support of the foregoing I would like to quote from two letters addressed to the town from the Commission.

The first letter followed the publication of a financial statement. Following the 1924 statement the following was received: "The annual statement is very satisfactory and the Council and Officials of the town are to be congratulated on the work that has been done so far." The concluding words of a letter received today reads: "It is not necessary to make any further comment in connection with this matter at the present time other than to congratulate the council on the progress being made and on the care in which the affairs of the town are being looked after."

My purpose in making these two quotations is not to hand any bouquets to the past two councils, but to substantiate the fact that the town has made some progress financially, although such progress may have been comparitively small, and that this fact is recognized by the Commission.

Yours very truly,
J. W. CHAPMAN.

Will Ship Western Grain Cheapest Way

Canadian Ports Most Most Competing Rates to Get the Business

With the object of investigating the market for Canadian wheat in Europe, E. B. Ramsay, director of the Canadian Transcontinental Weed Pool, D. L. Smith, manager, and A. B. Clarke, Montreal, representative, sailed from Halifax, Feb. 1 for England on the steamship Regina. The object of sailing from this port, it was stated, was to inspect the local harbor and its facilities for handling grain.

Mr. Smith, commenting on Western and Eastern Canada's policy as regards grain seeding, said if Halifax expected to compete successfully with other competing ports, its facilities must be on a par with its competitors' facilities. The Canadian Wheat Pool, he added, desired to make use of Canadian ports as much as possible, but he pointed out that grain must be shipped via the cheapest route. If Halifax wanted to handle Western Canada's grain traffic, it must be able to offer as cheap rates as other competing ports, for western shippers did not contemplate making any sacrifice in favor of Halifax or any other Canadian port.

But these three suffice to invalidate that notion, voiced by the iconoclasts in the senate, that the United States is, or can become, a self-sufficing economic entity. The hope, were it possible, would not be, if realized, a beneficial estate, since not isolated nations, but communicating and commanding ones are those that was in riches and well being. The fact is that the world, earth today is a single, though variegated, pattern, and that no nation and no continent exists or can exist to it self.

Secretary Hoover, who is rarely beyond the reach of the usual arrays of correspondent, expresses himself as fearful of economic conditions abroad to make us pay unduly for those commodities we cannot produce but must have. He talks about a coming world trade war . And he is about the last man to talk through his hat.

Well, what can we expect? We of the United States do not belong to the club, and we cannot even say that we have acted rashly or have felt that way, ever since 1919. If we don't want to feel stabb or act so, that is our privilege; but we needn't feel so get alarmed surprised when we find our rates called upon to pay the price for our carelessness. Everything in this world needs must be paid for, even the blindness of minding our own business, of burning our hole, of feeding alone For a people who individually may be the admiration of the world collectively are we not a bit disposed to be naive — Minneapolis Journal

What is Doing in the World of Radio

London artists are broadcasting from newspapers.

There are still some bad features about the radio. That "prisoner" song for example.

Australian broadcasting and education authorities have got together on a joint broadcast service on the dairying industry from CKCK, Regina.

Something new in radio production was attempted recently when a one-act comedy, "Part of the Game," was successfully broadcast from CKCK, Regina.

On the eve of the Saskatchewan Dairy Association convention, R. W. Heim, Prince Albert, president, broadcast a talk on agriculture on the dairying industry from CKCK, Regina.

Don't write your favorite radio station and tell them that you enjoyed the programme they "broadcasted." Say "broadcast," as it sounds better, and it's right!

Children under 10 years of age have been refused permission to take part in a broadcast concert at Birmingham, Eng. The local educational authority has issued a circular to this effect.

A three-day communication was established recently between a radio enthusiast in Kobat, on the north Manchurian railway, and China's ham, in England, a distance of 6,000 miles.

Eastern "dumped" to radio medicine on a number of ponds through which the Canadian Pacific railway is passing canp. Musical skating parties were organized in Warkworth, Peterborough and Norwood, and plans to take advantage of the ice.

The Canadian Radio Broadcasting Association of Broadcasters, recently formed, were elected as follows: J. R. Carlier, CKAC, Montreal, president; Gordon Johnson, CFCA, Toronto, vice president; A. R. McKeen, Canadian National Railway radio department, secretary-treasurer; G. M. Bell, CKCK, Regina, and C. H. Chase, CJCA, Edmonton, directors.

The Canadian Association of Broadcasters was organized in Toronto recently. The purpose of the associations is to further the interests of the members, to improve the standard of broadcasting, to promote the fraternity of the owners or operating one station operated by means of radio a wider knowledge of Canada, its advantages and opportunities.

Broadcasting is the latest country to go in for radio. Not that the Eskimos who comprise most of the very sparse population in the remote Greenland's icy mountain are likely to be heard from enthusiastic, but it is thought that radio installations are essential for the procurion and information of the natives in the matter of fishing boats that frequent these waters.

The British radio public is becoming irritated by reports of a row in wireless, called the "telegraphone," which has recently survived a number of tests and which may soon be placed on the market. The "telegraphone" is an instrument to "bottle" or "can" radio programmes, store them away, and later reproduce them at a time when the radio public can listen more conveniently.

Tallest Building in World Started

New York Structure Will Cost Four-Hundred Million Dollars When Done

Work has commenced on the world's tallest building in Broadway, between Fulton Street and Vesey Street, which will be the sixty-five story Christian Mackenzie Company building, and will be the next highest than the Woolworth Building.

The structure, which will house a hotel, a church, a hospital and a bank, is being built by Oscar E. Keeble, president of the Keeble Securities, Inc., in gratitude for the recovery of his son Howard Keeble, a wireless radio engineer, to become a world famous aviator.

Thirty are to be 4,500 rooms in the hotel and of the 2,000 offices, it is said that rooms will be $21 a week Ten per cent. of the earnings of the building, said Mr. Keeble, will go to hospital and maintain a medical missionary base on the north pole, this year, the aims of the two are in certain respects similar. Each will look for land in the unknown region between Alaska and the North Pole, and flying may also attempt to reach the pole.

The navy officer's primary object, however, is to explore the unknown regions north of Greenland, Canada and Alaska, using either Spitzbergen or Etah, Greenland, as a base.

The construction cost, exclusive of the land value, will be about $14,000,000.

Will Not Attend Celebration

Nations Refuse U. S. President's Invitation Mainly For Financial Reasons

The great powers of the world have decided to turn a cold shoulder to Philadelphia's sesqui-centennial this summer, it was disclosed as an official list of the nations that have accepted and those which have declined invitations to attend, was made public at the state department, Washington. Invitations were issued by President Harding last summer to more than 50 nations to participate in America's 150th birthday party celebrating the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

The state department announces that only nine nations have accepted Japan, Spain, Argentina and Hungary are the larger powers which have promised to come. Great Britain, Ireland, The Netherlands, Poland and Siam head the list of nations which have refused. France, Italy, Germany, China in fact have not even replied to the invitation, and it was reported in reliable quarters that these, with other smaller nations, may not be represented.

The reason held up here for the apparent lack of support abroad for the fair in the deciding, arrived at over precepts, to open the fair in June of this year. The reason is believed to be that the time is too short to permit the European countries are staying away for financial reasons, it was said.

The official list of acceptances as reported by the state department to-day follows: Japan, Spain, Argentina, Hungary, Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, Spain and Switzerland have declined outright.

Siam has all reported as having first accepted and subsequently declined to come.

Another Polar Expedition

Independent Venture to Explore Arctic Regions From the Air

An independent expedition to explore the Arctic from the air, is being organized by Lieut. Commander Richard E. Byrd, of Winchester, Va., who commanded the navy section of the MacMillan expedition last year, it was announced here.

The enterprise will be financed by United States citizens, among those who have pledged support being John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Co., it was announced.

Commander Byrd is negotiating now with several concerns for suitable craft for the expedition, either one of which may be purchased or leased. Each is his belief, has good points for carrying out undertaking.

While it is not the plan to compete with the expedition of the Detroit Aviation Society, which intends to hop off from Point Barrow, Alaska, for the north pole, this year, the aims of the two are in certain respects similar. Each will look for land in the unknown region between Alaska and the North Pole, and flying may also attempt to reach the pole.

China and the Foreigner

Nations Have Helped Trade by Giving Their Protection

However much the Chinese may hate foreigners, they must acknowledge that their economic progress the country has made in the last half century is traceable to the protection foreign nations have given during domestic disturbances to the Chinese authorities, says Dr. Sun Yat-sen, president. Were the railroads, the mines, the shipping and various other forms of industrial effort not afforded foreign protection by other than the present, the world be much more backward than she actually is today —Providence Journal.

SYNOPSIS

Dayne, the half-breed and McTaggart, the Company store at Wax, Manitoba, are building rival trading posts on Nelson lake as possible. Dayne is aided by his wife Margaret, daughter of Pierre Radisson, half-breed trapper and trader. Jealousy of the owners of rival posts, Dayne and McTaggart, is intensified when Margaret and Dayne's son, Philip, fall in love. Dayne, to prevent the match, sends Philip to the Hudson Bay post at Fort Churchill, and McTaggart, to keep Margaret from following her son, tells her that Philip has married a squaw. Margaret, broken-hearted, leaves Wax and travels to Fort Churchill. Philip, on learning of the deception practiced upon him, returns to Wax, and, finding Margaret gone, starts in search of her. Dayne, to prevent Philip from finding his mother, sends him on a trapping trip to the north. Philip, on his return, finds Dayne dead, murdered by McTaggart, who has also kidnapped Margaret. Philip, with Wolf, his dog, and Baree, a young wolf, starts in pursuit of McTaggart. Baree, who has been raised by Indians, is a wild creature, and is afraid of human beings. Philip, after many days of travel, finds McTaggart's camp, but is unable to find Margaret. He is attacked by McTaggart, and in the fight that follows Philip is knocked unconscious. McTaggart, thinking he has killed Philip, takes Margaret and flees. Philip, on regaining consciousness, finds Wolf dead, killed by McTaggart's bullet. Philip, with Baree, starts in pursuit of McTaggart.

Seven inches of snow had fallen, and the whole world seemed turned into a wonderful white robe. Silhouetted against the sky were all the trees and shrubs, in each tall white cone to the point, and underneath was so light that a cartridge dropped from the hand sank in the bottom of it. Baree was on the trail—and early. He was more cautious this morning, for there was no longer the scent of snowshoes track of McTaggart to guide him. He struck the first camp about halfway between Lac Bain and the church in which the Pastor was waiting. It was empty, and from the ashes of the Tong after Lap he visited, and all of them he found sparing, and all with one bait. He sniffed the ally was previously, striking calmly to reach the lung of sin-sin, a wild of man was smell. Along toward noon he came to the "spot"—the spot where Philip's dogs waiting for him with sniping have built a fast roaring fire and a fishing boats that frequent these waters.

Mrs. Hora Tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

Hamilton Ont. — "I had a bad time with female trouble and would not be able to get up. I had a female trouble so badly I could hardly walk across the floor. I would be laid down and would suddenly get worse. So my husband got a friend to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and by the time I took two bottles I was improving in spite of myself. I took six bottles in all, and now I am all right again and doing my own work. I have no pain even to walk far, so I have gladly to do. I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, and think it is good. But I owe my health to the Vegetable Compound, and I think every woman who suffers from female trouble should try it and be without it if it cost much more." — Mrs. Hattie Hora, 26 St. Matthews Avenue, Hamilton, Ontario.

Do you feel broken down, nervous and weak sometimes? Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a wonderful tonic to take at such a time. It always helps, and if taken regularly and persistently, will relieve this condition, 0

Seven inches of snow had fallen, and the whole world seemed turned into a wonderful white robe. Silhouetted against the sky were all the trees and shrubs, in each tall white cone to the point, and underneath was so light that a cartridge dropped from the hand sank in the bottom of it. Baree was on the trail—and early. He was more cautious this morning, for there was no longer the scent of snowshoes track of McTaggart to guide him. He struck the first camp about halfway between Lac Bain and the church in which the Pastor was waiting. It was empty, and from the ashes of the Tong after Lap he visited, and all of them he found sparing, and all with one bait. He sniffed the ally was previously, striking calmly to reach the lung of sin-sin, a wild of man was smell. Along toward noon he came to the "spot"—the spot where Philip's dogs waiting for him with sniping have built a fast roaring fire and a fishing boats that frequent these waters.

The British radio public is becoming irritated by reports of a row in wireless, called the "telegraphone," which has recently survived a number of tests and which may soon be placed on the market. The "telegraphone" is an instrument to "bottle" or "can" radio programmes, store them away, and later reproduce them at a time when the radio public can listen more conveniently.

Veteran Conductor Retires

Uniform Sixty Years Ago Was Top Hat and Frock Coat

He is Amos Brown, of Orange, who began his work in 1853, before many of his surroundings were known to incidentals. He is seventy-seven.

Government tests of the Bache-Wiig process of manufacturing paper from straw having proved successful, a company has been formed to exploit the invention. Brunnhilder board of trade is also bidding for the new industry.

Some people read that they may think; some read that they may write; some read that they may talk —and the latter constitute an overwhelming majority.

Mrs. Gilcrud: "I'd like to have a little lost lid, if possible."

New Butcher: "Yes, ma'am, have just tried dieting!"

Independent Venture to Explore Arctic Regions From the Air

An independent expedition to explore the Arctic from the air, is being organized by Lieut. Commander Richard E. Byrd, of Winchester, Va., who commanded the navy section of the MacMillan expedition last year, it was announced here.

The enterprise will be financed by United States citizens, among those who have pledged support being John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Co., it was announced.

Commander Byrd is negotiating now with several concerns for suitable craft for the expedition, either one of which may be purchased or leased. Each is his belief, has good points for carrying out undertaking.

While it is not the plan to compete with the expedition of the Detroit Aviation Society, which intends to hop off from Point Barrow, Alaska, for the north pole, this year, the aims of the two are in certain respects similar. Each will look for land in the unknown region between Alaska and the North Pole, and flying may also attempt to reach the pole.

The navy officer's primary object, however, is to explore the unknown regions north of Greenland, Canada and Alaska, using either Spitzbergen or Etah, Greenland, as a base.

INTEREST

THE MERCURY welcomes the appearance of the letter written by Mr. W. Chapman appearing in this issue. It is pleasing to us, as it is no doubt to other ratepayers to know that the debenture debt is not increasing but decreasing. When writing the editorial referred to, there was no desire or intention of belittling the work of the council or of posing as a scaremonger. The statements contained in the editorial are literally true, though we now freely admit are liable to be misunderstood.

The statement remqnstrated against reads: "When some number of years ago, obligations were assumed by the selling of debentures, it was confidently expected that by the year 1926, the debenture debt of the town would be very materially decreased. But instead of decreasing it is increasing."

According to a debenture statement issued in February, 1924, the latest date at which a debenture matured is given as 1933 and the earliest as 1924. Therefore it is reasonable to assume that when these debentures were sold (with one or two exceptions, between the years 1910—14) ratepayers then expected that by 1926 the debt would be materially decreased. That makes that statement true enough.

Now regarding the increase. It never occured to us that readers would interpret the term increase as meaning an increase of the original amount. We meant a recent increase and a few lines farther down in the article make this clear when we write "it has increased during the past year or so." This is literally true, though unfortunately it does not tell the whole story. When the editorial was written we remembered that in 1923 the debenture debt was quoted as $95,672. The 1925 statement shows it to be, $98,000.00. Therefore, there is an increase of around $2000.00. However, during the refunding period there were no payments made, the money that ordinarily would have gone for debentures was used to buy Provincial Savings Certificates. This $9,000.00 we took to be sinking fund as at one time, the council, we believe, held some Victory Bonds in that capacity.

As we said at the beginning, we welcome Mr. Chapman's letter and statement.

THE WEATHER

IT IS with no small amount of trebidation that the writer approach the subject of weather. Not so much because it has been discussed over and over again during the passing of this winter—though that is cause enough—but because for quite a few years, whenever we made comment on one particular kind of weather, the weather man changed his style. If it was exceptionally dry, it would rain, and if exceptionally rainy it would become dry. Consequently we gave up all hope of posing as a second Foster and just let the weather man have his way, so to speak. But this winter is exceptional—everybody says so. The Mercury's past weather authorities, such as Mayor McCauley, Mr. Cookson and Mr. Pruden, all agree that this is the finest winter they have experienced. This in view of the fact that some scientists predicted a very cold winter (due to sun spots) makes it more remarkable still. There is this to be said for the scientists, though, that elsewhere, especially in Europe, the winter has been very severe. Stormy weather, followed by snow and frost, has been frequently experienced where, generally speaking, snow and frost rarely appears. It might be in general theory, they were right, but slightly off in details, and, oh comforting thought, it might be that our exceptional cold winter came last year (it was here alright if it is the one they mean) and we are off and away to a long period of good weather. Be this as it may, the present winter has been pleasant enough. The farmers and stockmen have had their work almost cut in half, compared to last year, while even the hens and pullets nobly responded and we find fresh eggs 22½c. a dozen in January, which is something unheard of by us before. The only hardship it has caused is to the sporting fraternity. Soft ice, soft ice, for curling and skating has been the rule, while during other winters it has been the exception.

Exactly what is immediately in store for us in the weather line, no one seems to know. The Vegreville editor boasts of a weather oracle in the person of, we believe, one Mr. Stanton, but we have no such supreme authority here, unless we place the responsibility on John Morton and just add it to his multifarious duties during bonspiel week. Anyway, it re's hoping that this fine weather will last, that there will be an early spring and a good start made on the land.

Thrift

At the session of your bank, insurance, trust, mortgage companies and building societies, as well as in preparing and distributing their annual report for the past year and through the advertising columns of financial periodicals and the newspapers interesting the public of the results of the past twelve months, without exception, so far as noted, all companies have to assign a satisfactory reason for a period of fortunate all along the line, reflecting, should it have existed for the current year.

The same kind of reasons—mostly satisfactory, not only from the standpoint of these companies and their shareholders, but from a broad Canadian national standpoint. These reports reveal a healthy state of affairs in one of the most important respects in connection with the present and future welfare of the people of this Dominion. We refer to the marked increase in the number of depositors, accounts and in the aggregate amount of money to their credit. The opening of tens of thousands of new savings accounts is recorded while the volume of new savings months up into tens of millions of dollars. Practically every life insurance company in this country has reported large gains during the past year in the Canadian public.

It is certainly the way years, with its great Victory Loan campaigns, enlisting thousands of people in the art and value of saving. They bought Victory bonds in the first place largely patriotic motives, but the habit was formed, and the people of Canada proved their ability to finance the country in the war expenditures of this country, when the Victory Loan campaigns, and all old world money markets were closed to them, was not the least surprising thing the nations of the world learned about Canada during the last fateful years.

But what the people of Canada learned to do from patriotic motives between 1914 and 1919, they are continuing to do as a matter of sound business. To an increasing extent Canadians are saving, and carefully investing their savings. The sensational clipping of coupons from Victory Bonds, or the prompt every six months of a dividend cheque for interest earned on Bonds, became a pleasant and very satisfactory occupation. People learned, many for the first time how money makes money, and how it does so in months up, and especially if it be invested instead of dissipated in possibly foolish expenditures and reckless extravagance.

The practice of thrift is the cornerstone of prosperity for a nation, a family or an individual. It is an anchor in time of storm and stress. It is a financial guarantee against financial worry. It is the foundation of fortunes and is old age. It made "the contentment and a cosy happiness.

The investment in thrift during the past year—almost unique and unparalleled in the history of banks and life assurance companies, the banks and other financial corporations by their savings accounts, periodic cash, and non-returnable deposits of saving for the purpose—is everywhere. With the result even if one dollar a week could not be saved. Furthermore, these seemingly insignificant accounts are welcomed even by the strongest banks. Bankers, better than most people, realize that the dollar saving of today will represent a really worthwhile account in the not distant future. Like the old proverb rhyme. Little drops of water, little grains of sand, make the mighty ocean and the beauteous land" so do the little pennies and the tiny dollars roll up mighty bank accounts.

All parents should encourage their boys and girls to start a savings account, no matter how small. In fact, parents may well commence this good habit by starting a savings account for the baby before it is old enough to walk for itself. Very small amounts certainly set aside may provide for the future. Starting at a time when possibly some reverse in the family fortunes might otherwise deprive such child of the advantages it ought to have.

The habit of thrift develops character. It makes for self-reliance, strength of purpose, the exercise of care. It is a safeguard against shiftlessness and one of the surest protections both of one's best ourselves. The substantial gains which result, bring given a new value to work. The needs-wills of the world are largely what are created to make.

Thrift does not mean greed nor miserliness, but it does mean economy and prudence, and wise and careful expenditure. With a person or better income in the country, and more money in circulation, it will be a highly encouraging time for the family, and the individual in the habit of saving. If one has some and a reasonable proportion of his pay envelope or cheque is placed in a savings account or some kind for interest against the rainy day will be in evidence, at some time or other in the life of every one.

TENNIS DANCE A BIG SUCCESS

The dance staged by the ladies of the tennis club and held at the Variety Theatre on Friday night last, was a success in every way. The hall was decorated with tennis rackets, streamers, etc. and down the centre of the floor was strung a tennis net. Novelties were distributed to the dancers and the event assumed a gala aspect. Lunch was served at midnight. The Camrose—Tofield orchestra rendered very pleasing music. The proceeds are to be used to pay off the debt on the cement court which was constructed last year. The attendance was very good and included many from a distance. The net proceeds was not over $30.00.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER BANQUET

On Thursday, February 18th, the annual mother and daughter banquet was held at the United Church. There were almost eighty mothers and daughters present. Mildred Booth acted as toastmistress. A candle lighting ceremony was conducted by the girls and this was followed by talks given on companionship between mothers and daughters.

CURLING

Two rinks consposed of Mrs. McCauley, (skip), Mrs. Jobb, Mrs. H. Rogers, Mrs. E. Rogers. Mrs. Hammond (skip), Mrs. Hannan, Mrs. Behrens and Mrs. Bissett journeyed to Camrose on Monday. Both teams lost in Camrose. Mrs. Swift, Mrs. Davidson and Mrs. Constantine accompanied the rink to Camrose.

Tofield is represented at the Edmonton bonspiel by a rink skipped by Geo. McLaughlin and includes, John Lee, Dr. Morrison, and Mr. Arne Strong. At time of writing it is too early to say whether they will bring home any of the prizes.

Two rinks of lady curlers visited Holden on Tuesday and included, Mrs. Cap Lee (skip), Mrs. Simmons, Mrs. E. Rogers and Mrs. Forman. Mrs. Letourneau (skip), Mrs. Chamberlain, Mrs. Swift and Mrs. Morrison. The ladies played five games and won three. They were played against and keen. Everyone voted as being loyally entertained by the Holden Ladies' Curling Club.

The annual mixed bonspiel is now on at the rink and every evening a large number of town with a sprinkling of country folk are enjoying themselves at the roarin' game. The list of rinks is quite lengthy and includes practically all curlers of the district.

Sports Night

The sports night at the rink on Monday night was a huge success in every way. The largest crowd that has been in the rink for several years was treated to a fine display of manipulating a football on the end of a broom. The main attraction was put on by a bunch of costumed performers who gave a wonderful display of high and low dives and fancy skating on hands and knees. The opposing goal keepers, Hannan and Nolan were beaten a few times but they both did their stuff very gracefully. Somebody won the game, but nobody knows who it was. The brown ball game between Ketchamont and Bardo also proved a lively affair. It was a scrimmin tie, but someone might have scored if Dick Turner hadn't burst the ball with one of his mighty swings. The boys and men's hockey teams gave a nice display of the winter pastime as well as the girls' basketball. The management of the basketball club wishes to take this opportunity of thanking the Ketchamont and Bardo boys, as well as all those who took part in the program for their support.

W.I. NOTES

The next social meeting will be held on Tuesday, March 9th at 2 o'clock sharp.

The W.I. are serving at the lunch counter in the rink each night during the mixed bonspiel. Fresh sandwiches and pies, fine coffee and tea every night is proving very popular. If you're not curling, have a snack anyway. The curlers are appreciating the service and we appreciate their patronage.

D. E. BALL APPOINTED AUCTIONEER AT CALGARY

D. E. Ball, local auctioneer, has received the appointment to sell at the provincial bull sale to be held at Calgary early in March. The appointment, which, by the way, was unsolicited, is quite an honor as well as a step upward in the profession which he has chosen. Calgary has the largest bull sale in the west and it is one of the principal stock events of the year. Mr. Ball is taking the place of Mr. Paisley who is retiring. We reported they were doing well. Mr Ness is in Camrose with Betsey.

Considerable anxiety was felt here as to the safety of the Palmer-Anderson family when it was learned that Sturgeon Heroes, China, the city in which they were stationed, was between the two hostile armies. Mr. P. E. Anderson has received a telegram from Palmer: "All safe, Hannah," so it is known they are safely out of the war zone. Rev. Nelson, the aged missionary who was killed there, visited Alberta several years ago and spoke in the Lutheran church at Bardo.

Mrs. Konrad Finseth entertained the Aid Society and Thimble Club on Tuesday, the 23rd, about 70 were present. Sunday being Mrs. Emil Rude's birthday anniversary and Tuesday Mrs. C. J. Rude's, they were each presented with a candle trimmed cake. The ladies who were out from Tofield also brought Mrs. Rude a cake decorated in pink and white. Mrs. Rude had several other gifts. NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

KETCHAMONT

The weather has turned very mild again and roads are in very good condition. The farmers are very busy hauling hay and wood.

More money, less news, so it seems in our district. In the best years we had our literary, dances and socials. Now we all run to town, to pool meetings, dances, hockey matches, etc. Hence the scarcity of social doings around here.

Mr. L. Carlisle and son Earl took the Monday night train for Calgary to take a short course of engineering.

Mr. Lorrie Haralson visited at the C. A. Ingram home on Friday and Saturday of last week.

Mr. Leslie Combes visited at the home of his sister, Mrs. Archie Brown of Bawlf for a few days; and on Sunday and Monday with boys folk by our district.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Owen visited at the Yager home in Woodlawn district on Sunday.

Mr. Jonas Moline returned to Acme, Alta. on Saturday morning after spending several weeks at the Moline and C. A. Ingram homes.

Master Charles Sears returned to the school room on Monday after being detained home three week due to illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sutton, Miss Selma Nomeland and Mr. Nashman took in the skating tournament in Camrose on Thursday and Friday of last week.

Time turned back her pages about twenty years for some of our "stubble jumpers" on Monday night (who originated the name?) when they put on skates again after that length of time to play broom ball at the sports night in Tofield. Many of our families were represented and therefore were themselves. Mr. W. A. Mitchell, we hear came home with a black eye.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Ray's baby has been under the doctor's care during the past week, but is now recovering.

We are pleased to state that Mrs. Sutton is improving. We were in error a week or so ago in stating that she was suffering from cancer, and regret publishing the item.

BARDO

Miss Betsey Ness and Mrs. Axtell Kinney each underwent an operation for appendicitis in the hospital at Camrose on Tuesday morning. Mr. Kinney came home in the evening. We reported they were doing well. Mr Ness is in Camrose with Betsey.

Considerable anxiety was felt here as to the safety of the Palmer-Anderson family when it was learned that Sturgeon Heroes, China, the city in which they were stationed, was between the two hostile armies. Mr. P. E. Anderson has received a telegram from Palmer: "All safe, Hannah," so it is known they are safely out of the war zone. Rev. Nelson, the aged missionary who was killed there, visited Alberta several years ago and spoke in the Lutheran church at Bardo.

Mrs. Konrad Finseth entertained the Aid Society and Thimble Club on Tuesday, the 23rd, about 70 were present. Sunday being Mrs. Emil Rude's birthday anniversary and Tuesday Mrs. C. J. Clarence shot a big snow white owl and had it mounted as a gift for his mother. It was much admired. The guests from Tofield were Mrs. E. Rogers, Mrs. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Lovekamo.

LINDBROOK

Last Wednesday, February 17th the Midnight Lake Minstrel Troupe gave a show in the school house here. The school was crowded and the show put on was very good. The programme was too long and varied to itemize so to give the artistes' names, but suffice it to say that it was well received by the audience who are now looking forward to the return engagement of this troupe. After the show, sandwiches, coffee and cake were served by the Lindbrook ladies and the decks were cleared for action, via a dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster entertained a few of Mr. Lancaster's comrades in arms (not in baby clothes) to supper last Saturday evening, it being Mr. Lancaster's birthday. After supper, reminiscences of the war were exchanged both humorous and otherwise and later all departed home after wishing Bill the best of luck and not "up the line" either.

Miss Lillian Rogers left or Edmonton last week.

Miss L. Morden is also on a visit to friends in Edmonton.

Mr. Chas. Morden has purchased a sawing and grinding outfit this last week and is open for business to these lines.

Miss E. G. Code spent the week end with friends in Edmonton.

Don't forget your duty on the 27th, Vote and vote early.

AMISK CREEK

Born.—To Mr. and Mrs. Hillers, on February 15th, a daughter.

Harry and Arthur Anderson, Gaspard Plaxton, Carrie Bowhan, Hazel Hillers, took in the carnival at Bardo last Friday evening.

Mrs. R. O. Berg and Mrs. N. E. Bond went to Edmonton last Sunday night to take treatments for their health.

The Egnan family from Bardo and Ole Berg from Genade Prairie were guests at the Amelio home last Sunday.

Mrs. E. Nord has been on the sick list for the last two weeks. We hear she is getting better.

Miss Carrie Eggen is assisting at Mrs. Hillers's.

Mrs. L. Anderson spent last week in Edmonton, returning home on Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Loberg and son were city visitors last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Berg were visitors at the Hillers'nd home last Tuesday.

A correction should be made by the item referring to a social at Mrs. Olsen's that appeared in last week's items. Mr. J. Sieckburn is Mrs. Olsen's son-in-law, not brother, as stated; and it was Grandma Moen who was present, not Grandpa Moen.

Christmas of Her

"Yes, Rupert," said mother, "the baby was a Christmas present from the angels."

"Well, mamma," said Rupert, "if we say him away carefully, and don't lose him, can't we give him to somebody else next Christmas."—Good Hardware.

It has been necessary to close the lower room of the Bardo school while Miss Ness is in the hospital.

A good time is reported at the carnival last Friday night. A large crowd was out, many in costume. Lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Parkey, Hazel and Geo. Moen were guests in the Wm. Thompson home on Sunday.

Leonard Stauffer is quite sick. Little Evelyn is somewhat better.

The meeting of the Bardo U.F.A. will be held in the Bardo school house on the evening of March 5th.

Another Scientist Imperils Health

Professor Took Great Risk to Solve Important Problem

To the long list of scientists who have imperilled their health, and their lives, in the pursuit of knowledge, that will doubtless manifold must now be added the name of Professor Joseph Barcroft, who has been appointed professor of physiology at Cambridge University.

Professor Barcroft, it has been announced, special sid days in a hermetically sealed glass box to verify a very old question as to whether it is possible to calculate the amount of oxygen in a man's blood under certain conditions. The problem has in recent years become of great importance, particularly in connection with aviation.

One result of his self-imposed experiment is that he has lost his left "pulse." A quiet, unassuming man, he risked his life several times to perform gas experiments during the war.

New Theory About Hair

Playing Stringed Instruments Promotes Growth According to Scientists

If all the violinists in the world assembled together in one vast building, and they numbered, say, 100,000, it is probable that there would be but few among them with bald heads. But if the same number of brass instrument players were inspected, bald heads would be as common as five in aught over time!

If you doubt this, make a point of observing the heads of the orchestras in the cinemas or theatres you patronize.

Scientists declare that the playing of stringed instruments induces hair growth. A series of experiments on the parts held has proved that nothing at all assists his power to raise a hairy crop.

Cornet and horn players lose their hair early; there is the wrong sort of music from the listener point of view. The explanation advanced is that the physical strain of blowing affects the circulation and deprives the roots of the hair of their due supply of blood.

Woman is Veterinary Surgeon

Irish Girl Only One Practising Profession in United Kingdom

It is strange to hear of a profession that is not overcrowded. It is strange yet still to be told that there is only one woman veterinary surgeon in the kingdom. This is Miss Alice Cust, daughter of the late Sir Leonard Cust, who began practise in Ireland and soon had such a big practise that she required four assistants to help her in the country. She has now settled on the borders of the New Forest.

R. H. Bilmer, of New York, set up radio receiving apparatus at the base of the pyramids in Egypt and heard radio receiving apparatus at the base of the pyramids while talking in Pittsburg, according to the Westinghouse Manufacturing Company.

A 50-kilowatt transmitter in being installed at Ft. Leavenworth, to make this the key to the entire radio communication system of the United States Government. It is one of the most powerful stations in the country.

An important navigation plan completed under the direction of George K. Burgess, director of the United States bureau of standards, shows less harmful effects from than was anticipated, and stations can hold their own as expected by this bureau.

A new record for amateur radio communication is believed to have been established by a Vancouver amateur, Karl Hoard, when he was in communication with a ship lying in Nanaimo harbor, 70 miles away, for more than 19,000 miles away, for more than fifty minutes.

It is calculated to collect the $1 tax from approximately 40,000 owners of radio receiving sets in Montreal, officials of the department of marine and fisheries prosecuted seven owners in connection with the matter. The department ordered them to pay their licenses or face prosecution with the options of eight days in jail.

In 1923 there were 2,500 radios on board ships, in 1925 the number increased to 550,000. Furthermore, the future is not a barrier of cheap sets it is said. The average price paid was $175 in 1925; the high price sets were still the best sellers in shops, according to Hardware. Sets selling from $125 to $200 were briefly pollers than the five sets.

The three-tube set will give good and speaker volume on signals over quite a wide range. While it is impossible to accurately estimate the range of a receiving set (since so many depend upon local conditions) in general a range of 1,000 miles is to be expected from a reflexer of this type when it is operating under ordinary conditions.

Can Build New Faces

World's First Plastic Surgery Hospital Planned For New York

Plans have been prepared for the world's first hospital to be devoted exclusively to plastic and cosmetic surgery which is to be built in New York during the coming summer. The new institution which is expected to open in November, will be known as the Plastic Hospital and the staff will be made up of a dozen or more of the most able orthoni surgeons now engaged in this line of work.

A public clinic will be opened in connection with the Plastic Hospital where poor people will be treated free of charge. Another department will be established where women of moderate means may have operations for the correction of facial irregularities performed at greatly reduced fees which may be paid on the installment plan.

The free clinic and part pay department, according to Plastic Information, will be founded and supported by a wealthy New York woman whose name is not disclosed, at this time. She is said to be making the contribution in appreciation of recent successful operation for the restoration of a badly scarred face and a bodily deformity. The latter case was a most remarkable one. The hospital itself will be financed by members of the Metropolitan medical fraternity.

During the past three years plastic and cosmetic surgery has developed in the dignity of a recognized specialty here and abroad. The International Journal of New York's best known plastic surgeons are doing this work. A number of the leading hospitals of the country have established departments and have been opened in the Mayo Brothers' Clinic at Rochester, Minn., and under the direction of the celebrated surgeon, Dr. Allen. There are at least a score of other prominent American hospitals are expected to establish departments of plastic surgeries within the next few months.

Honored in Constantinople

Aged Man Unable To Work Saved From Starvation

The Sultans of Turk, Sara Agha, who claims that his son hundred and fifty years makes him the oldest man in the world, is in dire homeless, and, incidentally, saved from starvation by the city of Constantinople.

The aged man has been unable for the past year or two to carry on his life-long trade of a water carrier. Before the human delivery wiorms of Turkey, he was a familiar figure, assembly along the street with a piano or bedstead or dining room table on his back.

As Zara Agha has grown somewhat what too old for such strenuous occupation, he has found it difficult to supply himself with the bread and water of existence, for the pension which he receives from the association of retired water carriers is pitifully small.

Now the Prefect of Constantinople, Izzadine Bey, has appointed Zara Agha as doorkeeper to the municipal council. Therefore he will now have the easy position of doorkeeper, a uniform and a warm place to sit in, in the case of importance backing the dignity of his office.

Only Three Stamps Bore Alexandre's Image

Quebec Tercentenary Issue of 1908 Was First One

Only three stamps bore the image of the late Queen Dowager, notwithstanding her long connection with England in the Newfoundland issue of 1897 the portraits of which included the four generations of the Royal Family. Queen Alexandra appeared on the Canadian stamp. In the Coronation issue of the same colony she was portrayed on the green two-cent stamp. In the Quebec tercentenary issue of 1908 she shares the two-cent carmine stamp with King Edward, but it is the finest of her three philatelic portrayals.

Explains Stand Of Canada

Hon. P. C. Larkin Issues Statement Regarding Imperial Conference

Canada's partnership has cost her close to $1,000,000 as her share of deficits when the cable was run at a loss, and she now desires to share in the profits of the now profitable undertaking, says a statement issued from the office of the Canadian high commissioner, Hon. P. C. Larkin, with reference to the dispute over proposed duplication of the cable from Fiji to Canada. Postmaster-General Hon. Charles Murphy has stated that if the duplication is proceeded with Canada will withdraw from the partnership with the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand under which the Pacific cable was constructed.

The statement recalls that the agreement of 1911 provides that any profits from the cable should be divided between the Imperial and Australian governments in the ratio proportionate to any losses. For the first thirteen years, losses were $2,440,000 of which Canada paid nearly five-sixteenths.

"We claim," the statement continues, "that the Pacific cable board has no authority to proceed with duplication of the Pacific cable without our consent, and doing so will violate the British Act of 1911. It is for these reasons among others, that the Australian postmaster general has notified the Canadian postmaster that the businesslike commitments the board has no authority to proceed with the duplication of the cable unless prompt provision is made for Canada's participation."

A World's Record

Death Rate to Very Low in British Columbia Coal Mining Industry

Due to care and safety devices, a world's record was scored by the coal mines of British Columbia in 1925, in the matter of fatalities in the industry, according to figures announced by the minister of mines. The death rate per 1,000,000 tons of coal mined was but 2.4 per cent, the lowest in the history of the coal mining industry of the province, but a world's record as shown by a comparison with statistics compiled in all other large coal producing areas throughout the world.

The men are under instructions to remain close to the Prince at all times when he is in public.

Vaccine Against Lockjaw

Discovery Announced in Paris by Young French Scientists

M. Zoeller, of the Faure, and M. Ramon, of Paris, young French scientists, who have already discovered a vaccination against diphtheria, announced to a meeting of the French Academy of Medicine that they have perfected a method of vaccination against lockjaw which can be applied at the same time as anti-typhoid vaccine.

The announcement was received with great enthusiasm by the academy. A member of the academy, M. Roux, who has examined the claims of the young Frenchmen, said that the new vaccine supplanted for life those who receive it. During a general discussion which followed it was stated that the anti-tetanic of Ramon and Zoeller responded perfectly in all the tests to which they were subjected, and that their practical value is assured.

World Lower Duties

Reduction in Duty On Automobiles Is Believed Certain

Conferences between Liberal and Progressive members regarding the tariff budget have been unanimized and it is understood that already there is an agreement on some features. It is believed authoritatively certain that there will be a reduction in the duty on automobiles and that this will contribute the principal change in the tariff schedules.

In addition, it is learned, the Progressives have asked for reductions in other commodities, including pumps and pump pipes, lubricating oils and farm cultiv.

Even at that distance Baree could see him grinning affably; he saw the outstretched hand, and the voice carried new assurances to him. It was not like Pierrot now. He had never loved Pierrot. Neither was it soft and sweet like the Widow's. He had known only a few of the people of them he had regarded with distinct liking, and of these only two or three had ever been kind to him. It was forceful in its way. It was not unpleasant. It was kind. He wanted to answer it. He was filled even with a desire to go to the stranger and thrust his hand out in return for the friendship of man possessed him. He did not move until Jim Carvel entered the carpet. Then he followed.

That night they were camped in a dense growth of cedars and balsams two miles north of Dutch McTaggart's trap-line. For two hours it had snowed, and their trail was covered. It was still snowing, but not a flake of the white deluge sifted down through the thick canopy of boughs. Carvel had put up a small shelter, and had built a fire; they supper was over, and Baree lay on his belly facing the outlaw, almost within reach of his hand. With his body to a tree, Carvel was smoking his pipe. He had thrown off his cap and his coat, and in the warm firelight his bald crown shone lightly young. But even in that glow his face had none of the appearance of youth. It was clear and strong.

"I'm a bad one, old chap," he chuckled. "You haven't got it on me—not a bit. Want to know what happened?" He waited a moment, and Baree looked at him steadily. Jim Carvel went on, as if speaking to a human, "Let's see—it was five years ago, five years this December, just before Christmas time. Had a Dutch Flat claim, and left my wife—Mother—just the Dut,' as' when you added to her name, I knew you understand? And alone came a white striped skunk named Hardy and shot me down in cold blood. Understand? Cold blood. Didn't even give me a chance to draw my gun. Left me for dead. Didn't even look to see if I was dead. Thought I was, I guess. Then he went off with two years in a penitentiary, and I've been a bad one ever since. So—a-h-h-h

Canada has officially invited the British Dominions and colonies and all foreign powers to attend the World's poultry congress at Ottawa, which is to be held from July 27 to August 4, 1927. Three thousand delegates are expected to attend.

Canadian construction constructed for the month of January totalled $12,000,000 as compared with $3,000,000 in January 1925. The record for January indicates that [illegible] construction is rapidly increasing in favor.

Mardi Gras celebrations at Quebec started off along the lines that have been made famous by that city time to time throughout the continent. This year the activities were rendered more interesting by the fact that the city is now at the height of its winter sports celebrations.

The value of the wheat crop of Saskatchewan in the year 1925 was $213,000,000 or substantially more than half of the total Dominion value. A total of 13,002,741 acres were seeded which yielded an average of 16.3 bushels per acre, or a total of 300,361,000 bushels.

One of the most remarkable escapes from sudden death was related at Aylmer, Quebec, when chauffeur attempted to beat [illegible] the Aylmer Road Crossing and reached the tracks the same moment a train was due. The taxi driver and his two passengers were thrown from the car, were unable to start same after the shock and [illegible] otherwise uninjured.

David E. Brown, Tiger and J. A. Palmer, R.C.D. died at Vancouver, B.C. on [illegible] Thursday, 18. They were two of the best known figures connected with the early history of Vancouver and Westminster [illegible] and Pacific Railway Brown was the first agent appointed by the company at Port Moody in 1886 while Fullerton served thirty years in Montreal with the old Allan Line going to Vancouver in 1884.

For the first time in the history of moving pictures, the Canadian timber wolf is to be filmed on his native heath. Frank Dowdrea, big game hunter and trapper, and Joseph J. Sortori, both of Brooklyn passed through Montreal recently on their way to Fabre near the Ojibwa River and Lake Temiscaming where they intend to hunt, trap and film the timber wolves which are the scourge of the game of the country.

A little, gray-haired lady, nearly seventy years of age and totally blind, arrived from South Dakota at Winnipeg. Given into the care of Stationmaster Huff of the Canadian Pacific Railway, to transfer to the outgoing train, she was made comfortable and assured that she would have no other changes to make. Mr. Huff also ascertained that she was to be met by her son at Toronto and assured the feeble passenger that she would be looked after and every care given her. "If I had not had faith in you boys, I would not have taken the journey," was the tribute from her.

The Canadian Pacific Social and Athletic Association has donated $75 to the Leader-Post Christmas Cheer Fund. Of this sum $25 was to the Girl Guides' Home at Wascana; $25 to the Orange Orphanage at Indian Head. $25 to the Salvation Army Give Home. On the first day of the Christmas School holidays Santa Claus arrived at the Regina C.P.R. train and [illegible] to 3,[illegible] children who were taken to various theatres. This was arranged by officials of the Boxing Club.

A Visit To Bay Street By The Sea

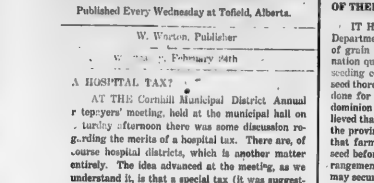
A Canadian Pacific liner steaming up and down off Nassau

During the latter half of the seventeenth century Port Royal, Jamaica, was the wickedest spot on earth. That was when the "Brethern of the Coast," bands of buccaneers and pirates, made their rendezvous there. Today, the remains of that spot stand away from the land, a dot in the deep, near the mouth of Kingston Harbour. There is a sandy beach which looks like molten gold in the sunshine. There, marshalled in orderly rows, the stakes in a flooded meadow, reach half-way down to the tops of the trees. Above the trees, and close to below the tarns of the fairways, are tall lofty, where long ago, mahogany-colored men with cutlasses and forbidding looks, some in rags, others in silks, boarded proud Spanish galleons and took their gold.

Jamaica is a land of springs and forests, where long before the white man set foot, the native Caribs loved the parables in which they hunted, fished, and danced, made rythm and smoked the leaf of a plant named "cohiba." And, to signify the abundance of good things in the land, the Caribs called the Island Xymaca.

The Canadian Pacific liner Montreal, which left New York on January 23 for the first West Indies cruise that winter, is now carrying delighted tourists to this little island of happiness. The vessel also calls at the Bahamas, a long stretch of verdant islands, rising only about one hundred feet above the shore line.

There are about 3,000 islands in the group of Bahamas, but only two of them are ones they visit. Nassau, capital of the colony, among the islands is Hamilton Island, the first spot of land that Columbus saw on his voyage of discovery. Nassau, the capital city, is a white, sunny place, with long avenues on which are planted rows of royal palms. The houses are like colored illustrations from a book of fairy tales. Quite a few of them are white, others pale yellow, green or even orange and blue.



The magic of the Bahamas has found its way into the hearts of calypso singers. The famous, the [illegible] calypso singers in the [illegible] Islands, [illegible] Lord Beginner, Atilla the Hun, Roaring Lion, Growling Tiger, Lion, Lord Executor, Lord Invader, Lord Melody, Black Eagle, the [illegible] Lord Beginner, Lord Kitchener, Lord Pretender, Lord Caruso, the Canadian poet, are among those. Mr. Lennox sings this song of the islands:

"What do you sell, John Campbejohn,
In Bay Street by the sea?
Oh, turtle-shell is what I sell,
In great variety.
The nose of thee, John Campbejohn,
Though curious they be,
But something more I'm looking for
In Bay Street by the sea.

"Where can I buy the magic charm
Of the Summer sea
That fills mankind with peace of mind
And soul's delight?
Look from your boat and tell me now
Your color of the sea—
Where can I buy that wondrous dye
And take it home with me?"

So when the S.S. Montreal returns from her trip in the West Indies it will be so many more eager travellers ready to visit John Campbejohn, or Bay Street by the sea, and there be here arranged another cruise from New York, sailing March 7.

Canada's "Inferiority Complex"

A president of Canadian affairs in Toronto in New York recently deplored the "inferiority complex" of the people of the Dominion—in other words that national tendency to distrust from the premises and adopt standards of excellence, of quality, and quantity possibilities. Too many people in Canada are found who constantly compare a given set of conditions, as they exist here, with those which more populous and wealthy lands have developed, and then, with thoughts of future greatness, declare that Canada is far behind. Instead of comparisons for their confidence, they take the line of "I can't" and refuse to put forth the necessary effort. Canada is not a country of ten million people with resources developed and ten million people.

Canadians are declared to be slow but sure and reliable. We believe that the people of this Dominion have built established for themselves the reputation—probability. We may lack the dash, the enthusiasm, the boost-spirit of our neighbors to the south, and we possibly would like to our natural advantages of their hustle and energy were injected into our national make-up. But when it comes to sound and profitable business, the qualities of such national characteristics just as Canadians would be better off with a little more.

The year of 1926 would appear to be an excellent one in which to develop some of the spirit of industry and confidence in Canada. Following the general trade returns of last year, the best year in the history of the Dominion in almost every direction, and the making of plans for large and important developments on practically every branch of industrial and commercial activity during the year, the financial health of the Dominion is such that the national credit stands above before the war, unemployment is at low, and an opportunity exists for practically all those who desire to work. This should be the normal state of affairs in this country and it can be maintained if the people of Canada unitedly determine that it shall be maintained.

Canada's wheat crop last year was the second largest in its history and more than 140,000,000 bushels greater than in 1924, the oats crop was almost 100 million bushels greater than in 1924, barley by 25,000,000 bushels, and the ports of Montreal and Vancouver established new high records for the export of grain. Dairy production in the three prairie provinces, which was below 100 million pounds fifteen years ago, exceeded 350,000,000 pounds last year. Foreign trade is expanding rapidly and the favorable balance of exports over imports was nearly a billion dollars.

In the face of such official figures, why should any Canadian feel ashamed upon an apologetic for his country, or to doubt its future? Canada has a wonderful heritage in Canada, and unquestionably some recent years have been trying and difficult, but such conditions have existed in most countries. Not for ages has standard of world affairs, nor of individual nations, been such that every section of the country was prosperous. Always there is some section that must see no money in the world was better off than Canada, and in no country did there exist better opportunities for the right sort of men willing and able to work.

The year is just passed, but already in different sections of the country evidences of better times have been had than in actually the case by the announcement of new and large undertakings is now the topic of the day. Only recently one of the big railway groups in England announced the placing of an order in Canada for 20,000 cars of Northern Colombia. Despite the far railway line, an order which is rewarded in quantity the whole of British Columbia's export to the United Kingdom for two years since. The Admiralty has decided to use bunker fuel for the docks and breakwaters of Canada Newfoundland, and the British Board of Trade will use the same material for the Government boats and lifeboats. In two years British Columbia's export of timber will rise from its present output to 1,000,000,000 feet.

The fact are cited, not in a spirit of boastfulness but as concrete evidence, as substantial reasons, why Canadians should altogether abandon that inferiority complex" but which they are certainly at fault which does not permit of the development of the Dominion and to create a feeling of confidence, and a self-preservation which is interest to the welfare of Canada. Let 1926 be one this is where in our national makeup buried forever.

Canada's Trade Grows

Trade Within the Empire Shows Heavy Increase

Canada's active participation in world commerce within the empire is indicated in the trade statement for the year 1925, issued by the bureau of statistics. In both imports and exports Canada has increased her business with the United Kingdom and with the rest of the empire. Imports from other sections were $1,798,000 in 1923, $1,960,000 in 1924 and $2,045,000 in 1925. In the same three years exports to British possessions were $426,000,000 in 1923, $466,000,000 in 1924 and the new peak of $507,000,000 last year.

Where Liquor Money Goes

More Money Spent On Liquor in Alberta Last Year Went to Ottawa Than to Provincial Treasury

More money spent on liquor in Alberta last year went to Ottawa than remained for Alberta's own treasury, according to figures in the liquor board report just published to the government. Of the total amount spent, over $2,125,000 was paid to the Dominion government in 1925, as compared with $1,800,000 in 1924. Provincial revenue from liquor sales totalled $1,500,000 in 1925, as compared with $1,400,000 in 1924.

Weak and Run-Down—Restored by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

"Two years ago," says Mrs. L. Waldie, Newport Road, "I was in such run-down health. I suffered from headaches, dizziness and sleepless nights. Faint spells would come on me and I had such a weak feeling in the lower part of the back. My appetite was poor and I had no ambition. I was so weak and tired I could not walk any distance or do anything. I was under the doctor's care but got no relief. I was discouraged. I had been reading about Dodd's Kidney Pills and decided to try them. In a short time I felt much better. I kept on taking them and in a few months I was my old self again. Devotional Reading: Psalm 1.

Explanations and Comments

The Chief Question and Its Purpose, verses 15-17.—The Pharisees were now resolved to compass the death of Jesus. They had no power to order Him put to death, and so they discovered among themselves the mode of by which they could accomplish their object. They decided to make an attempt to ensnare Him in His talk, hoping He would say something which they could report to Pilate as treason and thus secure from the Roman Governor His death sentence. And, indeed, two days later they falsely said to Pilate, "We found this man perverting our nation, and forbidding to give tribute to Caesar," Lk. 23:2. Chiefly because of this question, the background from which they sent their disciples to Jesus. They were the Herodians, who were the political party of Herod the Great, and founded their power on the favor of Rome. They were naturally of the house of Herod and would be on good terms with the government at any cost.

Primitive Race Found In Africa

Expedition Heard of Tribe Said to be Almost Inhuman

An expedition, the Stanford, Colorado, which has just returned to Cape Town from the Kalahari Desert, brings with accounts of life among the people of the most primitive races in the world, and where there exist the largest herds of game still extant.

Members of the expedition heard of a fair, unknown tribe of bushmen who have been found in the Kalahari Desert. Their country is absolutely impenetrable except on foot, owing to the huge rocky coast of the South Atlantic, while a hundred miles wide bars the way to the north.

The tribe never has been seen by white men and is hostile to all the opponents of other bushmen.

They were discovered to be stunted, almost inhuman, with flat noses, ears, flying ears, nose, lizards, snakes and archipelagos.

The women usually dig the earth for food, while the men follow them and shoot their kill. To date, nothing from the villages.

All kinds of rare, were discovered, proving the Kaoko rock, even Dr. Hoffman's Bush Bear. Also Dr. Hoffman and Mr. elephants were rounded in one night around a water hole.

Sell Prince of Wales' Checks

Wealthy American's Purchase Them From Merchant For Souvenirs

Apropos of the Prince of Wales, a rapid habit has arisen of bartering the young man's checks. The Prince does not carry a fat wad about with him, and, when he makes purchases he frequently gives a check in payment. It seems that the clerk or manager of the place in all sometimes retain the check, paying for the Prince's purchase in cash. Then the check is sold for his money to some wealthy sycophant who, probably, frames it, and hangs it in his dining room. Oddly enough, "wealthy Americans" are said to be the most eager purchasers of these souvenirs. As the checks are never presented at his bank, the Prince does benefit by the sale. Nevertheless, he is anything but flustered about it.

It is accepted that in a few years France will be producing enough wheat to take care of its requirements. At present the production is nearly 90,000,000 quintals more. A quintal is about 220 pounds. A WORLD WIDE WHEAT POOL MAY BE ESTABLISHED

St. Paul, Minn.—The three-day international wheat pool conference of delegates from Canadian, Australian and American pools ended with the appointment of a committee to make plans for the formation of a world wheat pool conference and to arrange for another conference, probably next year.

It is at this next conference that a serious effort is to be made to establish, if not a world pool, at least some working arrangement between the pools of some of the most important wheat exporting countries. This could not be consummated at the present conference because the Australian and Canadian delegates, while they are not yet well enough organized and because there are too many differences of opinion between the eight United States pools represented at the conference.

The committee to make arrangements for the next conference met at the close of the convention and appointed Colin H. Burnell, president of the Manitoba Wheat Pool, as chairman and Gagen Hall, president of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, as secretary, the appointment being accompanied by the statement that the first conference was the outcome of Mr. Robertson's proposal.

Had No Intention Of Offending Canada

English Magistrate Did Not Regard Dominion As Penal Colony

Birmingham, England.—Sir Leonard Shorr, in an interview with the Canadian Press, expressed regret that he had given any offence to Canada by his remarks, when he sentenced recently to six months' imprisonment recently in the Birmingham Assizes Court, Alfred Pryer, convicted on four charges against his parliament recently in the Birmingham Assizes Court, Alfred Pryer, convicted on four charges of theft and false pretences. Pryer was sentenced to jail or going to Canada. Mastering Shorr told the Canadian Press he thought the latter would have the chance to go to Canada was the best for the man and from the country. The person in question was the type of man who would make a valuable colonist. The man had never been convicted, the magistrate continued, was well built and evidently a fine specimen of kind that would be capable of retrieving himself in a country where a healthy outdoor life and hard work were essential to success.

He said he had not the slightest idea of offending Canadian susceptibilities when he was passing sentence and he regretted if he had done so. He had never been to Canada and made a frank start in life.

A protest against Magistrate Shorr's action was voiced in the House of Commons at Ottawa by J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, North Centre, Winnipeg.

No Liquor Buying Combine

Plea of Prairie Provinces Forming a Co-operative Organization Not Possible

Victoria.—There is no possibility of British Columbia joining the provinces forming a co-operative organization for the purchase of liquor as rumored in Calgary recently during the conference there of western liquor commissioners, Hon. John Hart, British Columbia representative, was reported to have said here.

"It is absolutely impracticable, by virtue of the utterly different conditions prevailing in the various provinces," he said. "We never seriously considered it. If it was discussed at all it certainly there, never was any intention of attempting to put it into effect."

Alberta Legislature

Second Largest Surplus in History of Province is Shown

Edmonton.—The most important news of the session in the Alberta Legislature was the announcement by Premier J. E. Brownlee that for the year 1925 the public accounts of the province showed a balance of revenue over expenditure of $184,619, the second largest surplus in the history of the province. As in last year's budget a deficit had been estimated, the announcement was received with much satisfaction.

The telephone deficit was only $1,000, as compared with $130,000 in 1924, and generally other departments were in a very satisfactory condition. The value of the agricultural production of the province was placed at $251,000,000, while production of coal, oil, and other minerals, was also largely increased in 1925.

The appointment of the Liquor Act, with one commissioner, and also the administration of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation system, had been very successful, many new settlers having been placed on the latter property.

$112,000 received from the Dominion Government as Alberta's share of the surplus of the 1919 wheat board will be devoted to the promotion of co-operative enterprise.

Prosperity had returned to Alberta, and he was of the opinion that the depression from the province. He would like to see the Dominion Government freed from the vocabulary, and "colonization" substituted. They wanted some practical men for immigration and colonization, so that the people who came in would be the class who would make good, and be prosperous and satisfied.

Concluding, he urged co-operation between cities and country in the matter of handling and the right spirit. Methods of government were changing, and he believed the party system was being superseded by something better.

Hon C. H. Mitchell, leader of the Liberal opposition, did not amplify the statement of his party's support on all the general measures.

There was also a decrease in the amount of claims of twenty-five cents in the province during the year.

Canada's Stand On Peace Pact Important

If Not Bound, Dominion Could Remain Neutral in Event Of War

London.—Commenting on the report which has been officially denied that the Canadian Government had decided to introduce a resolution in the House of Commons at Ottawa declaring that Canada dissociates herself from the obligations imposed by the Locarno pact, The Daily Herald says that this decision, if true, strike a very definite note in the evolution of the British empire.

It is already recognized that each self-governing part of the empire may make treaties on its own account but the Locarno treaties are not in the same category as those which have been so far empirically negotiated, the paper says.

"They are treaties involving the obligation to go to war under certain circumstances. If Britain is thus bound to go to war, it is not followed by the remarkable possibility that one part of the empire may be at war and the other not—that Canada may be neutral in a war in which Britain is a belligerent."

Ottawa.—Further inquiries in regard to what action the government proposed to take in order to insure fuel supply for Ontario during the remainder of the winter were made in the house. J. E. It was no use telling the members that they had to look to the Ontario fuel controller. There were principles of charging fees in schools being high school work was detrimental to the best interests of education and a "retrograde movement."

The Conservative members of the committee, he said, had asked that counsel be appointed to represent them, and the government had decided to accede to their request.

Further inquiries in regard to what action the government proposed to take in order to insure fuel supply for Ontario during the remainder of the winter were made in the house. J. E. Armstrong, Conservative, East Lambton, read a telegram from a dealer who complained that he was unable to obtain Alberta coal, and that there was danger of a serious shortage involving schools and public buildings in Western Ontario. Mr. Armstrong said he was at a loss to understand why the government did not act.

It was no use telling the members that they had to look to the Ontario fuel controller. There were principles of charging fees in schools being high school work was detrimental to the best interests of education and a "retrograde movement."

Unanimous assent was also given to a resolution stating that all necessary measures to the development of the Hudson's Bay route should be prosecuted with immediate vigor. The resolution is to be sent to the House and a at the Commons.

Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, replied that action would be taken in accordance with resolutions on the request of the fuel controller of Ontario that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company be requested to give preference to coal for the Ontario fuel controller," he added.

SHARP PASSAGES ARE HEARD IN DEBATE IN HOUSE

Ottawa.—Another clash between Hon Leeches Cannon, solicitor-general, and C. H. Cahan, Conservative, St. Lawrence-St. George, occurred in the debate on the address in the House of Commons. Mr. Cahan objected to Mr. Cannon's criticism of his lengthy speech and used the word "obsequious."

The solicitor-general rose to a point of privilege and quoted Hansard at length to prove that Mr. Cahan had himself said that he would submit "obsequious."

Speaker Lemieux intervened. He had already ruled, he said, that no member was entitled to accuse another of obstructive nor to say that he was "wasting public money." Any member had a right to speak as long as he chose on any question before the house under the normal rules.

Mr. Cahan defied any gentleman or member to show that "obsequious" was declared "obstruct."

Toronto, Feb 21.—Five thousand citizens attempted to place their orders for Alberta coal at the city hall to-day. The city patheticlly have ordered a thousand tons but only two small carloads have actually arrived, while eight more are on the way.

To-day orders were taken for 631 tons before the wickets were closed, and the disappointed turned away. Ten days from now further orders will be taken. Canada's "Inferiority Complex"

A prominent Canadian, a man long a meeting in New York recently, deplored the "inferiority complex" of the people of the Dominion—in other words, the national tendency to distrust from the progress and achievements of Canada to belittle its growth, and question its possibilities. Too many people in Canada are found who constantly compare a given set of conditions, as exist us, in this country with the much more populous and wealthy United States, on the side—called and complete of Europe. It is no doubt well that Canada should be a kept constant of comparison for their country rather but a low one, but it is hardly fair to place an country of ten million people with one of one hundred and ten million people.

Canadians are declared to be "slow but sure and reliable." We believe that the people of this Dominion have justly established for themselves the reputation of probidity. We keep both the cloth, the cashbook—the least important of our attributes to be count, and no doubt it would be a very serious sign if these enthusiasm and energy were injected into our national affairs that we ceased to establish sound products to be derived off with a little bone of such national characteristics as Canadians would be better off for a little more.

The year of 1926 would appear to be an excellent one in which to develop some of the spirit of national self-confidence in Canada. Following the record crops, returning at last 1925, the year just ended will undoubtedly be to almost every city, distributor, and the making of plans for large and important new advancements in practically every branch of industrial and commercial activity during the year. The financial health of the Dominion is better than it has existed since before the war, the unemployed is low, and an optimistic tone pervades the trade. This should be the normal state of affairs in Canada, and it can be maintained if the people of Canada unitedly determine that it shall be maintained.

Canada's wheat crop last year was the second largest in its history and more than 140,000,000 bushels greater than in 1924, the oats crop was greater by more than 100,000,000 bushels, the barley crop was the largest ever produced, and Vancouver established new high records for the export of grain. Butter products in the three prairie provinces, which was below 4,000,000 pounds fifteen years ago, exceeded 50,000,000 pounds last year. The lumber trade is expanding rapidly, and the incredible balance of exports over imports for the months is almost $200,000,000.

In the face of such official figures, why should any Canadian feel called upon to apologize for his country, or to doubt its future? There has been a set-back somewhere in Canada, and unquestionably some recent years have been lean and difficult for... Canadians have existed in most countries. Nor are they undergoing a worse affair with other countries than with the one section that may see no country in the world was better off than Canada, and in no country did there exist better opportunities for the man or woman willing and eager to work.

The year is not passed but already in different sections of the country encouraging for many new building have been in that to amplify the case by the preliminary and announcement of new and large undertakings is now the order of the day. Only recently one of the big railway groups in Eastern Canada announced the placing of an order in Canada for 20,000,000 feet of British Columbian Douglas fir for railway ties, an order which exceeds in quantity the whole of the British Columbia's exports to the United Kingdom two years ago. The Admiralty has decided to use Douglas fir for the decks and bulkheads of future battleships, and the British Board of Trade is also considering the material for its merchant vessels and lifeboats. In two years time, Columbia's export of timber products from its ports may treble its present total.

These facts are cited not in a spirit of boastfulness but as concrete evidence of substantial progress. What Canadians should strengthen abandon that "inferiority complex" for while they are certainly of many things to be proud of the foundation and to create a basis of confidence, and a self-respect which is limited to the welfare of Canada. Let 1926 be this a year in the national bookkeeping in the ledger of

For the first time in the history of moving pictures, the Canadian timber wolf is to be filmed on his native heath. Frank Dearle, big game hunter and trapper, and Joseph J. A Visit To Bay Street By The Sea

A Canadian Pacific steamship on board off Martinique

During the latter half of the seventeenth century Port Royal, Jamaica, was the wickedest spot on earth. That was when the "Brothers of the Coast," bands of buccaneers and pirates, made their rendezvous there. Today, the remains of that spot stand nearly 30 feet below a dot on the deep, near the mouth of Kingston Harbour. There is a sandy beach with a hotel and cottages for visitors. Then there is a wide lagoon which looks like molten glass in the moonlight. Palms, marshalled in orderly rows, like sisters in a flooded meadow, reach half-way down the lagoon. There is an eminent quiet and stillness which belies the scores of the fiercest battles fought, when long ago, mahogany-coloured men with cutlasses and forbidding looks, some in rags, others in suits, boarded proud Spanish galleons and took their wealth.

Jamaica is a land of springs and forests, where long before the white man set foot, the native Caribs loved the paradise in which they hunted, fished, and danced, made canoes and smoked the leaf of a plant named "cohiba." And, to signify the abundance of good things in the land, the Caribs called the island Kynaca.

The Canadian Pacific liner Montrolyal, which left New York on January 31 for the first West Indies cruise this winter, is now carrying delighted tourists to this little island of happiness. The vessel also calls at the Bahamas, a long stretch of verdant islands, rising only about one hundred feet above the shore line.

There are about 3,000 islands in the group of Bahamas, but many of these are only white coral outcroppings from the ocean. Among these is Watling's Island, the first spot of land that Columbus saw on his voyage of discovery. Nassau, the capital city, is a white, sunny place, with long avenues on which are planted rows of royal palms. The houses are [illegible] of stone, from a bank of fairy [illegible] white, where pink [illegible] are seen on a good deal.

The magic of the Bahamas has found its way into the hearts of many artists. The coloured little boats, for getting [illegible] boats, the crazy shoes, the [illegible] have attempted to portray faithfully. Rick Irwin, the famous American humorist, and Blue Carmen, the Canadian poet, are among those. Mr. Carmen sings this song of the islands:

"What do you sell, John Campbigbin,
In Bay Street by the sea?
Oh, turtle-shell is what I sell,
In great variety.
The sons of these, John Campbigbin,
Though curious they be,
But something more I'm looking for
In Bay Street by the sea.

"Where can I buy the magic charm
Of the Bahaman sea,
That falls mantled with peace of mind
On every tired heart?
Look from your hill and tell me now

A HOSPITAL TAX?

AT THE Cornhill Municipal District Annual r taxpayers' meeting, held at the municipal hall on Tuesday afternoon there was some discussion regarding the merits of a hospital tax. There are, of course hospital districts, which is another matter entirely. The idea advanced at the meeting, as we understand it, is that a special tax (it was suggested about from three to five dollars) be placed upon each quarter section, the money to be used to pay the hospital expenses of ratepayers. It was argued that the amount of the tax would not be missed by individual ratepayers, but a large hospital bill places an almost unsupportable load upon the financial resources of some ratepayers. It was also pointed out that the municipality is responsible for the hospital bills of those ratepayers unable to pay them themselves; so why not have a proper means of revenue for this purpose and pay all. It was also argued that if hospitals and doctors were sure of their money in all cases, the cost of operations and hospital accommodation would come down.

Those opposed to the idea argued that it was the not increase them; they would increase fast enough duty of municipal bodies to keep the taxes down and anyway, and the adoption of this scheme was simply paying the way for another one and so on. The benefits of low taxes were too valuable to be thrown away and every ratepayer should pay his own hospital expenses as far as he is able, and when unable to do so the municipality would be compelled to pay them. The discussion was entirely unofficial.

There is plenty of scope for able argument on both sides. To a large extent it brings up the question "Am I My Brother's Keeper,"—and while we admit that this responsibility often proves embarrassing, we are forced to admit that in the end—we are. Sickness and accident fall on the just and unjust—and their ability or inability to pay expensive hospital bills make little difference; consequently, what might be only a passing cloud upon the life of one ratepayer, is a staggering blow to another. If co-operation is worth anything anywhere, this is a good place for it to function. If we are not our "Brother's Keeper" when he is unable to help himself, the phrase, or if you like, text, means absolutely nothing.

However, a tax is a tax and brings in everybody, whether they like it or not; and to pay a tax without in anyway receiving benefits is a condition of affairs not founded on the principle of justice. Therefore, while we are of the opinion that there is no better place for co-operation to work than in the mutual pooling of funds for protection against sickness, we also believe a voluntary pool is better than a compulsory one. If there are sufficient ratepayers interested, it is a simple question of organization, but we feel it our duty to say this, that in our opinion, $5.00 per quarter section per annum will only touch the fringe of the needs.

Here and There

Canada has officially invited the British Dominions overseas and all foreign powers to attend the fourteenth congress of Chambers which is to be held from July 27 to August 4, 1927. Three thousand delegates are expected to attend.

Canadian construction contracts for the month of January totalled $12,807,800 as compared with $8,956,700 in January 1925. The total for January indicates that winter construction is rapidly becoming to favor.

March Gras celebrations at Quebec started off among the lines that the following property, namely: the South-west quarter of section 20, Township 56, Range 18, west of the 4th meridian, in the province of Alberta, and subject to all assessments, rates and taxes from and after the 31st day of December 1925.

The land contains 160 acres more or less, and has rendered 277 bushels per acre, or a total of 44,351,000 bushels.

David E. Brown, 71 and J. A. Palfrey, 81 died at Vancouver, B.C. on Sunday, February 10. They were two of the best known figures connected with the early history of Vancouver and the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Brown was the first agent appointed by the company at Port Moody in 1886 while Palfrey was in charge of ships in Montreal with the old Allan Line going to Vancouver in 1886.

For the first time in the history of moving pictures, the Canadian timber wolf is to be filmed on his native heath. Frank Dearle, big game hunter and trapper, and Joseph J. Sartori, both of Brooklyn, passed through Montreal recently on their way to Fabre near the Ontario River and Lake Temiscaming where they intend to hunt, trap and film the timber wolves which are the scourge of the game of the country.

A little, grey-haired lady, nearseventy years of age and totally blind, arrived from South Dakota at Winnipeg. Given into the care of Saskatchewan Staff of the Canadian Pacific Railway, to transfer to the outgoing train, she was made comfortable and assured that she would have no other changes to make. Mr. Ruff also ascertained that she was to be met by her son at Toronto and assured the feeble passenger that she would be looked after and every care given her. "If I had not had faith in you boys, I would not have taken the journey," came the tribute from her.

The Canadian Pacific Social and Athletic Council of Regina contributed $75 to the Leader-Post Christmas Cheer Fund. To this sum $25 was added by the Regina Staff Band of Welcome; $25 to the Grenfell Orphanage at Indian Head; $25 to the Salvation Army Girls' Home. On the first day of the Christmas School holidays Santa Claus arrived at the Regina Station on a C.P.R. train and [illegible] to the 2,250 children who were taken to various theatres. FARMERS WARNED TO TEST GERMINATION OF THEIR SEED

IT HAS come to the attention of the Alberta Department of Agriculture that a large percentage of grain in the province is displaying poor germination qualities. It is most important, that, before seeding commences, the farmers should have their seed thoroughly tested for germination. This can be done for a nominal fee by sending samples to the dominion seed branch office at Calgary. It is believed that there is plenty of good quality of seed in the province to fill all demands, but it is important that farmers make certain of the quality of their seed before seeding. Those who have not made arrangements for seed or who have not seed available may secure high quality seed through the provincial marketing plant at Edmonton.

Team Work

At this season of the year, when hockey teams, big and little, are striving to get first place in their respective leagues, special attention is directed to team work. Individual stars, no doubt, shine brilliantly, but it is now well understood that the slower but surer method of building up a smooth working team is more fruitful of results.

This business consists of team work. First there is the producer, then the manufacturer and then the marketing service. These three working harmoniously together, produce the best results for all. Bring us your next can of cream and get in the game.

Another Scientist Imparts Health

Professor Took Great Risk to Solve Important Problem

To the long list of scientists who have imperilled their health, in the battle fires, in the pursuit of knowledge that will benefit mankind must now be added the name of Professor Joseph Barcroft, who has been appointed professor of physiology at Cambridge University.

Professor Barcroft, it has been announced, for six days in a fortnight eats small glass box in order to verify and question as to whether it is possible to calculate the amount of oxygen in a man's blood under certain conditions. The problem has for many years become of great importance, particularly in connection with aviation.

One result of his self-imposed fortnightly diet is that he has lost his left "pelon." A quiet, unassuming man, he risked his life several times in perilous gas experiments during the war.

New Theory About Hair

Playing Stringed Instruments Promotes Growth According to Scientists

If all the violinists in the world assembled together in one vast building, and they numbered, say, 100,000, it is probable that there would be but few among them with bald heads. But if the same number of brass instrumentalists players were inspected, bald heads would be as common as flies in soup over there!

If you doubt this, make a point of observing the heads of the orchestras in the cinemas or theatres you patronize.

Scientists declare that the playing of stringed instruments induces hair growth. A series of experiments on the parts said has proved that string of music has power to raise a hairy crop!

Clarinet and horn players lose their hair early, theirs is the wrong sort of comb made from the bivalve point of view. The explanation advanced is that the physical strain of blowing affects the circulation and deprives the roots of the hair of their due supply of blood.

An automatic fog siren recently installed by a French engineer has been hailed as one of the greatest and latest of modern inventions. It is operated by the humidity of the air.

But a much more powerful and up-to-date application is already in operation at the entrance to Dublin Harbor, where the siren has been set to work to actually cause a warning bell to ring.

What Is Doing in the World of Radio

A good record for daylight reception was made by R. T. St. James in Chicago when he heard KFI of Los Angeles broadcasting a football game. The broadcasting of the game began at 1.30 p.m. in the afternoon.

R. H. Skinner, of New York, set up his radio receiving apparatus on the bank of the dahlia in Bergen and heard his wife talking in Pittsburg, according to the Westinghouse Manufacturing Company.

A 50-kilowatt transmitter is being installed at Ft. Leavenworth, to make this the key to the entire radio communication system of the United States Government. It is one of the most powerful stations in the country.

An important investigation just completed under the direction of George K. Burgess, director of the United States bureau of standards shows how harmful electric fans that operate near radio stations than had been expected by this bureau.

A new record for summer radio reception has been established by a Vancouver man who picked up KFI of Los Angeles in communication with a ship lying in the harbor of Juneau, Alaska's chief city, more than 1,000 miles away, in forty minutes.

It is estimated to collect the $1 tax from approximately 40,000 owners of radio receiving sets in Montreal, officials of the Montreal Harbor Commission have announced. Licenses will be issued by the department of marine and fisheries promptly upon receipt of the money, and inspectors have been ordered them to pay their licenses and court costs with the options of jail.

In 1923 there were 2,500 radio receiving sets in use in Canada. This grew to 550,000. Furthermore, the fair next is not a matter of cheap sets. In 1923 the average price paid was $175. In 1927 the high price sets were still the best sellers in factory, store and Hardware Sets selling from $115 to $300 were briskly sellers than the $50 sets.

The three-tube set will give good loud speaker volume on signals over quite a wide range. While it is impossible to accurately estimate the range of a receiving set (since so much depends upon local conditions) in general a range of 1,000 miles is to be expected from a receiver of this type when it is operating under ideal conditions.

Can Build New Faces

World's First Plastic Surgery Hospital Planned For New York

Plans have been prepared for the world's first hospital to be devoted exclusively to plastic and cosmetic surgery and it will be located in New York during the coming summer. The new institution which is expected to open in November, will be known as the Plastic Hospital and the staff will be made up of a dozen or more of the most able orthical surgeons now engaged in this type work.

A public clinic will be opened in connection with the Plastic Hospital where poor people will be treated free of charge. Another department will be established where women of moderate means may have operations for the correction of facial irregularities performed at greatly reduced fees which may be paid on the installment plan.

The free clinic and pay-by-depart ment, according to Dr. Gillies, interne, will be founded and supported by a wealthy New York woman whose name is not disclosed at this time. She is said to be making the committee in appreciation of a recent successful operation for the restoration of a badly scarred face and a broken nose which she sustained in an automobile accident. The hospital itself will be financed largely by members of the Metropolitan medical fraternity.

During the past three years plastic and cosmetic surgery has played a big role in the changing of a recognized specialty of medicine. Dr. Gillies, assistant surgical at New York's best known eye, ear and throat hospital, is one of the most prominent surgeons in the country.

Queen Alexandra appeared on the three-cent stamps of a finely executed design. In the Coronation issue of the same colony she was portrayed on the one-cent two-cent stamps. In the Quebec tercentenary issue of 1908 she shares the two-cent carmine stamp with King Edward, but it is the finest of her three philatelic portrayals.

Vaccine Against Lockjaw

Discovery Announced in Paris by Young French Scientists

M. Zoeller, of Val-de-Grace, and M. Ramon, of Paris, young French scientists, who have already conquered a vaccination against diphtheria, announced to a meeting of the French Academy of Medicine that they have perfected a method of vaccination against lockjaw which can be applied at the same time as anti-diphtheria vaccine.

The announcement was received with great enthusiasm by the academy. A member of the academy, M. Mosel, who has examined the claims of the young French scientists, said that the new vaccine investigators far like those who receive it. During a general discussion which followed it was stated that the anti-toxin of Ramon and Zoeller responded perfectly to all the tests to which they were subjected, and that their practical value is assured.

Reduction in Duty On Automobiles Is Believed Certain

Conference between Liberal and Progressive members regarding the tariff bill have been inaugurated and it is understood that already there is some agreement on some features. It is believed as practically certain that there will be a reduction in the duty on automobiles and that this will constitute the principal change in the tariff schedules.

In addition, it is learned, the Progressives have asked for reductions in other commodities, including pumps and pump jacks, lubricating oils and farm tools.

Even at that distance Baree could see him stranding blindly; he saw the outstretched hand, and the cry for help sent new sensations to him. It was not Wee Pierrot's voice. He knew it was not Pierrot. Neither was it Father Leroux's voice, but the gentle and sweet like the Widow's. He had known only a few times in his life to be had regarded with distrust and fear. But he knew that Father was in him. It was forceful in its appeal. He wanted to answer it. He was filled with a desire to go to the rescue of the lonely old stranger over there, but there was a tense moment for the friendship of man possessed him. He did not move until the cry had entered the canoe. Then he fell flat.

That night, they were camped in a dense growth of cedars and balsams on the south of Black McTaggart's trap-line. For two hours it had rained, and their trail was covered. It was still raining, but not a flake of the white deluge fell down through the thick canopy of boughs. Carvel had put up his small silk tent, and had built a fire; they supped a way over, and Baree lay on his belly before the fire, almost within reach of his hand. With his back to a tree, Carvel was smoking meditatively. He had thrown off his cap and his coat, and in the warm firelight he looked almost like a baby young. But even in that glow his jaws had some of the squareness and his eyes the fierce glitter of Bazan.

"I'm a bad one, old chap," he chuckled. "You haven't got it on me—not a bit! You're not afraid of me, are you?" He walked a moment, and Baree looked at him steadily. The Carvel went on, as if speaking to a human, "Let's see—it was five years ago, wasn't it? Five years since I've seen Christmas Day. Had a Yule log, too, and Dad was—was—Mother—just the Pack, an' when pop pulled up to me under Just One, Under a wheel."

He stopped, and his voice was a strained sound barely and slow

"I'm a bad one, old chap," he chuckled. "You haven't got it on me—not a bit."

"No he didn't get to the problem," Carvel went on, looking straight at Baree again. "Youre truly have at what that meant, old chap. He'd have been murdered inside a year. An' there was my load, the biggest bale of fine furs I've ever seen. I just swore to that white-stripped stand right there before the judge's eyes, an' the eyes of all his other relatives an' friends—and I killed him.' And I got away. Was there a chance before they'd make up, kit for the bush country, and have been eating up the trails like a team. And I guess God let me do it. Dog. For He did a queer thing to me. I'm not sure I believe in Him, but look up your statistics, you'll find the mighty few men die after they've killed men."

and the height of land he had played the game with the wolves. Once he had almost lost, but that was out in the open Barren. Tonight he had a fire, and in the event of his Brownout running out he had trees he could climb. His instinct just now was centred in Baree. So he said, making his voice quite casual:

"You aren't going, are you, old chap?"

If Baree heard him he gave no evidence of it. But Carvel, still watching him closely, saw that the hair along his spine had risen like a brush and then he heard—growing slowly in Baree's throat—a snarl of ferocious hatred. It was the sort of snarl that had held back the Pactor from Lac Bain, and Carvel, speaking the bravest words he could say, but the fact that he was not afraid of Baree, but of what lay behind Carvel, his head level with his shoulders, his forehead large, prominent eyes, and his mouth—a mouth that was almost frightening in its size. A man's mouth, and yet not a man's mouth. Carvel, who had been a student of human nature, knew that the mouth was the key to character. In the mouth of Black McTaggart, for instance, was the cruelty of the fangs. But this mouth—he could not place it. It was not a mouth of cruelty. It was the mouth of a man who would not be afraid of anything, and yet there was something in it that made Carvel's heart leap with a sudden fear. Then he had flung

Famous Polar Ship In H. B. Service

Amundsen's "Maude" Will Ply As Trader in Canadian Waters

Captain Amundsen, famous polar explorer, who made the northwest passage with ship and men, and will possibly be seen next summer by some of the Edmonton fur traders who make the annual pilgrimage to the Arctic coast.

Let her return from the fisheries of fort on drift with the ice to Europe by the polar route and the northeast passage, the "Maude" was purchased by the Hudson's Bay Company.

With the coming of the spring the vessel will be sent north the Behring Straits, there to be frozen in and drift with the ice pack. Before then, however, she will be used as a trader in connection with the company's Arctic coast service.

Captain Amundsen is an absolutely safe navigator. Twice he has made the northwest passage, and he has navigated the Arctic seas on many occasions. He understood thoroughly the handling of boats in ice, and the danger of being caught in the ice pack. She will be fitted up to stand off floes.

The "Maude" is a steamer, and the duties of those catching the freight will, were red en route, others fished for seals, and others prospected for whales. With a swift glance he took in the situation. The "Maude" was there out there, too; they were on all sides of them, but where he had seen them first they were thickest. In those first few seconds he had forgotten the danger that threatened Carvel and himself.

That night, they were camped in a dense growth of cedars and balsams on the south of Black McTaggart's trap-line. For two hours it had rained, and their trail was covered. When Duke of York Refueled

The Duke of York proved his courage in the hunting fields of Africa, but he backed away when urged to try his hand at hunting one of his father's lions. The king's second son was on a tour of inspection through the country, which handles the income of the royal family, when the incident occurred.

Every inward aspiration
Is a hope made flesh.
And for every "O, my Father!"
Some answer is surely given.

I, we are the same of God, is this not God's promise becoming fulfilled in us? No need, then, of being "driven" to share that aspiration and that prayer. Lunch was served at midnight. The Camrose—Tofield orchestra rendered very pleasing music. The proceeds are to be used to pay off the debt on the cement court which was constructed last year. The attendance was very good and included many from a distance. The net proceeds was not over $30.00.

CURLING

Two rinks of lady curlers visited Holden on Tuesday and included, Mrs. Cap Lee (skip), Mrs. Simmons, Mrs. C. Rogers and Mrs. Forman. Mrs. Letourneau (skip), Mrs. Chatterham, Mrs. Swift and Mrs. Morrison. The ladies played five games and won three. They were played against Deseen. Everyone voted as being loyally entertained by the Holden Ladies' Curling Club.

The annual mixed bonspiel is now on at the rink and every evening a large number of town with a sprinkling of country folk are enjoying themselves at the roarin' game. The list of rinks is quite lengthy and includes practically all curlers of the district.

Sports Night

The sports night at the rink on Monday night was a huge success in every way. The largest crowd that has been in the rink for several years was treated to a fine display of manipulating a football on the end of a broom. The main attraction was put on by a bunch of costumed performers who gave a wonderful display of high and low dives and fancy skating on hands and knees. The opposing goal keepers, Hannan and Nolan were chosen a few times but they both did their stuff very gracefully. Somebody won the game, but nobody knows who it was. The broom ball game between Ketchamont and Barde also proved a lively affair. It was a scoreless tie, but someone might have scored if Dick Turner hadn't beaten the ball with one of his mighty swings. The boys and men's hockey team gave a nice display of the winter pastime as well as the girls' broom ball. The management of the banquet wishes to take this opportunity of thanking the Ketchamont and Barde boys, as well as all those who took part in the program for their support.

W.I. NOTES

The next social meeting will be held on Tuesday, March 9th at 8 o'clock sharp.

The W.I. are serving at the lunch counter in the rink each night during the mixed bonspiel. Fresh sandwiches and pies, fine coffee and tea every night is proving very popular. If you're not curling, have a snack anyway. The curlers are appreciating the service and we appreciate their patronage.

Thrift

At this season of your bank, insurance, trust, mortgage companies and financial corporations are all busy inviting and distributing their annual reports, but the public is apt to be interesting statistics of financial progress based on the results of the past year's business. While exception can be taken to parts of these reports, they do serve a very useful purpose all along the line, and the amount of money involved is often astounding.

The saving habit is one of the most valuable assets of the human race. Without it civilization could not exist, and the chances are that a beautiful subject of this sort is not to be found in any country where the habit is not practised to a considerable degree. Those reports reveal a healthy state of affairs in our financial institutions, and indicate a prosperity and security that could spring from no other source. We refer to the methods by which the people of this Dominion, who have not been born to wealth, are piling up money and putting it where it will be safe and where it will remain at call. The spending of tens of thousands of dollars annually is promoted while the volume of new savings mounts up at the rate of many millions a year. Plainly all sorts of life insurance companies depend on a steady flow of new savings, and the part they play in the economic life of the country is a most important one.

Long-established as the banks are, with the great Victory Loan campaigns, pointed, thousands of people in the city and rural districts have not yet learned the habit of saving regularly, particularly the boys and girls. At the same time, it is a fact that people in Canada pay out their ability to finance the many activities of this country when the Dominion Government, provincial governments, municipalities, and all old world country markets were closed to them. Canada has had a long, long thing, the richness of the world learned about Canada during those fateful years.

But what the people of Canada learned to do from private matters between 1914 and 1918 they are continuing to do to a great extent to-day and more. To an increasing extent Canadians are saving, and carefully investing their savings. The total annual clipping of coupons from Victory Bonds is the receipt every six months of many thousands of dollars, and the interest on bonds, bonds, mortgages and other investments is enormous. People learned, many for the first time, how money makes money, and how to make it work, and especially, it will be invested instead of dissipated in peaceful pursuits and a safer investment.

The practice of thrift is the cornerstone of prosperity for a nation as much as for an individual. It is an asset in time of storm and stress. It is an effectual safeguard against financial worry. It is a source of comfort, confidence and self-respect. It is the "open sesame" to success and a large measure of happiness.

The Government, through the post office savings bank system, the banks and the many financial corporations by early savings accounts, provide easy, safe and convenient means of saving for the people everywhere. With the small sum of one dollar a savings account can be opened. Furthermore, these seemingly insignificant accounts are welcomed even by the strongest banks. Bankers, better than most people, realize that the dollar saving of to-day will represent a really worthwhile amount in the not distant future. Like the old nursery rhyme "Little drops of water, little grains of sand, Make the mighty ocean and the beauteous land," so do the dollars and the dollar dollars pile up mighty bank accounts.

All parents should encourage their boys and girls to start a savings account, no matter how small. In fact parents may well commence this practice with themselves. With a return to better times and the resumption of normal conditions throughout the country, and more money in circulation, it will be a mighty thing for Canada for the future, and the individual if the habit of saving is practised by a large and favorable proportion of the people. Let us all do our part to help forward this movement, and we shall be amply repaid for our efforts, which is to the advantage of the individual as well as the nation.

Sugar Exports

Great Expansion Shown in Sugar Refining Business This Year

A feature of the Canadian sugar industry, learned by the Dominion bureau of statistics is the export business for the month of November, which shows a total of 3,300,796 pounds of refined sugar, valued at $242,766, sent out by the country during that period as compared with 715,906 pounds, valued at $54,581, in November of last year. Such a showing is interesting with the expansion that has been shown throughout the past year, when compared with 1924.

Britain Needs Ready Money

Reason Winston Churchill Gave Italy Such Reasonable Terms

That in ten years time Britain will have recovered from her present industrial depression, and will be on the high road to prosperity, and that for this reason it is better to get money now from Italy rather than to wait, like the United States, to the general interpretation to get, upon Christmas policy of funding Italy's debt.

Whether Churchill is gambling on Britain's future with absolute faith in her ultimate recovery, since he gave Italy more favorable terms than the United States awarded them, for the sake of getting ready money is not clear. It will be for current exigencies and for the budgets of the immediate future.

Baldwin emphasizes the fact that Churchill and others have made a careful analysis of the trade barometer, and have given the premier the assurance that there are signs of improvement as if grounds for more optimism than Mr. Churchill is taking the gamble. Although the Chancellor is to be congratulated, which the political experts say is inevitable.

Over Half Century With One Regiment

Duke of Connaught Has Long Association with Rifle Brigade

For over half a century the Duke has association with one particular regiment, than that of the Duke of Connaught, the Rifle Brigade. Although the Queen's Own Rifles were not his first army in the British Army, when he was a boy of nine years he has been their colonel-in-chief for a longer period than with the unit was increased when his daughter, Lady Patricia Ramsay, became the colonel-in-chief of the allied regiment of the Canadian Permanent Force, and they were henceforth known as Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. The duke's love to-day in the Rifles is proved by the fact that, whenever possible, he leads them past the saluting base at a review.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FEBRUARY 14
JESUS THE GOOD SHEPHERD

Golden Text: I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd layeth down his life for the sheep.—John 10:11.
Lesson: John 10:1-30.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 23.

Explanations and Comments

The True Shepherd and the False Shepherds.—Verse 1-5—This allegory is not spoken, to comfort the man born blind (John 9:34) but to rebuke and condemn the Pharisees who had excommunicated the man and accused Jesus of being a sinner for working a miracle on the Sabbath.

"Verily, verily," Jesus began; by those words he drew attention to the importance of the discourse that was to follow, and also announced it with what had preceded. Then he declared an entirely new title, a title exclusive with only one character, where the flocks of several shepherds are kept during the night fold, which is a high wall, sometimes surrounded by a ditch, with but one entrance, which is guarded by the porter. The sheep know the shepherd's voice and come at his call. He leads them forth and they follow him, for they know his voice. But they will not follow a stranger; they flee from him, for they know not his voice. The allegory had its application to our country, but in full no one is to be found who can claim that he will follow that he does not even take the trouble to look behind.

Cramped Quarters Forbid Pastors in Average City Homes

Dancing is forbidden by law not in Russia. It is looked upon as a "bourgeois" pastime by the Bolsheviks.

Although the government does not actively prohibit it, there are so many restrictions placed upon it that dancing is practically impossible. Dancing halls are held in the Russian towns, but they are few and far between, and the average city family is too cramped for room to entertain.

Sound Condition of Agriculture and Other Features Will Add to Population

"There has always been a psychological factor in the United States," remarked that this is the psychological factor in the United States, especially when one considered the hostilities as of the agricultural industry in the troubles and the general high prices prevailing for agricultural products," said Hon. W. R. Motherwell, federal minister of agriculture. Mr. Motherwell is confident that a steady stream of settlers can now be expected from the British Isles and Europe, and stated that he believed that immigration in the immediate future would develop largely along homestead lines.

COMMITTEE WILL INQUIRE INTO CUSTOMS CHARGE

Ottawa.—That there never was any secrecy about the shifting of Commissioner Hill, Stevens, M.P. for Vancouver, in connection with smuggling operations, is revealed in a statement given by Percy Sparks, of Ottawa, chairman of the executive committee of the Criminal Prosecution Association. Mr. Sparks, in fact, points out that Hon. Jacques Bureau had been told by him that he was the operating with Mr. Stevens and that he had the approval of the Criminal Prosecution Association. Mr. Sparks and other members of the association are prepared to appear before the committee when it is appointed, and under oath, give information which they possess.

In continuing the debate in the house, Donald Sutherland, Conservative, South Oxford, declared that in his belief that the Progressives should give the government their support on the strength of a promise from the premier to the house that there was no intention of appointing any friends or other partisans to the Tariff Board.

He charged that during the last election "organized corruption had been used by funds on constituency to another in social life, and Ottawa is full of it.

J. J. Denis, Liberal, Joliette, said the debate had degenerated into personalities and appeals to prejudice. The attitude of the opposition was contrary to that of the Conservatives had dwindled the government as did great but the government had kept its promises in its record. Parliament had shown its confidence in the government over the Tory party.

Irish Court's Bill Has Second Reading

Would Make Free State Citizens Subject to Jurisdiction

Dublin.—The bill which was introduced in the Dail, January 21, by Kevin O'Higgins, vice-president and minister of justice of the Irish Free State, providing that the jurisdiction of the Irish courts shall be absolutely final, without reference to the privy council, passed its second and third reading.

"As a government, we are opposed to the retention of this remnant of the sovereignty of the British crown," minister of justice O'Higgins, who professes to be jetty council!

"We think it is undesirable and hon trendy just as other prerogatives have been abolished, that this one should still be simply a matter. Without any suggestion of treasons or disloyalty, we can conceive cases in which it is essential and necessary court. The feeling among the Government of the Irish Free State holds with regard to this court is widely held throughout the British Commonwealth.

"This bill, which is a constitutional matter, provides the abolition of the privy council in the Irish Free State. We hope will be effective. A House of Lords is a thing opposed nearly everywhere the rich men says to his poorer neighbor, 'I will lend you £100 if you will remember if anything we can do, either by ourselves or with the help of the other Dominions, to prevent it."

Too Many U. S. Pictures Says London County Council

London.—The London County Council by a large majority adopted the recommendation its theatre and music halls committee made that the government be asked to give the council wide powers to control the moving picture films exhibited in the county of London.

The committee's report issued in November alluded to the predominance of United States films and havoc of giving the council wider powers of control.

It also advocated making compulsory the exhibition of a certain proportion of British films.

Big Butter Shipment

New Zealand Sends 330,000 Pounds Butter to Vancouver

Vancouver.—A total of 330,000 pounds of butter will arrive from New Zealand on the steamer Aorangi, most of which is for consumption in Vancouver.

In the first week in January an initial shipment of 1,000 boxes was brought in, with the result that the price of the British Columbia product fell from 48 cents a pound wholesale to 42 cents.

It is not expected that there will be any further large shipping as the fact that cooking members on the premises has reduced production there.

Votes Depends On Programme

Hon McPhail Says People Are Misunderstanding the Situation

Ottawa, Ont.—Agnes McPhail, M.P., has provided a good deal of copy for the newspaper pens. Hon. St Catherines Standard says, "Miss McPhail is a woman of her own mind, just like a woman." Sir, herself said in an interview in Ottawa that she considered the situation. We voted on a recent political question. We did not give the government a vote of confidence. For my part I would not hesitate to vote against it, to speak on the programme."

It does not come from the Bolshevik Government, but the Industrial Council, and, it is said, has been extended at the request of the Soviet Government.

Will Add To Territory

Survey Has Disclosed That Ontario Has 1,500 Many Miles Adjoining Manitoba

Ottawa.—As a result of surveys carried on during the past year it has been found that Ontario has approximately 1,500 square miles of territory that was formerly ordinated, according to the report of the land surveyor of the Dominion Land Surveyors. The report was submitted at the annual meeting here.

A survey has disclosed that the position of inland lakes, by the exact line point on the unsurveyed boundary between the province of Ontario and Manitoba, was 25 miles out of place. The correction of this added the 1,500 square miles to the territory of Ontario.

In the Northwest Territories, an exploratory trip was made around country never before visited by the white man where a lake series two miles in length was discovered.

The report, which includes the recommendations of the boundary commission that a start was made on the survey of the north boundary of Saskatchewan, and that the survey be started by permanent monuments for a distance of 26 miles westerly from Stave River.

INTEREST

THE MERCURY welcomes the appearance of the letter written by Mr. W. Chapman appearing in this issue. It is pleasing to us, as it is no doubt to other ratepayers to know that the debenture debt is not increasing but decreasing. When writing the editorial referred to, there was no desire or intention of belittling the work of the council or of posing as a scaremonger. The statements contained in the editorial are literally true, though we now freely admit are liable to be misunderstood.

The statement remonstrated against reads: "When some number of years ago, obligations were assumed by the selling of debentures, it was confidently expected that by the year 1926, the debenture debt of the town would be very materially decreased. But instead of decreasing it is increasing."

According to a debenture statement issued in February, 1924, the latest date at which a debenture matured is given as 1933 and the earliest as 1924. Therefore it is reasonable to assume that when these debentures were sold (with one or two exceptions, between the years 1910—14) ratepayers then expected that by 1926 the debt would be materially decreased. That makes that statement true enough.

Now regarding the increase. It never occured to us that readers would interpret the term increase as meaning an increase of the original amount. We meant a recent increase and a few lines farther down in the article make this clear when we write "it has increased during the past year or so." This is literally true, though unfortunately it does not tell the whole story. When the editorial was written we remembered that in 1923 the debenture debt was quoted as $95,672. The 1925 statement shows it to be, $98,000.00. Therefore, there is an increase of around $2000.00. However, during the refunding period there were no payments made, the money that ordinarily would have gone for debentures was used to buy Provincial Savings Certificates. This $9,000.00 we took to be sinking fund as at one time, the council, we believe, held some Victory Bonds in that capacity.

As we said at the beginning, we welcome Mr. Chapman's letter and statement.

THE WEATHER

IT IS with no small amount of trebidation that the writer approach the subject of weather. Not so much because it has been discussed over and over again during the passing of this winter—though that is cause enough—but because for quite a few years, whenever we made comment on obe particular kind of weather, the weather man changed his style. If it was exceptionally dry, it would rain, and if exceptionally rainy it would become dry. Consequently we gave up all hope of posing as a second Foster and just let the weather man have his way, so to speak. But this winter is exceptional—everybody says so. The Mercury's past weather authorities, such as Mayor McCauley, Mr. Cookson and Mr. Pruden, all agree that this is the finest winter they have experienced. This in view of the fact that some scientists predicted a very cold winter (due to sun spots) makes it more remarkable still. There is this to be said for the scientists, though, that elsewhere, especially in Europe, the winter has been very severe. Stormy weather, followed by snow and frost, has been frequently experienced where, generally speaking, snow and frost rarely appears. It might be that our exceptional cold winter came last year (it was here alright if it is the one they mean) and we are off and away to a long period of good weather. Be this as it may, the present winter has been pleasant enough. The farmers and stockmen have had their work almost cut in half, compared to last year, while even the hens and pullets nobly responded and we find fresh eggs 25½c. a dozen in January, which is something unheard of by us before. The only hardship it has caused is to the sporting fraternity. Soft ice, soft ice, for curling and skating has been the rule, while during other winters it has been the exception.

Exactly what is immediately in store for us in the weather line, no one seems to know. The Vegreville editor boasts of a weather oracle in the person of, we believe, one Mr. Stanton, but we have no such supreme authority here, unless we place the responsibility on John Morton and just add it to his multifarious duties during bonspiel week. Anyway, h re's hoping that this fine weather will last, that there will be an early spring and a good start made on the land.

Long Bodice Effects Are Maintained in Jumper Frocks

The two-piece jumper frock is mentioned, with such weleome data as new materials are constantly sought for its development. Crepe satin is one of the usually attractive developments this season, and the three-piece model pictured is developed in this lustrous fabric. Will Ship Western Grain Cheapest Way

Canadian Ports Must Meet Competing Rates to Get the Business

With the object of investigating the market for Canadian wheat in Europe, R. B. Ramsay, director of the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Pool, D. L. Smith, manager, and A. B. Clarke, Montreal representative, sailed from Halifax, Feb. 1 for England on the steamship Regina. The object of sailing from this port, it was stated, was to inspect the local harbor and its facilities for handling grain.

Mr. Smith, commenting on Western and Eastern Canada's ability as regards grain shipping, said if Halifax expected to compete successfully with other grain exporting ports, its facilities must be on a par with its competitors' facilities. The Canadian Wheat Pool, he added, desired to make use of Canadian ports as much as possible, but he pointed out that grain must be shipped via the cheapest route. If Hali fax wanted to handle Western Canada's grain traffic, they must be able to offer as cheap rates as other competing ports, for western shippers did not contemplate making any more fice in favor of Halifax a easy other Canadian port.

What Is Doing in the World of Radio

London artists are broadcasting from aeroplanes.

There are still some bad fanimos about the radio. That "prisoner" song for example.

Australian broadcasting and education authorities have got together and decided to make use of China educational courses by radio.

Something new in radio production was attempted recently when a one-act comedy, "Part of the time," was successfully broadcast from CKCK, Regina.

On the eve of the Saskatchewan Dairy Association convention, R. W. Heim, Prime Albert, president, broadcast a joint greetings to other dairying industry from CKCK, Regina.

Don't write your favorite radio station and tell them that you enjoyed the programme they "broadcasted." Broadcast broadcast from CKCK, Regina.

Children under 12 years of age have been overlooked persistently to take part in a broadcast concert at Birmingham, Eng. The local educational authorities will permit children between 12 and 14 to perform up to 10 p 15 p.m.

Another Polar Expedition

Independent Venture to Explore Arctic Regions From the Air

An Indian-Arctic expedition to explore the Arctic from the air, is being organized by Lieut. Commander Richard E. Byrd, of Winchester, Va., who commanded the navy section of the MacMillan expedition last summer.

The enterprise will be financed by United States citizens, among those who have pledged support being John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Edsel Ford, each of whom has offered $20,000.

Commander Byrd is negotiating now with several concerns for suitable craft for the expedition, either of the dirigible or aeroplane type. Each, in his belief, has good points for such an undertaking.

While it is not the plan to compete with the expedition of the Detroit Aviation Society, which intends to hop off from Point Barrow, Alaska, the north point, this year, the aims of the two are in certain respects similar. Each will look for land in the unknown region between Alaska and the North Pole, and flying may also attempt to reach the pole.

The navy officer's primary object, however, is to explore the unknown regions north of Greenland, Canada and Alaska, using either Spitsbergen or Etah, Greenland, as a base.

China and the Foreigner

Nations Have Helped Trade by Giving Them Concessions

However much the Chinese may hate foreigners, they must acknowledge that the economic progress the country has made in the last half century is traceable to the protection foreign nations have given during domestic disturbances to the Chinese ports, under which trade could flourish. Were the railroads the nature, the steamships and wireless stations, and industrial effort not afforded foreign protection in other lines the progress China would be much more backward than she actually is today - Frederick Moore.

C. H. Van Ostrand, of the United States geological survey, has recorded a temperature of 200 degrees Fahrenheit at a depth of 8,000 feet below the surface in a well in Tennessee. Coal is found in the territory covered and tested by the surveying party. The test of the well on record is at Fairmont, West Virginia, where at a depth of 7,500 feet the temperature was recorded at 170 degrees Fahrenheit.

BABY'S WELFARE DURING FEBRUARY

Should Be Most Carefully Guarded By All Mothers

February is one of the hardest months of the year on little ones. It is a month of cold, blustery days that prevent the mother taking the baby out for the fresh air necessary for its welfare. Baby is compelled to remain in the house. More often than not the little one's health suffers badly throughout the little days and cold spells. What is needed to keep the baby well is a gentle laxative that will regulate the stomach and bowels; banish constipation and indigestion and in this way will either prevent or break up colds and fevers. Such a laxative is found in Baby's Own Tablets. They are mild but thorough in action; are absolutely safe and they can be crushed to fine powder and given to the most delicate baby without fear. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The other evening when Noel Coward was wrapping assertions with Miss Maidmore and several other others who had dropped into his dressing room, the celebrated Scottish tragedienne told this story:

An English traveller arrived in a small Scotch town one afternoon and, noticing the almost de-populated streets asked the stationmaster what had become of all the inhabitants.

"Weel, mon, today be tag day," was that worthy's pointed reply. Some weeks later the Englishman paid another visit to the same place and on this occasion found the streets swarming with people, as it some festive celebration was under way. Looking up his previous informant, he remarked to him upon the phenomena of a village that is deserted one day and over populated another

"I'll tell ya," volunteered the official gentleman. "Ya recall the tag day we had here last fortnight? Weel, it was a failure, so the charity committee decided to make a house to house call for moneys And today they're making their enemies." - New York Evening World.

English is Taught In Swedish Schools

Since War It Has Become Most Popular Foreign Language

German was the most popular modern language in Stockholm before and during the world war but now English is more popular. It is the first foreign language taught in Sweden's public schools. Every week English lessons are given over the radio. It is the only language so taught.

At the recent Stockholm church conference the King opened the proceedings in English, the Americans and British delegates forming the majority of the conference. This act of courtesy was greatly appreciated.

Occasionally, for special purposes, the newspapers issue English editions or supplements.

Increased Duty On Bananas

The new Budget in the British Parliament has not yet been promulgated by the incoming Government, adds a duty of sixpence per cwt on all bananas imported into Canada from countries outside of the United States. All bananas coming from Jamaica and Western Canada come from Central America, so that when the duty goes into effect it will be an additional cost of fifteen cents per bunch to consumers of bananas on the average in 1000 cars arrived in Western Canada Free Press

. A Verem SWEET CLOVER
(Experimental Farm Note)

Conservation of soil fertility and soil fibre, weed destruction, and the production of an adequate supply of roughage for the increasing numbers of livestock are matters deserving of the most earnest attention of the western farmer. The legumes best adapted for these purposes are alfalfa and sweet clover. The choice of these depends on a number of considerations.

Sweet Clover has the advantage of a plentiful supply of good, cheap seed, while the best alfalfa seed is scarce and expensive. Sweet clover has a greater soil range and will stand more alkali. Both do well when seeded at ten pounds per acre, with practically no difference between nurse crops. The biennial nature of sweet clover makes it adaptable to a short rotation.

Alfalfa leads in the amount and quality of the hay produced, which is the basic standard by which these should be measured. Undoubtedly this will not apply in all sections, but is true where both can be grown successfully. The hay of sweet clover is more difficult to cure. When used properly, both make excellent pasture. Alfalfa and is more difficult to break. Northwestern grown seed of Grimm Alfalfa and Arlington sweet clover should be used. Every prairie farmer should become acquainted with the production and utilization of both these leguminous crops. To the beginner, sweet clover should be tried first. Their widespread use will give more profit and greater permanence to our agriculture. Two recent publications by the Dominion Department of Agriculture deal in detail with the growing and uses of these crops for farmers under prairie conditions.

The Tofield hockey team journeyed to Camrose on Saturday to meet the Camrose hockey team on Saturday. The play was fast even between the two teams. Tofield scoring first in the first period and Camrose evening it up before the close of the period. In the second period Tofield scored two more and Camrose one. There was no score in the third period, final score being 3—2 in favor of Tofield. There is the prettiest under the jurisdiction of the Municipal Fi- nances Commission. As at January 1st, 1926 the debenture debt stood as follows:

Debentures in arrears and unpaid	11,266.13
Past due interest owing on above	282.11
Total debenture indebtedness	$101,858.56

The financial statement for 1925 shows, as stated before, that at present the total debenture indebtedness is $101,858.56. The auditor that there has been a net reduction in the past six years of $3752.05, in addition to all interest having been paid.

In support of the foregoing I would like to quote from two letters addressed to the town from the Commission. Each letter followed the publication of a financial statement. Following the 1924 statement the following was received: "The material filed by you is very satisfactory and the Council and Officials of the town are to be congratulated on the work that has been done so far." The concluding paragraph of a letter from us reads: "It is not necessary to make any further comment in connection with this matter at the present time other than to congratulate the council on the progress being made and to the care in which the affairs of the town are being looked after."

My purpose in making these two quotations is not to lead any body- into the past two councils, but to substantiate the fact that the town has made some progress financially, although such progress may have been comparatively small, and that this fact is recognized by the Commission.

Yours very truly,
J. W. CHAPMAN.

CLOSE GAME AT VIKING

The ladies rinks skipped by Mr. Hannam and Mrs. Hammond played the Viking ladies at Viking. They were successful in winning by a small margin.

The men were in hopes of obtaining the new one presented by the F. Burns' Co. They were unsuccessful but the game was very close. They were defeated only by six. Another one was played and still the tie was broken. Viking finally won in the 15th end.

CHAUTAUQUA ENTERTAINMENT

A meeting of the chautauqua guarantors was held at the municipal hall on Friday last. There were about 20 present, Rev Watt occupying the chair

The meeting was called to consider the best ways and means to raise funds to take care of a deficit on the 1926 chautauqua, should there be any. It was moved by W. B.Emery and seconded by W. Parker that a committee be appointed to organize some entertainment.

The following were appointed as a committee, Mrs. W. E. Parker, Mr. Wm. Sinclair, Mrs. Grey, Mr. Hoggston, Mrs. Pincott, Mrs. Hammond, Mr. P. M. Fenech, Mrs. Bayliss, Messrs. Geo. Abernethy, W. Bellas, D. Paul, and A. Mann.

It was suggested that an entertainment be held on March 12th and a old time dance and whist drive on the 26th. These dates, however, are tentative and further particulars will be announced later.

Communication

The Editor,
Tofield Mercury.

Dear Sir:

In view of the fact that the condition of the finances of the town is of vital importance and concern to local taxpayers, I feel it my duty to remonstrate against, at least, one statement contained in your editorial headed "Interest" of January 27th.

You state that when the debenture obligations were undertaken it was confidently expected that by 1926 the debenture debt of the town would be materially decreased, but instead it is increasing.

The real fact of the matter is that the original debenture indebtedness of the town was 118,868.05. All of this amount excepting $1965.80 was turned in the to called boom days. To-day, as the 1925 financial statement shows, the total debenture debt is $101,858.56. This clearly indicates This clearly—that the debenture debt has been decreased by $20,730.51 and that all interest payments have been made. There are no coupons for either principal or interest outstanding at this time.

Even during the post-war years when progress has been made in reducing the debt. Take the period from January 1st, 1920 to December 31st, 1925. This is the period under which the town has functioned under the jurisdiction of the Municipal Finances Commission. As at January 1st, 1920 the debenture debt stood as follows:

Total debenture indebtedness	$101,858.56

The financial statement for 1925 shows, as stated before, that at present the total debenture indebtedness is $101,858.56. The auditor that there has been a net reduction in the past six years of $3752.05, in addition to all interest having been paid.

In support of the foregoing I would like to quote from two letters addressed to the town from the Commission. Each letter followed the publication of a financial statement. Following the 1924 statement the following was received: "The material filed by you is very satisfactory and the Council and Officials of the town are to be congratulated on the work that has been done so far." The concluding paragraph of a letter from us reads: "It is not necessary to make any further comment in connection with this matter at the present time other than to congratulate the council on the progress being made and to the care in which the affairs of the town are being looked after."

My purpose in making these two quotations is not to lead any body into the past two councils, but to substantiate the fact that the town has made some progress financially, although such progress may have been comparatively small, and that this fact is recognized by the Commission.

Yours very truly,
J. W. CHAPMAN.

New King's Printer

Issued by the Publicity Commissioner, Government of Alberta, Edmonton, February 1st, 1926

New King's Printer

Announcement has been made by Premier Brownlee, of the appointment of W. D. McLean, an official of the Municipal Affairs department, and a former printer and publisher to the position of Acting King's Printer, vice J. W. Jeffrey, whose resignation has now been officially accepted. Mr. McLean is taking charge of the King's Printers' branch at once.

Since November 19, when the reorganization of the King's Printers' branch was announced the branch has been temporarily in charge of C. H. Groff, publicity commissioner. The possibility of amalgamating the publicity branch with that of the King's Printer was considered by the members of the government, but in view of the prospective development of the work of the publicity branch in connection with the return of the natural resources and the movement of immigration, it was finally decided that the amalgamation would not be advisable. It has been decided, however, that all government advertising will be concentrated and in future handled through the publicity branch.

Mr. McLean, the new acting King's Printer, was brought up in the printing business. He learned the trade on the Huron Expositor at Seaforth, Ontario, and later was engaged in printing in a large job printing establishment in Toronto and Brantford. He then returned to Seaforth where he entered business with his father in a large printing establishment. Some years later he became the proprietor of the Banner at Dundas, Ont. In 1912 he came west to Edmonton to become a member of the staff of the Bulletin. A few years later he entered the service of the Provincial Government and has been an official of the Department of Municipal Affairs ever since. Latterly occupying a position of considerable responsibility, Mr. McLean has been a member of the executive of the civil service association, and was one of the first members of the joint council of the cabinet and association.

Chas. E. Richards, who has been connected with his King's Printers' department for many years will be named assistant King's Printer.

DOCTORS AND ADVERTISING

IT HAS often occured to us, that for downright topsy turveydom, the field of medicine takes the cake. On the one hand we have patent medicine manufacturers using every trick that can be turned with paper, ink and a fertile brain, while on the other hand, almost every medical graduate leaves school with the deep rooted determination not to advertise. "Hanging out a shingle" and perhaps a professional card in a newspaper is, for medical men, going the limit. Of all the professions, that of medicine, is perhaps the most important. We need a doctor to help us into this vale of tears and generally call on one to prevent us from prematurely going out. If during the passage from nothing to three score years and ten, a doctor is called, we expect him to come on the run and perform miracles when he arrives. That, in the main, the profession lives up to its oportunities in this regard, is well known and a matter of history. In the field of research, too, history shows a brilliant array of conquests by the medical profession. In spite of civilization's perverse determination to make an imperfect man, the medical professsion never seems to give up hope but is equally determined to make a perfect one. The sacrifices made, as evidenced by victims of the X-Ray, does not halt it and one triumph only creates the desire for a greater one. But with all its virtues the medical profession makes a grave omission by allowing and encouraging other people to tell the public, what it is, or should be best able to explain. While patent medicine manufacturers buy columns upon columns of advertising space and take ten's of thousands of dollars from the public (some of which is spent wisely and some unwisely) many doctors sit in their offices awaiting patients. In scientific research the medical profession has never lagged but in acquainting the public regarding itself and its work, it is woefully behind the times.

There was a time, no doubt, when advertisements were meant to contain nothing more than a straight solicitation of business. But those days have passed. Today, many advertisements are a real source of information, and the reader is wiser for having read them, whether he actually responds to the message or not. The implication of "touting" has almost disappeared from modern advertising, rather, the individual or firm who neglects to advertise is neglecting an opportunity for service to the public which his trade or profession makes him responsible for. The medical profession would lose nothing of its dignity by proper advertising, instead its field of usefulness would be enlarged and if in the process its finances were increased, no one would complain about that.

STATION LIGHTS

TRAVELLERS TELL us that the Canadian National trains No. 1 and 2 running between Montreal and Vancouver are among the finest in the land. The appointments are up-to-date in every particular, the cuisine in the dining cars all that can be desired and the personel efficient and obliging. While there is no evidence of downright extravagance, it is also true that nothing has been omitted that would increase the comfort of passengers. This being so, makes it very hard to understand why the management do not use a more up-to-date method of lighting at the Tofield station. In May, 1923, circumstances made it necessary for the station to revert to coal oil lamps. Almost immediately an effort was made to have the station lighted by electricity, again, while at the same time efforts were being made to have the station lighted by gas. This really tells the story from 1923 to now. For some unaccountable reason, with both gas and electricity available, the management has refused to approve of either. We have been loth to write of this matter previously, as the Mercury was in a touch and go manner, negotiating with the company to supply them light. But the delay has been so long and the inconvenience to the public so great, that even at the cost of being misunderstood, something had to be written regarding it. One evening prior to Christmas, the writer was at the depot to see friends off on the six o'clock train. The conditions there were like a page from Dicken's. There was a small lamp in the waiting room, and the only way one could recognise friends, was to peer into their faces, slightly aided by the faint light emerging from the interior, where employees were carrying around coal oil lamps to the place where they had to work. If a child broke away from its parents there was a wild rush to reclaim it, because if it got many feet away it was out of sight. Luckily, the days are now getting longer, but even so, a more up-to-date method of lightinng the station would be welcomed and appreciated.

A Smart Example of the Flare

Satin comes more smartly in charmeuse and lends its lustre to the crepe satin lines of this afternoon frock whose width swirls more than meets the eye in a full rippling tunic. Fascinating all the front beneath a cloak, and so clinging to the figure, the distinguishing feature of this charming model is the circular vest on Bonnet dropping to form a V at the center front. The fit over the hips and tight, darting softly over the bust line. The flare back and front are made from satin in gay plaid, the flounce being finished separately and joined to the dress after it is made up. The diagram shows how the pieces are laid out and No 1251 is in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust size. 36 bust requires 6¾ yards 36 inch or 5¾ yard 54 inch material. Price 20 cents.

Experimenting With Gas

British War Office Would Have Tenants Moved From Homes Adjoining Factory

That the British war office is conducting its anti gas experiments was revealed rather curiously when a representative of the government applied to the county for the dispossession of the tenants of 16 houses adjoining a factory at St. Helen's, Lancashire, where experiments with gas are being carried on. The government owns both the factory and the houses, and the argument for the dispossession of the tenants in question was based on the danger they were in by living close to the factory.

The tenants, however, were ready to run the risk of being gassed, because of the difficulty they would have in finding other accommodation. The judge decided in favor of the government in the matter. He held that the crown was not bound by the Rent Restriction Act under which such property owners would be unable to dispossess a tenant.

Automobile Accidents

Auto Toll Heavier Toll Than Ever in U. S. Last Year

Automobile accidents claimed more people more deaths in 1925 than in 1924, according to the annual survey of the national safety council. Reports from more than 10,000 communities cities give the 1925 death toll as 32,000, the council announcement says.

The increase over the previous high death rate showed substantial decreases as a result of street improvements, legislation and safety campaigns, the council says. Speed was an outstanding example of the group. The safety state of New York likewise shows a large reduction in deaths, a decrease of 1,000, which, it says, is a notable example, shows large increases.

Wheat Trade With Orient

Wheat shipments from Canada to the orient with the end of the year exceeded 1926 season over the 1924-1925 season, and is now making a big general increase in wheat shipments via the port of Vancouver, it was announced by transportation officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

What Is Going to the World of Radio

All circuits must be at least slightly regenerative to obtain maximum distance and volume

Investigations are being made to determine the feasibility of connecting American and English telephone lines by radio.

Unity among farmers' organizations was the subject of an address given from CKCK, Regina, by George F. Ellis, president, producer and secretary of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association.

A mysterious practical joking broadcaster who signed himself Eiffel Tow er, Paris," was found in Philadelphia, after the Radio Week committee had received a radio denial from Frader that the Eiffel Tower was on the air.

A South Dakota commercial broadcaster in the following letter to KDA, Des Moines: "I'm also south of Des Moines, but I'm in a little state of my own. The town's prevalent story is that I'm the richest hick in the area." When it's too cold to sleep I sometimes stay up all night listening to radio programs."

Calls to landlords by tenants will end greatly to their relief, in owners when property made, landlords are to locate instruments and should not be thrown suddenly into a state of complete loss of efficiency or distortion of operation are possibly caused by faulty instruments. A small hooded screw into the sides of the radio table will be found to be the means of adjustment at times, can or does escape possible notice.

A Challenge To the Rural School Trustees

Support of Every School Trustee Necessary to Keep the Schools Abreast of Ever-Changing Times

In a recent address at Saskatoon, Sask., G. W. Allen, M.P., declared that the children of rural Canada never had a square deal today. He said that the children none of the trouble in the rural schools rests with the rural trustees.

What are the facts? Some rural schools are modern, but many others are fairly good; in a number, conditions are unsatisfactory. The condition of the rural schools depends largely upon the attitude of the local ratepayers. Where the trustees are alive to their duties and responsibilities, and where a real, live interest is taken in the school by correspondence. It is not necessary that the rural schools of Canada are not equally efficient. In this connection the following letter has been brought to a high standard of efficiency? The work of the teacher and of the department alone cannot do it. The hearty support and co-operation of the trustees is also necessary to keep the schools abreast of the ever-changing educational needs of the present day. A good trustee, with the desire to do his duty, is considered the public servant of the ratepayers, and should be treated as such. He should be prepared to consult with the ratepayers on matters pertaining to the school, and should be ready to receive suggestions from them. He should not be afraid to call a meeting of the ratepayers when he thinks it necessary to do so. He should be prepared to give them a full account of his stewardship at the annual meeting. He should not be afraid to call a meeting of the ratepayers when he thinks it necessary to do so. He should be prepared to give them a full account of his stewardship at the annual meeting. SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JESUS HEALS AND SAVES A BLIND MAN

Golden Text: I am the light of the world; he that followeth Me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life. John 8:12.

Lesson: John 9:1-41.

Lesson setting: Isaiah 42:1-7.

The Text Explained and Illustrated

The Open-air Meeting at the Pool Bethesda Between Bibledrone and the Return I.S. "The Lord that maketh Blind Seers always the result of sin. Herod how Instinctively John's friendship to make him acknowledge sonship which was the cause of all his trouble. One day the disciples came to a man who had been blind from his birth, sitting where beggars sit by the gate of the temple, and they questioned Jesus saying, "Rabbi, who did sin, this man or his parents, that he should be born blind?" The Rabbinical teachers had taught that the blind was suffering for the sins of his parents or because he himself had sinned in the pre-birth state of existence. The Lord's perplexity was the answer to all human ideas, and a lesson of the modern Hindu mind.

In pointing out the absurdity of both theories, Dr. J. Dawson added: "Christ's teaching has not to be sorry for it. He has nothing to retract. Neither belief which leads men to connect with wrong-doing the misfortunes of others that they will, all men have a blessed influence. Christ's attitude is quite the antithesis to that; that moral evil and sin are the cause of all trouble in the world; that no wrong doing on the part of man is unimportant in the issue of absolute necessity, or conveyed by what we call the mere negative influences of time, can or does escape possible notice.

In refusing to be entangled in the controversies of the Rabbinical teachers, Christ's attitude is quite the antithesis to that; that moral evil and sin are the cause of all trouble in the world; that no wrong doing on the part of man is unimportant in the issue of absolute necessity, or conveyed by what we call the mere negative influences of time, can or does escape possible notice.

Another Important Discovery

Insulin Can Now Be Developed in Canada Without Pancreas

Development of insulin, discovery of Dr. F. G. Banting and Dr. C. Best, of Toronto, in the form of a chemically pure crystal was announced before the Chemical Institute of Medicine by Dr. John J. Abel, professor of pharmacology in Johns Hopkins Medical School.

Possibility of obtaining insulin in a chemically pure crystal has been looked upon by scientists as of great practical importance because of the possibility that such a crystal will lead to the synthetic production of insulin in absolutely pure form.

Insulin, as now made, is a crude solution derived from pancreas of cattle and hogs. Its chief drawback, as distinct from the organic material with which it is mixed, has not been known. A discovery such as Dr. Abel's has been considered the problem because of the necessity that for perfect analysis of insulin's component parts.

Another important phase of the discovery from the scientific standpoint is that insulin has been combined with chemicals which will act as diabetes preventatives. The presence of the insulin in diabetes treatment is not as a curative but as a sustaining agent in the system which is lacking in the diabetic and from death, but its use must be continued throughout life.

Diminishing Identity

It is said that the Shah of Persia once told the Duchess of Westminster that the fame of her beauty had reached Teheran. "Ah," said the duchess, "he takes me for the abbey."

In 1919, 300 acres in Alberta were planted to corn; in the following year the acreage increased to 7,000, in 1922 to 15,600; in 1923, to 43,000, and last year to 68,000.

Self-Poisoning Increasingly Common

Modern Living Habits Promote Self-Poisoning Thousands are Victims

The average man or woman does not realize that self-poisoning is the cause of appetite, headaches, tiredness and a lack of ambition, but rather would say they are constipated.

No wonder everywhere that such a condition is usually caused by ill-functioning bowels—inactivity.

Due to modern living habits, the natural exercise which promotes perfect elimination by putting the bowel muscles in action daily—is seldom indulged through sedate aged people. The poisons which normally should be thrown out by means of the regular movement of the bowels are absorbed into the system causing self-poisoning.

Such people need Rigid, Internal Exercise without exercising the bowel muscles through regular timed elimination without overtaxing the intestinal muscles. It helps Nature help you.

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

Baree, half breed Nepesse, daughter of the trapper, Pierre Radisson, is alone over the trails, through the forests, every known might find food for himself. At first he encounters wolf, but soon afterward he is startled by the appearance of Nepesse, whom they pledged. McTaggart, missing his guide, and suspecting foul play by footprints over those of the dog, his sled-weary, started also a search for Baree.

If Wa-Pee-Hee, the Cree, found McTaggart returned in his pool. Baree, in his turn, would easily Valenoe—or four Frenchmen—and the Indians who heard his story and at once lined him during March. Baree came into the store a little later, his eyes and nostrils alert, and he knew Hudson Bay Company's dog-team. Then he saw the stranger, and with a low growl he backed into the shadows. Valenoe, who knew him as a wonderful dog, and who would be the first to recognize him, called to him. But Baree only backed farther away, and when Valenoe followed him he disappeared into the darkness.

"Baree, son of Kazan, you're a queer one!" he said to himself. "But I'll bet you'll be glad to see me before I get through with you!"

Then he went back to the store, but he heard and her voice above the din made when the young stranger came for the salmon that he said to Valenoe, when she had gone.

"Diane Lespin, but she is still beautiful at times, Valenoe!"

To which Valenoe nodded with an old smile.

CHAPTER XXVI

By the middle of January the war between Baree and Black Mc Taggart had become more than an incident—more than a pastime activity—to the dog. Instinct told him that in fighting the man.

Baree, in the meantime, the elemental taboos drive of the Black Wolf, grew huge and fierce. He battled if like a demented fiend, and he was never defeated. Time and again he strolled after the scent of the Fisher man Lake and he was frustrated still more severely with the hatred of a man he was avenging himself upon a dead enemy. Again and again he was attacked McTaggart, he contributed to only his traps or the bait, the banner with a line upon it, and he was ready for the following day. He was always a little ahead of the trapper, and he was always a little ahead of the trapper, and he was always a little ahead of the trapper.

He gained flesh and strength, but there was no longer in him the playing comrade of old. It had turned to hatred. Baree's mind was filled with a single thought—to kill the man who had killed his master. He was ready for anything that would help him to do it. He was ready for anything that would help him to do it. He was ready for anything that would help him to do it.

Then he met Wa-Pee-Hee, the Cree, and after that it was a battle of wits between the two. Wa-Pee-Hee was a master trapper, and he was a master trapper, and he was a master trapper.

It was the latter part of March when Baree, in his turn, was trapped by Wa-Pee-Hee. He was trapped by Wa-Pee-Hee. He was trapped by Wa-Pee-Hee.

Valenoe found the opportunity to use his gun on Baree.

The man's hatred was different than the beast's, but perhaps even more implacable. With McTaggart it was not hatred alone. There was hatred with it an inhuman and unreasoning fear, of things he could not at once be rescued at, a fear which clung to him as surely as the scent of his trail clung to Baree. Baree no longer stood for the animal alone, he stood for Nepesse. That was the thought that hobbled in pursuit of the Cree man's ugly mind. Never a day passed that he was not think of the Wild Girl, never a night when he was not dreaming of her. Always she was in his thoughts, always she was in his dreams, that he heard her voice—as in the days when she had been his—and her face was before him. Always it was there, but he could not see it. It was there, but he could not see it. It was there, but he could not see it.

It was the latter part of March when Baree, in his turn, was trapped by Wa-Pee-Hee. He was trapped by Wa-Pee-Hee. He was trapped by Wa-Pee-Hee.

Invention Of Mail Carrier

French War Office Interested In Potter's Motorless Plane

The French war department has taken up an invention of Ernest Dole, a motorless aeroplane which, by means of a system of turbines, can fly by gravity.

Dole contends he does the practicable of the air a motor power, and although he is not giving away all his secrets, his formula would appear to be a natural sequel of the known law of physics.

It appears that the air experts of the government have decided to take a good look at the model, which the inventor says he has built and which flies handily without fuel and which could be used in war.

The model which Dole says he has built is described as six feet across. It is now reported to be built of steel, and rubber which he had invented himself. These and those then he looked anxiously at the sky. It was clear until late in the afternoon, a mere curving machine for the purpose.

AUCTION SALES

The auction sales that have been conducted during the past few weeks have shown steady improvement both in prices obtained and the keenness of the bidding. The Coombes sale on Monday brought out a good crowd and things sold well. The same can be said of the Wilde sale on Tuesday. A feature of this sale was the decidedly stronger demand for horses.

Professionalism Is Killing Sports

It has been realized for some time that professionalism is the enemy of real, but there is now a weak note to the fact that it is likewise killing the sports themselves. Real sport is to be found in games primarily played by the masses of the people for the diversion they get out of the exercise and for the recreation they derive. But the modern mad race for money sees the passions of sport in a new perspective altogether, and today there is no people in existence so busy, so keen and so driving pleasure seekers as a great British stronghold. In the health, they pay large prices to fill the grandstand and cheer themselves hoarse over the exploits of a few high salaried athletes.

The old day when the rower or bat took to the water with low amateur, and the town runners was the scene of a splitted game of lacrosse or football, have gone into the dim past. The youth of the present day no longer plays the games for the game's sake, and for their own recreation and betterment, but in order to watch from the sidelines and bleachers.

In sport the present generation has degenerated and halted back to the dreadful days of Rome when the arenas were packed with a multitude watching the performance of a few gladiators. It was a dim of the human beasts in the end for Rome and all. The Duke of Wellington has been credited with the statement that the Battle of Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton. Today, how ever, the newspapers tell of the fifty or one hundred thousand spectators watching two teams of professional players

Sweat and toil some are of self denial have become a lost arte. Scheming, the getter being games of money ranging into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Professionalism killed lacrosse, the Canadian national game and one of the finest of all field sports. A quarter of a century ago every town and village in Eastern Canada had its lacrosse clubs, until there was hardly a village or young man participating in its health giving activities. Then the idea of commercializing the game was conceived, and its blighting effect is seen in the pecuniary disgrace attached to the game.

Wonder's next game, hockey, is going the same way. Professionalism fourishes for a while, kills the amateur game, and in killing out amateur sport therefore kills the game that lays the golden egg for such. Without active amateur sports the development of players comes to a stop, and the supply of players for professional ranks fails off.

It has been thought that professional baseball was so thoroughly well established and so deeply entrenched in the United States that it could withstand almost anything. But a recent series of base ball made for the National American Athletic Park, since has established beyond doubt that baseball is slipping. Many league matches have approached amateur agencies offering exceptions for putting sport business they formed a fashion of players.

It is seen, therefore, that the advent of pro-amateurism not only kills the sporting instincts of the people, turning them into mere hands panels "readers" for a group of paid entertainers instead of active participants in the game themselves, but it is responsible for the game as such. So long as a city or town maintains a professional baseball or hockey team, the amateur game suffers, but with the professional teams out of the way, amateur sport is the game how it flourishes and the stamina physique and health of the youth improves. The truth of this statement has been demonstrated over and over again in Western Canada.

Professionalism has a terrible demoralizing effect. The player is sent to win, and that alone. His salary depends upon it, and any trick or expedient that will put past the referee or umpire, is resorted to whether it be "spoiling" or not. They are not playing for the game's sake, but for the box office receipts and a prospective offer may be made to a higher salary.

A record of spectators was mid and the referee appears of her over a win by the "home" team although the members of that team may have been and hated from the four corners of the continent, and have no interest in or regard for the "home" town except the salary they are getting out of it. And the same "home" crowd will groan and hiss if the visiting team shows a superior play. Accompanying this so-called sport is a tendency to betting and gambling far surpassing any evidence on amateur games.

Elimination of professionalism and a general revival of interest and participation in amateur sports of all kinds is a boon to be desired development in Canada and one calculated to build up a more virile, robust, self-reliant people among Canadians.

Why Coltheate Rubber in California

Cultivation of rubber on a large scale in the United States, principally in the south and in California, is foreseen in Wall street, through the re-organization of the International Rubber Company, said the new "home" crowd will groan and hiss if the visiting team shows a superior play. Accompanying this so-called sport is a tendency to betting and gambling far surpassing any evidence on amateur games.

A Woman's Idea

A woman entered a police station in Paris, and asked for the loan of a check book, and offered a reward for its return. "Why do you want the check book?" said the officer. "Because I have a superfluous check," she answered. "I want to write to the thief and tell him how much I have stopped payment on it." And the same "home" crowd will groan and hiss if the visiting team shows a superior play. Accompanying this so-called sport is a tendency to betting and gambling far surpassing any evidence on amateur games.

Receives Further Mandate

How Treaty Between Irish and Britain Is Signed

The new treaty between Great Britain and the kingdom of Irak, by which the British mandate over this country is extended to a maximum of 25 years, was signed in conformity with the recent decision of the League of Nations council in the Anglo Turkish dispute.

Turkey has refused to recognize the council's decision which is confirmed in the treaty, but into the recent council also increases in the price of wheat which have been followed by advances in the cost of flour and bread in Great Britain, after they had steadily declined for two months.

This sharp reaction, which has hit every body important and the public, is unquestionably due in large measure to the issue of fake by one of the abundant Russian wheat held by the Soviet government. Its action has been to withhold many millions in the wheat markets of the world, and so deceived buyers that importers and bakers have covered with very short stocks of wheat and flour.

Definite proof has been obtained that the Soviet's figures were mythical, and the "abundant" Government is now making to save its face from the discredit into which it has been brought by inducing foreshadowed, its finance commissar, for having framed a badly inaccurate estimate. It is hoped but that the protracted grain export committee were responsible for the inaccurate figures given to the their official reports and will be brought before the council.

JESUS FEEDS FIVE THOUSAND MEN

Golden Text: Jesus said unto them, I am the bread of life: he that cometh to Me shall not hunger, and he that believeth on me shall never thirst. John 6:35.

Lesson, John 6:1-71.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 34:3-12.

Explanations and Comments

Jesus and the Multitude, verses 1-4. "After these things." The chronology of these events is very much in the dark. "Jesus went over the sea of Galilee, or Sea of Tiberias as it was also called, from the city of Tiberias which Herod Antipas had built on the lake in honor of the Emperor Tiberius. He climbed the hillside and sat down, hoping to have a quiet time of communion there with His disciples.

Many young people have been amazed, not without justice, of having the "moving picture mind"—all life being to them a series of snapshots, with no glance for a time exposure. "They cannot think straight on any subject; they are a bundle of disconnected impressions and confused ideas," says Sir Oliver Lodge. The remedy, he adds is in the most what degree to be is growing more without it. The true end of the world is attained and dwarfed."

Jesus Feeds the Five Thousand, verses 5-13. "Jesus then lifted up His eyes." Jesus, following out the principle of adapting His teaching to the needs of the people, and to the circumstances of the moment, made use of the situation to teach a lesson of faith in God's power to supply all human needs. "Whence shall we buy bread?" Philip was a native of Bethsaida, and would be familiar with the country round about. "Two hundred pennyworth of bread." The penny was a Roman coin worth about 17 cents. "Five barley loaves." Barley bread was the food of the poor. "Two small fishes." Fish were cheap and plentiful in the lake. "What are they among so many?" Andrew's faith was not very strong, but it was real. "Make the men sit down." Jesus wished to have the people in order. "Gather up the fragments." Jesus would have nothing wasted. "Twelve baskets." Each disciple had a basket for his own provision.

Jesus Walks on the Sea, verses 14-21. "Perceived that they would come and take Him by force." The people were ready to make Jesus a king, but not in the sense in which He was willing to be king. "Into a ship." Jesus had sent the disciples away in a ship. "It is I." Jesus was walking on the water. "Be not afraid." Jesus was not a spirit, but a real man.

The Bread of Life, verses 22-59. "Ye seek Me." The people were looking for Jesus because they had had their bodies fed. "Labor not for the meat which perisheth." Jesus was not opposed to work, but to the spirit which made the getting of food the chief thing in life. "Him hath God the Father sealed." God had given Jesus the seal of His approval. "What must we do?" The people were ready to do anything Jesus told them to do. "Moses gave you not that bread." Jesus was not disparaging Moses, but was showing that the bread which Moses gave was not the true bread. "Lord, evermore give us this bread." The people were thinking of material bread. "I am the bread of life." Jesus was the true bread because He was the true revelation of God. "Him that cometh to Me I will in no wise cast out." Jesus was ready to receive all who came to Him. "Murmured at Him." The people were offended because Jesus claimed to have come down from heaven. "Except the Father which sent Me draw him." Jesus was the gift of God, but men must receive Him by faith. "Eat My flesh, and drink My blood." Jesus was speaking figuratively of the spiritual food which He would give to those who believed on Him. "Doth this offend you?" Jesus knew that many of His disciples were murmuring against Him.

Many Disciples Turn Back, verses 60-71. "Many therefore of His disciples, when they heard this, said." Many of those who had been following Jesus were offended at His teaching. "Will ye also go away?" Jesus was willing to let them go if they chose to do so. "Thou hast the words of eternal life." Peter's faith was not perfect, but it was real. "Have not I chosen you twelve?" Jesus knew that one of the twelve was a traitor. "Judas Iscariot." Judas was the only one of the twelve who was not a Galilean.

"Into a ship." Jesus had sent the disciples away in a ship. "It is I." Jesus was walking on the water. "Be not afraid." Jesus was not a spirit, but a real man.

The Bread of Life, verses 22-59. "Ye seek Me." The people were looking for Jesus because they had had their bodies fed. "Labor not for the meat which perisheth." Jesus was not opposed to work, but to the spirit which made the getting of food the chief thing in life. "Him hath God the Father sealed." God had given Jesus the seal of His approval. "What must we do?" The people were ready to do anything Jesus told them to do. "Moses gave you not that bread." Jesus was not disparaging Moses, but was showing that the bread which Moses gave was not the true bread. "Lord, evermore give us this bread." The people were thinking of material bread. "I am the bread of life." Jesus was the true bread because He was the true revelation of God. "Him that cometh to Me I will in no wise cast out." Jesus was ready to receive all who came to Him. "Murmured at Him." The people were offended because Jesus claimed to have come down from heaven. "Except the Father which sent Me draw him." Jesus was the gift of God, but men must receive Him by faith. "Eat My flesh, and drink My blood." Jesus was speaking figuratively of the spiritual food which He would give to those who believed on Him. "Doth this offend you?" Jesus knew that many of His disciples were murmuring against Him.

Many Disciples Turn Back, verses 60-71. "Many therefore of His disciples, when they heard this, said." Many of those who had been following Jesus were offended at His teaching. "Will ye also go away?" Jesus was willing to let them go if they chose to do so. "Thou hast the words of eternal life." Peter's faith was not perfect, but it was real. "Have not I chosen you twelve?" Jesus knew that one of the twelve was a traitor. "Judas Iscariot." Judas was the only one of the twelve who was not a Galilean.

CO-OPERATION AMONG MEMBERS IS A NECESSITY

Ottawa.—After an absence of eight years the voice of Hon. Robert Rogers was again heard today in the House of Commons. He spoke in the debate on the address which opened the session till the end of this week. He described the speech from the throne as "bare of political fight and pull and full recommendations." He declared that the raw materials of Canada were being passed into the United States and coming back as finished products. But he charged that every member of the house knew that Chief Commissioner Hanna, of the railway commission, had directions to do and give certain decisions concerning cases in the pre-paper. Mr. Rogers said he had no deal with that now, but I will deal with it at a later period."

From the Liberal side of the house R. H. Jenkins, of Quebec, P.Q., held that there was no time in the history of the house better Prime Liberal Mind but to pass to any idea of recession. The Maritimes expected the play however. Maritime rights might be called partnership rights and called for justice and fair play in all.

Mr. McMillan declared that the government deserved credit for increase in the Canadian cattle herds. He declared that Mr. Meighen was absorbed in the rampants of gold of which he was a part.

Alfred Speakman, of Red Deer, gave a Progressive view. Mr. Speakman thought rural credits one of the most vital things in the suggested programme of legislation. The Progressionists on rural credits had remained "buried beneath the snows" since they were in the fall. 4,107,126 pounds of butter at 15 cents a pound, $616,068.90, 28,110 pounds of eggs at 25 cents a pound, $7,182.50; total, $623,175.50 Cheese production per census, 158 pounds.

Asks Reduction Of Troops in Rhineland

Small Prospect of Favorable Reply to Germany's Request

Paris.—The question of the reduction of the number of troops in the Rhineland occupation will be discussed by the Premier Briand with Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British foreign secretary, when Sir Austen passes through Paris, homeward bound from Rapallo, Italy.

There is little prospect of a favorable reply to Germany's request for a decrease in the number of allied troops of occupation in the Rhineland it was said in official circles.

They are now above 60,000 French troops in the occupied territory including service of supplies, guards and line communications, it was stated, while British and Belgians have about 4,000 each. The French supply many more men than their allies because they have far greater ground to cover. The German demand will be referred to the council of ambassadors for consideration at its next meeting, the date for which has not been fixed.

Government Now Believed Being Held Up Pending Orders

London.—The Manchester Guardian gives prominence to an article in that paper in which it is alleged that while the government food control is busy with the misdeeds of small shopkeeping the profiteers are free to take toll of the public. The article says, "and in the meantime, the wholesale trade is left to look after itself, and the public is left to look after itself."

Quantities of the primary products of New Zealand have been held up pending orders from the Imperial authorities with regard to the prices to be charged for the frozen shipments. The hold up is part of a scheme whereby the agents here of the New Zealand producers are to receive a regular working load off the market until such time as the cheese flow to a point entirely in the address. He was "dubious" as to the rules of a duty on coal. He suggested that the cost could be met by way of reducing railway transportation charges.

Mr. Speakman urged that co-operation among members of the house was a prime necessity. He suggested that an extension of extracting "the last pound of cheese" from the soil was also in the house. They hoped, however, to inspire something of the spirit of co-operation, which the house had by needed

Turning Point For China

Next Few Months May Decide Her Fate For Another Century

China is clearing her decks. The most significant developments of the last decade are contained in the reported retirement of Chang Tso Lin, dictator of Manchuria, and Feng Yu Hsiang, the power behind the central government. The irreconcilables, both sustained by arms in their respective spheres, have heeded the lessons of insecurity and have become resigned to discretion. So much for the persons of aspect; what of China?

The older order is passing, yielding place to new. The day of the war lord is nearly past. The Chinese dragon, with much travail, is shedding its mediaeval scales. Youth, in the antedate, as youth has seized the reins of Duty, Turkey and that other west of ancient culture, Persia. All indications point to the birth of a united China—a militant China indeed, yet upon taking place as a great power in the world's councils.

The child was born and christened What will take their place? Not since the deposition of the Manchus has the question been more pertinent. Time for the appearance on the stage of a dictator to unite and rule. The next few months will be rich in interest to the watcher. The day, decide China's fate for a century. Monty in Gazette

Every Dollar of Earnings Was Spent On Poor

Rev Dr. Russell H. Conwell, of the Baptist Temple, New York, was a follower of Jesus in going about doing good. Every year he received $11,000,000 by his own estimate. A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

"PAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the Wild Dog, in an Adaptation of This Story

Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

SYNOPSIS

It was in the winter that a half breed found in the snow footprints of Pierre, the wolf-dog. He reported to McTaggart, the factor, that he had seen artful signs that a fur trader, Lafe, and the factor's suspicions were aroused. He knew had been there and that he had tried to kill the dog and the dog had killed a wolf instead. Moreover, McTaggart had shot Pierre, the trapper, in the leg, and Lafe had threatened the animal to be organized from Pierre's leg. CHAPTER XXV.—Continued.

The next day saw the beginning of the struggle. At nine o'clock in the morning Pierre left the cabin of Dave Mc-Taggart's trap-line was not war; it was outdoor. It was to furnish him food, and Mercy's life had been added to him food for many months. But he roused the fire that he had built, and he was low-breaker and had an uneasy to control. Had it been good hunting weather he might have left the dog to the unseen hand that was guiding his wanderings was drawn him on. He demand a $500,000,000 dry dock with a capacity for 500,000-ton ships, a dock will be the largest naval dry dock in the world and will be completed in 1934.

Motor Cars Becoming Necessity

Highest Point of Production is Far in Sky Future

When the output of passenger cars and trucks in 1927 went over the 5,000,000 mark, it was said that the motor industry had reached its peak but in 1925 there was an increase to about 5,000,000 motor vehicles over the 1923 total. Apparently the forecasters failed to take into account the fact that the automobile was becoming a being looked upon as a necessity, both in town and country. There seems to be no common agreement on what constitutes a saturation point for motor cars in this country. If this is true, the motor industry is still too far ahead for the people to foresee.—Buffalo Courier

Chosen Turkey's Best Mother

Madame Ismet Pasha, divorced wife of Turkey's premier, has been chosen "Turkey's best mother" by the Turkish Women's Union because of the prominent part she played in politics and in aiding her husband's work in the interest of peace. She is the mother of four children.

Police Brilliantly Dressed

A new corps of brilliantly dressed traffic police are giving back to the streets of Constantinople the color lost with the passing of the fez and turban. The crimson and brass helmets of these officers of the law and their salons of red and white stripes which resemble sticks of peppermint candy, give promise that the new era is not to be entirely drab.

The director of police, Ekrem Bey, has also introduced the first electric device for traffic control

Disposal Of Ex-Kaiser's Property

Matter Will Be Decided by the German People

Germany is to be asked to decide by referendum whether some millions of dollars' worth of property in castles, estates, art and money shall be handed over by the republic to ex-Kaiser William II.

The agitation against the proposed grant has become so intense and the policy of many workers so embittered, that the Socialist party executive decided to undertake the necessary steps for getting a referendum on this question

The executive acted after numerous protests of laborers and white collar folk had arisen throughout the land. The loudest of these complaints was that the German republic, now plunged in the worst unemployment period, ought not to give to the former ruler millions of marks which would render him one of Europe's richest men.

There has been a heated controversy as to whether or not the property to be handed over belongs to the ex-rich or to Wilhelm personally. A carried ranges of the property confiscated by the Hohenzollern family finally to the conclusion that Wilhelm personally owns several million dollars' worth of it as his own.

The matter then came up for ratification by the Reichstag, but at the moment the clamor throughout the land raised agitation to prevent it continually. In view of the more for a referendum, it is likely that no action will be taken by the Reichstag through.

Meantime reports from Ireno indicate that the joy of Doorn over the prospects of fortune have been shattered by the sudden illness in quarters of Kaiserin Hulda ruthlessly to his 1876 bride!

A Considerable Difference

Newspapers Have Found Time, Cautioning People Advertising Is Not News

There is often a deal of difference between news and advertising, says the Ottawa Citizen, but a newspaper has a hard time often in making some readers realize the difference. A newspaper exists mainly to sell the news to the public to whom it buys it, and it is advertising that is the main business transaction with the one object of making money. An item can appear neither in the news or in the advertising. Because the money goes to a worthy cause does not make it any the less an advertisement Where there is no charge involved or money to be gotten, the item is news. The paper is frequently willing to tell about it as a matter of news but a newspaper must have advertising to live That is one of its ways of getting it. Some have had a struggle to keep their heads above water in the publication and it is an all advertising paper that has to cash in on the game But at that the average newspaper gives away thousands of dollars' worth of space each year in order to promote civic affairs and to find out the equality to be of service to its community.

Provincial Paragraphs

Legislature Called

The Provincial Legislature has been called to convene for the regular winter session on February 11th.

Provincial Liquor Profits

Net profits of $1,347,185 were made by the Alberta Government on its operations under the liquor act in 1925, the full amount realized through the business of the Liquor Control Board was $1,666,958, covering the full calendar year. Sales of permits for the year amounted to $112,172.

Out of the gross receipts of the board during the year the sum of $37,813 was placed to reserve accounts, the policy of the government being to build up a reserve fund that will give protection against possible future losses.

Last year was the first full 12 month period for which the liquor control board has reported, since the act was not operated at the beginning of 1734. For the eight months of that year covered by he operations of the board as reported to the last legislature, the net profits were $1,030,321. The 1925 figures are therefore slightly in advance of the proportionate figures for 1924. In both cases they represent the entire net revenue received from vendor's sales and beer licenses.

Alberta's Wool Business

That splendid progress was being made by wool growers in Alberta was instanced at the annual meeting of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers Limited at Calgary. It was stated that Alberta had sent forward for co-operative sale 1,350,000 pounds of wool an increase of 600,347 pounds as compared with the previous year.

Highest Winter Temperature

During December 1925, Alberta recorded what is stated to be the highest temperature in Canada during that month, when in the city of Calgary a temperature of 63 was recorded. The entire month was one of the mildest Decembers ever experienced, other points in Alberta being close behind Calgary with high temperatures, Medicine Hat recording 60 and Edmonton 56.

Dairy Convention

The annual convention of the Alberta dairymen's association held under the auspices of this association and the provincial department of agriculture is being held this week at Edmonton, when important phases of the dairy industry will be discussed.

INTEREST

THERE IS one thing the councillors of the town of Tofield must have learned by this time—the unrelenting nature of interest. When some number of years ago, obligations were assumed by the selling of debentures, it was confidently expected that by the year 1926, the debenture debt of the town would be very materially decreased. But instead of decreasing it is increasing. The cause is the piling up of interest, as, up till this year their has almost always been some debenture arrears, in spite of a real effort to pay, a good many thousand dollars going that road. The debenture indebtedness is now over $98,000.00, but though it has increased during the past year or so, from now on it should gradually decrease, if payments are made when they fall due. The new arrangements of spreading the total debentures over a further period of forty years was good business providing it was the best that could be done. The councillors were not very keen on endeavoring to get a reduction of interest, or any similar concession, and it is doubtful if they could have got it even if they had tried. Nevertheless it is distinctly noticeable that all through the financial stringency and the bursting of the realestate boom, the town as borrower, always assumed the losses, while the lender was fully protected. This in view of the fact that borrowing was only made possible by an assessed valuation, thought sufficient to take care of the borrowings. Another phase is that those who abandoned their property conveniently relieved themselves of their share of the debt, and this share had to and is being borne by those who kept their property. The security of financial paper should never be cheapened, but one cannot help but recognise that the amount of interest the citizens of Tofield pay in the form of taxes is out of all proportion to the benefits derived from the borrowings and the amount borrowed.

THE RATEPAYERS' MEETING

ON FRIDAY, February 20th the annual meeting of ratepayers will be held at the Town Hall, at which the chairman of the different committees, (which means all the councillors)) will present a report regarding their work for the preceding year. This meeting is an annual event and in previous years has been very poorly attended, in fact, last year resulted in no attendance at all. Town councillors attend, or should attend twenty-six meetings a year, and unless former engagements have been made, ratepayers should turn out one night a year to hear what the councillors have to say. If it is at all convenient, let's have a good ratepayers' meeting this year.

GOOD LUCK TO THE BONSPIEL

EACH YEAR sees curling assume a greater popularity among both sexes. The climax of curling interest each year in each town is centred in the annual bonspiel. This week, Tofield and visiting curlers are working as hard as they ever did in their lives and enjoying it. Here's hoping they have good ice, a genial time and that there are plenty of prizes.

BIG CORPORATIONS AND THE PUBLIC

THERE SEEM to be a sort of continual warfare between a certain section of the public and any and all big corporations. There has been in the past no doubt, plenty of proof that large corporations, financial, tructional, electrical and suchlike, have not only traded with the public, but exploited the public. On the other hand, simply because a concern is "big" is not sufficient reason to become hysterical and imagine that it is out to exploit and rob the people regardless. Just now, some feeling is being worked up against the Northwestern Utilities. According to some expressed ideas, the price of gas is too high and the pressure is too low, while the company itself is made out to be something of an octopus, first entangling the public in its tentacles and then feasting on its life blood. We hold no brief for this or any big concern, our sympathies are with the public when the public is right. Our conception of the Northwestern Utilities was that it was something in the nature of a public benefactor. We know, of course, that little of the philanthropic spirit enter into big companies doings, but we also know that sinking wells and laying a pipe line from Viking to Edmonton was no two by four job. Considerable forethought and a great deal of money had to be expended before Edmonton was able to burn its first foot of gas. As a consumer, we find the pressure steady and the cost reasonable, compared to other forms of heating, while the convenience of it is an item not to be overlooked. However, the franchise that it holds, the product it sells and the finance it controls should not blind it from taking the servants' viewpoint—a viewpoint demanding all the just rights and privileges of a servant, but a servants' viewpoint just the same.

Professionalism Is Killing Sports

It has been realized for some time that professionalism is the enemy of sport, but there is now an awakening to the fact that it is likewise killing the sports themselves. Real sport is to be found in games participated in by the masses of the people for the diversion and exercise they derive from them. That is the reason why sport has become such a part of the pastimes of people in a town community and today, instead of people standing idly by, and drinking pleasure in the virtues and gaining physical strength and better health, they pay large prices to sit in the grandstand and cheer those few lusty men the exploits of a few high salaried experts.

The old day when the rector of the parish would visit his people, and, in his home capacity, be the source of a spiritual uplift of interest or football, have gone into the dust.

The youth of the present do not appear to play games for the games' sake, and for their own expression and betterment, but are content to watch from the sidelines and bleachers.

In sport the present generation has degenerated and harked back to the Roman days of Rome when the arena was packed with a spectacular match ing the performance of a few gladiators. It was a sign of the beginning to the end for Rome of old. The Duke of Wellington has been credited with the statement that the Battle of Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton. Today, however, the newspapers tell of the fifty or one hundred thousand spectators watching the teams of professional players.

Boxing and the noble art of self defence has developed into pets fighting, the price being purses of money ranging into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Professionalism kills Lacrosse, the Canadian national game and one of the finest of all field games. A quarter of a century ago it was the national delight to Eastern Canada and its lacrosse clubs, and thousands of boys and young men participated in its healthful playing activities. Then the idea of commercializing the game was conceived, and its blighting effect is seen in the present disappearance of the game.

Canada's title to ice hockey, is going the same way. Professionalism flourishes for a while, kills the amateur game, and in killing off amateur sport therefore kills the game itself by the public's natural inability to witness sports the development of players comes to an end and the supply of players for professional ranks fails off.

It has been thought that professional base ball was so thoroughly well established and so deeply intrenched in the United States that it would withstand criticism and attack. But a recent survey of base ball leads for the National and Amateur Athletic Federation has established beyond dispute that even baseball is slipping. Many leagues matches have approached amateur agencies offering competition for existing sport because they foresee a decline of players.

It is seen, then, that the advent of professionalism not only kills the sporting instincts of the people, turning them into mere passive "rooters" for a group of paid experts who instead of active participants in the game themselves, but it is demoralizing to the games as such. So long as a city or town maintains a professional baseball or hockey team, the amateur game suffers, but when the professional teams are out of the way, amateur teams spring up, the game itself flourishes, and the stamina physique and health of the youth improves. The truth of this statement has been demonstrated over and over again in Western Canada.

Professionalism has a tendency to monetizing effect. The player is out to win, that and that alone. His salary depends upon it, and any trick or a method that will beat the game or simple, is resorted to whether it is "sporting" or not. They are not playing for the "game's sake" but for the box office receipts and a prospective sale to some other club at a higher salary.

A crowd of spectators is cold and a spectators spasm of joy over a win by the "home" team is also affected by the methods of that team and the player is forced from the rear ranks of the rooters to, and have no interest in or regard for the "home" team except the salary they are getting out of it. And the same "home" crowd will groan and hiss if the visiting team achieve victory by superior play. Accompanying this so-called sport is a tendency to betting and gambling for corporation and attendant on amateur games.

Elimination of professionalism and a general revival of interest and participation in amateur sports is all liable to a boom to the physical development in Canada and one calculated to build up a more virile, robust, self-reliant young Canadianism.

Why Cultivate Rubber in California

Cultivation of rubber on a large scale in the United States principally is reported from the lands of a check book, and in California, in fairness to Wall Street, through the co-operation of one of the International Mercantile Company, which has given up shooting people long enough to help out the Pacific coast for once with the genuine article. Professional fakirs and crooks are reported to be back of the scheme, but the company has signed them all.—The Argonaut

Soviet's Figure About Wheat Crop Mythical

Drought About Slump in Wheat Markets of World

The London Daily Herald has speculated in industry into the recent remarkable increase in the price of wheat which has been followed by advances in the cost of flour and bread in Great Britain, after they had steadily declined for two months.

This sharp reaction, which has hit everyone both importer and the public, is undoubtedly due to large exports to the Soviet Republics by reason of an abundant Russian wheat yield by the Soviet Government. Its action has been followed by advances in the wheat markets of the world, and as the Soviet Republics import flour and bakers have been left with very short stocks of wheat and flour.

It is generally considered probable that the Soviet's figures were mythical, and that the Canadian Government is now sending to save its face from the discomfiture into which it has been brought by ordering Dobokhaieff, the Russian commissioner, for having framed a hoax. Dobokhaieff denied the charge, saying that the provincial grain expert had been misinterpreted and that the extraordinary exaggerations in their official reports and will be brought before the court.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JANUARY 31

JESUS FEEDS FIVE THOUSAND MEN

Golden Text: Jesus said unto them, I am the bread of life: he that cometh to Me shall not hunger, and he that believeth on Me shall never thirst. John 6:35.

Lesson: John 6:1-71

Devotional Reading: Psalm 34:5-11.

Explanations and Comments

Jesus and the Multitude, verses 1-4. "After these things"—a vague note of time; see The Historical Background—Jesus crossed over to the eastern side of the Sea of Galilee, or Sea of Tiberias as it was also called, from the city of Tiberias which Herod Antipas had built on the lake in honor of the Emperor Tiberius. He climbed the hillside and sat down, hoping to have a quiet time of communion there with His disciples.

Many young people have been rescued, not without justice, of having "interfering parties' relief"—all His life up to them a series of snapshots, and as pictures of Jesus. Some of them are good, some are bright on any subject; they are all interesting and emphasize and reaffirm Jesus' words, says Jr.-W.-H. P. Faunce. "Self-help is the one thing needful to make a growing tree—without it the tree or the soil is strained and dwarfed."

A great multitude of people, attracted to Jesus by His power over disease, followed on foot around the northern end of the lake. They were Galileans on their way to the Passover at Jerusalem, the second one in Jesus' public ministry.

Honey In Manitoba

CO-OPERATION AMONG MEMBERS IS A NECESSITY

Ottawa.—After an absence of eight years the Hon. Robert Rogers was again heard today in the House of Commons. He spoke in the debate on the address, which promises to continue till the end of this week. He described the speech from the throne as "born of political fright and political contradictions." He declared that the real motive of Canada was being poured into the United States and coming back as finished products. And he charged that every member of the house knew that Chief Commissioner McKenzie, of the railway commission, had directions to do and give certain decisions concerning rates if he did not propose—Mr. Rogers went on to deal with that now, but I will deal with it at a later period."

From the Liberal side of the house R. H. Jenkins, of Queens, P.E.I., held that Canada was in a position it never been better. Prince Edward Island had no part in the slump of the seasons. The Maritimes expected fair play; however. Maritime rights might be called "partnership rights" and called for justice and fair play to all.

Thomas McMillan, of South Huron, (ind., strongly contested the view that the government was entitled to the credit for removal of the British preference on certain goods. Mr. McMillan further urged that the government deserved credit for increase in the British preference on coal. He declared that Mr. Meighen was "shackled by the power of gold of and which he was wont to speak."

Alfred Speakman, of Red Deer, gave a Progressive view of the situation. He thought rural credits one of the most vital things in the whole programme of legislation. Previous proposals on rural credits had contained more in the nature of a gift than a loan. He was getting up Mr. Speakman that rural credits should be treated as an active principle. Mr. Speakman announced his intention to vote against the Conservative amendment to the address. He was "dubious" as to the value of a grain council. He suggested that a better method would be by way of reducing railway transportation charges.

Mr. Speakman argued that co-operation among members of the house was a prime necessity. Progressives had no intention of extracting "the last pound of flesh" from the city population in the house. They hoped, however, to bring about a spirit of co-operation, which the house had a needed

No Liberal-Labor Alliance

Lloyd George Denies Rumor in a Speech in London

London.—Rumors that he intended to launch a movement for a Liberal-Labor alliance were denied by David Lloyd George in a speech at Caxton Hall, Westminster, on last night.

"There is no foundation for the rumor," he said, "that I am about to launch a movement for Liberals to negotiate an alliance with any party. I should contemplate its energies being wasted by the goal of securing a large Liberal representation in the next parliament."

When that was achieved it would be time to consider co-operation with men who were prepared to support its programme, whether they professed a coalition government or not.

Asks Reduction Of Troops in Rhineland

Small Prospect of Favorable Reply to Germany's Request

Paris.—The question of the reduction of the number of troops in the Rhineland occupation will be discussed by Premier Briand with Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British foreign secretary, when Sir Austen passes through Paris, homeward bound from Rapallo, Italy.

There is little prospect of a favorable reply to Germany's request for a decrease in the number of allied troops of occupation in the Rhineland it was said in official circles.

There are now about 60,000 French troops in the occupied territory including service of supplies, guards and line communications; it was also said while British and Belgians have about 4,000 each. The French require more than their allies because they have far greater ground to cover. The German demand will be referred to the council of ambassadors for consideration at its next meeting, the date for which has not been fixed.

New King's Printer

Issued by the Publicity Commissioner, Government of Alberta, Edmonton, February 1st, 1926

New King's Printer

Announcement has been made by Premier Brownlee, of the appointment of W. D. McLean, an official of the Municipal Affairs department, and a former printer and publisher to the position of Acting King's Printer, vice J. W. Jeffrey, whose resignation has now been officially accepted. Mr. McLean is taking charge of the King's Printers' branch at once.

Since November 19, when the reorganization of the King's Printers' branch was announced the branch has been temporarily in charge of C. H. Groff, publicity commissioner. The possibility of amalgamating the publicity branch with that of the King's Printer was considered by the members of the government, but in view of the progressive development of the work of the publicity branch in connection with the return of the natural resources and the movement of immigration, it was finally decided that the amalgamation would not be advisable. It has been decided, however, that all government advertising will be concentrated and in future handled through the publicity branch.

Mr. McLean, the new acting King's Printer, was brought up in the printing business. He learned the trade on the Huron Expositor at Seaforth, Ontario, and later was engaged in printing in a large job printing establishment in Toronto and Brantford. He then returned to Seaforth where he entered business with his father in a large printing establishment. Some years later he became the proprietor of the Banner at Dundas, Ont. In 1910 he came west to Edmonton to become a member of the staff of the Bulletin. A few years later he entered the service of the Provincial Government and has been an official of the Department of Municipal Affairs ever since. Latterly occupying a position of considerable responsibility, Mr. McLean has been a member of the executive of the civil service association, and was one of the first members of the joint council of the cabinet and association.

Chas. E. Hisbenite, who has been connected with the King's Printer department for many years will be named assistant King's Printer.

DOCTORS AND ADVERTISING

IT HAS often occured to us, that for downright topsy turveydom, the field of medicine takes the cake. On the one hand we have patent medicine manufacturers using every trick that can be turned with paper, ink and a fertile brain, while on the other hand, almost every medical graduate leaves school with the deep rooted determination not to descend to "Hanging out a shingle" and perhaps a professional card in a newspaper is, for medical men, going the limit. Of all the professions, that of medicine, is perhaps the most important. We need a doctor to help us into this vale of tears and generally call on one to prevent us from prematurely going out. If during the passage from nothing to three score years and ten, a doctor is called, we expect him to come on the run and perform miracles when he arrives. That, in the main, the profession lives up to its oportunities in this regard, is well known and a matter of history. In the field of research, too, history shows a brilliant array of conquests by this medical profession. In spite of civilization's perverse determination to make an imperfect man, the medical profession never seems to give up hope but is equally determined to make a perfect one. The sacrifices made, as evidenced by victims of the X-Ray, does not halt it and one triumph only creates the desire for a greater one. But with all its virtues the medical profession makes a grave omission by allowing and encouraging other people to tell the public, what it is, or should be best able to explain. While patent medicine manufacturers buy columns upon columns of advertising space and take ten's of thousands of dollars from the public (some of which is spent wisely and some unwisely) many doctors sit in their offices awaiting patients. In scientific research the medical profession has never lagged but in acquainting the public regarding itself and its work, it is woefully behind the times.

There was a time, no doubt, when advertisements were meant to contain nothing more than a straight solicitation of business. But those days have passed. Today, many advertisements are a real source of information, and the reader is wiser for having read them, whether he actually responds to the message or not. The implication of "touting" has almost disappeared from modern advertising, rather, the individual or firm who neglects to advertise is neglecting an opportunity for service to the public which his trade or profession makes him responsible for. The medical profession would lose nothing of its dignity by proper advertising, instead its field of usefulness would be enlarged and if in the process its finances were increased, no one would complain about that.

STATION LIGHTS

TRAVELLERS TELL us that the Canadian National trains No. 1 and 2 running between Montreal and Vancouver are among the finest in the land. The appointments are up-to-date in every particular, the cuisine in the dining cars all that can be desired and the personel efficient and obliging. While there is no evidence of downright extravagance, it is also true that nothing has been omitted that would increase the comfort of passengers. This being so, makes it very hard to understand why the management do not use a more up-to-date method of lighting at the Tofield station. In May, 1923, circumstances made it necessary for the station to revert to coal oil lamps. Almost immediately an effort was made to have the station lighted by electricity. Again, while at the same time efforts were being made to have the station lighted by gas. This really tells the story from 1923 to now. For some unaccountable reason, with both gas and electricity available, the management has refused to approve of either. We have been loth to write of this matter previously, as the Mercury was in a touch and go manner, negotiating with the company to supply them light. But the delay has been so long and the inconvenience to the public so great, that even at the cost of being misunderstood, something had to be written regarding it. One evening prior to Christmas, the writer was at the depot to see friends off on the six o'clock train. The conditions there were like a page from Dicken's. There was a small lamp in the waiting room, and the only way one could recognise friends, was to peer into their faces, slightly aided by the faint light emerging from the interior, where employees were carrying around coal oil lamps to the place where they had to work. If a child broke away from its parents there was a wild rush to recover him lest if it got many feet away it was out of sight. Luckily, the days are now getting longer, but even so, a more up-to-date method of lighting the station would be welcomed and appreciated.

Three Directors Issue Statement In Connection With Elevator Policy

Winnipeg, Feb. 15.—(Special)—Messrs. W. Ford Doull, C. Rigler, C. B. Sissons and A. J. M. Poole issued a statement in connection with a certain amount of opinion publicly recently, made by Mr. J. H. Burnell, president of the pool, and published in the Free Press of Jan. 11. The statement in part is as follows:

The Free Press of Jan. 11 contains a statement by Mr. J. H. Burnell carrying the heading, 'Pool Will Again Be Up to Acreage Advances.'

"This statement was issued without consultation with the board of directors of the pool and is not in accordance with the views of the majority of the board.

As three members of the Manitoba pool board, our efforts, for over two years, have been directed to attempting to get the board of the pool and the U.F.C. together to discuss frankly and openly the points of opinion that may exist.

"We feel in such case no one is in any way than by the boards sharing heart and soul in their own business and every phase is put up to the other.

A Vetch SWEET CLOVER

(Experimental Farm Note)

Conservation of soil fertility and soil fibre, weed destruction, and the production of an adequate supply of roughage for the increasing numbers of livestock are matters deserving of the most earnest attention of the western farmer. The legumes best adapted for these purposes are alfalfa and sweet clover. The choice of these depends on a number of considerations.

Sweet Clover has the advantage of a plentiful supply of good, cheap seed, while the best alfalfa seed is scarce and expensive. Sweet clover has a greater soil range and will stand more alkali. Both do well when seeded at ten pounds per acre, with practically no difference between manure crops. The biennial nature of sweet clover makes it adaptable to a short rotation.

Alfalfa leads in the amount and quality of the Hay produced, which is the basic standard by which these should be measured. Undoubtedly, this will not apply in all sections, but in tree where both can be grown successfully. The bay of sweet clover is more difficult to cure. When used properly, both make excellent pasture. Alfalfa seed is more difficult to break. Northwestern grown seed of Hardy Kinds and Arlo home stand should be used. Every prairie farmer should become acquainted with the production and utilization of both these leguminous crops. To the beginner, sweet clover should be tried first. Their widespread use will give more profit and greater permanence to our agriculture. Two recent publications by the Dominion Department of Agriculture deal in detail with the growing and uses of these crops for farmers under prairie conditions.

The meeting was called to consider the best ways and means to raise funds to take care of a deficit on the 1925 chautauqua, should there be any. It was moved by W. Bellamy and seconded by W. Parker that a committee may be appointed to organize some entertainments.

The following were appointed as a committee, Mrs. W. E. Parker, Mrs. Wm. Spalding, Mrs. Grey, Mr. Hargden, Mrs. Pincott, Mrs. Hannon, Mrs. C. M. Fossett, Mrs. Baptiste Meyers, Geo. Abernethy, W. Bellamy, Dr. Paul, and A. Moen.

Communication

The Editor,
Tofield Mercury.

Dear Sir:

In view of the fact that the condition of the finances of the town is of vital importance and concern to local taxpayers, I feel it my duty to remonstrate against, at least, one statement contained in your editorial headed "Interest" of January 27th.

You state that the debentury obligations were undertaken it was confidently asserted that by 1926 the debenture debt of the town would be materially decreased, but instead it is increasing.

The real fact of the matter is that the original debenture indebtedness of the town was $142,905.55. And at this amount excepting $1963.00 was borrowed in the so called boom days. Today, as the 1925 financial statement shows, the total debenture debt is $93,366.00. This clearly indicates a reduction in the debenture debt. I have been accused by $20,730.31 and that all legal payments have been made. There are no coupons for either principal or interest outstanding at this time.

Even during the post-war years when progress has been made in reforming the debt. Take the period from January 1st, 1920 to December 31st, 1925. This is the period under which the town has functioned under the jurisdiction of the Municipal Finances Commission. As at January 1st, 1920 the debenture debt stood as follows.

Debentures not yet due	$90,260.23
Debentures in arrears and unpaid	11,064.19
Past due interest owing on above	823.11
Total debenture indebtedness	$101,956.55

The financial statement for 1925 shows, as stated before, that at present the total debenture indebtedness is $93,366.00. This indicates that there has been a net reduction in the past six years of $7733.66, in addition to all interest having been paid.

In support of the foregoing I would like to quote from two letters addressed to the town from the Commission.

The latter followed the publication of a financial statement. Following the 1924 statement the following was received: "The material that you forwarded is very satisfactory and the Council and Officials of the town are to be congratulated on the work that has been done so far." The concluding words of the other read as follows: "It is not necessary to make any further comment in connection with this matter at the present time other than to congratulate the council on the progress being made and on the care in which the affairs of the town are being looked after."

My purpose in making these two quotations is not to hand any bouquets to the past two councils, but to substantiate the fact that the town has made some progress materially, although such progress may have been comparatively small, and that this fact is recognized by the Commission.

Yours very truly,
J. W. CHAPMAN.

U. S. and Rubber Prices

Decrying a Position of Isolation, Have No Warrant to Complain

Rubber, the tire and coffee which are American necessities, are almost wholly in America's imports. Other like commodities might be named. But these three suffice to invalidate that notion, voiced by the ill-conceived in the senate, that the United States is, or can become, a self-sufficient economic unity. The hope, were it place this, would not be, if realized, a beneficial estate. Since not to have to buy, but communicating and commanding sales are those that make for life and well being. The fact is that the world's earth today is a single, though unequal, pattern, and that its peoples are a mutually related as well as unequal world.

Recently Hoover who is carrying beyond the reach of the usual actuaries [illegible] proposed a [illegible] Economic conference designed to make as many materials of these commodities we cannot produce but must have. He talks about a coming world trade war. And he is right about the last month in this through his last.

Well, what can we expect? We, the United States do not belong to the world, and we cannot even say that we have acted richly or have felt that way. Not since 1919. If we don't want to feel clubby we get so, that is our privilege; but we needn't feel so guilt darted surprised when we find our ratios called upon to pay the price for our aristocracy. Everything in this world needs must be paid for even the luxuries of minding our own business, of burning our hole, of feeling alone. For a people who in distributing may be the shrewdest in the world, collectively are we not a bit stupid to be naive. Whose apostle Jonah?

Will Ship Western Grain Cheapest Way

Canadian Ports Must Meet Competing Rates to Get the Business

With the object of investigating the market for Canadian wheat in Europe, R. B. Ramsay, director of the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Pool, D. L. Smith, manager, and A. B. Clarke, Montreal representative, sailed from Halifax, Feb. 1 for England on the steamship Regina. The object of sailing from this port, it was stated, was to inspect the local ba ker and fit facilities for handling grain.

Mr. Smith, commenting on Western and Eastern Canada's position as a grain growing and if Halifax expected to compete successfully with other grain exporting ports, its facilities must be on a par with its competitors facilities. The Canadian Wheat Pool, he added, decided to make use of Canadian ports as much as possible, but he pointed out that grain must be shipped via the cheapest route. If Halifax wanted to handle Western Canadian grain it must be able to offer as cheap rates as other competing ports for Western shippers. If [illegible] might be made to pay for the purchase of this purpose on the recommend Skeena Lake Bed as a cost of Edmonton are brought under cultivation

London artists are broadcasting from aeroplanes.

There are still some bad features about the radio. That "pressure" song for example.

Australian broadcasting and education authorities have got together on a joint programme to offer educational courses by radio.

Something new in radio production was attempted recently when a one-act comedy, "Part of the Game," was successfully broadcast from CKCK, Regina.

On the eve of the Saskatchewan Dairy Association convention, R. W. Heim, Prince Albert, president, broadcast a few minutes address on the dairying industry from CKCK, Regina.

Don't write your favorite radio station and tell them that you enjoyed the programme they "broadcasted." Say "broadcast," as it sounds better and it's right!

Another Polar Expedition

Independent Venture to Explore Arctic Regions From the Air

An independent expedition to explore the Arctic from the air, is being organized by Lieut.-Commander Richard E. Byrd, of Winchester, Va., who commanded the navy section of the MacMillan expedition last year, it was announced.

The enterprise will be financed by United States citizens, among those who have pledged support being John Jacob Astor, Jr., and Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Co.

Commander Byrd is negotiating now with several concerns for sail able craft for the expedition, either of the dirigible or aeroplane type. Each in his hotfle has good points for each of the undertaking

While it is not the plan to compete with the expedition of the International Geodetic Society, which intends to hop off from Point Barrow, Alaska, on the north polar flight this year the aims of the two are in certain respects similar Each will look for land in the unknown region between Alaska and the North Pole, and Byrd may also attempt to reach the pole.

The navy officer's primary object, however, is to explore the unknown regions north of Greenland, Canada and Alaska, using either Spitzbergen or Fisk, Greenland, as a base

China and the Foreigner

Nations Have Helped Trade by Giving Their Protection

However much the Chinese may hate foreigners, they must acknowledge that their economic progress in the country has made in the last half century is traceable to the protection foreign nations have given during domestic disturbances to the Chinese state, which made trade possible. Were the railroads the mines, the telegraph and various other industrial activities not afforded foreign protection in cities like Peking, China would be much more backward than she actually is today Professor Gerald Stanley

INTEREST

THE MERCURY welcomes the appearance of the letter written by Mr. W. Chapman appearing in this issue. It is pleasing to us, as it is no doubt to other ratepayers to know that the debenture debt is not increasing but decreasing. When writing the editorial referred to, there was no desire or intention of belittling the work of the council or of posing as a scaremonger. The statements contained in the editorial are literally true, though we now freely admit are liable to be misunderstood.

The statement remonstrated against reads: "When some number of years ago, obligations were assumed by the selling of debentures, it was confidently expected that by the year 1926, the debenture debt of the town would be very materially decreased. But instead of decreasing it is increasing."

According to a debenture statement issued in February, 1924, the latest date at which a debenture matured is given as 1933 and the earliest as 1924. Therefore it is reasonable to assume that when these debentures were sold (with one or two exceptions, between the years 1910—14) ratepayers then expected that by 1926 the debt would be materially decreased. That makes that statement true enough.

Now regarding the increase. It never occured to us that readers would interpret the term increase as meaning an increase of the original amount. We meant a recent increase and a few lines farther down in the article make this clear when we write "it has increased during the past year or so." This is literally true, though unfortunately it does not tell the whole story. When the editorial was written we remembered that in 1923 the debenture debt was quoted as $95,672. The 1925 statement shows it to be, $98,000.00. Therefore, there is an increase of around $2000.00. However, during the refunding period there were no payments made, the money that ordinarily would have gone for debentures was used to buy Provincial Savings Certificates. This $9,000.00 we took to be sinking fund as at one time, the council, we believe, held some Victory Bonds in that capacity.

As we said at the beginning, we welcome Mr. Chapman's letter and statement.

THE WEATHER

IT IS with no small amount of trebidation that the writer approach the subject of weather. Not so much because it has been discussed over and over again during the passing of this winter—though that is cause enough—but because for quite a few years, whenever we made comment on one particular kind of weather, the weather man changed his style. If it was exceptionally dry, it would rain, and if exceptionally rainy it would become dry. Consequently we gave up all hope of posing as a second Foster and just let the weather man have his way, so to speak. But this winter is exceptional—everybody says so. The Mercury's past weather authorities, such as Mayor McCauley, Mr. Cookson and Mr. Pruden, all agree that this is the finest winter they have experienced. This in view of the fact that some scientists predicted a very cold winter (due to sun spots) makes it more remarkable still. There is this to be said for the scientists, though, that elsewhere, especially in Europe, the winter has been very severe. Stormy weather, followed by snow and frost, has been frequestly experienced where, generally speaking, snow and frost rarely appears. It might be in general theory, they were right, but slightly off in details, and, oh comforting thought, it might be that our exceptional cold winter came last year (it was here alright if it is the one they mean) and we are off and away to a long period of good weather. Be this as it may, the present winter has been pleasant enough. The farmers and stockmen have had their work almost cut in half, compared to last year, while even the hens and pullets nobly responded and we find fresh eggs 22½c. a dozen in January, which is something unheard of by us before. The only hardship it has caused is to the sporting fraternity. Soft ice, soft ice, for curling and skating has been the rule, while during other winters it has been the exception.

Exactly what is immediately in store for us in the weather line, no one seems to know. The Vegreville editor boasts of a weather oracle in the person of, we believe, one Mr. Stanton, but we have no such supreme authority here, unless we place the responsibility on John Morton and just add it to his multifarious duties during bonspiel week. Anyway, h re's hoping that this fine weather will last, that there will be an early spring and a good start made on the land.

Thrift

At this season of year banks frequently print mottoes, companies and financial corporations have their pencils and distributing their annual report for the past year, and thereupon set out extolling virtues of financial prudence and the advantages of investing the profits of the past year's operations. Many a proposition, so far as sound, all companies have made and printed, and will proceed to invest as along the line. [illegible] for the enterprise.

The moving spirit in every ordinary day, not only from the point of view of the shareholders, but from a broad Canadian standpoint. Every property proved a healthy state of affairs and the business done reports is especially gratifying and reflects a [illegible] aspect of this Dominion. We refer to the marked increase recorded in savings and in investments, such as life insurance, which [illegible] The spending of tens of thousands of dollars in advertising the product is a waste of money unless it is done in terms of millions of dollars. Practically every life insurance company [illegible] "good," but nothing further [illegible] very large savings on the part of the Canadian public.

[illegible] made the war years which [illegible] Victory Loan campaigns, a lasting [illegible] of people in the art and value of saving. They bought Victory Bonds at first from purely patriotic motives to help win the war. As the money in which the people of Canada proved their ability to finance [illegible] reserve of this country, when the [illegible] of the world believed about Canada [illegible] use for their years.

But what the people of Canada learned to do from patriotic motives between 1914 and 1919 they are continuing to do as a matter of sound business. To an increasing extent Canadians are saving and carefully investing their savings. The total annual clipping of coupons from Victory Bonds, on the average every six months of a thousand dollars or [illegible] amount to a month, besides a pleasant [illegible] very handsome. People [illegible] money for the first time how much [illegible] money and how rapidly interest [illegible] up, and especially it has [illegible] of dissipated in possibly [illegible] expenditure and political extravagance.

The practice of thrift is the cornerstone of prosperity for a nation, a firm or an individual. It is an anchor in time of storm and stress. It is an effectual guarantee against financial worry. It is a source of happiness and is add age. It [illegible] our resources and a serene happiness as the Government [illegible] corrupt the people and [illegible] as for the banks and other sound financial corporations by thrifty savings accounts, provide easy [illegible] and [illegible] of saving for the young everywhere. With the small sum of one dollar a savings account can be opened. Furthermore, these seemingly insignificant accounts are welcomed even by the strongest banks. Bankers, better than most people, realize that the little dollar saving of today will become a really worthwhile account in the less distant future. Like the old discovery rhyme, "Little drops of water, little grains of sand, make the mighty ocean and the beauteous land," so do the pennies and the [illegible] dollars roll up mighty bank accounts.

All parents should encourage their boys and girls to start a savings account, no matter how small. In fact parents may well commence the thrift habit by starting a savings account for the baby, because it is all ready to [illegible] for itself. Even small amounts regularly set aside may provide for the future. Save now at a time when [illegible] in the family fortune [illegible] to help deserving and needful at the advantages it enable to enjoy.

The habit of thrift develops character. It means self-restriction, [illegible] [illegible] self-control and self-reliance. It is a safeguard against [illegible] worry. It is an asset and [illegible] of all other savings. The substantial gains which [illegible] bring are a [illegible] to work. The [illegible] of the world are [illegible] to [illegible].

Thrift does not mean [illegible] but not [illegible]. It does mean economy [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The dance staged by the ladies of the tennis club-and held at the Variety Theatre on Friday night last, was a success in every way. The hall was decorated with tennis rackets, streamers, etc. and down the centre of the floor was strung a tennis net. Novelties were distributed to the dancers and the event assumed a gala aspect. Lunch was served at midnight. The Cameron—Tofield orchestra rendered very pleasing music. The proceeds are to be used to pay off the debt on the cement court which was constructed last year. The attendance was very good and included many from a distance. The net proceeds was not over $60.00.

CURLING

Two rinks composed of Mrs. McCaskey, (skip), Mrs. Jobb, Mrs. H. Rogers, Mrs. E. Rogers. Mrs. Hampshire (skip), Mrs. Hannah, Mrs. Belrose and Mrs. Bissett journeyed to Camrose on Monday. Both teams lost to Camrose. Mrs. Swift, Mrs. Davidson and Mrs. Constantine accompanied the rink to Camrose.

Tofield is represented at the Edmonton hospital by a rink skipped by Geo. McLaughlin and includes, John Lee, Dr. Morrison, and Mr. Armstrong. At time of writing it is too early to say whether they will bring home any of the prizes.

Two rinks of lady curlers visited Holden on Tuesday and included, Mrs. Cap Lee (skip), Mrs. Simmons, Mrs. E. Rogers and Mrs. Forman. Mrs. Letourneau (skip), Mrs. Chamberlain, Mrs. Swift and Mrs. Morrison. The ladies played four games and won three; two were played against the men. Everyone voted as being highly entertained by the Holden Ladies' Curling Club.

The annual mixed bonspiel is now on at the rink and every evening a large number of town with a sprinkling of country folk are enjoying themselves at the rinks' games. The list of rinks is quite lengthy and include practically all curlers of the district.

Sports Night

The sports night at the rink on Monday night was a huge success in every way. The largest crowd that has been in the rink for several years was treated to a fine display of manipulating a football on the end of a broom. The main attraction was put on by a bunch of costumed performers who gave a wonderful display of high and low dives and fancy skating on hands and knees. The opposing goal keepers, Hansen and Nolan were beaten a few times but they held their stuff very gracefully. Somebody won the game, but nobody knows who it was. The broom ball game between Ketchenoot and Bardo also proved a lively affair. It was a scoreless tie, but someone might have scored if Dick Turner hadn't burst the ball with one of his mighty swings. The boys and men's hockey teams gave a nice display of the finer pastime as well as the girls' broom ball. The management of the banquet and dance take this opportunity of thanking the Ketchenoot and Bardo boys, as well as all those who took part in the program for their support.

W.I. NOTES

The next social meeting will be held on Tuesday, March 9th at 3 o'clock sharp.

The W.I. are serving at the lunch counter in the rink each night during the mixed bonspiel. Fresh sandwiches and pop, tea, coffee and tea every night is provided. If anything you're not curling, have a snack anyway. The curlers are appreciating the service and we appreciate their patronage.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

RETLAMONT

The weather has turned very mild again and roads are in very good condition. The farmers are very busy hauling hay and wood.

More mumps, less news, as it seems to be our district. In the last issue we had our nursery, dances and socials. Now we all run to town, to pool meetings, dances, hockey matches, etc. Hence the scarcity of social doings around here.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sutton, Miss Selma Nesseland and Mr. Nesbitt took in the skating tournament in Camrose on Thursday and Friday of last week.

Three turned back her pages about twenty years for some of our "middle campers" on Monday night (who originated the name?) when they put on a dance again after that length of time to play brown ball at the sports night in Tofield. Many of our families were represented and thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Mr. W. A. Mitchell, we hear enjoy home with a black eye.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Rep's baby has been under the doctor's care during the past week, but is now recovering.

We are pleased to state that Mrs. Sutton is improving. We were in error for a week or so ago in stating that she was suffering from cancer, and regret publishing the item.

BARDO

Miss Betsey Ness and Mrs. Astell Kinney each underwent an operation for appendicitis in the hospital at Camrose on Tuesday morning. Mr. Kinney came home in the evening. He reported they were doing well. Mr. Ness is in Camrose with Betsey.

Considerable anxiety was felt here as to the safety of the Palmer-Anderson family when it was learned that Sergeant Hesson, China, the city in which they were stationed, was between the two hostile armies. Mr. P. E. Anderson has received a telegram from Palmer: "All safe, Hanson," as it is known they are safely out of the war zone. Rev. Nelson, the aged missionary who was killed there, visited Alberta several years ago and spoke in the Lutheran church at Bardo.

Mrs. Monrad Plouth entertained the Aid Society and Thimble Club on Tuesday, the 23rd, about 70 were present. Sunday being Mrs. Basil Rede's birthday anniversary and Tuesday Mrs. C. J. Rede's, they were each presented with a candle trimmed cake. The ladies who were out from Tofield also brought Mrs. Rede a cake decorated in pink and white. Mrs. Rede had several other gifts. Mrs. Sutton

ZEIDLITZ

Last Wednesday, February 10th the Zeidlitz Ladies Musical Troupe gave a show in the school house here. The school was crowded and the show just as was very good. The programme was too long and varied to mention or to give the artistes' names, but suffice it to say that it was well received by the audience who are now looking forward to the return engagement of this troupe. After the show, refreshments, cake and coffee were provided by the Lindbrook ladies and the dance was cleared for action. Nuf ced.

Mr. and Mrs. Lemaster entertained a few of Mr. Lemaster's comrades to arms (not to baby clothes) to supper last Saturday evening, it being Mr. Lemaster's birthday. After supper permissions of like war were exchanged both tomorrows and otherwise and later all departed home after wishing Bill the best of luck and not "up the line" either.

Miss L. Morden is also on a visit to friends in Edmonton.

Mr. Chas. Morden has purchased a sewing and grinding outfit this last week and is open for business to these lines.

Miss E. G. Code spent the week end with friends in Edmonton.

A correction should be made in the item referring to a social at Mrs. Olsen's that appeared in last week's items. Mr. J. Blackburn is Mrs. Olsen's son-in-law, not brother, as stated; and it was Grandma Moen who was present, not Grandpa Moen.

Another Scientist Imperils Health

Professor Tosh Great Risk to Solve Important Problem

For the long list of scientists who have imperiled their lives, and health, in the pursuit of knowledge that will benefit mankind there will be added the name of Professor Joseph Harrrott, who has been appointed professor of physiology at Cambridge University.

Professor Harrrott, it has been announced, will risk his life in a kennel with rabid rabies but in order to try out experiments as to whether it is possible to eradicate the scourge of any pets in a man's blood under certain conditions. The problem has in recent years become of great importance, particularly in connection with rabies.

One result of his self-imposed experiment is that he has lost his left "pinkie." A quiet, unassuming man, he refused his life several times to perform gas experiments during the war.

Automotive Vehicles

U. S. Leads the World on Number of Motor Cars

The world's total of gasoline-driven automotive vehicles January 1 was 21,673,324 against 22,700,241 on January 1, 1925, the American department of commerce states. The total at the first of this year included 20,189,151 passenger cars, 191,575 buses, 2,451,203 trucks and 1,319,761 motorcycles.

Banff Tourist Trade

Over 30,000 tourists passed over the Banff road at Banff during the past season, according to figures compiled by the superintendent of the Banff National Park, which was an increase of about 50 per cent the previous season.

Some are born tired and some seem to have been born to make others tired.

New Theory About Hair

Playing Stringed Instruments Promotes Growth According to Scientists

If all the violinists in the world assembled together in one vast building, and they numbered, say, 100,000, it is probable that there would be but 100 among them with bald heads. But if the same number of brass instrument players were inspected, bald heads would be as common as flies in sugar time!

If you doubt this, make a point of observing the heads of the orchestras in the cinemas or theatres you patronize.

Scientists declare that the playing of stringed instruments induces hair growth. A series of experiments on the parts held has proved that violin music has power to raise a hairy crop!

Current and born players lose their hair early, theirs is the wrong sort of muscle from the theatre point of view. The explanation advanced is that the physical strain of blowing relieves the circulation and deprives the roots of the hair of their due supply of blood.

Woman is Veterinary Surgeon

Irish Girl Only One Practising Profession in United Kingdom

It is strange that the profession that is not overcrowded; it is strange or odd to be told that there is only one woman veterinary surgeon in the kingdom. Talk to Miss Alice Cust, Gandy's Lane, Exeter, and you'll soon be began practising in Ireland and, soon had such a big practice that she required four horses to cover her country. She has now settled on the borders of the New Forest.

Modish and Flared Lines Dominant

Fashion cuts her collar high and her sleeves long, and both will lend charm and distinction to your frock this fall. The simple necessity of the erect collar is practical and leaves chic in the lower crop, the upper part of which is fashioned on princess lines, clasping at the left shoulder under a row of tiny buttons. There is plenty of movement, so Lounge would have it, in the cut of the circular skirt. The modern gown-ed here emphasizes the vogue for rules and fabric contrast, the bodice being developed in satin or metal cloth and the skirt in velvet. Wide ribbon in a rich brocaded design is tightly drawn about the hips before being tied in a loose bow at the left side. The pattern (1234) is cut in 13 sizes: for 34, 36 and 38 inches bust only. Size 16 years (36 bust) requires 3¼ yards of 54 inch material. The sash requires 2⅞ yards of 36 inch ribbon.

Our Fashion Book, illustrating the newest and most practical styles, will be of interest to every home dressmaker. Price of the book 10 cents.

ON THE AIR

What is Doing in the World of Radio

A good record for daylight reception was made by R. T. St. James in Chicago when he heard KFI of Los Angeles broadcasting a football game on Saturday afternoon at 12:30 in the afternoon.

R. H. Sidmore, of New York, set up his radio receiving apparatus at the base of the Sphinx in Egypt and heard his wife talking in Pittsburg, owned by the Westinghouse Manufacturing Company.

An inkwell transmitter is being installed at Ft. Leavenworth, to make this the key to the entire radio communication system of the United States Government. It is one of the most powerful stations in the country.

An important investigation just completed under the direction of George K. Burgess, director of the United States bureau of standards, has revealed that there are many more broadcasting stations than had been reported by this bureau.

A new record for amateur radio communication is believed to have been established by a Vancouver amateur, Mort Chase, when he was in communication with a ship lying in Discovery Passage, 100 miles away, on less than 10,000 miles away, for more than fifty minutes.

Determined to collect the $1 tax from approximately 60,000 owners of radio receiving sets in Canada, officials of the department of marine and fisheries prosecuted seven owners in Montreal recently. Four paid the fine and one ordered them to pay their licenses and then left with the sphinx of eight days in jail.

In 1922 there were 2,500 radios on farms. In 1925 the number increased to 156,000. Furthermore, the fair to be one in every of every 20 in 1922 the average price paid was $175 in 1925 the high price was seven with the best quality in the Sears-Roebuck Bible selling from $125 to $200 were boldly sellers than the five sets.

The three-tube set will give good loud-speaker volume on distance very quite a wide range. Observance of Light by Fog Causes Siren to Ring

An automatic fog siren recently installed in a French lighthouse has been hailed as one of the greatest and latest of modern inventions. It is operated by the humidity of the air.

But a humidity device and apparatus to-date appliance is already in operation at the entrance to Dublin Harbor, where the lighthouse is built on a rock actually causes a warning bell to ring. The light in the lighthouse is found arranged that its rays fall on a sensitive, "electro-photo cell" in another lighthouse on the opposite side of the channel.

When the beam has been observed to a certain point by fog, the reduction in the intensity on the cell causes the bell to ring inside the lighthouse of an Irish engineer, it is the only harbinger of its kind operating in the world.

Charles Murphy has stated that if the duplication is proceeded with Canada will withdraw from the partnership with the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand under which the Pacific cable is owned.

The statement recalls that the British Act of 1911 provides that any profits from the cable should be divided between the imperial and Dominion governments in the same proportion as any losses. For the first thirteen years, losses to the tune of $2,000,000 Canada paid nearly five-fifteenths.

We think," the statement concludes, "that the Pacific cable board has no authority to proceed with duplication of the Pacific cable without the consent, and doing so will violate the British Act of 1911. Such action on the part of the government, among others, that the Canadian postmaster general has notified the board, is serious. A Visit To Bay Street By The Sea

A Canadian Pacific touring steamship anchored off Watertown

During the latter half of the seventeenth century Port Royal, Jamaica, was the wickedest spot on earth. That was when the "Brothers of the Coast," bands of buccaneers and pirates, made their rendezvous there. Today, the remains of that spot stand away from the land, a dot on the deep, near the mouth of Kingston Harbour. There is a sandy beach which looks like molten gold in the sunshine. There is a wide lagoon which looks like molten glass in the moonlight. Palms, marshalled in orderly rows, like sentries in a flooded meadow, reach half-way down the lagoon. There is an enormous quiet and stillness which belies the scenes of the furious battle for gold, when long ago, mahogany-colored men with cutlasses and forbidding looks, some in rags, others in frills, boarded proud Spanish galleons and took their treasure.

Nowadays it is land of sponge and forests, where long before the white man set foot, the native Caribs loved the paradise in which they hunted, fished, and danced, made canoes and smoked the leaf of a plant named "cohiba." And, to signify the abundance of good things in the land, the Caribs called the island Xymaca.

The Canadian Pacific liner Montrenyal, which left New York on January 30 for the first West Indian cruise this winter, is now carrying delighted tourists to this little island of happiness. The vessel also calls at the Bahamas, a long stretch of verdant islands, rising only about one hundred feet above the shore line.

There are about 3,000 islands in the group of Bahamas, but many of these are only tiny white coral outcroppings from the ocean floor. Among these is Watling's Island, the first spot of land that Columbus saw on his voyage of discovery. Nassau, the capital city, is a white, sunny place, with long avenues on which are planted rows of royal palms. The houses are like colored illustrations from a book of fairy tales. Nassau is a veritable winter resort, where people from all over the world gather.

The magic of the Bahamas has found its way into the hearts of many poets. The coloured birds and the sunshine, the quaint old houses, the strong sea, the palm trees, have all helped to picture faithfully. Rich Dwan Mc. ... and American Republics and Miss Carman, the Canadian poet, are among them. Miss Carman sings the song of the islands:

"What do you sell, John Campbellan,
In Bay Street by the sea?
Oh, turtle-shell and coral
In great quantity.
The sons of these, John Campbellan,
Though natives they be,
But something more I'm looking for
In Bay Street by the sea.

"Where can I buy the magic charm
Of the Bahaman sea
That falls mark'ed with peace of mind
And soul's felicity?
Look from your door and tell me now
The color of the sea—
Where can I buy that rainbow dye
And take it home with me?"

So when the S.S. Montrenyal returns from her trip to the West Indies there will be so many more eager travellers ready to visit John Campbellan, in Bay Street by the sea, that ... [illegible] ... will have another cruise from New York sailing March 1.

A HOSPITAL TAX?

At the Cornish Municipal District Annual ratepayers' meeting, held at the municipal hall on Saturday afternoon there was some discussion regarding the merits of a hospital tax. There are, of course hospital districts, which is another matter entirely. The idea advanced at the meeting, as we understand it, is that a special tax (it was suggested about from three to five dollars) be placed upon each quarter section, the money to be used to pay the hospital expenses of ratepayers. It was argued that the amount of the tax would not be missed by individual ratepayers, but a large hospital bill places an almost unsupportable load upon the financial resources of some ratepayers. It was also pointed out that the municipality is responsible for the hospital bills of those ratepayers unable to pay them themselves; so why not have a proper means of revenue for this purpose and pay all. It was also argued that if hospitals and doctors were sure of their money in all cases, the cost of operations and hospital accommodation would come down.

Those opposed to the idea argued that it was the not increase them; they would increase fast enough duty of municipal bodies to keep the taxes down and anyway, and the adoption of this scheme was simply paying the way for another one and so on. The benefits of low taxes were too valuable to be thrown away and every ratepayer should pay his own hospital expenses as far as he is able, and when unable to do so the municipality would be compelled to pay them. The discussion was entirely unofficial.

There is plenty of scope for able argument on both sides. To a large extent it brings up the question "Am I My Brother's Keeper,"—and while we admit that this responsibility often proves embarrassing, we are forced to admit that in the end—we are. Sickness and accident fall on the just and unjust—and their ability or inability to pay expensive hospital bills make little difference; consequently, what might be only a passing cloud upon the life of one ratepayer, is a staggering blow to another. If co-operation is worth anything anywhere, this is a good place for it to function. If we are not our "Brother's Keeper" when he is unable to help himself, the phrase, or if you like, text, means absolutely nothing.

However, a tax in a tax and brings in everybody, whether they like it or not; and to pay a tax without in anyway receiving benefits is a condition of affairs not founded on the principle of justice. Therefore, while we are of the opinion that there is no better place for co-operation to work than in the mutual pooling of funds for protection against sickness, we also believe a voluntary pool is better than a compulsory one. If there are sufficient ratepayers interested, it is a simple question of organization, but we feel it our duty to say this, that in our opinion, $5.00 per quarter section per annum will only touch the fringe of the needs.

FARMERS WARNED TO TEST GERMINATION OF THEIR SEED

IT HAS come to the attention of the Alberta Department of Agriculture that a large percentage of grain in the province is displaying poor germination qualities. It is most important, that, before seeding commences, the farmers should have their seed thoroughly tested for germination. This can be done for a nominal fee by sending samples to the dominion seed branch office at Calgary. It is believed that there is plenty of goood quality of seed in the province to fill all demands, but it is important that farmers make certain of the quality of their seed before seeding. Those who have not made arrangements for seed or who have not seed available may secure high quality seed through the provincial marketing plant at Edmonton.

Team Work

At this season of the year, when hockey teams, big and little, are striving to get first place in their respective leagues, special attention is directed to team work. Individual stars, no doubt, shine brilliantly, but it is now well understood that the slower but surer method of building up a smooth working team is more fruitful of results.

This business consists of team work. First there is the producer, then the manufacturer and then the marketing service. These three working harmoniously together, produce the best results for all. Bring us your next cen of cream and get in the game.

Canada's "Inferiority Complex"

A prominent Canadian addressed a meeting in New York recently devoted to the furtherance of the principle of the Dominion in closer touch with Australia and New Zealand. He delivered himself of the following: "Canada has the territory, the wealth, and questions for possibilities. Too many of our people are unnecessarily suffering from a sort of repellent inferiority complex. We are the North Sea peoples, and wherever we go we are considered the equals of Europe. It is to be doubly sad that the standard of comparison for these country, rather than one half the world, should be a place in continent a country of ten million people with one-fifth our resources and ten million people."

Is the people of this London have plenty established for themselves the reputation of being polite. It is only here the dark, the unfamiliar, the kind and of our neighbours to the south and no doubt it would be to our advantage if some of their enthusiasm and energy were injected into our national life. . . . There is nothing to prevent a world problem be settled off with a little of such national enthusiasm as Canadians would be better off as a result for it.

The total 1926 wheat crop will be an excellent one in which to develop the theme of the spirit of exciting self-confidence in Canada. Following the splendid crop returns of last fall, the new year opened with expansion well into its stride and every indication of large and longer prosperity. An unusually active demand for industrial and commercial products of all kinds is being experienced. The financial health of the Dominion is in a state of unusual soundness. Indeed, the whole situation is such that it would be hard to find a more favorable background for the normal state of affairs. All elements and it is to be maintained if the people of Canada will only determine that it shall be maintained.

Canada's wheat crop last year was the second largest in its history and new crop is expected to be even greater than in 1925. In the same year the Dominion's mineral production reached a new high record of $200,000,000. The forest industry of Montreal and Vancouver established new high records for the export of grain. Factory products in the three prairie provinces, which was before Europe for pounds fifteen years ago, exceeded 16,000,000 pounds last year. Foreign trade is constantly rapidly and the favorable balance of exports over imports is a most impressive.

In the face of an official forecast that a world crop of Canadian proportions would be available for his country, or to double its figure. There has been a lack of confidence and unquestionably some recent events have been disturbing and difficult. But to consider we have entered upon a period of depression would be foolish. Sir Clifford Sifton stated with absolute confidence that what he has recently in the world was better off than Canada, and he no country did there what better opportunities for the basis of success willing and ready to work.

The year to just passed, but already in different sections of the country evidences for more new business have been had than in nearly the same by the mid-summer, and autumn crop of to be and large undertakings in now the early part of the day. Only recently one of the big railway groups in England announced the placing of an order in Canada for 30,000,000 tons of British Columbia Douglas fir for railway ties, an order which extends in quantity the whole of British Columbia export to the United Kingdom two years ago. The Montreal Locomotive Works, Limited, has also had a considerable share of the business, and the British Board of Trade will use the same material for its many boats and lifeboats. In two years British Columbia's export of timber has risen from 14,000,000 feet to 60,000,000 feet in 1925.

These facts are cited, not in a spirit of boastfulness, but as concrete evidence, as substantial reasons why Canadians should abandon that inferiority complex—a complex for which there exists no real and which does not to be found in the United States, and to create a live of confidence and optimism which is indicated by the dollar of Canada. Let 1926 be the year when we shall all make up our minds to get busy and get rid of inferiority complex.

Canada's Trade Grows

Trade Within the Empire Shows Heavy Increase

Trade within the Empire participated in to the extent of 39.6 per cent. of the total in 1925, according to the trade statement for the year 1925, issued by the Dominion Bureau of statistics. In both imports and exports Canada has increased her trade within the British Empire, with the exception of imports from other countries were the total was 60.4 per cent. of the total imports, the balancing percentage in 1925. Eliminating the imports and exports taken on bond, some three points exports to British countries small, and sales into the United States $1,161,000,000 in 1921 and the new peak of $1,707,000,000 last year.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JESUS TEACHES RESPECT FOR LAW

Golden Text: Think not that I came to destroy the law or the prophets: I came not to destroy, but to fulfil. Matt. 5 17

Lesson: Matthew 22 15 22
Devotional Reading: Psalm 3.

Explanations and Comments

The Chief Question and Its Purpose. Verses 15-17.—The Pharisees were now resolved to compass the death of Jesus. They had no power to order Him put to death, and so they discussed among themselves the matter and by which they could accomplish their object. They decided to make an attempt to ensnare Him by talk, thinking He would say something which they could report to Pilate as treason and so bring upon Him the Roman Governor His death sentence. And, indeed, two days later they actually said to Pilate, "We found this man perverting our nation, and forbidding to give tribute to Caesar." Luke 23 2. Craftily leaving themselves in the background they sent the disciples together with the Herodians, to question Him. The Herodians were the court party a small class who present the Roman rule. They were the friendship of the house of Herod and were in favor with the Roman government at any cost.

The alliance of Pharisees and Herodians, who hated each other, shows how supreme was their hatred for common hatred of Jesus. Cheerfully hatred and it will expend itself, and will expend itself, and upon the object of your hatred, but in the ruin of your soul.

A WORLD WIDE WHEAT POOL MAY BE ESTABLISHED

St. Paul, Minn.—The three-day International wheat pool conference of delegates from Canadian, American and American pools ended with the appointment of a committee to maintain the relations established at the first conference and to arrange for another conference, probably next year.

It is at this next conference that a serious effort is to be made to establish. If not a world pool, at least some working arrangement between the pools of some of the more important wheat exporting countries. This could not be consummated at the present conference because the American pools are not yet well enough organized and because there are too many differences of opinion between the eight United States pools represented at the meeting.

The committee to make arrangements for the next conference met at the close of the convention and appointed John H. Barnhill, president of the Manitoba Wheat Pool, as chairman, and Eugene Funk, of Bloomington, Ill., of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, as secretary, the appointment being recommended by the statement that the first conference was the outcome of Mr. Barnhill's proposal.

Had No Intention Of Offending Canada

English Magistrate Did Not Regard Dominion As Penal Colony

Introducing Mr. Maurice Hurst to E. Shurr, in an interview with the Canadian Press, the latter said: "I have had to jail or going to Canada. Magistrate Plowden told me that he never thought the advice given to the prisoner to go to Canada was the best the prisoner could do. Canada, as the person in question was the type of man who would make a valuable emigrant. The man had never been convicted, the magistrate realized. Canada would build up character in the man and would be capable of righting himself in a country where he had to work in the outdoor life and hard work were essential to success.

He said he had not the slightest idea of off-colling Canadian susceptibilities when he suggested that the accused should choose to go to Canada and make a fresh start in life.

A grave and significant Imperial Conference was voiced in the House of Commons on Thursday by E. J. Woodsworth, Labor, North Centre, Winnipeg.

No Liquor Buying Combine

Plan of Prairie Provinces Forming a Co-operative Organization Not Possible

Victoria.—There is no possibility of British Columbia and the prairie provinces forming a co-operative organization for the purchase of liquor, Premier John Oliver of British Columbia declared in the course of a statement given out here. The Premier was replying to a resolution introduced in the legislature by Mr. Williams' Pitt Meadows, asking the government to enter into negotiations with the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba for the purchase of liquor.

"It is absolutely impracticable, in view of the totally different conditions prevailing in the various provinces," he said. "We never seriously contemplated it, and if it were practicable it certainly does, never was any intention of attempting to put it into effect."

Recruiting In Britain Shows Slight Decrease

Enlistment in Consequence According to War Office Report

London.—That enlistments in nearly-ready comparing with recruiting is emphasized in the annual report of the war office, which, however, showed a marked improvement last year, London and Scottish regiments maintaining their reputation of providing larger contributions to the army than any other commands. Recruitation is a serious matter in Scotland and the eastern counties, the report says, although its effect on recruiting is felt generally throughout the country.

Alberta Legislature

Edmonton.—The most important news of the week in the Alberta Legislature was the announcement by Premier J. E. Brownlee that for the year 1925 the public accounts of the province showed a balance of revenue over expenditure of $154,615, the second largest surplus in the history of the province. As in last year's budget a deficit had been estimated, the balance announcement was received with much satisfaction.

The telephone deficit was only $9,000, as compared with $140,000 in 1924, and generally other departments were in a very satisfactory condition. The value of the agricultural products of the province was placed at $264,000,000, while production of coal, oil, and other minerals, was also largely increased in 1925.

The administration of the Liquor Act, with one commissioner, and also the administration of the Lethbridge-Northern irrigation system, had been very successful, many new settlers having been placed on the latter property.

$12,000 received from the Dominion Government as Alberta's share of the surplus of the 1919 war tax fund would be devoted to the promotion of co-operative enterprise

Premier Brownlee moved to Alberta and he took for a big influx of land question into the province. He would like to see the object of the proposal fixed in the resolution, and "colonization" substituted. They wanted some control over immigration and colonization, so that the people who came in would be the class they would make good, and be prosperous and contented.

Considering the mixed co-operation between cities and country in the Canadian Pacific Railway, he believed that would be capable of righting itself in a reasonable time. A settled outdoor life and hard work were essential to success.

He said he had not the slightest idea of off-colling Canadian susceptibilities when he suggested that the accused should choose to go to Canada and make a fresh start in life.

A grave and significant Imperial Conference was voiced in the House of Commons on Thursday by E. J. Woodsworth, Labor, North Centre, Winnipeg.

It Not Bound, Dominion Could Remain Neutral In Event Of War

London.—Commenting on the report which has been officially denied that the Canadian Government had decided not to introduce a resolution in the House of Commons at Ottawa declaring that Canada dissociates herself from the obligations imposed by the Locarno pact, The Daily Herald says that this decision, if true, shows a very definite state in the evolution of the British empire.

It is already recognized that each self-governing part of the empire may make treaties on its own account but the Locarno treaties are not in the same category as those which we understand why the government did not act. It was no use telling the signatories that they had to look to the Ontario fuel controller. There were principles of changing laws in advance being high school work was dethroned all in the best interests of education and a "retrograde movement."

Unanimous support was also given to a resolution urging that all rent questions necessary to the development of the Hudson's Bay route should be proceeded with immediately. This resolution is to be sent to the Hon. Henry Thornton, to the federal minister of railways and Right Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, member for Prince Albert." This gives the road board additional support in the hearing the first organization to address Premier King by his most recent distinction

Considering Mr. Coburn said that it did not think that the government of had now simply decided to do all that it was prepared to have become the law of the land. He thought that they was willing to proceed with it, he was prepared to ask his brother ministers to proceed with the matter. We were at the same moment, which lead to the passing of the government's own motion which had actually brought about the Locarno treaties and a public board of trade dealing with conference.

SAY EASTBOUND GRAIN RATES NOT COMPLIED WITH

Ottawa.—When the board of railway commissioners for Canada met here promptly with eastbound grain and flour rates for Fort William, Canada Atlantic ports, it was shocked to learn that the railways had not complied with by the railways. It was on application for Canadian Pacific Railway made the order that the board of grain commission in Winnipeg, Man., and Fort William, Ont., to the order issued by the board, then the remedy was under the Railway Act, declared Commissioner Boyce. FUEL SHORTAGE IN ONTARIO IS AIRED IN HOUSE

Ottawa.—Further inquiries in regard to what action the government proposed to take in order to insure fuel supply for Ontario during the remainder of the winter were made in the house. J. E. Armstrong, Conservative, East Lambton, read a telegram from a dealer who complained that he was unable to obtain Alberta coal, and that there was danger of a serious shortage involving schools and public buildings in Western Ontario. Mr. Armstrong said he was at a loss to understand why the governm ent did not act. It was no use telling the consumers that they had to look to the Ontario fuel controller. There were principles of charging fees in advance being high school work was dethroned all in the best interests of education and a "retrograde movement."

Unanimous support was also given to a resolution urging that all rent questions necessary to the development of the Hudson's Bay route should be proceeded with immediately. This resolution is to be sent to the Hon. Henry Thornton, to the federal minister of railways and Right Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, member for Prince Albert." For Cheaper Money

Western Members Launch Drive For Re Par Grain Rates

Western members, Lib-rals and Progressives, in the House of Commons, 90 per cent long term loans under the Rural Credits Act to be brought in by the government.

Negotiations hitherto have disclosed that the solution of most of the experts consulted has been that the farmers will have to pay 1 per cent.

It is the opinion here that, unless absolutely essential, the government should not increase the burden on the rural credits organization; and that, contrary to the practice in the United States, these bonds should not be tax free.

Without a government guarantee, and without exemption from taxation the rural credits bonds, according to experts consulted, would have to bear interest at 8½ per cent. in order to sell. At this price it would be impossible to charge the farmer 7 per cent., as at least one per cent. will be required for administration.

With a government guarantee, the bonds could be issued at more than 5 per cent interest, which, after providing for administration, would give the farmer money at 6 per cent.

Most of the westerners claim that 6 per cent. money will meet their needs and Progressives who dislike the government guarantee feature, would rather have it than pay more than 6 per cent. for the money.

Says Brain Never Tires

Cannot Be Overtaxed By Work Or Study, Opinion of Scientists

"The brain of the ordinary citizen, provided he takes to harness early, is capable of holding any number or different methodologies," Sir Bertrand Dawson, famous surgeon-scientist, told the School of Pedagogical Studies. "The joining the ranks of the scientists who decline to admit that the brain can be overtaxed by work, reading or study.

Just previously, Sir Arthur Keith, Britain's leading anthropologist, has decided the idea that brain fever was the result of overwork or study, and Keith even contended that brain work never killed. If physical defects or disease, perhaps due to unwholesome feeding and neglect of the body while concentrating on study, that results in the fatal collapses which are commonly put under "brain fever" or overwork."

Invoking the same theory, though on somewhat different lines, Sir Bertrand Dawson said his honorary not to be scared by the fear of overtaxing the brain in their studies. There is practically no limit to the amount of knowledge so learning that the human brain can store up, he said.

Aeroplane Oil From Coalfield

One of the United States economists in Algiers reports the discovery there of an oil extracted from cricksus that is very suitable for aeroplanes, since it does not congeal even at high altitudes. Recently 75 tons of crickets were shipped from Algiers to Holland to be used in extracting this oil. Crickets also are collected in great numbers there to be used as chicken food in other parts of the world.

C.N.R. To Build Branch Lines

Heavy Expenditure To Be Made This Year On Branch Lines in the West

The Canadian National Railway has contemplates an expenditure of $8,294,000 in 1926 on branch lines. This is the estimate brought down by the government and tabled in the House of Commons. Included in the branches throughout the Dominion remain incomplete. On seven of these track will be laid during 1926.

The biggest expenditure will be on the Turtle-head, Sask., branch, on which about 41 miles of track will be laid and $1,251,000 expended. A million dollars will be spent on the Dunkirk-Central Butte-Rockglen branch and $915,000 will be spent on the Rosedale-Sask., branch, which will be practically completed this year. At least two other branches will be practically completed this year, the St Paul & Edmonton, and the Arcola-Regina branches, on each of which about half a million dollars will be spent. A total of 165.3 miles of track will be laid on the branch lines this year, under present plans. The only two branches on which no work at all will be done are Kingsgate-Cranbrook, B.C., and the Grande Prairie-Peace River.

Last year, $9,342,656 was spent on branch lines, and the unemployment on the railway department. These figures are, however, incomplete, and a final statement on last year's branch line construction is still to come. The three chief items of mileage and cost were: $2,981,000 on the Kamloops-Kelowna, B.C., line; $1,000,000 on the Dunsmuir-Central Butte, Sask., line, and $1,095,000 on the Hazel Warden, Alta., line.

Britain Discards Helicopter

Will Concentrate On Autogiro Type Which is Much Simpler

The Brennan Helicopter experiments, on which $250,000 has been expended to date, will be discarded by the air ministry in favor of concentration on the Lacierva autogiro, it is understood. The ministry is credited with the intention of constructing four or five machines embodying the principles of the Brennan "Windmill" plane, which was hailed by Sir William Brancker, Alex Vice-Marshal when it was tried out at Farnborough as the greatest aeronautical invention since the Wilbris flew."

Experiments with the helicopter have been carried out in the aircraft factory for the last five years, but air experts are now said to have come to the conclusion that the autogiro type achieves all that the perfected helicopter would have been able to do, while its principles are much simpler.

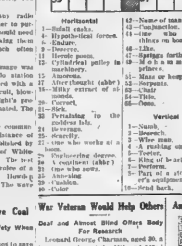
Russia Competing For U. S. Trade

Preparing to Export Many Commodities During Next Six Months

Officials of the automobile and oil companies announce that Russia is preparing to compete for the United States during the next six months, the latter to be in the form of gasoline and such other products as kerosene, fuel oil, lubricating oils and wild fowl.

The United States officials say, will also be able to absorb about seven million dollars worth of manganese ore, $10,000,000 worth of wood for export purposes only, and animal bones for superphosphate fertilizer.

Declaring that these commodities are now being purchased in the United States in England and Germany, they urge Russian producers to ready for this trade.



Menace To Democracy

Sir Arthur Currie Says Present Day Politicians Suffer in Comparison to Lincoln

Abraham Lincoln was a man whom Canadian politicians would do well to emulate, said Sir Arthur Currie, G.C.M.G., principal of McGill University and former commander of the Canadian corps, in an address at Montreal. While Sir John A. Macdonald bowed to the Conservatives, and Sir Wilfred Laurier to the Liberals, the great United States statesman bent the knee to no party, political, moral or social.

Sir Arthur contrasted Lincoln with men of lesser qualities. "The political agitator," he said, "too often appeals to the passions of the crowd in order to get votes. He often sets out against vice, crowd against crowd, and class against class. This political rhetoric for it cannot be called strategy, is the degree of democracy."

Canada and the Locarno Treaty

No Action Necessary to Remain Outside Terms of Pact

Rumored overtures of action to dissociate Canada from the Locarno Treaty is officially denied. No action is necessary on the part of the Dominion to remain outside the terms of the treaty, as it expressly provides that the treaty shall not apply to the British Dominions unless they definitely accept it.

It is probable the government will make some announcement in the house respecting Canada's position.

Early in the present session, Hon Ernest Lapointe, government leader in the house, said in reply to Mr Meighen, that "no step will be taken by the government before parliament had been consulted on the matter." He added that our intention is certainly to have the matter discussed in parliament."

Honor Belongs To Canada

The Rev Alexander Grant, M. A. of Leslie Grant was the Royal William, built in Canada in 1831. The home of this arch-protest belongs, therefore, to the Dominion. It was also the first trans-Atlantic boat built of iron. A table commemorating the historic event is in the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa.

Eskimos Fight To Save Coal

Dragged Heavy Sags to Safety When Storm Broke

A desperate fight by Eskimos to save a winter's supply of coal from the elements has been reported by Dr. W. A. Marshall, partner of Steve Andrews, in the vicinity of Point Barrow, northernmost tip of Alaska.

The fuel has been hauled on the snows from a seam of high-grade bituminous, de-scribed as the worst in years, broke. Rain, accompanied by snow and hail, fell, and wind drove sand and fine pebbles before it. The storm in reason was lapping against the mountain peaks of Point Barrow.

Without waiting for fair weather or orders, the natives, men, women and children, left their camps and began the heavy bags to safety. For hours, until well past midnight, the labor continued. The men carried the sacks on their backs, while the women and children trudged and dragged them through the shifting sand until more than a hundred tons of coal had been placed out of reach of the waves.

Disease Decimates Indians

Trappers in Far North Are Victims of Epidemic

A total death list of 12 Indian hunters at fort Good Hope, on the Lower McKinzie River, from an epidemic, has been received at Ottawa, it is made known, is contained in news received by L. Romanet, manager of the Athabasca-Mackenzie district of the Hudson's Bay Company, by the recent mail from the far north.

Indications of this sickness were noticed in the fall, and its condition has been such that the above-mentioned large number of fatalities has resulted in a depopulation of the trade at that point during the earlier part of the winter.

Thirty-seven women in a St. Imelier factory have offered to help solve France's financial trouble. A ton of gold francs could be struck out of the French money would improve," they wrote the editor of Intransigeant's newspaper. "But there is no gold, and the law of supply and demand. Well then, we are all ready to give the Bank of France, the only gold objects we possess—our wedding rings, to be made into gold coins. Madame, we ask you to communicate our offer to the gentlemen of the government. We are only millions of women will follow our example."

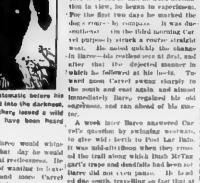

Figures Explain Slow Recovery Of France

One-Seventh of Agricultural Population Killed in War

France lost 1,358,000 men in the World War, according to the official record, and, while a view to showing how that loss has affected the economic life of the country, Gaston Cadoux, former president of the Paris Statistical Society, has drawn up tables disclosing how those dead men were employed before the war.

The biggest loss was to the land, 680,000 of the war dead having been farmers and land workers out of a total agricultural male population of 5,000,000. Industry gave the next largest figure with 235,000 out of 2,000,000.

In commercial pursuits, 158,000 men fell out of 1,727,000. The civil service took 23,000 out of a total of 160,000 and the liberal professions 49,000 out of a total of less than 250,000.

One man in every twenty-eight in France was killed, one in thirty-five in Germany and one in eighty-six in England.

Even with the return of Alsace and Lorraine, the population of France is still less than it was in 1914. With a record of her agricultural male population killed, the slowness of France's recovery becomes somewhat more understandable.

Advance In Radio

Transmit At Same Time On Same Wave Length

Possibility of the simultaneous use by two or more radio transmitters of identical wave-lengths, is seen by engineers, with the announcement at an invention of L. William Stahl, special graduate of the Engineering Schools of the University of Pennsylvania, who has developed a system by which two or more broadcasting stations may operate simultaneously on the same wave length without interference.

Mr. Stahl's invention is said and applied for patent by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, with which he is associated, as an engineer, at Pittsburgh, Pa., a suburb.

In addition it was declared that it would make possible simultaneous telephony for all purposes where wire service now is used.

DAREE, SON OF RAZAN
A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH
by James Oliver Curwood
Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.
"DAREE, SON OF RAZAN," a biograph Picture, Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

He could hear the cursing snap of those jaws on the dog-whip. He was sickening. Ilia had went to the Cost of to left, and he heard the empty rifle butt downward into the snow. With the big automatic before his eyes he grip and his teeth clenched and from his lips there leaned a wild yelling that could have been heard a mile away. With the yelling a steady stream of fire spat from the Colt into the mass of fighting beasts. There were eight shots in the automatic, and not until the last one was fired did the metallic emptiness did Carvel cease his jabbing and reverse into the firfight. He turned, breathing hard, his eyes burning with the passion of battle, and did not see the savagery of bad lee. The stubbornness and ferocity of his nature had driven back the wolf pack like dogs! He caught his breath, was strained his eyes. A shadow was dragging itself into the circle of light. It was Baree. Carvel ran to him, put his arms under his shoulders, and dragged him to the fire. For a long time after that there was a overwhelming fight in Carvel's eyes. He bended his gaze put fresh fuel on the fire, and from his pack dug out strips of cloth with which he bandaged three or four of the deepest cuts in Baree's body. And a dozen times he looked, in a wondering sort of way, from Baree to the dead wolves and back to Baree, and said:

"Now what the devil made you do that, old chap? What have you got against wolves?"

All that night he did not sleep, but watched.

That's a sort one with the wolves broke down the last bit of uncertainty that might have existed between the man and the dog. Carvel knew that as they travelled slowly north and west, Baree's sorrow began to ebb and have cared for a sick child. Because of the dog's hurts, he made only a few miles a day. Three times he carried him in his three grew stronger and strong er a great love for the man Baree made were as gentle as the Willow's, and whose voice warmed him with the thrill of all human-made caresses. He no longer feared him or had a suspicion of him. And Carvel, on his part, was observing things. The vast emptiness of the world about them, and the fascination over him the spell of it, began to work upon him. He found himself thinking more and more of the days when he had belonged to Nepeese. In his unreasoning mind there existed no home a winter. The long months of cold and his nights were gone; in the new relationship that fills-Jims beth they were forgotten. The birds—the flowers and the lilies also had come back, and with them the Willow must surely have returned, and she was waiting for him now, just over there beyond that rim of green forest

The Lord must have found the first of the early Bob Flowers.

That night he parked up.

Baree, he knew, was not accustomed to Baree. "And I've sort of changed my mind," Carvel announced to him. "And he pointed south.

CHAPTER XXX.

A strange humor possessed Carvel that night. He was conscious that he did not believe in omens and or bad. Superstition had played a small part in his life. He had possessed both curiosity and a love for adventure, and he had always struck a certain level-headed in him a wonderful clearness mental vision of things, which in other words might be called imagination. His irresistible force was drawing Baree south, and he called it simply going back into the south—that it was pull ing him not only along a given line of travel, but was drawing him into the very heart of his being. So he reasoned that Baree was returning to his own kind, and that he was going with him because he was more and more, and as his time was withdrawn, and he had no fixed destination in view, he began to experience the first real twinges of homesickness. He would like to see Fort Smith again, and Nepeese, and the Willow's father, and in his three grew stronger and strong- Baree's return to his own people. He would quickly the change in Baree—his restless ness at first, and then his sudden contentment after which he followed at his heels. To the south he moved more sharply to the south and east again and almost immediately Baree, regained his old vigorousness, and showed at his own too.

A week later Baree answered Carvel's question by swinging westward, to give wild birth to Post Lac Indian. And then one day he struck the trail of the trail along which Dinh McTrue and Carvel had travelled with the dogs. Baree's memory was phenomenal. He knew they were helping on an unfamiliar trail, and he knew that it led to a better country. He knew that

SNOWSHOERS FETED AT ANCIENT CAPITAL

Snow-throwers speeding through streets of Quebec. Lower, Prince escort on Grand Allee. Inset—R. McKechnie element of 1926 good world's winter society

THE tramp, tramp, tramp, of four thousand snowshoes as they fell with regular third over the soft, new snow which was falling in the night, was accompanied by glaring torchlights and with all the pomp and splendour which Quebec had to offer the two thousand snowshoers who had come from the farthermost parts of Canada and the United States to participate in the International Snowshoers Union Convention which was held at the Ancient Capital recently.

Arriving on special trains the snowshoers were warmly welcomed in the city by Two-Mayor Desgrotte in true French-Canadian style they were given the freedom of the city and later were entertained at lunch. In addition to a smoking concert, a special church service was held at which hundreds of snowshoers, representing forty-seven clubs, were present.

In the afternoon of the first day the snowshoe races, involving three world championships and three Canadian championships, were held. The American snowshoers, not having seen to their entries by February 1, the required according to the International Rules, were ineligible to compete for the titles, which all went to Montreal clubs.

In the evening the snowshoers were at the gigantic smoking concert which was held in the Drill Hall on Grand Allee. The most interesting they took part in various attractions offered them and departed in special trains at night after attending the hockey match between St Valier, of the Quebec City League, and the Laviolette Hockey team.

B McKechnie, M A A A Montreal won the 100-yard Canadian Snowshoe championship, and the 220-yard World Championship, at the races. M Martin National club Montreal, won the one-yard Canadian Snowshoe Championship. W Smith M A A A, Montreal, won the 120-yard Berdine World Championship.

Among the visitors were three clubs from Lewiston, and another from Auburn, Maine.

Sir Chateau Clifton, near Lancaster on Quebec City.
Centennial of Dover.
Sir The Empress of Scotland.
Sir Lancaster Castle, Quebec Road. "Auld Reekie," one of the sources of the Edinburgh Country in Perth.

Limited to graduates and under-graduates of Canadian universities, a comprehensive tour through France has been arranged for this summer, starting in Quebec on May 30 with the departure of the Empress of Scotland, under the auspices of the French Government, the French Line Steamships and the Hon. Philippe Roy, Canadian Commissioner-general of Canada to France.

This tour has been organized by the Hon. Mr. Justice E. Fabre Surveyer, president of the Canadian Authors' Association, in collaboration with Professor Rene du Roure, director of the French summer school of McGill University. An entire student will be spent in France although those who wish to do so may remain over and make arrangements at their own expense, to England.

Arrangements have been made for the travellers to visit many interesting towns in "La Belle France." By motor car they go to the Chateaux of the Loire and will also journey from Grenoble to Geneva via the Route des Alpes in the same way. There will be an excursion on the Lake of Geneva, where the famous Lorenza Peace Treaty was brought to a successful termination through the genius of Sir Austen Chamberlain and his charming wife. A visit to Lausanne is also included in the programme. In Paris there will be receptions by French officials and visits to commercial, educational and historical institutions. Special attention is to be paid by the university's rector. There is also a trip to Perigueux where is to be seen a remarkable imitation of the Basilica of St. Mark at Venice.

At Lyon, the second largest city of France and centre of the silk industry, the travellers are to be received by the university and by the city. While visiting Grenoble, in the valley of the Isere, a reception is to be given the party by the Syndicate of Grenoble and the University. The summer resort of the Grand Chartreuse is to be visited on the way to Annecy.

The official tour is scheduled to end on July 1 so that the majority of the students should be back in Montreal on July 8, with the arrival of the Metlin. Pamphlets are now being issued to those likely to be interested in the trip, but the announcement has roused such interest that many inquiries have been received and a special reception in Montreal has been arranged. THE COUNTRY PUBLISHERS' CASE

(The Dutton Leader)

EVERY NOW and then the publishers of "country weekly" newspapers are invited by puzzled subscribers to explain why the four or six or eight page paper they publish are higher in yearly subscription price than numerous forty- or sixty- or eighty-page "national" journals they are familiar with. To the readers of The Leader who have pondered this mystery and are sincere in their desire for information, and to those who are inclined to add unpleasant assault upon their purses in the form of an increase of the price of this paper, the publisher desires to submit a few facts which, if not convincing to all, will be interesting to many.

Let us put it frankly, the country newspaper publishers difficulty lies in the fact that the reading public has been "spoiled" by the large publishing houses insofar as subscription prices are concerned. With them, the subscription prices are somewhat nominal. With them the subscription price is not regarded as a source of revenue; it is merely a nominal fee that must be charged in order to obtain benefit of postal newspaper rates which weekly publications enjoy. The advertiser pays the bills. The publishers of great weekly journals could afford to send their papers out free by the million copies, by reason of the direct line revenue they could obtain, were it not for the Postal Regulations. As it is, they are established to receive a subscription price which the post office department considers reasonable and which is not exorbitant even to cover the cost of paper actually used in the publication; it does not even to meet the postal charges at the special newspaper rates.

Immense output is also an important factor. Every man owning an automobile knows what a large scale production means; if autos were built in newspapers are published—by thousands of industrial firms, in small plants—there would be few millions in circulation.

Subscribing revenue, national shows is interesting, another factor which helps to offset the high cost of paper. Such interest in the publication is of very little value in the list of prospects for circulation of the advertisers of Such publications. Farmers Publications, for instance, are read by one half to one fifth of the population, while the normal weeklies, with circulations of thousands of dollars, attract only a fraction of the income which is not available to the country newspaper, the local character of which gains only local and therefore limited circulation.

Another influence of the postage question by quantity production is seen in cases of weekly editions of daily newspapers. In these the bulk of the matter used is prepared for and used first in the daily edition; the weekly is a by-product.

In none of the foregoing, do we mean to decry low subscription prices; we say lets get all we can for nothing, or next to nothing, but we also say, let us not allow our sense of values to become distorted.

The average person cheerfully pays more for gasoline on a summer day's motor drive than he is used to pay to have a newspaper sent to him once a week for a year; the weekly movie in a year takes the price of six to ten subscriptions; chewing or pipe tobacco a weekly outlay over fifty-two weeks is equivalent to five or six subscriptions; and still we have those who cannot see two dollars value in their home paper in a year. The fact that 50 per cent of the weekly newspapers in Canada sell for $2.00 a year is evidence, however, that the publishers of those papers are convinced that the investment of time and money involved in newspaper production demands that the price be not lower than $2.00.

Everything has its fair valuation, based on the cost of producing it at the first seller; to its ultimate user. If chairs were arranged logically, with subscription prices based upon comparative cost, factors of production, the price of subscription would be many times what it is.

Many readers will concede that the local newspaper is worthy asset to a community, rendering service that is second to perhaps only to that given by church and school. The average individual considers it obligation to the church on behalf of his family at $5.00 to $10.00 a year at the least; the school will cost him more than that. Then if a newspaper can perform in my small service at all it surely can not be regarded as being overpaid at $2.00 a year.

The reluctant herein are not intended to be in any way a solicitation of charity; newspapers have been above that for a long time; if a paper does not give value for everything it receives its existence is not justified. The foregoing is merely a presentation of the publisher's case, commended to the intelligence of fair minded readers. If there is a case anywhere for charity, it is the individual who cannot afford to take a paper, and bless us if we'll refuse anyone a year's free subscription who will tell us now that we are overcharging him at $2.00 a year.

Team Work

At this season of the year, when hockey teams, big and little, are striving to get first place in their respective leagues, special attention is directed to team work. Individual stars, no doubt, shine brilliantly, but it is now well understood that the slower but surer method of building up a smooth working team is more fruitful of results.

This business consists of team work. First there is the producer, then the manufacturer and then the marketing service. These three working harmoniously together, produce the best results for all. Bring us your next can of cream and get in the game.

National Aspect of Problems of Canadian Farmers

President of Canadian Council of Agriculture, at Annual Meeting in Regina, Reviews Work and Organization of Council and Answers Recent Attacks.

In opening the annual meeting of the Canadian Council of Agriculture at Regina on February 23rd, the President, W. A. Amos, who is also President of the United Farmers of Ontario, briefly reviewed the work and organization of the Council, and answered the recent attacks made upon it.

"The Council," said Mr. Amos, "has performed a great service for the farmers in Canada. Financially it has not appealed for them in the prairie provinces for their grain and other produce in transportation charges, and in other ways, hundreds of millions of dollars. Educationally it has stimulated their thought and provided them with material which has enabled them to become much better farmers, better businessmen and better citizens. Although not a political organization it gave to U.F.O. a lead which resulted in an electorate for the first time carrying anything like adequate representation in the Canadian Legislature, and in introducing better laws and better standards in the public life of the country. It has been instrumental in securing the enactment of such measures as wheat pools, co-operative marketing and co-operative banking, and with some few exceptions, the record of achievement throughout the provinces is one of which the Council and its constituent bodies may well be proud. It has also been responsible for many measures passed by the Federal Parliament, such as the Crow's Nest Pass legislation, the Canada Grain Act, the Canada Co-operative Associations Act, and the Canada Co-operative Companies Act. It has been instrumental in securing the reduction of the tariff on agricultural implements, and in securing the removal of the tariff on binder twine, and in introducing better laws governing the operations of commission merchants and grain dealers. It has been responsible for the establishment of the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers, Limited, and the Canadian Co-operative Implements, Limited, and has been largely responsible for the establishment of the Co-operative Fruit Growers' Association of Ontario, and the Co-operative Poultry Producers' Association of Ontario. It has been responsible for the establishment of the Co-operative Livestock Producers, Limited, and has been largely responsible for the establishment of the Co-operative Dairy Producers' Association of Ontario. Another Fruitless Strike

The folly of strike and lockout, as a means of settling labor disputes is once again demonstrated in connection with the calling of the miners' strike in the anthracite coal field of Pennsylvania. Practically the entire demand set forth by the miners' organization, about $100 per day, and the refusal of the operators to grant it, is the issue which the coal companies collect other coal at the mines in Scranton, Penn., and the price of anthracite coal has risen to $10 per ton. Thousands of miners are idle and all other persons in the industry are affected, directly or indirectly. It is a bad thing for all concerned.

As a result of the strike in the anthracite fields, the price of bituminous coal has risen from $2 to $3 per ton, and the demand for it is increasing rapidly. Many factories that have been using anthracite coal are changing their furnaces to burn bituminous coal, and the demand for the latter coal is increasing rapidly. Therefore, as the price of anthracite coal is now $10 per ton, the price of bituminous coal will probably rise to $5 per ton. Many factories that have been using anthracite coal are changing their furnaces to burn bituminous coal, and the demand for the latter coal is increasing rapidly. Therefore, as the price of anthracite coal is now $10 per ton, the price of bituminous coal will probably rise to $5 per ton.

To offset the losses that have been suffered, the settlement of these disputes, that they go back to work at once at the old rates of wages, the increase being granted and continue until regularly in force on January 1, 1917, either side may, not allowed than once a year, propose changes in the working conditions, but if the two parties fail to agree after a fair effort to compromise, the dispute shall first with a board of conciliation, which has been specially provided for, but if it is decided that questions of cooperation and efficiency shall be referred to a commission board of three persons to and three to represent the interests of the employers, two persons to represent the interests of the employees, and a chairman, two persons, to be appointed by the Governor-in-Council, and agreed to by a majority of the members of the commission.

Without any discussion of wages and hours, it appears that the basis for a settlement of the anthracite coal strike is the principle of arbitration. The fact remains that there is no other way to settle disputes of this kind in the civilized fields of Pennsylvania and elsewhere, than by the application of the principle of arbitration. The fact remains, moreover, that the principle of arbitration is the only way to settle disputes of this kind in the civilized fields of Pennsylvania and elsewhere, than by the application of the principle of arbitration.

The United States is the only country in the world where the principle of arbitration is not applied to disputes between employers and employees. That is certain, notwithstanding all the advantages that the United States has over the rest of the world, in the final analysis of the matter, we are constantly admitting the principle of arbitration. We are constantly admitting the principle of arbitration.

A common complaint against the United States is that it is a country of strikes and lockouts, and that the country has a record of strikes and lockouts which is unequalled in the history of the world. This complaint is true, and it is a disgrace to the United States that it is a country of strikes and lockouts. It is a disgrace to the United States that it is a country of strikes and lockouts.

The United States is the only country in the world where the principle of arbitration is not applied to disputes between employers and employees. That is certain, notwithstanding all the advantages that the United States has over the rest of the world, in the final analysis of the matter, we are constantly admitting the principle of arbitration. Ford Introduces National Payment Plan

For twenty-one years the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, has pioneered in the field of motor transportation, doing everything possible to make high quality cars easy to buy and economical to own, in order that the greatest number of people may enjoy the benefits and advantages of owning a car.

In line with this policy, a new and unique time payment plan has been inaugurated which makes it possible for more people to own Ford cars.

This is called the National Time Payment Plan because the payments are the same anywhere from Halifax to Vancouver.

Through this plan you know definitely in advance, the amount of the down payment and the installments required to buy the car you want.

You pay only the advertised amount—no more. All Ford models are now obtainable on this plan from your local authorized Ford dealer in conjunction with Traders Finance Corporation, Limited.

We are putting on our second report the second week in April

AN EARLY SPRING?

All the signs point to an early spring. A school master north of town, Mr. Starrin, and a school mistress south of town, both interested in the coming of summer birds, have noted that both hawks and crows are with us. A hawk was seen in the Boon Creek district a few weeks ago and on Sunday, March 7th, a crow was seen by Mrs. Thompson. Now if the hawk does not eat the crow, every thing will be lovely. Joking aside it is interesting to note that from records kept by the school, it was March 21st last year before a crow was observed.

THE U.F.A. WHIST DRIVE

In spite of stormy weather and drifted roads the U.F.A. whist drive held in the Varsity Hostitle on Monday, March 8th, was a most enjoyable and successful affair.

There were nine drives furnish one occasion where town and country meet, and the 32 tables competing progressed smoothly and keenly from start to finish under the capable direction of Mr. E. Seale.

Miss Hilda Nesmeland won the ladies first prize, a French Ivory Crumb tray and scraper. Mr. A. Clutterham won the men's 1st prize, a pair of fined gloves. This seems to be quite a habit with the gentleman. The lady consolation was won by Miss Mabel Thompson and the gent's by Mr. W. Thompson.

Supper then followed, which for variety, excellence and abundance fully sustained the reputation of the local ladies in charge.

After supper a short program was presented, consisting of music, instrumental and vocal by Miss Eva Clutterham and Mr. R. Wallis.

A reading in Mrs. Pincott's best style "How Zachary Got the Hen Chicken," and two song selections by Mr. T. Hoare, all of which were delightfully rendered and appreciated.

THE ALBERTA LEGISLATURE

With the address in reply to the throne speech out of the way, the Alberta legislature got down to business this week.

New Legislation

Monday was devoted to the clearup of the order paper, and several motions that had been outstanding for some time were disposed of.

Thirty-seven bills have received first or second reading, and several have reached the committee stage.

Many of these are comparatively unimportant, but others are of the first magnitude especially the bill for the transfer to the province of the public lands, with which is incorporated the agreement with the dominion government for the turning over to the provinces of its natural resources.

A new municipal district act is on its way through. The most important changes are in respect to the supervision of secretary-treasurers by the auditors. This is with a view of reducing defalcations, which has been unfortunately prevalent of recent years.

An amendment to the highways act, will, if passed, make it compulsory to motorists to dim their lights when within 200 feet of another vehicle.

The amendment to the ball insurance act will have the effect of dividing the province into zones, with varying rates according to the losses in the past 5 years.

A resolution calling for the construction of a forty-one mile section to the S. and G.W. railway was withdrawn after the minister of railways had promised him-off deputation, on the ground that it was not warranted by the number of settlers in the district, and part of the route was already served by the C.N.R. which had in 1915 built the grades and asked for, not for the benefit of

WOODLAWN

Word has been received here of the death in a Vancouver hospital of Mar. lel, wife of Mr. Douglas Hoare.

Mrs. Hoare had undergone an operation some two weeks previously and was thought to be doing nicely, when complications set in and in the early morning of the day on which she was to have returned home, her spirit took its flight.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoare were married at Port Huron, Michigan, U.S.A. in August 1918, coming at once to Mr. Hoare's farm in this district. They remained here but a short time, but those who made the acquaintance of Mrs. Hoare will not soon forget the kindly gracious and gifted young lady.

She was a graduate of an eastern conservatory of music, also an artiste of more than local renown. Portrait painting was one of her specialties.

Besides her husband she leaves two children, one five years old, the other but 19 months, and in a distant state, a father and mother mourn the loss of an only child.

"There is no death! an angel form
Walks o'er the earth with silent tread;
He bears our best loved things away,
And then we call them "dead."

And ever near us, though unseen,
The dear immortal spirits tread;
For all the boundless universe
IS LIFE—THERE ARE NO DEAD

U.F.A. MEETING

A well attended U.F.A. meeting was held at the Variety house on Saturday afternoon. The speakers for the occasion were A. J. Jathanson, M.L.A., and Mr. H. Gould a U.F.A. worker. As we were not aware of the place and time of meeting until the meeting was well underway we were only able to hear the closing passages of Mr. McSorley's speech. These were evidently, according to many supporters present, the most important part of the address, all preceding having proceeded there.

Mr. MacDonald, who was introduced as a co-operative livestock marketing specialist, though he stated he had chopped a piece off each end and taken some out of the middle of his usual address, spoke at some length, himself from subject to subject in a jerky, disconnected manner. Many farmers on the farm being a good place to raise a family, competition being the life of trade; farmers are in the business exclusively for money; a statement that grain marketing depresses the price throughout a business to the elevator companies and shareholders; a little statement about a municipal John and Mary in which he stated the number of heart broken "Mary's" a appalling; agriculture is the greatest rural year industry in the world, the standard of living in agriculture the highest of any class in the world; assistance that the United States was a land of rich and poor; a statement that a very large percentage of farms was under mortgage; that for each 70 agriculturists there were 10 distributors; and finally something about livestock.

On this subject he dealt with his experiences with a co-operative shipping association, which he has found the steady marketing instead of glut marketing.

He stated that he sure believed the grower was the greatest evil between the farmer and the consumer, but he since learned he is actually the consumer.

There being no questions asked, President Geo. Abernethy closed the meeting.

Daughter Version of the Two-Piece Sports Frock

Many points of interest centre in this sports frock. First, the material—bat brown and fawn tweed, in the colour-blend that for some reason or other seems to be the popular thing for these tweeds—then there is the deep yoke front and back from which the skirt panels are hung gaily. The long sleeves are finished with cuffs of the contrasting shade of contrast or color silk, this harmonizing more boldly for the collar and cuff around bust. It is also seen the skirt is cut in panels, the panel-side seam gets its fullness by reason of the box pleat at the overblouse

The blouse, No. 1372, is in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. For 36 inch size requires 2¾ yards 36-inch, or 1¾ yards 54-inch material.

The skirt, No. 1364, is in sizes 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure. For 26 inch size requires 2¾ yards 36-inch, or 1¼ yards 54-inch material, with ¼ yard lining for the panels and ¼ yard 36-inch contrasting.

May Reduce Aviation Cost

British Experimenting With Crude Oil Engines

Research work, which may lead to a sweeping reduction in the running costs of aircraft, and to permit commercial aviation to pay without any government subsidies, is in progress at the Royal Aircraft Establishment, Farnborough, said to mearing a development stage.

The crude oil engine, which has been underground development for a long time, is about to be tested in the air. It has been installed in a large biplane which normally carries a Lion-Napier engine.

Eight-hundred horsepower is developed by this crude oil engine. Its weight is about as a special alloy, and many improvements found feasible are incorporated in the design.

The effect which the production of a satisfactory engine of this type would have on the cost of air travel is a comparison of running costs is made, between an ordinary three engined machine fitted with crude oil engines. The conventional machine would cost about 11 cents per passenger, whereas the other would cost only 3½ cents per passenger.

The establishment within the next few months of a fleet of air liners for the manufacturer of radio vacuum tubes is announced by N. L. Nash, manufacturer of Mullard valves. Creation of this new industry in the Middle region, Nash said, in addition would result in an appreciable reduction in the price of radio sets.

A phenomenon puzzling electrical experts at the head of the lakes is a "dead spot" in radio reception at Fort William from which it is claimed the strains of music and the announcements of the station are emanating from a broadcasting station in Port Arthur, Ont., 40 miles away. Persons claim that while standing at the foot of the pole, they have heard the music and announcements clearly as from the aerials. The pole is situated in the business section of the city and carries a network of wires to and from a transformer.

ON THE AIR

What Is Doing in the World of Radio

Radio is becoming popular among the Russian masses. About 1,000,000 home receivers now have amateur wireless sets.

One of the tallest towers in the world, built ostensibly for commercial radio purposes, has been completed for the German ministry of posts and telegraphs at Konigswusterhausen, near Berlin.

The Swedish Air Traffic Society is planning an air fleet of "airbuses," to be equipped with wireless and supplied with radio so that the passengers can enjoy concerts as they sail through the air.

The cruise of the Arctic and its future radio-equipped cabins are to be heard in the air. It has been installed in a large biplane which normally carries a Lion-Napier engine.

Lesson: John 19:1 to 20:29.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 145:13-21.

Explanations and Comments

I. The Soldiers at the Crucifixion, 19:23, 24.—At a crucifixion the garments of the victim became the property of the soldiers who were the executioners. Usually there were four soldiers and four garments, and they cast lots to see who should have his garments. That the scripture might be fulfilled.—The prophecy fulfilled, which is found in Psalm 22:18. They parted my garments among them. And upon my vesture did they cast lots.

"Few things can make a stirring tale of more interest than to read of boat those who all around his back a cruel disposal of his dear, consigning him to a dead man who can no longer enjoy the services of the living and congratulating themselves on the unfortunate fellow who has taken the burden have said men been made by the part of their brother." It was a great satisfaction to our Lord's suffering to see the men heartlessly dividing among themselves all he had to leave.—The Rev. Dr. Bruce.

II. Mary and His Mother, 19:25-27.—Standing by the cross were the mother of Jesus, her sister, Mary the wife of Cleopas, may be taken to be the same as Mary Magdalene, and John, the writer of this Gospel. Jesus, seeing his mother and the disciple whom he loved standing by, said unto his mother, Woman, behold thy son! Then said he to the disciple, Behold thy mother! And from that hour that disciple took her unto his own home.

Jesus had called Mary, which is interpreted.

"Thank God for the modern Wesley Girls," said the Rev. Dr. Chown, who spoke to the closing session of the Wesley Girls' Conference, Winnipeg. "The old Wesley girl was always telling her sister she was wrong. Now she is not. She is a modern girl and says she is right. I am glad to see that the modern Wesley girl is not afraid to say what she thinks."

The Prosperous Belt

Mineral Belt Between Eastern and Western Canada to Solve Economic Problems

A prediction that "a rapidly growing economical problem the division of the east and the west by a wilderness two thousand miles wide," would within half a century be a solid belt of prosperous territory, was made by Herbert Charlesworth, president criminologist, in an address to the Canadian Club of New York. In the search for mineral developments to relieve the strain.

Talking on his subject, "The Mineral Belt of Canada," Mr. Charlesworth said the "called" Canadian was the adventurous kind, whose home is the wilderness and whose name is his character. "There is no country in the world was so much loved by her sons and so Canada, he declared.

The lecturer was pleased by the fact that the greatest resources of the mineral and material production of Canada, He Introducing to Mercury Readers The KOHLER Automatic Lighting Plant 110 Volt Direct Current.

Like the automobile, the "lighting plant" had to go through a process of development. A brief sketch of that development which has culminated in the Kohler Automatic, the plant without storage batteries, will throw a good deal of light on the problem of choosing a satisfactory electric plant today.

When an electrical generator was first hitched to a gas engine, with some sort of controlling apparatus, in such a way as to make a workable outfit, the private electric plant had been born.

The user, no matter where he might be located, could generate his own electricity. But he still lacked an important part of real electric service. He did not have that press the button feature.

The Kohler Automatic differs in principle from any other electric plant on the market. It furnishes the utmost in electrical convenience. Turn on a lamp and you get light, turn on an appliance and you get power. The current is the 110 volt kind direct from the generator. An automatic device [illegible] Kohler is used for light or power only. No trouble to need for light or power.

Write The Mercury for Book Entitled "The Principle and the Proof." Describing What Has Been Called America's Finest Private Lighting and Power Plant.

CANADIAN WHEAT GRADING OBSOLETE

MAYOR BLATCHFORD of Edmonton should have the support of all Western Canada in his demand for a new system of grading Canadian wheat.

It is a well known and fully recognised fact that Canadian grain companies buy wheat under the present grading system, store it at Fort William, put it through the protein content test and later sell it on a protein basis at an advance of as much as 25c. per bushell.

The point is that Canada is growing a wheat as much superior to other wheats as Jersey milk is to Holstein milk. But by our stupid grading methods, we sell that wheat on the same basis and at the same price, as inferior wheat grown on the worn-out lands of the Eastern states.

For a man to pick up a handfull of wheat, feel it and look at it, and then say that it is number one or number two is as rediculous as for a doctor to come along, put his hand on your shoulder, and in an instant tell you your blood pressure, your temperature and your pulse rate.

This antiquated method belongs to the past century. What really counts in wheat is in the protein content, just as what counts in milk is the butterfat content.

In the Minneapolis market for Feburuay 26th there was a spread for number one dark northern from $1.57 to $1.77, and that spread was based entirely on the difference in wheat quality.

There is a difference between crude oil and gasoline; there is a difference between skim milk and cream. And there is exactly the same difference between rich Canadian wheat, with a high protein content, and the inferior wheats of other countries.

The extra value of that wheat should put money, not into the pockets of speculators and wheat firms, but into the pockets of the western farmer.—Vancouver Sun.

INFIDEL BURBANK

NEWS STORIES from California indicate the storm that is still raging over Luther Burbank's confession of "infidelity." For agreeing with Burbank, one young minister has been put out of his church. New heroes seem to be cropping up at every turn.

It is all very foolish, and Burbank's part in it is foolish. It is perhaps the only really foolish thing this great and inspired man has ever done in his life.

Burbank says he does not believe in a personal God watching over him and helping him upward.

Perhaps the humble blossoms that Burbank has lifted into divine gorgeousness did not believe that Burbank could help them either.

Luther Burbank has played God in his garden for nearly fifty years. It seems absurb that he of all men should fail to recognize the Gardener who is praning, nursing and coaxing the human race into greater and more lovely bloom.—Vancouver Sun.

A LEGACY OF BRAINS

EARLY THIS month the father of Senator Hiram Johnson died in California. Saturday his will was opened and was found to contain this paragraph:

I make no provision for my son Hiram because he does not need any financial assistance from my estate; hence I leave him only my love and my pride in his success in life.

A legacy of brains is better than a legacy of money.

The business of passing on fortunes, particularly industrial fortunes, from father to son, has been a source of corruption, not only to the sons themselves, but to industry. By placing industrial control in the hands of incompetents, it has stirred up labor troubles, reduced production, and delayed the general prosperity dependent upon healthy industry.

The idea that sons have a divine right to their father's possessions particularly those possessions which are an important part of the industrial life of the country, is fast passing. Ownership is being translated into a public trust. Industrial democracy is taking the place of industrial aristocracy.

The man who can leave his son brains, rather than wealth, is conferring a favor on his son and on society—Vancouver Sun.

Team Work

At this season of the year, when hockey teams, big and little, are striving to get first place in their respective leagues, special attention is directed to team work. Individual stars, no doubt, shine brilliantly, but it is now well understood that the slower but surer method of building up a smooth working team is more fruitful of results.

This business consists of team work. First there is the producer, then the manufacturer and then the marketing service. These three working harmoniously together, produce the best results for all. Bring us your next can of cream and get in the game.

MASQUERADE DANCE CLEARS THE BASEBALL CLUB OF DEBTS

The masquerade dance held under the auspices of the baseball club last week was a decided success. There was a good attendance and costumes were many and varied. The supper was pronounced first-class by the dancers and everyone thoroughly enjoyed themselves. W. Davis was awarded gent's first prize, costumed as a Mexican toreador. Miss Burgess costumed as a flower girl was awarded ladies' first. The ladies' comic was awarded to C. Nelson who was costumed as the famous Maggie and the gent's comic was awarded to Geo. Bisset, who was costumed as the equally famous Jiggs.

It is gratifying to the baseball club that the proceeds from this event cleared the club of debt and if on the following morning, the secretary, Mr. Chittenden, was seen looking particularly happy, the reason is inwardly made known.

Mrs. Carter of Holden and Mrs. Greenaway of Ketchamont were guests at the L. C. Hay home over Sunday.

The minimum requirement is eight schools, on the basis of one room being a school and at present there are nine qualified. By the time the spring actually opens up it is expected there will be some more enter the lists. A meeting will be held at a later date to form a school fair committee which will be composed of one representative from each of the districts in the fair. LINDBROOK

The last two weeks have been nothing but a chapter of accidents in "Lindbrook's history" alone! Mr. Bailey started the rushet by upsetting a sleighload of people, fortunately no one was hurt. The Rogers family ran away with a load of shave. Leslie Rogers was taking a pole ax back to Chas. Borden's when his team frightened by the noise bolted and dragged the outfit across country, but not causing any serious damage. Then Mr. Rosh Rogers must needs have eight more years added to his age by running the various places of business in town.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lee and family Rev. and Mrs. Watt, and Bert Swift of town attended the social evening at the William Lee home on Wednesday night.

Messrs. A. F. Shultz and J. H. Ingram returned home from the city on Friday.

Leslie McGinnis went to Edmonton on Sunday and on Tuesday he underwent an operation for appendicitis. His condition is very satisfactory.

Fred and James Williams are spending a week sight seeing and visiting with their uncle and aunt in Edmonton.

Mrs. John McGinnis is spending a few days with her son Leslie in Edmonton.

The Ketchamont school board were up attended at the meeting in the town hall on Saturday afternoon to consider a school fair and are quite willing to co-operate with Tofield in the same.

The St. Patrick's social at the Wm. Lee home last Wednesday night was a decided success, in spite of the bad roads a large crowd assembled and a very nice evening during every minute. A very enjoyable time was had, music was furnished throughout the evening by the Misses Viola and Lillian Lee on the piano, Clifford Lee the cornet and Bert Swift the ukulele. A musical contest with Mrs. Watt as referee was very pleasing also as Irish contest. John Lee in the guise of a Irish farmer sang unctionsd off others as Irishmen. "An Irish Rose" served by an Irish girl Hazel Sears, caused much fun. The dumplings sold like "hot cakes" so did we last long, music on the radio was another item and concluded with a well enjoyed lunch.

CHAUTAUQUA CONCERT GREAT SUCCESS

A crowded house greeted the talent at the concert held at the Variety Theatre on Friday night last. Nor was the audience in any way disappointed. From the commencing number by the National Anthem, 24 pieces in all, the audience was well entertained. The talent which was drawn from the country districts surrounding Tofield as well as the town itself was all of a high order and encored time after time. Owing to their first appearance on a Tofield platform special mention might be made of Miss Neal's solos. Miss Neal has a sweet voice, which quite captivated the audience. The doll drill by the Ingram school people was another outstanding number. This was perhaps the best juvenile act seen on the Tofield stage. Arthur Haugen's monologue was well rendered too and kept the audience in a ripple of laughter. Mrs. Allen's solos were well received, and the quartettes and chorus by Bardo singers were much enjoyed and the sketch by Lakeshore kept everyone on the jump. Rev. Watt was the accompanist.

The following is the programme:
Opening speech, Rev. Watt; selection by the Tofield orchestra; selection by Bardo mixed chorus; Prescribe Song, Arthur Haugen; solo, Geo. Mears; doll drill by the Ingram school pupils; solo, Mrs. Allen; selection by the Bardo quartette, violin solo, Mrs. Pincott; recitation, Rena Pinkup; selection, Bardo male quartette; recitation, Helen Ferguson; solo, Miss J. Neal; reading, Mrs. Pincott; sketch, "A disturbance in the family," Lakeshore; solo, Bert Calvert; recitation, Irene Rude; selection by the orchestra; selection, Bardo male quartette; solo, Mrs. Allen; Indian reading, Clarence Gray; mixed octette, Bardo; chorus, "Adieu"; "God Save The King."

On Friday evening, the 26th, there will be a meeting of the U.F.A. at the Bardo school house. Mrs. McGuggison and Mr. Lemon, a U.F.A. district director will be present. Ladies are requested to bring either sandwiches or cake for the lunch.

Miss Betsy Mann was able to take up her school work again on Tuesday morning. She will board with Mrs. Martin Prescott for a time until the roads are better.

The H. E. Brownscombe family recital house on Sunday morning.

Many from Bardo were prevented from attending the dance and supper in Tofield on Friday evening on account of the bad roads. We understand some will pay their admission fee however, and the committee feel if all who are interested in the chautauqua would do this the burden on the committee would be materially lightened.

On Tuesday the Ladies Aid met with Mrs. Sorteson. As they will never keep room, this was a farewell meeting and a majority of the members were present in spite of the bad roads and cold wind. We are sorry to lose Mr. and Mrs. Sorteson from our midst. Not only the church societies will miss them but the Cemetery society will lose one of its most faithful workers.

Mrs. Flaters of Edmonton was able to come to Bardo last week and get her little girl who has been staying for some time with her aunt, Mrs. Hankoski while Mrs. Flaters was in the hospital.

AN HERCULEAN TASK

IN THE address which Mr. Macdonald delivered at Tofield recently, he cited an imaginary case where a number of people owning recently manufactured binders and having no use for them, brought them to his farm to sell. Upon being approached, Mr. [illegible] commences to bargain and in the end is [illegible] to purchase a binder for a mere fraction of the [illegible] price asked. He then explained, to overcome this trouble, the following year, one man of the party undertakes to manufacture what he considers just enough binders to cover the needs, put a price on them, which inasmuch as there is just enough binders to go around, must be met. He compared this imaginary binder case with the position farmers are in today. With them it a case of individually producing and taking what is offered when the time comes for them to sell. The case is only partly parallel. Where Mr. Macdonald was the only buyer of binders, there are several buyers of the farmers product in keen competition with each other. And whereas he was not compelled to buy a binder at all, certain products of the farm can always be sold. However, that phase of it matters little. What is most interesting is the inference that the production of farm products will be made to meet the demand. That this is not the idea of Mr. Macdonald alone can be seen by reading the article that follows this one, in which the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Jardine is quoted as saying the aim of co-operation is to "produce to demand."

This is an herculean task, beset with many difficulties. For instance the agriculturalist is dependent on weather conditions, and who can govern these? What quantity of seed will a farmer sow and who will take the responsibility of instructing him? Who can now, with any degree of accuracy estimate the crop of 1926? It has been stated that certain fruit districts set a price on their fruit and fill the demand at that price, leaving what fruit they have left to spoil. But this is marketing to meet the demand rather than producing to meet it. To say it is impossible to adjust agricultural production to demand would be foolish, for the man who says "it can't be done," is generally confronted by somebody "who does it."

But regarding the subject under consideration, would the rank and file of the farmers of Alberta like it? Whatever the drawbacks of agricultural life in Alberta are, there is one thing the farmer has in abundance, that seem to be denied to a good many, viz: independence. He is his own boss. Sometimes this is an advantage and sometimes it is a disadvantage, but for weal or woe he does what he likes on his own farm. The adjusting of production to demand would make him responsible to those "higher up." The value of independence is purely individual, some men lay great store by it and others think lightly of it. But whatever one thinks of it, it would to a great extent vanish with the adjustment of production to demand. It may be that the advantages accrued by organizing along these lines would be great enough to offset the disadvantages. Certainly, if it tended towards the development of a high type of rural civilization, it is worth working for, but it is a phase in the advocation of co-operative marketing that needs much careful thought.

The above should not be taken as being in any way antagonistic to co-operative marketing. The wheat pool is a standing example of co-operative marketing of one product. But in changing to anything that is new, it is better to change with judgement than with enthusiasm. There is no doubt the success of the wheat pool will be duplicated in other lines, but in the change from one marketing system to another it is wiser to do the investigating before and not after the change. When investigation has proven that the move is the right one, then by all means go ahead. As always the sentiment of this paper is, prosperous farmers and many of them.

AIM OF CO-OPERATIVE ORGANIZATIONS

(Farm & Home, Vancouver.)

"CO-OPERATION," SAID U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, in an address recently delivered, "aims to go beyond the mere selling of the farmers' product and the distribution of the proceeds. It aims to eliminate waste in marketing and distribution, to set up standards by which farm products will be graded and sold, and to adjust production to demand. Co-operation contemplates a stabilized agriculture that will give every opportunity for development of a high type of rural civilization, and at the same time will produce and distribute economically the products necessary to supply our cities with food.

"There should be no question of the attitude of the government toward co-operation. The movement deserves encouragement and support, and this encouragement and support must be dynamic and positive. I should not regard it as a beatific situation from the point of view of either co-operatives or government, for the associations to accept passively such services as are offered to them. They should be partners in the enterprise, and should make their wants known. What the co-operative movement needs is a pooling of the resources and intelligence of the farmers themselves, of the leaders of their organizations, of the state colleges, and experiment stations, of public and semi-public institutions, and all individuals that have anything to contribute to the movement."

Cow Testing Associations Invaluable Aid to Milk Production

Getting more milk from fewer cows than are now kept is the aim of the cow testing associations. Hundreds of these organizations have been established in a most striking manner that the wonderful possibilities of the cow testing association idea are being realized. A year from the time the number joined the association, his records showed that the average cow in his herd was producing more than 2,000 pounds from the four cows as compared to 7,000 pounds from the same cows prior to this period. There are more than a dozen correspondence courses in dairying. The cow testing association consists of about twenty-six farmers who co-operate and employ a trained tester to test their cows for economical production. The tester visits each herd once a month and keeps records of the yield of each cow. This information is used in feeding and in culling out poor cows with small production, poor returns, and poor feed cost, growth, and disease, and income over feed.

The first cow testing association in the United States was that organized at Newaygo County, Michigan, in 1905. Since then, there has been a steady increase in the number of associations, and the latest figures available show a tally of 722 cow testing associations with excellent prospects of the number doubling within the next few years.

The Family Cow

Those who have read of central European conditions, will remember how vitally important to the peasant, the family cow became. To him and his family it meant almost life and sustenance and the loss of one was a family disaster. Here, we are a long way removed from central Europe, both in distance and circumstances. It is not so much the family cow with us as the farm herd; and our concern is not so much life and sustenance from one cow as an ample revenue from them all.

The most successful dairymen keep the maximum number of cows their farms will support, care for them intelligently and sell their product wisely. We have been buying cream from dairymen who are now well to do for years and years.

COMMUNICATION

Dear Sir:

Allow me to make a few remarks on "Tofield Burbank" by the Vancouver Sun, which appeared in the Times of March 19th.

The Sun thinks that perhaps the humble labourers that Burbank has lifted into divine progressiveness did not believe that Burbank could help them either. That is very logical reasoning. But then the Sun think it seems absurb that Burbank of all men, should fail to recognize the gardener who is pruning, nursing and coaxing the human race into greater and more lovely bloom. Who blames a flower for not being intelligent enough to understand man, when there is no physical or mental co-relation between the two, fan as we can make out, that [illegible] is possible for a flower ... comprehend the much more varied complexities of the human mind and nature.

Who can therefore blame Burbank, if after fifty years of earnest investigation and study of plant life, fail to find a single thing on which to build any hope for or form a basis for the belief in the existence in a personal God? Why should the Vancouver Sun say that Burbank is foolish because he fails to find any proof the existence of a personal God in the plant world when his researches fail to detect any.

What would we think of the physicists who, after examining so far appendicitis fail to find anything wrong with us, but in order to please our firm belief that we had the sickness, surrounded in the afternoon and ordered an immediate operation! Who wants a doctor to tell a falsehood, who wants a scientist to tell us untruth, who wants anybody to tell a lie?

On the other hand whoever did the Vancouver Sun or anyone else for that matter obtain their knowledge of the existence of a personal God?

Let us have feelings and belief aside for a minute. If God is infinite then He can neither take or give because He is all, if He is all, then He is conditionless. How can you injure a man? by changing his condition, if God is infinite, conditionless, we can't prevent Him to change or persuade Him to one thing or another, so He can't change. What is man? He is finite; man has condition; man is subject to changes in response to how conditions influence him, therefore, man most of necessity, through the very nature of his finite changeable nature, think, plan, change his mind, think, plan and change again, and so throughout all time, until all mysteries, until all unknown elements that come within his finite mind are solved and understood, if such will ever be possible.

What branch of science did the Vancouver Sun study, surely not flowers and plants and I doubt if the editor ever saw a wild animal that gave him the chas. So the only claim to the existence of a personal God comes from books. Now if we read Darwin's confession, we will find that he does not deny the possible existence of some superior or unknown force or power. Burbank as well as many others merely refuses to accept the dogmatic interpretation of how this power has its being and especially refuses to accept the dreams, whims and fancies that our barbaric, and highly superstitious ancestors saw fit to consider as inspirations and absolute proof of the existence of God.

Why we should we stand in the way of science, in its endeavors to clean up the manifold mysteries that surround us, are we afraid that truth and facts are going to rause us any harm? Is there any but swindlers, liars and dishonest people who object to truth being made known? Who wants to go back and live in the darkness, when all sickness, all good and evil, were the works of witches and for evil done or a warning to do good? When devils were caused and driven out of men, when witches and spirits caused all storms, earthquakes and pestilence, when sickness and death was considered to be accident and not subject to the laws of cause and effect. I say who would like to live at a time when the law makers, the highest courts in the country, accused, arrested, convicted and hung people, roasters, pigs, etc., for having communication with the devil.

It is only through the advancement of science that we have progressed to where we are now. Who proved that the earth was round? science who discovered that sickness was not caused by witches and spirits? science now, who has made possible printing, railroading, aviation, radio, manufacturing, agriculture, chemistry? men of science. In short all progress has been made possible by and is a part of them and other discoveries and inventions. It is only because men dare to challenge the truth of any existing idea or belief that we advance and become more civilized. Therefore, why should we ridicule our fellowmen when they boldly expound and proclaim a new discovery, a new idea. Readers, if you make a claim to know something, allow the same privilege to your fellowmen as well. Then if you disagree and investigate and it will be found we all prosper and progress.

Here and There

Sawn lumber production in Nova Scotia during 1925 totalled 300 million feet, according to the provincial government statistics. Of this quantity 175 million feet have been exported.

Canada's mineral output for 1925 is estimated at $220,540,000, as compared with $200,505,000 for 1924. The previous record was $227,252,043 in 1920, when metal prices were about 25 per cent. higher than in 1925.

There are 4,044,760 acres of homestead lands in Manitoba in a radius of 20 miles from railway lines. In all there are 58,286 quarter sections, or sufficient to settle 29,000 families, the bulk left of the land being in Eastern Manitoba.

The value of wheat delivered at Western Canadian points from August 1 to December 15, 1925, was $120,580,000, representing an average cash return to farmers of over $1,200 per farm. This is a new high record and the returns are greater for the four and a half months than for the entire preceding year.

According to information at Canadian Pacific Railway Headquarters at Montreal, the Canadian roadies who went over to Scotland on the C. P. liner "Montrose," are touring the land of the thistle with success. The Canadians defeated Strathmore and Lord Lovat at Edinburgh. J. G. Macdonald, of Fort William, was still unbeaten.

The whole company of "The Thrum Hat Maide," an English musical comedy starring the famous British comedian G. P. Huntley, arrived at the C. P. R. Windsor Station, Montreal, recently, and grouped themselves round an engine for a novel photograph. The show is due in Ontario during the months of February and March.

A settlement, to be known as the Clan Donald colony, comprising 100 families and covering 20,000 acres of land, will be established near Vermilion, Alberta, this spring, through a joint contract entered into by the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Overseas Settlement Committee and the Scottish Immigrant Aid Society. The railway had purchased the land and the Scottish Immigrant Aid Society is to secure the immigrants.

According to C. A. Harcourt, Secretary of the Soldiers' Rehabilitation Committee at Montreal, five work has been done in the placing of many returned men in good positions. There are still about 800 returned soldiers, married and living in Montreal, who are out of work, but many of these will be placed in the model city of Arvida, which is being constructed by the Aluminium Company of America in the Lake St. John district of Quebec.

Alfred R. Dervaish has been appointed manager of the Royal Alexandra Hotel, Winnipeg, to succeed W. F. Pierce who has gone to the Vancouver Hotel, according to announcement by the Canadian Pacific Hotel Department. Mr. Dervaish joined the Canadian Pacific Hotel Department in 1918, and was later accountant and assistant manager at the Place Viger Hotel in Montreal. He will leave the Algonquin Hotel at St. Andrews, N.B., where he has been manager, to go to Winnipeg.

A wide and distinguished gallery of speakers from Great Britain, France and the United States is announced for the third triennial National Conference on Education to be held in Montreal April 5 to 9 next. Among those included are: The Duchess of Atholl, Parliamentary Under-Secretary in the British Board of Education, Sir Henry Walford Davies, Chairman of the National Council of Music of Wales; Senator Andre Honnorat, former Minister of Education at Paris; His Grace Mgr. Alfred Bendrigal, Archbishop of Delhi

In the low-price field where is the car that equals it?

Before buying a car—open or closed—in the low-priced field, ask yourself these questions:

1. Is it as comfortable and smart in appearance as the New Chevrolet?
2. Does it boast of such advanced features as dry 4 disc clutch, genuine Duco finish, vacuum gasoline system with tank in rear?
3. Has it an overhead-valve engine?
4. Has it a genuine Fisher Body?
5. Can it duplicate Chevrolet's speed, hill-climbing ability and all-round dependability?

Because no other car at or near Chevrolet price can answer all these questions and because Chevrolet delivers a greater measure of quality and value for your dollars than any other low-priced car—this is the car for you.

A Year of Activity

Within the next month Western Canada will be away to a good start on another year of activity and progress which, from present indications, should be equal to, if not better than, the best of the years that have gone before us. There are troubles and difficulties to be overcome, but the basic and driving energy necessary for all to achieve will be found contributing to the welfare of the country.

The financial aftermath of the C.P.R. tour of 25 years ago has been the subject of considerable comment in the past few days, and the Toronto Globe, generally friendly to railway interests, has called in the latest operating figures per mileage of the Canadian Pacific Railway to show that the company is not entitled to any special consideration at the present time. Such a view, however, is not shared by the Western Canada Press, and it is generally conceded that the C.P.R. has made its full contribution to the development of the country, and is entitled to the fullest consideration in the future operation of its lines. Even the Globe admits that the C.P.R. has been a great factor in the development of Canada, and that it has been well managed. Its operating ratio per mileage is not out of line with other railways, and its net earnings per mile are not unreasonable. The fact that the C.P.R. has been able to pay dividends on its common stock for many years is due largely to the fact that it has been able to operate its lines economically, and to the further fact that it has been able to secure a large volume of traffic. The C.P.R. has been a great factor in the development of Canada, and it is entitled to the fullest consideration in the future operation of its lines.

The basic second payment helps one to realize the fact that the cash value of wheat delivered for delivery at country points during the first half months August 1 to December 1, 1925, was $238 millions as an average of $1.00 per farm with seventy bushels still to be marketed. Not only is this a new record, but during the months of 1925 now in the making the preceding twelve months by no less than $100,000,000, and more than $125,000,000 greater than 1923-24, the previous peak year of farm prosperity.

During 1925 the total area of farm lands was sold in the three Western Provinces has in the course of 1925 and 1924 established and practically all direct to land users. In addition to this 6,736,642 acres were sold by railway companies and other corporations, and 1,000,000 acres were taken up by homesteaders.

These are but a few of the basic reasons for the increased development of resources which may be confidently expected this year. The effect to be of such activities in increased building activity all over the West where new products for increasing acreage will be in evidence. Much has been done in the past and in the expanding operations of many big industrial concerns in the field.

Many new utilities have now erected, which will find its way into channels of trade and commerce before the end of the year. Much has been accomplished during the past couple of years, the individuals of Western municipalities and other public bodies has been largely devoted to the construction of roads and bridges, which will enable the new wealth, in a variety of ways to distribute and to distribute it to the markets and people. Its development in Saskatchewan, for example, the Local Government Board report for 1925 shows that more road and bridge work was done in the province during 1925 than in any other year in the province's history. It is not that the taxpayers are now in a position to pay more than they were before, but that they are more willing to do so, and can do so more easily. It is also evident that the amount of debentures to be issued is greater during 1926 than ever before, and that the amount of debentures to be issued for municipal purposes will be considerably increased.

With the approval of such activity as this, and the determination of Canada, and particularly by the Western situation is most important and must be considered that there is a shortage of labor in the country. Nothing in the matter of the shortage has been overlooked, and certainly it is to be hoped, but it is quite apparent that the time is opportune for the employment of many who otherwise would be idle. It is hoped that many who, during the past few years, and generally unsatisfied conditions, forced upon them, have found it to a better economic position, will be induced to bring an effort to bring the resources of this country into production.

The year's activities will be many and varied, and it is hoped that the individual will find his way into channels of trade and commerce which will be of benefit to himself and to the country as a whole.

Criminals Use Plastic Surgery

Plastic surgery is the newest method of changing the features of criminals to avoid identification. Facial blemishes formerly removed by surgery, attention was called to the fact that the use of plastic surgery by criminals was a menace to society. The new method is to implant a piece of plastic material under the skin of the face, and then to remove the original blemish. The plastic material is then removed, leaving the face smooth and free from blemishes. The operation is said to be painless and the results are permanent. The method is said to be used by criminals in order to avoid identification by the police.

Canadian Mining Men Get Together

Leaders in Canadian Mining Affairs Meet in Montreal

A pronounced feeling and expression of optimism both as regards the present standing and future development of the mining industry in Canada characterized the twenty-eighth annual reunion evening of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, which held a three-day session at Montreal, during the course of which many of the leading members in Canadian mining affairs from one end of the Dominion to the other was assembled for the first time in co-operation shown to enlist the lowest Federal and Provincial Governments, the mineral and power mining interests in all that covers the Dominion's mineral resources, engineering in all that pertains to mining, and the commercial interests in all that concerns the industry.

The meeting, which was welcomed by Major Ingerson, initiated his new office under the presidency of J. B. Brown, deputy minister of mines, Nova Scotia, and elected Colin Fraser, the Hon. In the course of the academic year two of papers were read covering the wide range of Canadian mineral resources and the development of the Canadian Shield—showed mining development in Canada in both ways, showing its past and indicating its future. He showed how upon the Canadian Shield there is a host of deposits industries might be built, and how the Canadian Shield was a country in British Columbia in particular the whole is believed would be represented by many industries. The latters wide, covering practically the entire field of the Province. The paper was read by Dr. Dunlop, and the second paper was ably dealt with by R. J. Cook of the Dominion bureau of statistics and was entitled statistical analysis of Ontario, Quebec, British Columbia, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

Latest Idea In Surgery

Alberta Professor Discovers Medicine That Hastens Recovery Of Broken Bones

Medicine to speed up recovery from broken bones is the latest idea in surgery.

Bones consist largely of calcium phosphate and other matter, fresh quantities of this substance must be taken from the blood—the formation of new bone. The healing process is slow owing to the small quantity of calcium and phosphorus in the blood.

Prof. Noe Collip of the University of Alberta, Edmonton, obtained from the parathyroid glands an extract which, when injected or given by the mouth increases the amount of both calcium and phosphate in the blood. The parathyroids are four small glands in the neck near the thyroid gland or embedded in it.

APRIL 1

JESUS APPEARS TO HIS DISCIPLES (EASTER LESSON)

Golden Text: Because thou hast seen me, Thomas, thou hast believed: blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed. John 20:29.

Lesson: John 20:24-21:25.

Devotional Reading: Revelation 1:5-18.

Explanations and Comments

The Rhea Taylor Company in the Disciples in the Upper Room, 20:19-23.

On the evening of the Sunday following the crucifixion, Christ appeared to the disciples in the room where they were assembled. That his body was no longer subject to ordinary laws, is indicated by his sudden appearance in their midst although the doors were closed. "Peace be unto you," was his greeting, and then to comfort them of his identity, he showed them his pierced hands and side. The disciples believed and rejoiced. As he said, "Peace be unto you," and added "As my Father hath sent me, even so send I you."

An associate and friend of years, Dr. Henry Iserson, has described an African prince visiting the African settlement at the St. Louis Exposition. He was clad in ordinary clothes, and the people from Africa appeared to think prince somebody. Then the stranger presented himself in a chaste speech, and the people from Africa were astonished to learn that a prince of the royal blood, and he was then known to them as the boss of the work of the one who claimed to be a prince had brought over that year that was there, the mask of his royalty. Then the royal mask fell upon him, known with all the others to worship him. And Christ addresses him as the Lamb that had been slain, scars in his hands and feet, in his side and back and on his brow. He is our Redeemer (Isa. 53:5). Who's Christian!

The first wireless station on the type has been fitted up. It is located on Marconi's yacht Elettra, and its aerial wires are fixed on the route to the summit of Mount Rosa, fingerwidth, about a hundred feet in height and by means of the guide lines to spread many heavy guying down to the boat to secure assistance. With this wireless station at the top, at that it becomes easy to send a message, and in the event low altitudes help will already be on way.

Practically all large broadcast stations in New York are bonded solid with the Columbia chain. It is difficult at times to get advertising through WEAF, and all other stations for an evening are severely and extreme. The charge made by this station is said to range from $600 to $900 per hour. WMCA is another New York station which "carries" a great amount of advertising at a rate said to be $300 an hour. The latter station is heard throughout the country charge still more for the use of their studio, but the average cost is estimated at $75 an hour.

Mrs. J. Wilson, Port George, N.S., writes:—"I suffered from palpitation of the heart and fainting spells, and, at times, I could not do what I was so nervous.

My trouble was caused from overwork and worry, having been left a widow with a large family.

I had tried everything, without any help, but I began to think that I would have to borrow much longer.

Then a friend recommended Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills to me. They did me good from the first box, and I continued using them until I had taken six boxes. I am now strong and well, and can do my housework without any distress.

New dresses, new partners took their place in the parade that seemed to be across the slow girl's brain. The revellers, those hectic souls of the people who fatten on the meagre bones of the idle rich, grew pale with a bestial privacy for dismay things due in their prompts and faded away. Then were some of the revellers left. For the first time the first time that the night the door and read the time by the pressure. She expected to turn the living in the face of sinister silhouette should seem. When she realized that the elderly rather portly gray haired man who stood behind a great mahogany table to receive her was "The Old Man" and that he was actually smiling across to her she wrinkled her brow. There is great light came into her mind that the "Old Man" was the mysterious "Boss" of the gang. Then he was alert, shrewd, cunning, all at once. She braced herself for the fencing to bang. There'd be no difference between the owner, who could summon her, and "Mr. Good Morning," who had to come to her counter with his fanning.

"Did you send for me?" I'm from the police court" she said, with a challenge.

The Old Man looked at her, a dull, "Won't you sit down?" he asked pleasantly. "Twenty seven stands for Joanna, doesn't it?"

She answered shortly. "Joanna Manus." She wondered how long it would take him to show his hand. Her resentment grew more bitter each minute. Men and more she was convinced that there was only one part of a woman's body, for the genius of exception of a calculist and a poet—her ears as a man else was, in the wealthy, powerful owner of the store.

The man across the table settled himself back in his chair and fanned. A curious expression played about his wary eyes.

"Ah, yes," he murmured, "Joanna Manners. I understand that was the name. Would you mind, Joanna telling me where and how you were born?"

Joanna narrowed her lids. "If her boss, and he is a police, either And I'm not ashamed of it, I'm proud."

Her suspicion seemed not to notice the irritation. "Then you don't live at home? Not with your family?"

"I haven't any family," she answered with a little bitter her words. As an afterthought she added, "But I can take care of myself as well as a man by could, and I do."

The elderly man smiled at this. He began to study her features. "I am sure of that, my dear," he said at length. "But let's speak of your friends. What kind—I mean have you many?"

She had reason that "what kind" She stiffened in her chair and looked him full in the face. She was suspicious answer by their curious expression under his gray eyebrows. "I haven't any friends particularly, but he rides a horse of boys who are as light by the hour as they are on their feet but if I want any more, I'll pick them up on the street."

Gradually started a quick look at her. It was there for a minute, saying with his gaze bright. When he spoke he had resolved sufficiently to absorb his opponent in whatever it was he had in say to the rule-girl from the silk counter who was not disposed to be humble in his presence.

"I must say that you impress me," he said, as if reading a profound conclusion, as one who would not lend fate to dismiss friends if they were not desired. Again he was silent. Joanna fancied that he was preparing a new method of attack. She built up her defenses around her shoulder and waited evenly.

Gradually was still patient "You have read, I suppose," he said quietly, as if he wanted her mind to follow him "of Cinderella and the Prince who put he first into the golden slipper?"

Joanna replied "I've read about it. But I'm not the prince kind, and I put on my own slippers, thank you."

Then the old Man laughed, laughed as some of his associates didn't know he could laugh. He dropped the judge-weight and rose. Joanna rose with him, but he forced to a window and looked out into the alley-cat yard that opened here and there in fringes a glimpse of an ocean floor glimmering its way down the sapphire of it toward the Narrows and the sea. When he turned back into the room Joanna stood by her chair watching him steadily. He went almost up to her, so close that she had to tilt her face to look up at him. When he spoke again there was a new note in his voice.

"It doesn't force, Joanna," he said I didn't send for you with any idea of punishing you. I have the pleasures of delivering to you a message, a rather interesting message, I assure you. Something has happened to you, or has you, that so far as I know has never happened to any girl at least in my especially. First, I am to hand you this envelope."

The sense of impending climax suddenly numbed Joanna's brain. The Old Man's voice had become persuasive. She stared, fascinated, while he turned to his great desk.

When he came over her again she took into her hands, wonderingly, a small, thick envelope. She silently held for her. She looked up at him. She closed her fingers about the book and read the time by the pressure.

Dog Showed Perseverance

Irish Setter Puppy Travelled Eight Months to Find Old Home

We have given many stories of wonderful feats by dogs. Here is another very remarkable case reported in an English newspaper.

A boy living outside Paris sent to a breeder of dogs in the north of France requesting him to send him an Irish Setter puppy.

The puppy was placed in a crate and sent by train to the Gare du Nord station, where it was received by his new master, removed from the crate, and on across Paris in a taxi, and put in another train guarded by its master. On reaching its destination, a little village about fourteen kilometres on the other side of Paris, the dog was taken on a lead to its new home.

During the evening the dog was released for exercise in the garden, which was entirely enclosed.

When the time came for the dog to be shut up for the night, however, it was nowhere to be seen. Its master searched high and low, consulted the police, and was out half the night in vain. No trace of the truant could be found.

Eight months later came a letter from the breeder saying the dog had just arrived home! For all those months the poor creature had wandered about in search of its old home

Wonderful Opportunity in Peace River Country Says Sir Henry Thornton

Canada's newest inland empire is the title given to the Peace River country by Sir Henry Thornton says. "Only 50 per cent of the acreage of the Peace River district is now brought under cultivation, when wheat would then be produced than is done at present by the whole of Canada. This country extends in what the natives of the world want poultry, cattle, sheep and horses. These are raised in abundance. Here we have another great empire in the west waiting development in the west waiting development."

HEART BROKEN MARYS'

MR. MACDONALD in his address at Tofield recently stated that the number of "Heart Broken Marys' is appalling.' A totich of sentiment in an address is a great leveller; all men and women are prone to pity if the object depicted is made pitiable enough. One heartbroken Mary is appalling; so there being no need to resort to numbers, we are quite certain Mr Macdonald's statement is correct. The point stressed was that the heartbreaking process was accomplished by farming conditions in Alberta; also the inference must be drawn that an economical or political change of system would result in less heart breaking.

Self pity is always blighting. Perhaps the country newspaper man realizes this as well as anyone. It is not so many years ago that country newspapers in general were poorly printed, poorly edited and the remuneration received very meagre. The last named fact became so well known that it became the topic of scores of "joke write-ups," which, inasmuch as the editor was generally a good sport and could take a joke, were generally published by him. These simply fed the fire that was slowly consuming him. The editor was never expected to have any money, and perchance, if he should receive any crumbs from the merchants' table—oh yes, and the farmers' too—he was to be deeply grateful. There were heartbroken Marys' in the newspaper business too. To a great extent the work of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association has changed this. The poverty stricken editor as the subject of a joke is now in many weekly newspaper offices strictly taboo. The arguments used by the leaders of the C.W.N.A. is better papers, better papers and if anyone have mis-chosen either their vocation or location, the sooner they change the better. This "teaching" has in the main resulted in better papers, better equipped offices and better paid editors. Looking back, one is compelled to admit that the remedy laid with the newspapermen themselves, and all they needed that they could not themselves supply was efficient leadership and concerted action.

This is why we are staunch supporters of the U.F.A. for the C.W.N.A. is to newspapermen what the U.F.A. is to farmers. If we analize or criticize statements or speeches it is with good intentions and not bad. We believe every farmer should belong to the U.F.A. and help increase its usefulness.

There are heartbroken Marys', unfortunately, many of them; women whom the hardship of pioneer life have left broken in spirit. Of this, like Mr. Macdonald, we are extremely sorry. In many cases the load put upon them was heavier than any woman should be called upon to bear and often their very heroism was disastrous to them. There are some tracts of land altogether unsuitable for individual development and when the mistake of location was discovered, it would have been better that a move be made promptly. Then there is always the square peg in the round hole; men who are farming but whose talents lie in a totally different direction add to these the usual setbacks of family life, sickness, etc., and there is no wonder that there are heart broken Marys'. The hopeful feature is that while this is all true it only represents a portion, a small portion, of the farming community of Alberta.

There is the other side of the story. There are men and women, who, without capital, commenced to farm in Alberta and are to-day worth thousands. However, we are not all top notchers in our chosen profession and to a certain extent, because of this our fortunes vary. Neither have any of us reached that stage of perfection, that prevents us from becoming better.

Mr. Macdonald with a golden opportunity of preaching a gospel of cheer preached a gospel of gloom. Granting that there are heartbroken Marys' there are also well established and prosperous farm homes. To stress the dark side of a picture is rarely wise and little progress will be made if farmers only commiserate with themselves. A cheerful outlook, an intelligent and energetic determination to succeed and a realization that the remedy for most of their ills lay with themselves, will help some. The U.F.A. workers—most of them are successful and well-to-do farmers themselves—can do a great deal by example and suggestion, towards bringing about better conditions for farmers; and at the same time take care of the agriculturalists welfare when their interests are directly opposed by other interests, and perhaps in time to come there will be fewer "Heart Broken Marys'."

The Family Cow

Those who have read of central European conditions, will remember how vitally important to the peasant, the family cow became. To him and his family it meant almost life and sustenance and the loss of one was a family disaster. Here, we are a long way removed from central Europe, both in distance and circumstances. It is not so much the family cow with us as the farm herd; and our concern is not so much life and sustenance from one cow as an ample revenue from them all.

The most successful dairymen keep the maximum number of cows their farms will support, care for them intelligently and sell their product wisely. We have been buying cream from dairymen who are now well to do for years and years.

Salmon exports from British Columbia amounted to 1,571,000 cases, the record for several years past. Shipments in 1924 were 1,325,000 cases; 929,000 cases in 1923; 794,000 cases in 1922 and 939,000 cases in 1921.

For the first time in Canada, a sport known as the "mountain glissade," was performed at Revelstoke, B.C., on Friday, January 29, before hundreds of visitors to the start of Revelstoke's twelfth winter carnival. "Glissading" consists of flying down rough uneven mountain sides on skis.

From August 1, 1925, to January 31, 1926, 151,199 bushels, or about one and a half per cent. of the 108,637,112 bushels of grain shipped by the Canadian Pacific Railway went by the all-rail route. About one-eighth, or 20,214,134 bushels travelled through the port of Vancouver and the balance of 85 per cent was shipped via Port William.

Five hundred Montreal school children will give a concert on the concluding night of the triennial conference of the National Council of Education, to be held in Montreal from April 3 to 8. The number for the occasion will be Sir Walford Davies, well known authority on national and school music.

Under the auspices of the French Government, the French universities and Hon. Philippe Roy, commissioner-general of Canada in France, a tour through France has been arranged for this summer, starting in Quebec on May 26 with the departure of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland.

Pulp and paper exports from Canada during 1925 were valued at $184,555,251, as compared with $139,491,469 for the previous year. Newsprint production for 1925 was estimated at 1,216,000 tons, as compared with 1,251,994 tons for 1924. This is twice the newsprint production of 1913.

With glorious weather prevailing, a large gathering witnessed the opening of the tenth annual Banff Winter Carnival on February 5. "Queen Gabrielle" regally entered in a fairy ring gorgeously formed by frost crystalling ice, drawn by a team of huskies. Shooting, skiing, skating, hockey and hikes featured the eight-day winter sport tournament.

Two more cases of automobiles crashing through gates at level crossings at Chelsea Road, Hull, Quebec, have been reported. On January 6, an automob le was taken with passengers, was driven through both gates. The driver explained that his windshield was frozen. The second case occurred February 3 when a car was past just as the gates were being lowered. Both cars were damaged.

Addressing the members of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association at their eighth annual convention banquet at Montreal recently, E. W. Beatty, K.C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, stated that the 1926 income tax would collect from $42,000,000 to $43,000,000. Mr. Beatty declared that, a reduction of 25 per cent. or $11,000,000 might be brought about if the government expenses were cut. The Canadian Pacific Railway had reduced, its expenses by over double that amount in one year, and the railway company was not as large as the Dominion of Canada.

Here and There

E. B. Savannah, assistant steamship general passenger agent, has been appointed assistant to the steamship passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, according to recent advices of the head offices of the company.

Canada's agricultural growth during the past quarter of a century is well illustrated by figures compiled by the Dominion Government, which show that during the past year field crops had an estimated value of $946,186,000, as compared with $196,673,000 in 1900.

Production on Nova Scotia farms in 1925 amounted to approximately $40,629,000, as compared with $36,455,000 in the previous year. Items making up this total were: Dairy, $19,252,000; livestock, $8,260,000; field crops, $13,700,000; poultry products, $1,252,000; fruits and vegetables, $9,000,000.

A railway car, originally built as an observation car for the Canadian Pacific Railway, was used as a "chapelle ardente" and funeral coach to transport the remains of the late Queen Mother of Italy. This car was used in hospital service during the war and was sold, with others, to the Italian State Railways after the armistice.

Strange scenes are laid in the Canadian west on account of heavy frost and snow. The trees and shrubs are covered with snow forming strange white animals in the Exciting Horse Pass region. A number of photographs were taken recently in this neighborhood showing grotesque and terrifying figures in the form of prehistoric animals.

Her Excellency, Lady Byng, wife of the Governor-General of Canada, speaking at Ottawa recently, gave a vivid description of the cosmic beauties of the Canadian Pacific Rockies. She advised Canadians to see Canada first and get to know this country and nourishing all the lives of the people who live in its various parts.

Owing to the cheap hydro-electric power available, the American Cellulose and Chemical Company is to locate at Drummondville, Quebec, very shortly. The Canadian company will be known as the Canadian Cellulose and Chemical Company. It is understood, and the output will consist of rayon and artificial silk. About $7,000,000 will be used for buildings and plant equipment.

One hundred all-steel 75-ton ore cars ordered by the Canadian Pacific Railway from the Canadian Car and Foundry Company, have now been completed and are ready for delivery. Each of the cars has a capacity of about eighty tons in a heaping content of 1,230 cubic feet, and the wheels are of solid wrought steel. The cars will be largely used in the Sudbury district.

At least 600 hops will pass through the Burnside Lodge, the Western Ontario distribution centre in Woodstock, Ontario, to become farm workers under the Salvation Army juvenile farm labor system during 1926, according to Adjutant Lee, chief of the lodge. Adjutant Lee also stated that the first party, numbering fifty, have all been spoken for, although they are still on their way from England.

Cause of automobiles driven directly at trains at the scene of unprotected level crossing during the first four weeks of 1926 were increased to four, or at the rate of one a week, when an auto truck struck the leading car of seventeen cars passing over the Yonge Street crossing at Toronto. The third prize for carelessness went to an autobus driver at Hull, Quebec, who drove his car through both gates of the Chelsea Road level crossing, in the west end of that city.

A Land of Opportunity and Service

Canada and Western Canada in particular, has frequently been described as a land of opportunity, a country in which the humblest may possess and develop [illegible] and in which every man has the opportunity to [illegible] and to attain to any position in the land which his ability and character entitle him to occupy. This is the spirit of freedom which has been the inspiration of all the splendid achievements of the past, and which will be the guiding principle of the future. It is the spirit which has led men to positions of influence and power in this country because the ability was there, and because that ability and character were [illegible] and appreciated.

It is doubly important, if quite so striking an example of it could be given, that every humble man emigrating to this land and here [illegible] position should understand it. In the case of Hon. Charles A. Dunning, until a few months ago Premier of Saskatchewan and now Minister of Railways and Canals in the Dominion Government, the story of Mr. Dunning's life reads more like a romantic fairy tale.

Mr. Dunning was born in Yorkshire, England, and received his education in the public schools of that country. During this period the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Co. was established, and Mr. Dunning was appointed to the local Grain Men [illegible] which position he held for six years, developing in [illegible] of Canada's greatest grain producing districts. He was then [illegible] of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Co., which position he held for [illegible] years, developing it into one of the largest grain handling companies in the world's second most important grain producing province.

Then, in 1916, when W. M. Martin resigned to become Chief Justice of Saskatchewan, he called Mr. Dunning to his cabinet as Provincial Treasurer, and soon, by the public recognition of Quebec, the Province financially most in need of able and experienced men, he was entrusted with the portfolio of Minister of Railways and Canals, a department requiring the highest order of executive ability and dependable integrity—which Hon. Mr. Dunning has since demonstrated.

In 1922 Mr. Martin retired from the Premiership and Mr. Dunning was unanimously chosen as the Liberals of Saskatchewan as his successor. Twice since he has been returned, and at the early age of 46 years, to lead the Government of the Province. What other country can offer a better opportunity?

During the war Mr. Dunning's work in handling the crop and securing labour to take the task of farming from it, who will say to-day that he did not render a service to Canada and the Empire second to that of any soldier who fought overseas? Mr. Dunning came to Canada as a boy of 16 years of age, and has taken full advantage of the opportunities which this country offers to all who are willing to work and fight for success. Starting from the bottom of the ladder, he has climbed steadily and surely to the top. Is there a Canadian boy who will not say that he would like to follow in his footsteps?

Mr. Dunning is a member of the Church of England, and is a Freemason. He is married and has a family of two sons and two daughters. He is a keen sportsman, and is fond of golf, tennis and motoring. He is a member of the Saskatchewan Golf and Country Club, the Wascana Country Club, the Regina Rotary Club, the Canada Club, Ottawa, and the Rideau Club, Ottawa.

Hon. Mr. Dunning's life is a story of which every Canadian may be proud. It is a story which proves that in this country there is no limit to the heights which may be attained by those who are willing to work and fight for success. It is a story which every boy in Canada should read and ponder over. It is a story which every man in Canada should read and ponder over. It is a story which every man in Canada should read and ponder over.

AN AID TO HEALTH

You Can Lay the Foundation of Good Health Now by Building Up Your Blood and Strength with the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

The good old fashion of taking a tonic in the spring time, like most of the good old fashions, is rapidly passing away. Our grandmothers swore by sulphur and molasses and sassafras tea, and they had good reason for doing so. Many of those who are not in regard health to-day would be much better off to-day if they had taken on quarter strength they have taken of some of the patent medicines and even increasingly pale and sickly. A tonic for the blood and nerves is needed by almost every person in the spring, by putting color in the cheeks and brightness in the eyes. The best tonic for this purpose is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for they make new, rich blood, and this is why they are such a great help to those who are run down, weak and nervous. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are also a great help to those who are suffering from the after effects of la grippe, influenza, fevers, and other illnesses which leave the blood thin and watery. Don't accept any substitute for these pills, but insist on getting the genuine with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around each box. Canada's entry into the Pan-American Congress was urged by Dr. Clarence J. Owens, president of the Pan-American Commercial Congress, in an address to the Canadian Club at Toronto. He also expressed the hope that Canada would co-operate with United States diplomatically, and conducted some tours down, post any small incident that might appear through rust. In fact, there's more than a chance for rust, because rust is said to require both water, and water that's kept at a high temperature.

Will Be Boon To Motorists
Steam Cooling Sold to Keep Engine At Even Temperature

Freezing in winter and overheating in summer will no longer threaten motorists, if advocates of steam cooling but have their hopes fulfilled. Steam cooling, they say, is the cure-all for both ills.

Steam cooling is a method by which the water in the cooling system keeps the engine at as efficient temperature summer and winter, yet evaporates at the boiling point; it is cooled through the radiator and returns into the system still warm enough to keep the temperature of the engine even at all times.

One advantage claimed for this system is that there's no heavy, clumsy radiator leakage, since the radiator the condensation is all the better, and the condensed vapor flows down, past any small leaks that might appear through rust. In fact, there's more than a chance for rust, because rust is said to require both water, and water that's kept at a high temperature.

Young vigor to old folks

"My nerves were shattered and I used to exhale all sense. Lay awake at night, then exhausted each morning. Tea has restored health and appetite. I am 70 years ago." Harry Tea Co., Limited, 11 Ida St., Windsor, Ont.

Out of Taylor's greatest blessings in the new line of Vigor it brings to old folks. Every day men and women up in the seventies and eighties thank us for Taylor's Wonderful Tea.

Taylor's is a natural tonic, made from roots, herbs and barks. Harmless as tea or coffee. Contains the blood, stirs up the liver and puts digestive organs in fine working order.

If your body is weak and rundown, if you lack ambition, don't drug yourself, but be delighted with Taylor's results. Take Taylor Vegetable Pills for constipation.

Keeping Check On Air Traffic

Officer Keeps Actual Position of Every Machine Flying in Belgian Area

At Cinyon are the headquarters of a system that will, without doubt, prevent in the future, any commercial traffic increase in volume. A control tower watches a traffic light for checking the air traffic on any air route within the British area. His position reports enable him to issue from minute to minute the actual position of any machine in flight and besides him is a wireless operator. The traffic officer is therefore able to supply information to any pilot who may need navigation assistance.

Covered Their Brains

Insulating bricks is the latest. Two Detroit men, Norbert A. and J. Arthur Hoffman, launching a heavy building campaign, have taken out a patent on a method of insulating buildings with a layer of cork between the outside and inside walls. The cork, they say, is the cure-all for both ills.

Banish The Blues

By Observing Nature's Basic Rule

There is no suffer from despondency, loss of appetite and the blues unnecessarily. Here are some of these conditions to consider:

They are frequently brought on by an overwork, nervous worry, the use of nerve exciting or stimulating drugs, or improper food, but more frequently by the non observance of nature's basic rule—regular bowel elimination.

Poisons from waste matter left behind are picked up by the blood and absorbed by the system, sending the nerves and lowering the vitality.

Good, the scientific internal toilet tablet, corrects constipation in a natural way by supplementing the supply of nature's lubricant.

Aided by softening the waste matter these portable thorough and gentle laxative-tonic without overtaxing the digestive tract. It is purely vegetable and natural in its action, and can be taken for any length of time without any ill effect.

COMMUNICATION

To The Editor:

Dear Sir:

In regard to the expressed infidelity of Luther Burbank, you will permit me to say a few words also, more or less in objective criticism of a letter by a correspondent in last week's issue of your paper.

It is really not surprising that Luther Burbank has found no personal God in his study of nature. Nature alone does not give that evidence, from it we know only of an almighty creative power. It would of course be natural to conclude that this power were a personality from the very fact that the highest visible creature is a person, personality really being that which raises man above animal life. An unbeliever would not necessarily conclude thus.

Real authority for our belief in a personal god however is not nature. Outside of nature and human consciousness from which more concludes that God is, we have the Bible. Your correspondent of course states, put his belief,) but what have we left if we put away belief? You cannot absolutely prove anything, if you want to come right down to philosophical speculations, not even your own existence or the existence of the universe as Berkely tries to prove in his philosophy as it is a dream you are everything but as real as your day in reality. Now then will you prove that you really exist and that it are not only an image or an idea? Think of a geometrical line, it does not exist according to geometrical definition yet we speak of them and constantly seem to draw them. So you see, there is nothing in absolute proof if you cast away belief or faith. You can convince me of nothing unless I am willing to accept certain things as axioms. Science and everything also rests on belief. Of course scientists who has no faith! philosophical speculation will get us nowhere in religion for religion has to do with things spiritual; things beyond the physical objects of this world. Moreover, science goes far beyond its bounds when it asserts its wild speculations as facts. That is one of the failings of not a few, who have had a slight taste of science and of few to whom we cannot really deny the name scientist, that they have propounded theories as facts, wherewith they have perturbed man's mind, those theories being cast away on the scrap heap tomorrow. What a disturbance did the theory of Darwin cause in the learned world—the matter in the United States last year was of course only a trivi afterwards—while today it has been quite conclusively proved that evolution as taught by Darwin and his followers must be given up. The men of science have long started off on another trail even though you have and there road of my neighbor; or who has done more someone trying to make a name for himself, looking for the missing link. A more interesting study today, however, is archaeology which is giving the clearest proof of the bible evidence and scientists are today more and more returning to the bible statements according to that old saying the old wine is better than the new, beta etch to what we have, till we find something better. Religion and science are really not, as our worthy correspondent seem to presuppose, opponents. The majority of real scientists in the past as well as today are men of religion. Speculation in such realm of course still find plenty of room for debate.

Last of all, let me point out a fallacy of your correspondent in his eulogy of science. Is it really so that science has done all good and religion none? What is the basis of all our ethics? Upon what does art rest? Where did education take its beginning? The answer to all is religion. Without education without education lending us? ach the justices in our courts and the great educators who are getting more and more dissatisfied with the lack of religious training among so many people. Why don't they turn to the men of science and ask them to implant ethics into this people? They come to the church and say "you must educate them or civilation is going to ruin." Judge for yourselves, everyone, what is more valuable for one to new that the earth is round or to new that I am to obey my parents and superiors and to love for civilization, for peace and justice, men of religion or science. Let science go out among the wild marauding nations and accomplish what Christianity has accomplished and we shall believe it. The real work is not in words but in deeds and fcts. You can sow a tree only by its fruits the fruits of science alone are overwhelming pride and despair. Let same science and some religion work together and you have the perfect man. Thanking you for the valuable space,

Yours truly,

E. G. GOOD.

Seed Branch of the Experimental Farms ... the extent to which certain varieties bred others ... fore the last Federal election, ... the previous requested Justice Walsh to institute a royal commission, and in order to avoid any charge that it was of a political nature, asked Judge Walsh to select counsel, which he did, appointing A. L. Smith, K.C. Calgary. The conduct of the case for the crown was entirely in the hands of Mr. Smith, as was his the criminal trial.

Mr. Smith, in a letter read by the judge, says the full responsibility for the conduct of the Crown's case. The reason for not proceeding against Jeffrey and Endale was that there was not evidence enough to justify their conviction. Mr. Smith regarded them as pawns in the game. It was necessary, also, to dispose of Jeffrey and Endale before proceeding with the case against Gen. P. Smith, as their evidence was necessary, but no love of enmity was held before them. The evidence in a case of conspiracy was the same as in one of theft. The methods employed in this case was in accord with the best legal precedents. What Mr. A. L. Smith regarded as of the most grave public importance was the relations between a minister of the crown, and the Canmore Press. There was no evidence that either Jeffrey or Endale had received any of the $9,350 while there was evidence that Gen. P. Smith had. He unbosomed his opportunity of repudiating the campaign of slander and calumny against the government.

A. L. Crown, liberal, Grouard, absolved the government from any complicity in the matter, but contended that A. L. Smith had made an error of judgment in not bringing the three men involved before the courts.

Will Not Give Phidelphia On Beer Parlors

The assembly by a non-party vote of 43—3 voted against a resolution proposed by Mrs. Nellie McClung, that a plebiscite should be held at the time of the general election to vote on the question of the continuance of the beer parlors. Her contention was that the public had never voted in favor of beer parlors, which were the same as the old bars, and that the cost of a plebiscite at the time of the election would be slight.

Both the premier and leader of the opposition, opposing the request deprecated the bringing of a matter such as the liquor business into a general election. There would be a sufficient issue without that. The prohibitionists could take advantage of the direct legislation act at any time they wished a plebiscite. The liquor business as it has been got out of politics, and should continue to be kept out. The government had made the amendment to a largely signed petition in favor of hotels selling beer for consumption off the premises, as they had to the prohibitionists, that no change would be made in the act this year. Enough time had not elapsed to show whether the present system was good or not. There was no evidence of a crystallization of public feeling in regard to this matter. The promotion of temperance would be achieved by education and legislation, said the premier.

The Week In Parliament

What is expected to be the second last week of the present session of the Alberta Legislature saw a varied grist of business pass through the legislative mill. Nearly all proposed new bills are at the formal third reading stage, and most of the estimates. The contentious matters left over at the end of the week are the railway situation and the redistribution committee report, which will be dealt with at the conclusion of the other business.

No Politics in Smith Case

The presentation of the Attorney-Generals estimates gave the premier the opportunity of explaining the government's action with regard to $9,350 paid by the former government for printing which was never done, and of which resulted in the establishment of a Royal Commission, a criminal trial, ending in an acquittal for Gen. P. Smith, former minister of education and the institution of a civil action not yet before the courts.

He also answered a question by R. C. Marshall, Calgary, liberal member, referring an item of $7818, paid to Endale in September 1921. The premier stated that investigations showed that the charges was for standing type and had been certified to be fair and reasonable by the investigators. However, Endale had put this temper to his own use instead of crediting it to his company. This, however, was a matter between company and servant and not for the government.

On the charges being made against Gen. P. Smith, former minister of education, J. W. Jeffrey, King's Printer, and H. Endale, of the Endale Press, which certain varieties bred others ... fore the last Federal election, ...

The farmer, about to build generally likes to get prices on his lumber requirements. This is quite natural. Occasionally, however, the local lumber yard is overlooked, to the detriment of both buyer and the local yard. Last year we were able to supply bills of lumber to farmers who had procured prices from several places and the delivered goods gave entire satisfaction. If you are building, let us figure on your bill of lumber.

WINTER SPORTS IN CANADA

Upper—On the Lacrosse Team, Quebec. Lower—Ski-ing on the Second Bluff, B.C. Inset—Ski-ing at Mont Tremblant.

Canadian winter sport enthusiasts feared that the lack of snow would prohibit the usual activities this year in the realm of ski-ing, snowshoeing, skijoring, tobogganing and hockey. But "Our Lady of Snows" lived up to the name bestowed upon her by a brilliant writer, and from before the winter set in through a deep, luxuriously soft white blanket was spread, shining trees and rivers and mountains in a brilliant shade of white.

The mountain mountains in the province of Quebec. Thousands of city dwellers for joyous holidays at every opportunity. Such reports of sport lovers were there that the Canadian Pacific Railway opened special coaches for skiers where accommodations were made for this. At Mont Rolland, Pedneault, St. Marguerite and Shawbridge, numerous parties were among the picturesque hills and vales of the Laurentians, numerous parties made excursions into the fastnesses of the ghostly forests. Some climbed to the tops of the mountains to see clearly the marvels of nature's beautiful colors in the heavens. Others, driving along the roads in cramped sleighs, watched the sun, like some golden orb in the distance, rise very slowly as one side as it descended at the end of a gorgeous day to give the world rest in darkness.

At Revelstoke, British Columbia, mountain glissading gained its popularity overnight. A long hill of hardly embankments would stand at the top of a hill. Then the toss would break as they went plunging down and scattering in all directions, through trees and shrubs to the road thousands of feet below.

At Banff the Winter Carnival provided thrills for the large number of visitors there. Queen Gabrielle effectively opening the ice Palace, a number of young ladies organized hockey teams while others donned the garb of the Indian guide and learned to drive teams of dogs.

A report of the activities of the past season was read by the secretary Mrs. Brace, and the financial report given by Mrs. J. Lee, Jr., showed the club was finishing the season with a comfortable balance of cash on hand.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. A. A. Beirnes, president; first vice-president, Mrs. W. C. Swift; second vice-president, Mrs. G. Agnew; secretary, Mrs. A. B. Clotterham; treasurer, Mrs. J. Lee, Jr.

The members appointed to the executive committee were Mrs. J. B. Hannan, Mrs. G. Bissett, Mrs. J. Constantine, Mrs. A. J. H. McCauley and Miss G. H. Emery.

The ladies also pledged their support in helping the new Senators the building of a new rink.

After the business had been transacted, Mrs. Hammond served a dainty lunch.

Five thousand settlers are in sight for Canada this year under the Land Settlement scheme, announced by Major John Barnett, Chairman of the Soldier Settlement Board at Winnipeg. "The majority will come from Great Britain and will be prepared to take root in Canadian soil," Major Barnett said.

Word has been received at Canadian Pacific headquarters of the death of James McGown, Superintendent Engineer of British Columbia coast construction for C.P.R. McGown was born in 1863 and entered the service of the Canadian Pacific steamships in 1891 as fourth engineer. He brought over the Canadian Pacific steamer "Princess Victoria" from Glasgow to Vancouver last year.

An indication that big fish are migrating from the waters around Florida and Mexico to New Zealand to forgather in a special cable received recently from Key West, the famous American writer, who is in New Zealand as a tourist, caught the world's record swordfish weighing 468 pounds after weights six hundred and eighty-five pounds and is large in proportion.

Stricken sick suddenly, Mrs. Charles Barnes, wife of the president of the Carlisle Brewing and Malting Company, London, Ont., telephoned to Mrs. Lees, her sister-in-law, wife of the vice-president of the company, who was in Montreal with her husband. Mr. and Mrs. Lees left Montreal in a special Canadian Pacific train, which made the run to Toronto in six hours and forty-three minutes, just in time to make the connection with the regular train which leaves Toronto for London at 6.45 a.m.

Tom, Dick, Sorry and Harry, four born fighters from the fighting county of Yorkshire, England, arrived in Montreal recently on their way to W. W. Graves, United States Supreme Court justice at Jefferson City, Mo. They are not going to the judge to be sentenced for infractions of the peace, but simply because His Honor, being from and in Missouri, wants to be shown whether it is true, as alleged, that the best Indian game cocks can only be got from Yorkshire.

Dogs, pigeons, canaries, rabbits, pedigree fowl, wild birds, gold fish, lizards, snakes, monkeys, ferrets, bantams known as guinea pigs, and parrots were among the livestock carried from Europe and the British Isles to this country and the United States by the foreign department of the Dominion Express Company during 1925, according to the yearly statement recently issued by the company. In the statement was included a total of about 1,000 racing pigeons.

Under the auspices of the St. John Ambulance Society, Montreal branch, a special train has been chartered over the Canadian Pacific Railway to carry a party of some five hundred members of the society to Chicago to take part in the Eucharistic Congress to be held in that city in June. CALGARY BULL SALE PRICE HIGHEST IN SIX YEARS

The result of the spring bull sale was most pleasing to stockmen. The two day sale which ended Friday afternoon realized $72,850.00 for 232 bulls giving an average price of $140.11 per head.

The highest price realized for one animal was $455.00 while many of them sold well over the $300.00 mark. Stockmen were very well satisfied and declared that the sale went away over their expectations. The quality of the cattle was very good and the sale drew a number of buyers from Montana who were strong contenders for good stuff. The management of the Calgary bull sale and spring fair are very proud of the fact that they have the largest purebred bull sale on the continent. The sale was conducted by Auctioneers J. W. Dorrance of Calgary and D. E. Ball of Tofield.

Vapor Valley, a virginal tract of land 135 miles from Vancouver, between Fort Douglas and Lillooet on the Canadian Pacific Railway line, is to be the location of a large medical sanitarium and hunting lodge which is to be established this summer by a syndicate of Vancouver men.

General conditions on the province and in British Columbia indicate that Western Canada is headed for a period of real prosperity. Thomas Murphy, general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Western Lines, after a periodical trip of inspection, stated that farmers and business men alike have not been so optimistic on the prairies in years.

On March 2 a crowd of representative citizens gathered at the Canadian Pacific depot at Vancouver to welcome His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Robert Randolph Bruce, of British Columbia. Forty years ago the hardy Scot left his ancestral home in Inverness-shire, Scotland, to seek his fortune in the Canadian West. He found it.

During the month of January 1926, 16,760,700 pounds of refined sugar valued at $960,481 was exported from Canada as compared with 197,400 pounds valued at $14,552 for January 1925. Of the total amount the United Kingdom took 11,700,000 pounds while France was second on the list with 3,000,000 pounds.

A commission of three professors in agriculture will make a survey of the province of Ontario to ascertain the soils best adapted to the culture of tobacco. The commission will act under instructions from the Minister of Agriculture. Soil tests are to be made at various farms and also at the government experimental stations within the tobacco districts.

Government statistics show that the average wages per month paid to farm laborers in the summer of 1925 over the whole of Canada was $40 for men and $22 for others. The value of board received was reckoned at $25 for men and $19 for women. The total received, therefore, for wages and board in 1925 was $65 per month for men and $41 for women.

With a population of 8,000,000 Canada has as much foreign trade as the United States had with a population of 76,000,000. Mining production in the Dominion is as great as when the United States had 30,000,000 people while Canada manufactures "as much as the country across the border did with 50,000,000 inhabitants. Today the Canadian per capita export trade amounts to $134 while in the United States it is only $40.

A Matter of National Concern

Canada unquestionably derives many advantages from its close proximity to the United States. With its large population—approximately ten times, and in net wealth. Many of these advantages are so well evident that I would be a waste of time to even enumerate them. But, on the other hand, it is equally true that Canada suffers as a result of the very close and intimate relations which exist between the Dominion and its big neighbour to the south. These disadvantages are very largely confined to the trade and economic

The subject is so large that volumes could be written on it, pro and con. Among the many phases or angles of the complex questions involved in this very large problem, there is one which is now the matter of considerable discussion in Canada, because while it is economic in its origin, it radiates widely to itself possible effects affecting the whole social, industrial and political life of the country.

In a sparsely settled largely undeveloped country like Canada, with population spread thinly over half a continent, and with some seventeen hundred miles between, except sections, all of which are more or less remote from the great centres of commerce, and therefore naturally lack that fine community of interest, and practical mutual spirit and co-operation which animates smaller and more thickly populated countries, there is difficulty in the introduction and far wider distribution of knowledge and other useful things, which, the throw, for these conditions do not exist to any great extent in such countries as the United States, which latter are more or less assimilated and self-contained and lack understanding of both conditions and needs.

Illustrations of this are chosen in Boston and New York than they are to Montreal or Toronto, Montreal and Toronto are closer to each other and to Ottawa than they are to Winnipeg, Winnipeg is closer to Chicago than it is to Montreal, Montreal than to Vancouver or Victoria, Vancouver than to Chicago, and Ireland and San Francisco than to Canadian cities. Such is the geographical position which nothing can overcome.

One of the most effective means whereby Canadians could be made to know and understand each other better, and brought closer together, is through the medium of national publications, weekly and monthly magazines and periodicals. Valuable effort have been put forth by publishers and writers to provide such media, but with indifferent success, considering that there are nine million people in Canada. The reason for failure is not far to seek.

With a population twelve times that of Canada, United States publishers can develop enormously large circulations for their magazines and periodicals, and they can command fabulous prices for advertising from the large and wealthy national manufacturers. With enormous revenues under their control, these publishers can command the services of the world's best writers, artists and illustrators. The result is they can run out the most attractive magazines, and at a price and in a form which Canadian publishers, in their more limited field cannot hope to approach. And, as Canadians develop the very best citizenship in numbers, so in everything else, these United States publications have larger circulations in Canada than our own Canadian publications.

What will be the ultimate effect on the standing of Canadian letters with United States authorities? This is a question which many reasons put away to many Canadians' feet in the national standards of affairs throughout the Empire and in other countries. Canadians are being persistently supplied with the narrow United States viewpoint on all international questions which other suggestions present as seen through United States spectacles and as the effect in the big republic Canada is a member and loyal supporter of the League of Nations, yet our people are supplied daily, week in, month in, with open and veiled criticism and destructive criticism of the League. The United States is to be urged as the only exponent and all other wrong. We are fed upon the open disregard for law which prevails throughout the United States. We are loaded up to use the personal headquarters as the marriage and divorce mecca to the nations which characterizes the social life of the United States to the very great detriment of the coming generation of Great Britain and the breaking up of the British Empire, and so on ad nauseum.

What will be the effect on the social life and political institutions of Canada after it has been up for another generation or two? Is there any remedy that can be applied?

Canadian publishers believe that at least a partial remedy is possible, but how it must be applied in an economic way, that is, the remedy is not to be found in the arbitrary exclusion of United States magazines, but in providing Canadians thereby Canadian publishers will be given a reasonable chance to compete successfully with them through the production of Canadian periodicals which will be in no way inferior from the standpoint of literary and artistic merit to those which come from across the line.

In order to bring this about, it is necessary that Canadians be prepared to pay more for their home publications.

THE UNITED CHURCH HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

On Tuesday evening, April 6th the annual meeting of the United Church of Tofield was held in the basement of the church. The four large tables were spread by the Ladies' Aid and every chair was occupied. After ample justice had been done to the good things provided, the meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mr. Jos. Rogers. The reports which covered fifteen months up to March 31st, 1926 were presented by the secretaries of the various organizations, all showing a very healthy condition of growth and expansion.

Financially, the Missionary Society, The Ladies' Aid, the Sunday School and the Board of Management all had the best year in the history of the church.

The pastor, reporting on behalf of the session pointed out that forty-one new members had been added to the Communion roll during the past year, nine by certificate and thirty-two on profession of faith. The present membership of the congregations, resident in the district, is 194. This means that the membership has more than trebled in the last four years.

The splendid spirit of unity and co-operation exhibited, augurs well for the future prosperity of the United church.

The missionary spirit of the congregation is shown by the splendid contribution to the missions of the United Church of Canada which was $238.00, the largest in the history of the congregation.

Mr. and Mrs. McHeffey visited Edmonton last week.

Mrs. T. Herndon is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Church, at Wainwright.

CANADA FOLLOWS QUICKLY

The enormous increase of sales of Hudson-Essex cars during the past three years in the United States is being followed up quickly now in Canada. A speech recently delivered in Montreal is as follows:

"In 1926 Hudson-Essex sales were approximately ten times as great as in 1921, based on the number of cars bought. The most notable increase in all Canada has been in Saskatchewan. Actually ten times as many Hudson-Essex cars were sold in Saskatchewan in 1926 as in 1924, which is in comparison with a seven hundred per cent increase for all lines of cars. In Manitoba, Hudson Essex sales increased more than 200 per cent. 1926 is to be distinctly a six cylinder year, and the Hudson and Essex are the largest selling six cylinder cars in the world. The Essex led the way towards the most recent development in motor car business, namely, the six cylinder closed car to sell at a moderate price. This type of car is receiving a business which in former years had gone to the "fours". So says a well known Montreal man.

C.P.W.A. NOTES

There was a very fair attendance at the last meeting held in the Municipal Building on Saturday afternoon. After transacting business on hand, Mrs. J. McGinnis read a paper on "How to make a Hot Bed or Cold Frame." The hints contained in this should, if acted upon, ensure her banners a very successful garden indeed. The showroom missed something good. At the next meeting which will be held at the same place at 2 p.m. on Saturday, April 24th. Each member will please bring a garden hint to answer her name at roll call with. A penalty will be enacted from those present not complying with this request. We find, and it is unquestionably true, that the most important matters relative to a man's affairs DURING HIS LIFE are generally taken care of by him, but those relative to the business which he leaves behind him AFTER HIS LIFE are generally seriously neglected, thus causing his family quite unnecessary worry and expense, due in ninety per cent of cases to a lack of proper knowledge in preparing for that time, which MUST COME. We have made a special study of such things, and will be very pleased to give you all the information at our disposal.

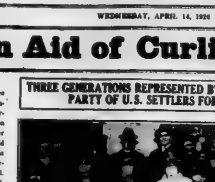
THREE GENERATIONS REPRESENTED BY PARTY OF U.S. SETTLERS FOR SASK.



THREE generation of sandy American settlers represented by this first party of settlers to cross the line this season under the supervision of Prof. O. B. Gram, land and colonization agent of the Canadian National Railways at St. Paul, Minn., who appears in the photograph in the centre of the back row. Twenty-four individuals, or whom 12 were bound for Lloydminster, Sask., where they bought land from the C.N.R. last year, and the rest for Kerrobi, Sask., made up this advance guard of homeseekers from the United States. They brought with them five cars of effects, which included farm machinery and live stock.

Mr. Gram, who came from Lamont, Alta., and Mrs. R. F. Kennedy, with their children and grandchildren, numbering 21 persons, Mrs. John Angleman, a sister of Mrs. Kennedy, were joined at Edmonton by the balance of the party. The Kennedy contingent is going to their farms at Lindbergh.

The movement of settlers from the United States this year began, according to C.N.R. colonization officials at Winnipeg, after J. W. B. Kerr, vice-president in charge of that department, who has just visited the reconstruction branch's farms in the United States. The latter states that the flood of inquirers being received by the company this year are from a splendid type of farmer and a larger movement is expected this season than for many years past.—C.N.R. WOMEN'S INSTITUTE CONCERT

The annual concert arranged each year by the Tofield Women's Institute was given in the Variety Theatre on Friday evening, April 9th.

The concert was well attended and the programme was much enjoyed by those attending. Some excellent talent came down from the capital city in the persons of Mrs. R. Cockburn, Mrs. A. H. Johnston and Gordon Johnston.

Mrs. Cockburn is a singer of marked ability and was encored time and time again. Her staging of "The End of a Perfect Day" with violin and 'cello obligato, Mrs. Cockburn playing the violin and Gordon Johnston the 'cello, was especially enjoyed. Mrs. Johnston accompanied on the piano in all musical numbers.

The cello playing of Gordon Johnson, who is a boy just entering his teens, was very good and pleased the audience. His rendering of "Berceuse" was worthy of special mention.

Mr. T. R. Murray, a home soloist, whose local audiences have always been delighted to hear him, was heard in several numbers.

Mr. Prescott, who is always on hand on a concert occasion, played with his usual ability the violin solo "Traumerei," besides giving two readings "Zingarella" and "Guiseppe the Barber". In the former Mrs. Prescott assisted the latter giving two humorous readings.

The tableau arranged by Mrs. H. T. Ward, showing eight stages of a girls' life, from childhood to old age was much appreciated.

Mr. Calvert and Mrs. M. Kellal were the principals in a sketch entitled "The two Lunatics." This was of the humorous type and evoked many laughs from the audience. The making of both was extremely good.

This brought the programme to a close.

Mrs. P. H Miller, 1312 11th Ave. East, Vancouver, B.C., writes:—"Five years ago my husband suffered terribly with severe attacks of indigestion and dizziness and smothering spells, and two doctors stated that he could not live six months.

A friend recommended Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, with the result that he is still enjoying life at the age of 84 years.

He has improved so wonderfully that he can now do the whole outdoor housework, doing about an acre of garden.

I can now say to Dr. T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

I was a nervous wreck, and I suffered from a female trouble. I had taken medicine from doctors, but got no relief. Then I wrote to Dr. Pierce, telling him my case, and he kindly advised me what to take. Explanations and Comments

The Temptation of the Serpent—Verses 1-5. Read The Historical Background. The story begins with the words "Now the serpent was more subtle than any beast of the field which Jehovah God had made." The serpent spoke to the woman and said unto her, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden? And the woman said unto the serpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden: but of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die. And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die: for God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as God, knowing good and evil.

The Temptation—Verses 6-8. And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was a delight to the eyes, and the tree was to be desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat; and she gave also unto her husband with her, and he did eat. And the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked; and they sewed fig leaves together, and made themselves aprons. And they heard the voice of Jehovah God walking in the garden in the cool of the day: and the man and his wife hid themselves from the presence of Jehovah God among the trees of the garden.

The Judgment—Verses 9-19. And Jehovah God called unto the man, and said unto him, Where art thou? And he said, I heard thy voice in the garden, and I was afraid, because I was naked; and I hid myself. And he said, Who told thee that thou was naked? Hast thou eaten of the tree, whereof I commanded thee that thou should not eat? And the man said, The woman whom thou gavest to be with me, she gave me of the tree, and I did eat. And Jehovah God said unto the woman, What is this that thou hast done? And the woman said, The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat. And Jehovah God said unto the serpent, Because thou hast done this, cursed art thou above all cattle, and above every beast of the field; upon thy belly shalt thou go, and dust shalt thou eat all the days of thy life: and I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed; it shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel. Unto the woman he said, I will greatly multiply thy pain in thy travail, in pain shalt thou bring forth children; and thy desire shall be to thy husband, and he shall rule over thee. And unto Adam he said, Because thou hast hearkened unto the voice of thy wife, and hast eaten of the tree, of which I commanded thee, saying, Thou shalt not eat of it: cursed is the ground for thy sake; in pain shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life; thorns also and thistles shall it bring forth to thee; and thou shalt eat the herb of the field; in the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return.

The Expulsion—Verses 20-24. And the man called his wife's name Eve; because she was the mother of all living. And Jehovah God made unto Adam and to his wife coats of skins, and clothed them. And Jehovah God said, Behold, the man is become as one of us, to know good and evil: and now, lest he put forth his hand, and take also of the tree of life, and eat, and live for ever: therefore Jehovah God sent him forth from the garden of Eden, to till the ground from whence he was taken. So he drove out the man; and he placed at the east of the garden of Eden the cherubim, and the flame of the sword which turned every way, to keep the way of the tree of life.

Fabric Combinations Achieve Smart Ensemble in Two Piece Frocks

Fashion's fancy for combining materials in one costume is clearly expressed in this model which is featuring skirt round collar and bow on the sleeve of satin like taffeta, pleated in red, yellow and white, with the jacket of red jersey. Bright red ribbon finishes the sleeves which also appear on the head forming under a flat plaid cap to be banded at the hips, giving the belted effect. The skirt is also a study in diagonal opening at the front and tapered to a fitted band at natural waistline. If choice of contrast somewhat may be made of the fabrics in this model, the jersey and taffeta combination is especially pleasing and looking to those fine for the trouble to make. Style No. 2,121 is also ready now for you.

The wedding guests at the Bretlow home could not afford, either, to have it out in haste, sent her into a corner in hysterical laughter—terrifying once the ceremony a happy sign. Ruth walked until the effect in their guise, led her laughter dying away in stifled sobs. The ceremony moved onward, her there, and led her to the vestry.

Automatically Joanna drew the plush around her shoulder shawl. Then she "fixed" her hair. Suddenly she turned, faced Gordon smile and drew out to him.

"But what am I to do with the money?"

The man answered in the curt, curiously reassuring manner that so many people liked in him. "That is one of the questions I may not answer. You shall be happy to know that your debts are paid."

The secretary would have continued the gift until Joanna had taken her arm and led her out to the waiting car. But the sight of Joanna grasped her wrist across the gilt-and-velvet interior of the limousine held open for her by the footman, and, in the language of the navel, "are getting away with it."

"Which way do I go?"

A long time afterward, when Joanna's dark skin had short and fine, toe and tongue too just had become a fixture, Ruth Bretlow would wander round the room admired things in the apartment, and ask, "Joanna, don't people in her whispered appeal?"

"I wish that I might show you, my dear, but it is every girl's burden to choose for herself." And as each of many men called on her she would say, "You may marry whom you please, but you shall not marry Gordon Bretlow."

WHAT NEEDS TO BE PLANTED EARLY

(Experimental Farms Note)

The need of certain kinds of vegetables should be seen early in the spring for best results, hence one should be prepared to begin operations in the garden as soon as the soil is dry enough. These plants of which the leaves are eaten which should be started early are: lettuce, spinach, mustard and cress, and there is little danger of planting them too soon. Other vegetables which are grown for their bulbs or roots may be planted at the same time, though they are not quite so hardy as those grown for their leaves. These are onions, carrots, beets, parsnips and early turnips. Peas are about as hardy as these but may not if the weather turns cold and wet. However, it usually pays to plant peas at the same time as to others, as early sown peas give a much better crop as a rule than if sown late. Other vegetables which should be started early to get best results are cabbages, cauliflowers, tomatoes and melons. The latter will not stand any frost, hence the plants must be protected in hot beds or cold frames or in the house until the danger of frost is over. However, cabbage and cauliflower, if well hardened off before setting out, will stand several degrees of frost.

The earlier that fruit and ornamental trees of all kinds are planted after the ground is dry enough to dig in the spring the more successful will the planting be. The same applies to bush fruits, strawberries and other herbaceous perennials. Once the soil the moisture of early spring and the hot dry winds come, a much larger proportion of plants is likely to die than if planted earlier. Hence, our advice, based on experience, is to start planting just as soon as possible after the ground has thawed out.

A SIMPLE and EFFECTIVE CROW TRAP

By Frank L. Farley

Crows have increased to extraordinary numbers during the past few years in Alberta. From the early nineties, the period during which our first settlers came to this country, until about the year 1918, the crow was not a common bird. Their numbers remained fairly stationary during that period of years. A rapid increase has taken place, however, in the past seven or eight thousands may be seen in the months, April to October, and in the more territories that were previously frequented by raises only. The reason for these tremendous increases is apparently no great a mystery as was the deplorable decrease and eventual disappearance of the Passenger Pigeons between the years 1873 and 1885. The question is naturally asked: "Why are thousands of crows now occupying areas a few miles square, when ten years ago eight acres was the home of only one or two pairs?"

Undoubtedly the crow has a place in the scheme of nature, and while many is in position to judge, considers him the greatest enemy of our song and game birds, few would like to see this bird exterminated. Isolated steps are necessary to check the present number of crows if we are to save our other useful birds from destruction. The damage by crows during the nesting season of our wild ducks is well known. One Canrose farmer, Mr. Francis Adam, counted twenty-two nests of ducks totally destroyed on his farm in one week. Many similar charges have been made during the past few years and the loss thus occasioned among our game birds has become a serious matter.

Various methods have been advocated to get rid of the crow; all have proved inadequate. In 1924 the provincial government, under the department of agriculture, conducted a competition for the destruction of crows, magpies and gophers, and it was considered a success although the crows were more numerous in 1925 than in any former year. Competitors included farmers, sportsmen and school children. As a result of the campaign 44,000 crows and magpies were killed and more than 107,000 eggs destroyed. The casualty list was in proportion of about 10 crows to one magpie.

The Northern Alberta Game and Fish Protective League, an association of those interested in the conservation of game and fish in this section of Western Canada, deserves credit for their accomplishments along these lines. The league realizes the seriousness of the crow menace, and recommends the Australian Crow trap, and is encouraging its general use wherever the pest is proving destructive. It is no simple that a ten year old boy can make and operate one.

Materials necessary are: Four poplar posts, 7 feet long; six light poplar poles, 12 feet long; 8 feet of 2in; 30 feet of 72 in. poultry netting, staples and a few nails. Set the four posts in the ground one foot and six feet apart to form a square. Nail four of the small poles all around the top of the posts making a square frame. Across the top and near the centre, nail the other two poles 18 inches apart. Cover the four sides and the top with netting, leaving the 18 inches uncovered for the crows to enter. The netting for the top should be left six inches longer than is necessary to reach the centre poles and this should be pulled down on both sides, to prevent a crow from flying in opening to escape. Netting is fastened to frame with staples. Have a corner of netting laid on ground by nails or stones so as to get in and remove crows. Use any dead animal, or part of carcass for bait. Visit trap only at night with lantern and remove birds.

A blueprint of this trap may be seen at the office of W. D. Dalzell, Canrose, and any other information concerning it may be had from F. L. Farley.

ROBERT MACDONALD, Proprietor

It would have been possible to prorogue, but for the Natural Resources Bill, which cannot pass third reading until agreed on by the Dominion Senate. Premier Brownlee announced that the adjourned session would be held on May 5th or near that date and that the election would be before July 16th.

Seventy-one bills have received their third reading during the present session.

The committee on redistribution, composed of members from all sides of the house, presented a majority and minority report. The majority report stated that on account of the committee not being unanimous, a general redistribution should be postponed. The liberals on the committee presented a minority report favoring leaving the seats as they are for another session, on account of accurate population data not being available, and arrangements having been made by the various parties for consideration by the election of the present constituency boundaries.

The government brought in a bill on Tuesday taking out the rural sections of the Calgary and Edmonton districts, separating the city of Medicine Hat and the town of Redcliffe from the rural districts and creating the seats of Cypress and Empress. The number of seats is left at 60, as before.

C. R. Pingle, Medicine Hat, questioned the voting strength of the new Cypress constituency, basing his figures on the Provincial and election of 1925, when only 977 voted in the district named as a constituency. In the constituency of Medicine Hat in 1926, 1867 votes were passed. In the new constituency of Empress only 1132 persons voted at the Dominion election.

Premier Brownlee said that the figures given were fair, as the weather was very bad at the time of last year's election and many of the voters were working in other parts of the province. The number of votes entitled to vote in the Cypress in 1925 was 2231, 2050 votes were cast in the Redcliffe constituency in 1921, as compared with 1304 in 1925. The decrease was largely due to weather and poor roads conditions.

The bill was passed the vote being 36—7.

Government May Operate Railway

A bill was passed Thursday evening giving the government, if necessary, operate the Edmonton, Dunvegan, and British Columbia Railway, by appropriating $122,500 for capital expenditure and maintenance, and $1,200,000, to be used in purchasing stocks, bonds, etc. The latter amount is borrowed from the Royal Bank's minimum offer for its securities. The government cannot operate the line without first acquiring the Bank's securities. The bank wanted $2,400,000 but finally agreed to take less than $1,500,000.

The government is instituting an inquiry into the telephone system, said Premier Brownlee on Thursday. The system was handicapped by extensive capitalization, caused by lines being placed where they could not pay their way. A large part of the system must be regarded as a colonization project. If the rates had been raised in the past three years it would probably have led to decreased rather than increased revenues. The enquiry was taken into consideration in capitalization and rates, but no part of the capitalization could be placed in general revenue without the consent of the legislature.

The Bell With the Voice of a Woman

Canadian Pacific Rys. "Empress of Scotland" leaves Hong Kong.

NOW from the Temple of Todai-ji at Nara, Japan, there is a gigantic bell which weighs about forty-eight tons. It is 18½ feet high, 10 inches thick at the rim, and 27 feet in circumference, and the volume of its tones is enormous and awe-inspiring. At times it seems as if there were a woman in the bell, weeping bitterly in the night, singing blithely during the day. Passengers making the Round the World Cruise on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland heard it ring, saw the immense volume sway.

About this famous bell there is a fantastic tale carried on the lips of stunt-eyed, Mongolian children through the picturesque, intriguing streets on which they play. Many hundreds of years ago, a stern and powerful Emperor ruled Japan with an iron hand. When ill, he would command impossible tasks for his amusement. One day he decided he would have a new bronze bell, one which would be more beautiful and mellower tones than any other bell in his empire.

So he said: "Hop Si Wan, the most famous bell-maker, an aged and honorable servant of the Crown for many years, a man who had served three Emperors well." And Hop Si Wan was told to make a bell that would please the Emperor. An artistic bell, a beautiful bell, a bell with a tone like a human voice.

Hop went away to his workshop, which was near his home, and worked for days and nights, mixed the ingredients, watched over the melting pot. Finally the bell was made and erected. Soon it rang.

No sooner had the first echo died away that the Emperor called for Hop. "Imbecile!" thundered the Emperor. "Was your foul carcass be devoured by demons That you should infest upon the earth? Or monarch the sun-god will call that a bell? Are you merely lump of brass? Go and make another bell, if you can, equal to mine, or your due." So spoke the Emperor. Perhaps not in those words, but in similar language, for Hop came home that night in mortal fear and trembling.

Hop had a beautiful daughter She was as good as she was beautiful—indeed, a rarity. To her, Hop school out the story of his failure and the displeasure of the Emperor. She listened sympathetically and nodded wisely and told Hop to start work immediately on the second bell.

Again the ancient servitor worked for days and nights. Again he boiled his ingredients. And one day at twilight, just as he was watching over them, his beautiful daughter rushed out of the house and leaped into the huge boiling caldron of molten bronze. "Father, 'tis for thee," she said, heart and weary. Hop continued his work. His nimble fingers fashioned the bell with the deftness of grief. Intricate designs, very dear, appeared on it as if by magic. It grew to a great size, and many workmen were needed to erect it. When it rang, there was a tone of such great beauty, as of a woman weeping bitterly in the night over the departure of her lover, as of a mother mourning for her child, as of a lark welcoming the dawn that all who heard it wept.

The mighty Emperor called for Hop and said, "Thou hast done well indeed. I am satisfied." And Hop fell dead.

Such is the story told about the bell which is not far from the Temple of Todai-ji. But then the same story is told of other beautiful bells in Japan.

Stop The Flood

The problem of [illegible] effectively, dam to stem the flood of United States publications, large and small, that is pouring into Canada [illegible] Canadian publishers but for Canada as a national entity.

Probably not [illegible] publications is not to be thought of except as a matter of time, while control on the grounds of morality and decency is the ultimate attempt at self-castration in what the appetites and appeal in the [illegible] readers. The United States should limit [illegible] and if it fails to do there is no reason in this world why Canada should not protect itself by taking such action. Such prohibition is not necessary to any people. They serve no good or useful purpose and are wholly harmful.

A system [illegible] censored and now being wholly discarded that, while not sparing any absurdity in the way of killed States papers and leaves [illegible] Canada, a tax should be imposed on the advertising matter published in them. Canada is used as a "dumping" ground for their many issues and papers largely for the purpose of forwarding circulation receipts by boosting advertising rates and revenue for the publishers and providing an [illegible] through which United States advertisers and others can reach Canada by [illegible] their wares before the Canadian public. These magazines are sold in Canada at a price considerably below the cost of production, and [illegible] from the sale carried annually by the Canadian post office department at an annual loss to the Government.

That these American publications are circulated in Canada, solely in order to obtain additional distribution of the advertisements is fairly well demonstrated by the fact that in their literary contents little or no attempt is made to cater to the tastes and tastes of Canadian readers. They are "Made in the United States"—an [illegible] of that word, through and through.

Take the current issue of one of the weekly publications which has a very large circulation in Canada. It consists of 116 pages, printed on book paper, and each copy weighs over a pound and a half. It retails for [illegible] or less than the cost of the white paper. Of the 116 pages 91 are devoted to reading matter and illustrations all, with the exception of the front cover, printed in black ink. The other 116 pages are advertisements and 64 of these are full page advertisements printed in all the colors of the rainbow, and then some—reds, blues, greens, purples, browns, yellows, pinks, mauves, and very [illegible] shades and combinations of these colors. In a word, the magazine is mainly an advertising catalogue, and a beautifully attractive one at that, of United States goods.

If all the advertising matter entered [illegible] as a subsidy or as straight advertising matter, those [illegible] dollars would have to be paid on it in customs duties, but coming in [illegible] of a magazine it is practically free of duty. And in addition the Canadian post office distributes a large percentage of it at a [illegible] nominal rate. In some cases United States advertisers [illegible] millions of dollars are sent to its [illegible] publishers, this matter [illegible] in Canada.

The point it is argued—and with reason, that while United States magazines should still be allowed free entry into Canada, a tax should be imposed on the advertising matter contained in them to the same extent that [illegible] Canadian publications would be called on if such advertising was used in an edition [illegible] for sale or mainly for circulation in Canada.

If [illegible] of course, would be a decided decrease in the number of such publications sold in Canada by such publishers, but that is not the point to be considered. Canada is not interested in their subscription price, in the [illegible] of their publications, but only in the [illegible] of their advertising matter contained in them. If the [illegible] of such advertising was kept in an orderly manner [illegible] of [illegible] to [illegible] a tax being placed on the [illegible] of United States concerns endeavoring for business in [illegible].

Fresh Linguistic Case

A [illegible] case came [illegible] Court [illegible] which will save [illegible] a journey for the [illegible] relations. Judge [illegible] of [illegible] there and took it [illegible] and for the [illegible] was suffering [illegible] Hewitt [illegible] Hewitt [illegible] Hewitt

The Tragedy Explained

Local citizens feel that a somewhat erroneous impression has been created by reports by the Chief of damage on the Athabasca River flats this spring. They point out that the death of the pioneer farmer of Mink creek, Chris Preutlin, with his wife and four small children, was largely an accident. It appears that the Preutlin home was not endangered, but that Mrs. Preutlin was in delirium

We find, and it is unquestionably true, that the most important matters relative to a man's affairs DURING HIS LIFE are generally taken care of by him, but those relative to the business which he leaves behind him AFTER HIS LIFE are generally seriously neglected, thus causing his family quite unnecessary worry and expense, due in ninety per cent of cases to a lack of proper knowledge in preparing for that time, which MUST COME. We have made a special study of such things, and will be very pleased to give you all the information at our disposal.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

KETCHAMONT

Field work started last week and is now general over our district. Also bulls, bats and mitts are being dug up for the summer sport of baseball. The first practice took place on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Moline and family of Amisk Creek visited at the C. H. Ingram home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shultz who have been residing on the Clarence Mitchell farm the last two years, moved into town last week, they having purchased the home formerly occupied by the Roy Lewis family.

Ketchamont is right in line with Edmonton and elsewhere, having several cases of measles in the district.

Miss Emma Brake is staying with her sister, Mrs. Henry McGuirin.

Mrs. A. McMullen is caring for Mr. Marin and Norma, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McMullen, while their mother is in the hospital.

Miss Pearl Gray of Lakeshore is assisting Mrs. L. Radabaugh with the spring work.

Mr. John Pruden is helping Mr. McMullen with his spring work.

Mrs. Wm. Lee entertained the M.A.S. at her home last Wednesday afternoon. Under a large crowd was present, an enjoyable afternoon was spent. Quilting was the main feature of the afternoon. The May meeting will be held with Mrs. Carlisle.

The auction sale held in aid of the New Rink Building fund on Saturday last proved a bargain counter for a number of buyers. Friends of the rink are very much disappointed at the result, but the people of the buyers must have been very hard-up. A typewriter at four dollars, and an automobile at fifteen dollars (in good running order) tells the tale. The editor almost wish he had been more sympathetic with the object and method, for who knows? Mabel Asano were visitors in Edmonton during Easter week.

Mrs. E. Pearson and daughter, E. Ruth have gone to Vancouver Island B. C.

The Plantan family, Arnold Sand, Otto Anderson, Mrs. Beecken and daughter from Ryley were all guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Berg last Sunday.

Ranching Edmonton on April 6th, she discovered, instead of an eager lover to meet her, a man in the hospital stricken with pneumonia, who was near to death; and instead of the middle aged husband she had thought was to be hers, the man with whom she had been corresponding turned out to be an old, gray man of over 80.

Coming into the city to make preparations for the wedding, to buy clothes, and even to purchase the ring, he had been picked up by the police who had come upon him lying on the pavement in the down town section. It was believed he was intoxicated. Investigations showed, however, that he was seriously ill and he was at once taken to the hospital. He died on Saturday.

When first she glimsed this old man feeble and tottering on the grave, the woman who had come all the way from England to marry him, hesitated. She suggested that they wait until he should recover. As a consequence the will that had been made in favor he something her everything that he would leave, was altered. Shortly before he passed away, though, he repented and was to have changed it once more, this time to make it out with his wife to be as beneficiary. He died before he put this with into action.

Despite the final conditions of the will, the woman, had she followed the suggestion made, that she marry him in the hospital, would have received one half of his estate under the intestate succession act by which the will would have been declared inoperative. He left about $2000.00.

Although the opportunity has been offered her of remaining in Alberta it is probable that she will return to England a sadder, but certainly a wiser woman, so far as correspondence agencies are concerned.

(Received too late for insertion in last week's issue.

The weather has been very nice for a few days, nearly all the snow is gone. The water in the creek came almost as high this year as last year. It flooded over the grades in several places and made the road very bad.

Convicts Whine Over Trifles

Modern "Bad Man" Not Old Hard Boiled Type

Complete these days are not the old hard-boiled type of thing in the past now who were really tough and started in it and could take or give a blow with out any time.

The modern "bad man" is more the afternoon tea and parcels-puff variety who suffers from "nerves" and likes to cry about it.

This is illustrated in the latest prison report of the governor of Dartmoor Prison which for generations has housed desperate criminals.

"The present-day convict is for boiled—diluted than his courtesy of old on days," said the governor, "but he is softer and more apt to whine over trifles. Assaults are almost unknown, but petition are becoming a evil.

Tenderfoot Kills Famous Grizzly

Hunted For Decade Fatly Victim To Rank Amateur

The famous old grizzly bear, Elkton Inch, which has been hunted by parties of big game hunters from all over the country for more than a decade, is dead at last, shot by a rank amateur armed only with a .25 caliber auto-matic pistol. Elkton Inch was given his name because of his immense 11½ feet, as demonstrated by his tracks in the mud. Other grizzlies measured up to seven and eight inches, and sometimes an extra large one would measure eight and one-half inches, but the famous big fellow topped them all with an eleven-inch paw. Nobody ever measured his real foot, of course, until after he was killed, but his foot print was known to all—Rocky Mountain News.

In the past children were permitted to leave school on attaining the age of 14. This released them throughout the year, and it was possible for them to be absorbed in industry and commerce gradually.

This takes so many upon entire for pupils in the same time the whole number of the classes which is necessarily to enable life for a ten with liable time before they can be absorbed into the industries

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON VIII.

THE STORY OF CAIN AND ABEL

Golden Text—"I am my brother's keeper." Genesis 4:9.

Lesson, Genesis 4:1-26.

Devotional Reading: I John 4:16-21.

Explanations and Comments

I. The occupations of Cain and Abel (vs. 1, 2). Cain, the first child born into the world, and Abel, the second. Cain said Abel "I have gotten," because he was the word Cain. Cain became a tiller of the ground, a husbandman, and Abel a keeper of sheep, a shepherd.

II. The Two Sacrificial Offerings, verses 3-5. The two brothers brought each an offering to Jehovah. Cain's offering was the fruit of the ground, Abel's, the first-born of his flock, the fat-ty-milky parts (or pieces of which were offered in sacrifice. Lev. 1:8; 3:3. The motive of sacrifice is not explained, nor is an altar mentioned. Abel is assumed to be in a nature endowed with religious instincts, and capable of holding communion with God. Probably was man's mode of approach to the Deity, and sacrifice was the outward expression of the Herbert E. Hyle). "From the entire time of Abel onwards, sacrifices are universal, and with increasing clearness, are believed to be the appointed of the one way by which sinful man can draw nearer to God. Sacrifice was probably with God, till we have the sacrifice of our Savior Jesus Christ."

Gov.-General's New Limousine

The Finest Car Ever Produced in the Dominion

The fact that the governor-general's new limousine, presented by Canadian war veterans, is the finest car ever built in Canada, is said to be largely due to the fact that war veterans employed in the plant at Oshawa where the car was built, made a special drive on the job.

Everything for "his majesty's car" got extra service and the men put the same work into it as their contribution to Byng's gift. The presentation of the car was not the complete story, for the veterans have also provided for its insurance and even its transportation to London when his career here returns to the motherland.

Perfect Strangers

Frank A. Munsey told a story about a feat that Jupiter gave in all the virtues. The virtues were very jolly and sociable at the feast, but two of them—two of the most beautiful of them—seemed aloof and constrained in each other's presence. Accordingly Jupiter took the one virtue by the hand and led her to the other. "Dear children," he said—"your sister, tenderness, and the virtues were indeed astonished. This was the first time they had ever met!"

Perhaps nothing else could have completely restored the equanimity of Joanna. Somehow it brought her back to a realization of her dignity and power all things either her boss's chauffeur utter rot, or her boss's banker before noon.

All the confidence in the world crowned under the obliviscence of brown of her ultra mudish bob as she followed the obsequious doorman down the marbled vestibule of the metropolitan bank and up to the door that bore the legend, "Andrew Engelsman."

CHAPTER III.

In the great marble corridors of the banking institution one of the principal links existed with the financial affairs of a nation revealed. "Miss Twenty-seven of the office" fell very short in the fashion of Barrie. But of her years the latter knew little but cared devoted to Joanna's soul. There was laugh in her eyes, and many, many dreams in her mind.

So, Joanna, convinced against her will that something tremendous was impending in her, stirred, herself for admitting such a possibility. She wanted no such fear inside, the literal attendant, by the above and farve him to give for an accounting of his obscenities on her. He made no answer for that her worthiness. Her breath began to come in trembling gasps when the panelled door marked with the name of the great man she had been told would receive her, swung inward. She heard her guide announce:

"The lady you are expecting, sir!"

She was conscious of someone at her desk, of a big, florid man, of a small, dapper, pleasantly, as if warming some inner satisfaction. There was a smile that had been about the mouth of the other man, whose presence Joanna knew to be that of a British officer which conveyed him and his office to the last two years. He took a second and encompass her, with a new sort of interest. Still, there was doubt in his eyes.

The banker reached into his table drawer and brought out a folded check book, the dolster kind that was shaped for the hand knee of women. With elaborate politeness he unfolded the book, bent back the cream-leaf of blank check which it contained, and, then spread out, he showed it to Joanna's hand. From his pocket he took his own gold fountain pen, opened it, and held it out to her.

Isn't there a homely saying that runs something like, "Make" The proof of the pudding is in the eating!" It seems that I have heard that expression, but I was never able to know the answer to either of those two questions. Whenever you want me to have it, someone whom the bank, and I, know very well and whom we have implicit confidence in his motives, has put the fortune at your disposal. It is then your privilege of the bank to replenish the fund it you most requirements beyond the list year, or didn't you? Or, if you do, you may give further direction."

"Not at all!" And in the tone of the banker's pronouncement there was a world of finality. "Whatever you want you to have is, someone whom the bank, and I, know very well and whom we have implicit confidence in his motives, has put the fortune at your disposal. It is then your privilege of the bank to replenish the fund it you most requirements beyond the list year, or didn't you? Or, if you do, you may give further direction."

"You're very kind!" After a while he will give me directions?"

SAVE THE FORESTS

OUR PRESENT civilization is largely based on the use of paper. The relative quantity of paper used by different countries is an index of the degree of civilization attained.

Although certain grades of paper are still made from other materials, wood is the cheapest and best and, even when produced on a crop basis, will provide the greatest volume on a given area at lowest cost.

Over 50 per cent of Canada's manufacturing industries depend upon wood as a raw material. Wood products enter into every phase of human existence.

During tech last fifteen years, the annual cut of timber for the production of lumber, lath, shingles, and pulp wood has been increasing at an average rate of 1c million cubic feet per annum. For all purposes the increase is estimated to be 25 million cubic feet.

The failure of accessible supplies of raw material in Eastern Canada is already indicated in an average annual decrease of 62 million feet board measure in the production of lumber during the last 17 years in these provinces.

Lumber production in British Columbia is increasing as the eastern markets are opened to western lumber. On the average the eastern consumer must pay $20 to $30 for transportation on every 1000 feet brought from British Columbia. He must now buy British Columbia lumber largely because eastern timber supplies have been so seriously depleted.

Fire is the worst enemy that tre forest has. One disastrous fire will destroy more lumber than an army of workmen could cut in a season. Every forest fire of large dimensions is a national disaster. As far as it lies in his or her power, every citizen of Canada should try to prevent forest fires. Mutual welfare, industry, and to a large extent, even civilization depends upon the growth of the forest.

FIRST FORTNIGHTLY CROP REPORT

Issued by The Department of Agriculture

The opening of the 1926 crop season in Alberta finds the moisture conditions in the soil average to good. A fairly good supply of moisture remained in the ground from the heavy crowns and rains last autumn, but this has been largely augmented during the winter' because of the extremely light snow fall. Nevertheless, the seed bed is in satisfactory condition, and the outlook for the coming season may be said to be encouraging.

The unusually mild winter experienced in Alberta was characterized by the arrival of a period of spring like weather in the middle of March. This enabled farmers in several districts in southwestern Alberta, and in one or two districts in the Peace River country to get on to the land, and some plowing and other work was done. This was later suspended owing to cold weather with snow.

Spring operations have now been resumed, however, and are well advanced throughout the province. Seeding will become general this week in the southwestern districts, with the exception of the work done during March, the general date for commencement of operations was April 5, and work has so far proceeded now that it was possible to start seeding as early as April 15th. Seeding has now become general in the southeastern districts. In the south-eastern districts work on the land commenced about April 15th, and is now general.

The prospects are for a slight increase in the area in spring wheat and oats, with a considerable increase in the southern districts of fodder corn and sweet clover. The percentage of fall plowing done was negligible, and the acreage of winter wheat and rye is small, although in one or two districts some spring fields of both crops have been seeded.

Stock has wintered well, and have been able to feed in the open practically throughout the winter.

WORSHIPPERS OF THE SUN GOD

The Chief's tribe for the Dance.

Long ago, under the shadow of the Canadian Pacific Rockies, the western Indians worshipped the sun with strange and barbarous rites. It was the custom of the red men of the plains to bow down in homage each year in worship to the Great Spirit that gave him light to see, strength to fight, power for battle, warmth when he was cold, and in all ways enhanced the prospects through the months ahead of his being.

While tribes gathar together during the month of midsummer, when none slept on which the sun shines every moment from sunrise to sunset, to worship and be blessed in the sight of the sun god. An Indian woman, selected by the Head Men of the tribes, embodies the highest sacrifice of all those gathered on the site in the sun dance lodge for four days and four nights and every two hours of this time her head is sprinkled with ashes. The woman does not eat or drink and is guarded by the fire bigs, lest she or which doctors of the tribe, with sing and chant monotonously all the time. Whistles are blown and long loans beaten. All so that the sun god should not close her eyes in sleep.

The sun-worshippers include the mightiest of the Indian tribes, the Blackfeet, Stonys, Piegans, and Sarcees. They have a heritage of noble blood in their veins.

Throughout the ages, despite the apparently civilizing influence of the white man, they have retained their form of worship. Many of these Indians are Christians. The Sun Dance, however, still survives. Many of them are well educated and speak English with a fluency that would astonish the average white man. But in their secret hearts they know, they feel they have been unable to eradicate the beliefs and superstitions in which their race submerged for centuries, before the Canadian Pacific Railway bored its way through the mountains of granite and brought the white man with his superior standards of life.

Once a year the Indians shed the conventional raiment of the white man, which they have adopted, and gather to dance around the campfires, offering charges as lures as sacrifices for the favour of the sun god. And so the festivities continue for

NEW LIBERAL LEADER CHOSEN

Practically unanimously refusing a resolution made on the floor of the convention by Ed F. Ryan, Calgary lawyer, that nomination of a provincial general liberal leader be not made until after the provincial election, Alberta Liberals in executive meeting called at the Macdonald hotel today gave enthusiastic endorsation to the only name placed in nomination, that of Joseph T. Shaw of Calgary.

The choice was made by executives representing every provincial constituency and as explained by Hon. W. A. Buchanan, who took the chair at the opening of the convention, this form of procedure had been adopted, following the system in Saskatchewan, when a successor to Hon. C. A. Dunning was named.

One hundred and twenty-five delegates were present at the convention, and a large number of liberals who, though not delegates, were invited to take an active part in the discussions.

Here and There

Lord and Lady Allenby have left Canada, on board the Canadian Pacific liner "Montrose," for home. The distinguished general was received enthusiastically in every city throughout his tour of the Dominion. He delivered addresses showing the importance of the rapture of Palestine to the Allies in the Great War.

V. C. Vickers, managing director of Messrs. Vickers Ltd., London, England, who arrived in Canada recently on board the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Canada," reported that the shipbuilding industry both in China and Japan was in a healthier condition than for many years past, with shipbuilders favoring the motor ship.

Travelling right across the Dominion, exclusively on Canadian Pacific lines and in the palatial special car "Loch Lomond," Her Grace the Duchess of Atholl, whose family seat is at Banff, Scotland, will make acquaintance for the first time in her life with the world famous resort in the Canadian Rockies, which took its name from her Scottish home.

A. Hatten, general superintendent of transportation for the Canadian Pacific Railway, has announced the intention of the company to raise the embargo against the loading of grain to Fort William and Port Arthur and the milling companies and elevators at Winnipeg. This is due to the anticipation of the opening of navigation on the Great Lakes about April 26.

The total yield of wheat in Canada for 1925, as finally estimated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, is 418,849,700 bushels, the second largest on record, having been exceeded only by the 1923 crop. The value of this crop is estimated at $468,110,200, or over $43 per capita of Canadian population. The average wheat yield was 19.3 bushels per acre.

A general survey of reports by the Canadian Pacific Railway on agricultural conditions throughout the West shows that farmers are pleased with present conditions and speak optimistically on the season's outlook. Sufficient moisture for spring crops seems to be assured. Livestock wintered well. Adequate supplies of seed are available and no shortage of labor is expected.

A special C. P. R. train carrying 418 settlers from the S.S. "Montcalm" reached Winnipeg recently. Among the passengers were thirty-one British families who came under the 3,000 family settlement scheme. There was one party of 16 German-speaking Catholics, and the Salvation Army, under Captain Sharp, brought in a party of twenty young lads going to British Columbia.

It has been announced by the passenger department of the C. P. R. at Winnipeg that negotiations have been complete with the Central Canada Air Lines Limited, for an air service between Kenora and the new gold fields at Long Lake and Red Lake. A regular daily service is to be inaugurated about May 24 in connection with the C.P.R. fleet there and during summer services will be run between Kenora and Duluth.

The recent fire at the Banff Springs Hotel, which resulted in the destruction of the north wing with about seventy rooms, will have little effect on the coming tourist season. During the past winter the company has built an annex with 100 rooms with baths and, with the central stone tower and the south wing of the old building that were saved, there will be a total of 315 rooms available by July 1, or more than were in use last year.

The convention was unanimous throughout until the Ryan resolution, brought on to the floor of the meeting after it had been turned down by the resolutions committee of which J. C. Bowen opposition leader in the legislature was chairman, injected the first an only sign that all was not quite as it should be.

The Ryan resolution urged that "after full and careful consideration, we have decided in the best interests of the liberal party not to name or appoint a provincial leader at the present time, but that such appointment should be made out yet a general provincial convention of liberals of all cases and distinctions, and such convention shall be called after the next general election by the newly elected liberal members, acting in co-operation with the executive of the Provincial Liberal Association, to be held at such time and place as may be deemed expedient."

W. F. Puffer of Lacombe, seconded the resolution, which after some discussion, was put to the convention, and given an almost unanimous refusal.

The nomination and election of Mr. Shaw was then proceeded with amid a scene of great enthusiasm, the applause lasting for several minutes before the new leader could make himself heard in his speech of appreciation for the honor done him.

To make any resolutions they saw fit.

Here and There

Charles Reddock, housemover of Calgary, Alta., has undertaken what seemed to be an impossible task of moving sixty houses over mountain roads from Banhead to Banff. In forty days he moved thirty-eight of the houses six and a half miles.

Exports from Canada for the month of February were $27,862,169 while imports were recorded at $17,-908,208 for the same period. For the twelve months ending February 28 last, exports reached a value of $1,297,744,262 while imports were fixed at $911,107,066.

One of the largest business transactions recorded in the West took place here on March 11th last when the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers mailed approximately 190,000 cheques amounting to a total of $27,000,000, to members of the wheat pool.

The rapid development of the fish off and fish products industry on the Pacific coast this year may necessitate the fitting up of three coastwise vessels as tankers to carry oil from the reduction plants. Last year one vessel found this method successful. Fish reduction plants, it is estimated, will produce 10,000 tons of fish meal and fertilizer this year.

President E. W. Beatty, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has asked approval of the shareholders for the construction of two new passenger vessels of the type of "Montcalm," "Montclare," and "Montrose," to be available for service in May, 1927, and five freight vessels of 5,000 tons, with a cen speed of about 14 knots, also to be ready for 1927.

During the past season 1,238 moose and 3,500 deer were killed in New Brunswick. Of the former 937 fell to the guns of non-resident hunters and 617 of the latter. In the same year animals killed for fur included 1,567 raccoon; 6,617 skunk; 10,314 muskrat; 8,416 fisher; 2,419 ermine; 177 martin; 2,263 mink; 305 otter; 67 fisher and 193 bear.

The Canadian champion two year old Ayrshire heifer, "Princess Beatrice" 3rd, owned and bred by the Nova Scotia Agricultural College, has another record in supply of milk and butter fat. From January 13 to March 15 she produced 4,016 pounds of milk, an average of 67 pounds a day. Butter fat was 220 pounds for the same period, equal to 275 pounds of butter.

Their Majesties King George and Queen Mary paid a private visit to the first Exhibition of Paintings and Sculpture by Canadian artists which is being shown in London. Among the exhibits are pictures by Leonard Richmond of Lake Menzies, Lake O'Hara and Lake Louise, painted by the artist during his visit to the Canadian Rockies last year with the Trail Riders.

According to an announcement by D. C. Coleman, vice-president and general manager of western lines of the C.P.R. at Winnipeg, the Canadian Pacific Railway is to construct a hotel of 200 guest rooms on a downtown site at Regina. This hotel is being built in response to a request voiced on many occasions by representatives of the citizens of Regina.

FIRE THREATENS OUR NATIONAL HERITAGE

Carelessness Destroys 3,000,000 acres annually of Canadian Forest

Loss of standing timber by fire continues to be appalling. On the average, over 3,500 million board feet are destroyed annually. The forests of Canada are being depleted at a rate they cannot possibly withstand;; more than half of this depletion is due tto fire, insects and decay. The future of the forest industry is just as dependent on the seedling trees and young growth as the pulp and paper and lumber mills, and industry generally, are dependent on mature timber—both must be saved from the ravages of fire.

In addition to the shelter afforded by the forest to the farmer and his stock, settlers in forested regions are vitally dependent on the woods for winter employment. Care with fire in land-clearing operations is all essential—burned timber pays no wages.

Canada has the finest inland fishinng in the world, but these splendid food and game fish require clean, cold water in the, streams to ensure prolific reproduction. Forest fires are inimical to fish life,.

Game animals attract foreign ttourists and induce Canadians to seek pleasure, health and adventure in the great outdoors. These animals are disttinctly a forest resource—utterly dependent on it for protection and food. Forest fires are most destructive of such wild life.

Ninety per cent of the forest fires are caused by carelessness. Are you doing your part to prevent this wanton waste and destruction?

Watch Your Cows

At this season of the year when cows are on the lookout for something fresh and green and are eager to eat the first green stuff avilable, special care should be taken to prevent poisoning by wild parsnip. This plant generally grows in or by the side of sloughs and attains size and color before the grass. Cows searching for spring greens eat it and dire results follow.

A cow lost at this season of the year means a loss of several cans of cream this summer.

Introducing to Mercury Readers The KOHLER Automatic Lighting Plant 110 Volt Direct Current.

"I must say the Kohler is a fine plant. We have lights in the house, barn, bughouse, and yard. We run the washing machine, flatiron and curler. Also in bolchering time we use the meat grinder and that takes power, but the Kohler does it.

"We have seventeen lights, and sometimes three and the flat iron are all on together. The cost, as near as I have kept track, is about seven cents a day in winter and three cents per day in the summer."

Canada's Mineral Wealth

Canada's position as the seat of a very marked development of the mineral resources of the country which it is well known the Dominion has in abundance, is a matter of common knowledge, and has been commented upon in the columns of newspapers and periodicals throughout the world, and in fact all over the Seven Seas. Whether the Dominion will speedily have a port although to some extent [illegible] of industrial development in the world is not to be stated, and on the Seaboard, like the United States against it. It is probable that ultimately this development will attain the stage of stability of all the Middle States. Even in Ontario, resulting in a diminution of [illegible] minerals at Lorraine. A large aluminum manufacturing plant [illegible] with the result that an entirely new city will arise in the district presently.

During the last year or two Ontario has been considerably overshadowed in the front as one of the world's greatest gold producers and 1925 gave it to be a record year in that respect. Now with the rush into the fresh discovered Red Lake district and a great awakening of interest in the Province of Quebec to its prospects and increased prospecting, the probabilities of a further rich addition to the production and of the acreage of mineral wealth of the province are exceedingly high.

Another of the most encouraging features of the situation is, however, in its variety. Without limit, a large sum of money is available for development in the famous Flin Flon area. There is in immediate prospect a $12,000,000 development of a rapidly growing city with a population of 10,000 souls and eager to unite in making the establishment of a smelter there a thing possible the development of other mines in the same district, many of which are ready to contribute the Flin Flon in richness of ore. The Government and Legislature of Manitoba are co-operating in the matter of providing necessary railway facilities through the construction of a new line from Hudson Bay Railway to the Flin Flon mine. A fillip to co-operate the railway has already caused renewed activity in the Legislature.

In both Ontario and Saskatchewan increased interest is being taken in the discovery and development of promising oil-bearing properties and while many of these are still of unknown value possibilities are revealed that oil will ultimately be found in both provinces in large and payable quantities. It is undoubtedly certain that in a greater extent than ever before the home coal deposits in those two provinces will be developed to meet Canadian demands and make the Dominion less dependent than formerly on foreign fuel supplies.

These developments are all likely gratifying from a national standpoint and have been urged repeatedly in this column. It is only through the development of its material resources that Canada can prosper as it should and keep its population, provide increased traffic for its lines, railway, railroad, and still satisfy itself to be heavy war debts. Every sound scheme or development is to be welcomed and encouraged.

At the same time a note of warning to the general public is in order. Gold and other mineral discoveries have been and are attended, and rightly, they capture the imagination of people, and arouse great enthusiasms. Men with not any scruples take advantage of the resulting excitement, organize paper companies, issue alluring stock-selling and prospectuses, promising to make all who invest rich overnight. They never tell of the many who have invested and lost, but recite the stories of the few who have made investments out of a penny run.

This is a time therefore, for people to be on their guard against the unscrupulous promoters of mining stocks and options. Unquestionably there will be any good and rightful investments to be made, but before risking any money people should make the most careful inquiry into the merits of the proposition submitted to them and investments in public.

Also without such responsible reports can be obtained, and advantage should be taken of these before any money is paid over or any undertakings signed. As a rule, any general material property can obtain the capital desired for its development, if the right sort of information is available and honest promoters can get to raise the money and gamble, offering one dollar stock for five and a quarter. If it was worth a dollar, that is the price that would be demanded. The utmost probability is that it is not worth five cents, and at selling.

Canada itself should be extremely welcome and encourage all legitimate prospecting and development of the Dominion's wealth, but not only for their own sake as individuals, but for the good name and sound prosperity of Canada itself, should frown down upon and have no part in with the professional hike will scatter who knows little about mining or minerals, and whose operations serve to "under mine" confidence in Canada and retard the steady progress and prosperity.

health and Mr. Prentiss did not want to take a chance of being cut off from town and medical services when the river rose, hence he endeavored to drive through the flats where water was already filling the holes.

It is fairly well established that the horses became entangled in wire fencing, while attempting to ford a gulley in the road, with the result that the family were thrown into the water and drowned.

It is now stated that none of the farm houses on the flats were seriously menaced, and that no livestock was lost, and no material damage done. Residents of the locality wish to make it clear that no cases of want exist and that things have returned to normal with the farmers back in their homes and carrying on as usual.

Orient Likes Canadian Wheat

Recognition of the superior quality of Canadian wheat is evidenced by the fact that Canada's wheat is preferred by the Oriental markets of Japan and China. Merchants in the Orient call for Canadian wheat, and for the crop year 1924-25 handled an aggregate of 19,000,000 bushels, as compared with 2,112,000 bushels in 1923-24, and 4,565,500 bushels in 1922-23. This increase is due to growing favor of Canadian hard wheat and to the fact that prices were rather this season.

THE BEAVER LAKE TRAGEDY

IT IS with extreme regret that we report this week, the death, by drowning, of Frank Walker and Herbert Harriman, both well known and respected farmers of this district. To the relatives it is a very sad blow and the fact that both men were related by marriage, makes it doubly sad. The sympathy of the entire neighborhood goes out to the bereaved ones.

SPORT

SIMULTANEOUSLY with the commencement of spring work on the farms there commences the yearly round of spring and summer sports. At this particular time of year, while seeding is in progress, the farmer, and even the farmer' boy has little time for sport, but a little later, both father and son, either on the side lines or in the field will take advantage of the healthy diversion that sport creates.

As an added feature to the more serious things of life, there are few things more beneficial to old or young than clean sport. The rest to win, the discipline of properly accepting defeat, the healthy exercise in the open air, all contribute towards creating a correct mental outlook on life. There is no place where character can be better judged or molded than on the baseball diamond or the football field.

Tofield is very fortunate as regards sport for young folk. The Tuxis, Trail Rangers and C. G. I. T. organizations have organized teams and have arranged plenty of games. That some of these are held on Sunday is no dis-credit to them. Composed of youngsters who find the time after Sunday school horesome, these games provide a natural outlet to imprisoned activity.

There is of course the senior baseball club, the tennis club and the golf club. It has been suggested that a bowling green be made at Tofield. This game is very popular in many places and is a nice quiet game. Soft ball, similar to baseball, but slower, to allow more mature people to take part is also popular in many communities.

As a change and relief from work, active sport in its many forms is excellent for old and young. It should, however, always remain a change and relief and not be played until it becomes work (except in the case of profesional athletes) for then its benefits largely disappear.

Rah! Rah! Collegians Planning to Invade Europe To Call Upon England, Holland Belgium and France

England, Holland, Belgium and France are the popular countries for collegiate tours during the summer of 1928, and the St. Lawrence route seems to be the popular short route for many students. The idea of being able to cross the ocean and get back home again at the price usually paid for one way, seems to be the necessary inducement to college people, and bookings are much ahead of last year.

No one should attempt to see Europe without a background of history. The experienced traveller, after crossing the ecliptic tourist route lists, and plan a west visiting United, the great intellectual centre Stoke Poges and other hits of rural England, and London. London is full of interest historically and has many nooks and crannies filled with the ghosts of famous literary characters.

Travel comes next to England in popularity with college folk. There are who become so thrilled with life in Paris that a second trip across the ocean would be incomplete without at least a week in the city of boulevards and art galleries of France's capital. But there are others to whom the somewhat superficial atmosphere of the chic Paris is less attractive than the wooden shoon and quaint caps and flaxen braids of the Hollandaise.

Very few in Canada have not some keen personal interest in the battle areas of France and Belgium, and on account of the delightful tours undertaken by extensive motor the through Belgium Ypres, Mons, Vimy Ridge, Arras, Soissons, Rheims, Belleau Wood, Chateau Thierry, Amiens, Berlin, and Rheims.

The idea of the collegiate tours is rapidly gaining ground and the number of students and professors last year has doubled with each other before. This year ever increasing numbers will follow the example set by the venturesome ones of last year.

At first, the travel third class did not appeal even to the enthusiastic graduate unable to do travel without a substantial reduction in rate, the second class fares. But, realizing the increasing number of professional people willing to travel at reduced rates, the steamship companies inaugurated the tourist third rate, put rugs on bare stateroom floors, revised the menus to suit Canadian tastes instead of foreign, and the result was that students and professors last year imbedded with each other before Xmas. This year ever increasing

CONSERVATIVES HOLD MEETING AT TOFIELD

The weather man was extremely kind to farmers on Saturday last, it being an ideal spring day. But being kind to farmers did not result the members at the conservative meeting held at the Variety Theatre. But even though, from a farmers view point it was anything but the time to discuss politics, the number attending was around the thirty mark.

T. R. Henderson was chairman of the meeting, and briefly introduced the first speaker, Mr. Fraser of Vegreville, the conservative candidate for this constituency.

Mr. Fraser spoke briefly on the motive of his candidature. He expressed thanks for the high honor he, himself upon him, and if elected, would endeavor to be worthy of it. He was pleased to be at Tofield and looked forward to a return visit in the near future.

Mr. J. Adair supported the candidate by delivering an interesting address. He stated that when the province was first formed, the conservatives contended that the natural resources should be controlled by the province; time has proven that they were right. The same spiked to the control of education. The local government was alright during Premier Rutherford's time, but was the ed, west of Premier Stilson an easy de public spending was commenced, that has placed the province in debt to the extent of $57,000,000. The conservatives always believed that the Alberta and Great Waterways railway should have been a dominion government in'stead of provincial one to-day. It believed in protection, a policy that had built up the United States and these people living in Canada, who favoured free trade, were in his opinion, more concerned over the welfare of the United States than over the welfare of Canada. The present Alberta government did not give the cities and urban centres the amount of consideration due to them.

Mr. Ewing was the next speaker. He dealt with the financial condition of the province, quoting figures to uphold his contention. He condemned the enormous debt of the province. He too paid a tribute to the Rutherford administration. Both liberals and Farmer governments have increased the debt of the province right along, the present government being responsible for $22,000,000. The people should lay aside class views and support the party that offers the best business administration.

The meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

LOCAL

Born.—To Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sutton, on April 23rd, a daughter.

Mr. Simmons of the Rose Creek district has reputedly sold his half section there. He is interested in a half section in the Bardo district, which he may purchase. He has made a trip to outside points, but after quite a number of years residence here, he is still convinced that as a farming district the Tofield district is A.1.

L. P. Woodhams, optometrist of Camrose is billed to pay a professional visit to Tofield on Wednesday, May 9th. He will be at the Royal Alexandra hotel.

A party dance was held at the Variety Theatre on Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Alma Bethel who is leaving for Calgary. She was the recipient of a present provided by a number of her friends.

J. D. Hannan, liberal nominee for this constituency will hold his first meeting at Vegreville on Thursday of this week. Capt. Shaw, of Calgary, recently chosen leader of the liberal party, will be present. It is expected that Capt. Shaw will be in Tofield for an hour or so on Thursday.

W. R. McCondach, the tailor, who has been conducting a business at Tofield for the past year, left for Three Hills on Monday. Mr. McCondach acted hard to make the business go here, but was unsuccessful. It is unfortunate that Tofield cannot support one professional tailor. While here Mr. McCondach made quite a number of friends, who wish him better luck in his new location.

Kalkal Bros. have just let up a large drill, probably the largest in the Tofield district. It is a twenty-four shoe drill and made by the Van Brunsh people. M. C. Hammond sold the drill.

The local railway station is now brilliantly lighted by gas. This is a great improvement. Gas as lighting is becoming popular, events the city, scope establishments are using it for this purpose. The gas we have is wonderfully clean, needs lamps burning night and day for months with-out any attention.

A sprinic flen from the north announced menacing proportions on Tuesday afternoon, and for a short time it was necessary to protect one or two of the outlying residences from damage by fire.

Greater Quality at Lower Cost

Does Advertsing Pay?

The reading public, no doubt, after being told for years that "advertising pays," is quite sure that it does. But at the best, the public's view is general, even though correct. The public see the most successful businesses of the country advertising on a huge scale and jump to conclusions.

The man conducting a comparatively small business, with a limited amount of capital, is not so sure. Advertising costs money, sometimes money hard to spare and if this expense can be eliminated and the same amount of business done, he is that much better off.

We want to go on record (not that we imagine we are saying anything original) that we are firmly convinced that advertising is one of the country merchants' most useful allies; and while all methods of advertising have their value, newspaper advertising is the best general method. There are reasons for this that are too lengthy to explain in this ad. Even though we have been selling advertising for nearly twenty years, there has been times when its economic worth to the country merchant was doubted by us. But after a number of years of careful watching, we are thoroughly convinced that it is worth every cent the average country newspaper charges.

Advertising is a very general term. Everyone has a separate idea as to how it should be done, and consequently, like all other things where untrained and experimental effort is used, there is some waste. We have no panacea relating to advertising, but we can, we believe, give some suggestions to prospective advertisers, and this we are always pleased and willing to do.

Watch Your Cows

At this season of the year when cows are on the lookout for something fresh and green and are eager to eat the first green stuff avilable, special care should be taken to prevent poisoning by wild parsnip. This plant generally grows in or by the side of sloughs and attains size and color before the grass. Cows searching for spring greens eat it and dire results follow.

A cow lost at this season of the year means a loss of several cans of cream this summer.

THE TOFIELD CREAMERY

The Staff Of Life

Bread has long been recognised as the chief food of occidental peoples. The well nown term "Staff of Life" aptly describes the important part it occupies in our diet. But it must be good bread, made of the best ingredients, properly mixed and baked. Many people in Tofield and district regularly buy their bread from us and express themselves as being well pleased. Try a quarter's worth on Saturday.

Introducing to Mercury Readers The KOHLER Automatic Lighting Plant 110 Volt Direct Current.

"I must say the Kohler is a fine plant. We have lights in the house, barn, hogh-house, and yard. We run the washing machine, flatiron and curler. Also in butchering time we use the meat grinder and that takes power, but the Kohler does it.

"We burn seventeen lights, and sometimes three and the flat iron one all on together. The cost, as near as I have kept track, is about seven cents a day in winter and three cents per day in the summer."

Has Realized Expectations

Insulin Has Done All That Dr. Banting Hoped For

Reporting to the State Medical Society on "The Clinical Results of the Long-continued Use of Insulin," Dr. J. R. Williams, of Rochester, said that all the high expectations held by the discoverers of this remedy had been met and that the apprehension lest it become an addiction like morphine had now been found groundless. In other words, insulin, while only in a few special cases is a cure for diabetes, does enable the victims of a malady which formerly was next to always fatal to live to a ripe old age and quite comfortably.

In Paris a few days ago Canadians to whom the world owes the preservation of life through insulin met one of the great benefactors—a fine young Canadian doctor—and one of the many still-living results of the research work of Canadian universities, intelligently conducted. New York Times.

Food! Salt Like Vinegar In Stomach Sours

Brooklyn N. Y. Mr. A. Armour writes: "The Native Herb Tea I sent you has done a great deal more than I expected. It has helped me splendidly, and while I am by no means entirely well, I am feeling better than I have for years. I would like to get the recipe of another great remedy for the purpose of further experimenting with it, as I have a friend who is a great sufferer from stomach trouble, and I think it would benefit her greatly." Australian Voters Fined

Obliged to Exercise Franchise Unless Good Excuse Given

Residents of cities in South Australia were fined $2.50 each for not exercising their franchise at elections. Excuses were accepted if not good. A woman who has to stay at home to look after her children is not excused, but a man who has Australian friends staying with him is excused. Voters are fined up to five shillings for those up to five shillings who do not vote. This ruling has been effective in causing greatness at the federal elections held last November.

H. B. Railway Terminus

To Investigate the Respective Merits of Port Nelson and Fort Churchill

Far from convinced that Port Nelson is the best point to be the terminus of the Hudson Bay Railway, the Dominion Government has decided to make investigation to show the comparative advantages of Fort Churchill and Port Nelson. While Western people are in a partisanal hate considered this a closed question for years, it now appears that the government is still undecided as to which port the Hudson Bay Railway should be built. There are those who say that it is conditioned upon how soon it can be completed, which is the more reasonable argument. Others say that it is conditioned upon the completion of the road. Either than which any chances, they are sold for a song. Port Nelson is the nearest port to the agricultural belt, an ocean voyage of about 1,000 miles.

Ready made Medicines.—Too much emphasis has been placed on "pills" in the past. Pills have their place, but a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is more valuable for croup, throat, bronchial troubles. It is invaluable also for colds, coughs, hoarseness, sprains. It is unsurpassed, while for cuts, sores and E. E. E. is the most unquestionable healer. It needs no introduction, after 70 years. We believe that will satisfy anyone as to its effectiveness.

Trade Affected By Budget

Five Million Dollars Worth of Trade Lost By Railway Shandon Is Built.

Official trade returns indicate that approximately five million dollars worth of trade was lost to Canada by the budget proposals to confine all trade to the 1926 season to establish a closed season for cows, but no doubt the present line up to Kettle Rapids and to end out survey par to Nelson. While Western people are in a partisanal hate considered this a closed question for years, it now appears that the government is still undecided as to which port the Hudson Bay Railway should be built. A BLEMISHED SKIN

Cannot be Relieved by Salves and Ointments

Irritating ointments, pimple-creams, salves and other skin disorders are all signs of disorderly clothing that your blood is weak or impure. You cannot get rid of pimples, eczema, rashes, boils, etc., with ointments and external applications, because the trouble is deeper than the skin and can only be removed by purifying and enriching the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills banish these troubles because they make new, rich, red blood and drive out impurities. Thousands have been prescribed and used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills since the latter was invented by Mrs. Chase, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, who says: "I was troubled with eczema for years and had to endure the suffering that was caused by it. I tried different remedies but did not find relief until I got Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After I had used a little more than half a box I could see that they were helping me, and I kept on using them until I had taken about six boxes, when I was entirely cured. I have had no return of the trouble since, and I feel sure that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved me from suffering for many years. I am glad to recommend them to others who are troubled with eczema." You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Leg sores are caused by poor circulation of the blood. The blood is impure and lacks the life and health that it should have to fix up all tissues. Local treatment is useless. A BROKEN DOWN SYSTEM.

This is a state we do not like to think about, but it is a condition that many people find themselves in at this time of the year. Spring is at hand, and with it the annual house cleaning, when the accumulations of the winter are to be swept out and the whole system renovated. Nature demands a thorough cleansing, and she will have it. Many people are trying to do this by the use of purgatives, but this is a mistake. Purgatives only irritate the bowels and make them more sluggish than before. The right way is to use a tonic, and the best tonic is Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They are a combination of roots and herbs, and are prepared in such a way that they have a direct action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, and at the same time they tone up the whole system. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are sold by all druggists at 25c a box.

ODDFELLOWS ATTEND CHURCH

On Sunday evening the local lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, held their annual church service. The members met at the lodge hall where they were joined by a number of the brethren from Ryley. They then proceeded to the United Church where the minister for the evening, Rev. McPherson of Ryley met them at the door.

Rev. McPherson preached a sermon that was much appreciated by the oddfellows present, dwelling on the cardinal principles of the Order.

After the service a short meeting was held at the hall, at which Rev. McPherson was thanked and praised for his sermon.

On Monday night a number of the Tofield members journeyed to Ryley and attended a social evening, being guests of the Ryley lodge.

A DISCOVERY!

Many who have been criticising the Essex on account of the narrowness between its wheels as compared with most other cars are now beginning to wonder why the Essex car is giving something around five thousand miles greater tire mileage than other makes of cars. Manufacturers are also beginning to take notice, and some of them have already begun to narrow up their cars. The Hudson-Essex Motor Co. have been the leaders in a new discovery, and the others are following. The Essex is EXACTLY the same width between wheels as that high priced and well known car, the Packard.

No Trace Of Missing Men

Up to time of writing there has been no trace of Herbert Harriman and Frank Walker. Search, by scouting car or another have been kept up practically continuously since Monday of last week. With the hope of discovering the bodies, an aeroplane from High River has been assisting in the search. It is fairly well known that observers from an aeroplane can distinguish objects under water better than those on the surface. But the water of Beaver Lake was too murky for the observer to distinguish anything.

Dragging operations were tried but owing to the vegetable growth at the bottom of the lake, were of little avail

It is now time for the bodies to rise to the surface and it is possible that they may be discovered at any time. The aeroplane was at Tofield on Tuesday, returned to Wetaskiwin and returned to Tofield again on Wednesday.

A reward of $200.00 for the recovery of the bodies has been offered by W. Abernethy and C. C. Harriman, and the Rural Municipality have set aside $50.00 to be used in the recovery of the bodies as the Provincial Police see fit.

The boat was discovered at the end of last week, floating right side up but waterlogged.

THE BRITISH GENERAL STRIKE

THE GENERAL strike which went into effect in Britain at the beginning of the week, can be viewed in no other sense than a national disaster. The financial loss due to millions of workers being idle, is a disaster in itself, but the greatest disaster, as it appears to us is the apparent inability of the workers and employers to realize that they are risking the accumulated fruits of centuries in one mad spiurge. For a century and more Great Britain has held the markets of the world; at first almost without opposition, but latterly amid keen competition. The great war was a blow to her commercial supremacy, but a blow that by unity and perseverance could have been, in fact was, being robbed of most of its effect. At a time when every ounce of commercial strength was needed to combat the assaults by other industrial countries upon the markets held by Great Britain, a general strike becomes a terrific national disaster. Even the most temporary stoppage of exports will give a splendid opportunity for competing countries to fill present world needs and by the laws of commerce they are to be congratulated for doing so. Whoever wins the strike, the nation will lose, and time only can tell whether the loss will be irreparable.

As to who is right, the mine owners or the mine workers, we are too far removed to form an opinion. British mine workers, in fact mine workers everywhere, seem to have a hard time to get along, but then again, the fact that the government subsidized the mines is evidence that the owners are not without their troubles.

RAISING DAIRY CALVES

....(Experimental Farms Note)....

At the Dominion Experimental SStation, Lacombe, the dairy calves are taken away from the dam the first day and pail fed whole milk for the first month beginning at the rate of from eight to twelve pounds per day depending on the size and strength of the calf, the amount being divided into two feeds. At the beginning of the second month a change was gradually made to skim-milk, and at the end of the fifth week skim-milk alone is fed at the rate of fifteen pounds per day, gradually increasing to twenty pounds, the maximum at six months of age. Whole oats or oat chop should be fed as soon as the calf is drinking properly by dropping a handful in the pail just as the calf finishes the milk, thus teaching the calf to eat readily. Well cured Alfalfa hay or good upland hay, or even good greenfeed should be supplied daily. Well cured silage may be fed about the third month in small amounts, gradually increasing to five pounds per day at about six month of age. For best results the skim-milk should be fed up to about ten months of age. As soon as the calf is eating grain well, a mixture of two parts oat chop and one part wheat bran should be fed, beginning with half a pound per day and increasing gradually to five pounds per day at six months. All feed changes and increases should be made gradually. By following this general feeding practice, Holstein heifer calves at this station can be developed to a weight of 800 lb at one year and bull calves frequently reach 1000 pounds at this age. All calves are turned out in the open every day for exercise and water, excepting extremely cold or stormy days. Calves are not turned out to pasture until the second summer.

French River Fishermen's Paradise

Upper—The Bostic Cove at French River. Lower left—The result of two hours' fishing at French River. Lower right—Time for breakfast.

By Ozark Ripley

There is a fascination to fishing new waters hardly equaled by the number of fish which are taken. Because every stream and lake has its peculiarities, a certain amount of study of local conditions is necessary. Successful fly and bait casting is study especially when applied to bass and trout fishing. Those who devotee most time to studying a new lake or stream usually back home not only with fish but a perpetual mental picture of the resort he visited in the summer.

If everywhere the bait or fly caster went he took fish just as he pleased then the real spice of the visit to the waters would be lost. Nobody appreciates anything in this world which is easily obtained. The real creed of sportsmanship is solving new conditions, new waters and deriving most pleasure from the contest. Streams and lakes are not always treated the same by fishermen according. They may be full of all kinds of game fish and yet yield no sociable until we how to local conditions and agree that they need sociable study.

The first musky I ever took on a fly rod was near Pine Camp rapids on French River in Ontario, the people viewed it could not be done. There were long trials before I succeeded and got a little study brought some facts to my knowledge. Late in the evening I found that some of these big boys had a penchant for dropping over the little, swift fall and preying on the small-red pike which were so abundant below. The very first white feather-minnow I cast after he evening possessed of this hitch convinced me with a bite one that gave me a merry bad hour following up and down the rapid before victory came to my credit.

In the lower Nipigon bass summer where the river ends its course to Nipigon Bay I was singularly fascinated by the clear, swift water and after our results I had with ordinary trout and salmon flies, then every once in a while I could see one of the immense red-spotted fish rise along the east bluffs below the Canadian Pacific bridge. I knew for quite a while that these big trout were by nature minnow feeders, their special favorite was the little local chap that's being among the rocks, the cockatoushes. But what pleasure would there be in taking one of these kingly brook trout with bait? Study of the river gave me the key to the fly that I should use and after a few attempts I came to a fly-minnow combination of gray, rough flock roost 1 hackles. That is how I took my first five and one-half pound brook trout that summer in the Nipigon.

When there are bass inlets and bass lakes, bass streams and bass streams. This applies to the far South as well as the far North. Studying them carefully is what pays. I had to observe and study, and right off my solution came to me that the bait or fly fisherman wants to fish in the very places to which the worm fisherman never ventures, and wait until he sees bass feeding in those parts before he prospects his artificial offerings. As far north as Manowan on Quebec to the big north waters in Louisiana the same thing prevails. Right away is elucidated the necessity for studying waters, the habits of the denizens and everything thereabouts which will make us near the quest.

Your Sheep Doesn't Pay

As time goes on, progressive farmers are placing a higher valuation on the variety of sheep they raise and the care they are given. It is generally realized that a sheep raiser secures two crops per year—the lamb and the wool. All indications point to a well sustained price for lamb and mutton due to the fact that consumption has at last overtaken production and, prices being paid for wool, cotton and lambs are, even now, worth a profit.

Compared with other live stock sheep raising provides a profitable source of cash income. Early lambs can be made ready for market by June and when the wool is harvested and sold in June and July, this revenue is received at a season when most needed by the average farmer. There are many instances where farm flocks of sheep have kept farmers out of debt. In one instance, 80 ewes produced 65 lambs which when marketed averaged 95 pounds at 9c per pound or a total of $5616.37. The wool clipped from the 80 ewes averaged a trifle over seven pounds per head and brought well over a $100.00 or a total of almost $700.00 from the flock of only 80 ewes.

Such a harvest, however, is not possible without a return by the owner. He must try the fascination by securing a desirable ram and must have good basic value in the breed of sheep he is raising.

While there are more than 1,375,000 shearable sheep in Canada, only approximately 29,000 are pure-bred. Annually the number of pure-bred sheep increase in proportion to the total number of sheep, which is a favorable indication for a continuance of quality for years to come. The sheep owner realizes that only in purity may he build a permanently profitable business in sheep raising.

A close study of breeds must suit you in raising rural lots and must observed no trick of feeding and care, always carries with it a large dividend in results obtained. Your sheep deserve good attention.

SEE THIS TRACTOR AT WORK AND HEAR WHAT MR. JOE STAUFFER HAS to SAY FOR IT.

He has owned two other makes of tractors, and thinks that this one is a wonder.

You will say "where does its great power comes from"?. Simply because no power is wasted in moving excess parts, as this is the great feature of the John Deere tractor, and it will run satisfactorily on the cheapest grade of fuel, pulling a three furrow 14 in. plow at four miles per hour with drag attached, through places where other tractors would mire. Here is where light weight, good traction and plenty of power counts.

If you are interested, we would be pleased to take you to see this tractor at work.

e Alarm

While a very high wind was blowing on Sunday, the citizens were alarmed by the clanging of the fire bell. The cause of the alarm was due to an outbreak at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin. The wind had fanned some ashes to a glowing heat and blown them against the side of the house. Fortunately the prompt aid of the neighbors extinguished the blaze before much damage was done. Mr. and Mrs. Martin wishes to thank the neighbors for their prompt answer to the fire call. Their promptness, without question, prevented the house from being destroyed.

Here and There

Recent advices from London, England, are to the effect that during the first nine months of 1926, 36,817 British emigrants proceeded to Canada. This compares with 17,704 who went to Australia, 7,763 who went to New Zealand and 14,666 who went to the United States.

New financing by Canadian provinces, municipalities and corporations during the month of November just show an increase of eight millions over the previous month, the November bond sales being $19,215,000. This compares with sales of $11,215,000 in October and with $23,-215,275 in November, 1925.

E. D. Cotterell, Transportation Superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has issued a statement making effective the resumption of the acceptance of grain for the port of Vancouver under the permit system as handled previously. No tough or damp grain can be shipped on this permit.

The real estate boom in Florida has been affecting the lumber market at Saint John, New Brunswick, advantageously for the past few months. A large number of shipments have gone forward to Miami and further considerable will go forward with the steadily increasing demands.

According to a report from Vancouver, asbestos of quality as fine as that of the famous deposits from which Quebec supplies the world, has been found near Lytton, British Columbia. The Development Branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway is carefully examining the mineral with a view to investigating the commercial usefulness of the product.

Sir John Martin Harvey, famous English actor, arrived at Saint John, N.B., on the Canadian Pacific liner Montnairn, on December 30. He was met by Bert Lang, manager of His Majesty's Theatre, Montreal, and advance agent for Sir John. Mr. Lang has arranged Mr. Harvey's tour through Canada, from Halifax to Vancouver.

Advices from the Montreal office of the Dominion Express Company here to the effect that one of the largest and most valuable consignments of pedigree black faces ever sent out of Canada, and priced at over $100,000, had arrived in Switzerland in perfect condition. The 64 faces will form the nucleus of a fine-breeding ranch in Klosters, Switzerland.

Grandmothers are flappers in the Canadian West. Mrs. Edith Jones, of Leeds, Yorkshire, who sailed back to England on the Canadian Pacific liner Montclare on December 16 told how she learnt to ride horses and do farm work at Plain, Saskatchewan. She had a great time and will endeavor to bring Grandpa, her son and her grandson back to Canada with her in the spring.

Grain handling at the port of Montreal is in excess of the total for last year by 4,851,718 bushels, thus creating a new record in the movement of grain through this port. The total amount handled by the harbor elevators this year comes to 32,830,851 bushels, representing 163,592,846 bushels received and 165,287,560 bushels delivered since the beginning of the year.

An exact replica of the Palestine made memorable by the life of Christ arrived in Montreal from Winnipeg recently on a freight car. The miniature is made up of six million pieces in 16,000 sections and weighs about seven tons. The scenes, cities and villages connected with the Saviour have been reproduced by the Hazel brothers of Malta, after eleven years of unceasing toil.

Fifth Annual Tour To The Pacific Coast

PERSONALLY CONDUCTED

Following the close of school for the summer holidays, the Canadian National Railways will again operate its popular "personally conducted" tour to the Pacific coast. This will be the fifth of such tours.

This mode of travel has many advantages. In the first place, it is planned with a view to including in the itinerary the most interesting points, which, with the other arrangements that are made, obviates the necessity of the passenger worrying about connections, sleeping car accommodation, meals, and entertainment en route. This is all done in advance by experts, leaving the passenger free to enjoy to the full the scenery and attractions attendent to such tours.

The tour this year will commence at Winnipeg, from which point a special train of modern sleeping car equipment, dining car and radio observation car, will leave July 5th. After stopping at various points of interest, the train will arrive at Prince Rupert on July 10th. At this latter point the party will embark on a palatial steamship for a cruise of 850 miles through the famous "Inside Passage" to Vancouver. While the tour terminates at Vancouver, those who desire to make a trip to Victoria may have their tickets read "Victoria" as their destination without any additional cost.

The local agent of the Canadian National Railways will be pleased to give you full particulars of this tour

Underwood & Underwood

Preparing the spring wall grain in the great Northwest

Practices in farm field work in the coming months depend largely on the condition of the work horses after the winter's rest. Farm work horses require conditioning just as an athlete requires training for his test.

Every farmer knows that two or three weeks spent in a gradual toughening and conditioning of a horse in the heavy work is more than repaid before the season of heavy field work is over. Not only does this condition the horse breathing them in long hours of hard pull, but they must undergo, but appetite as well, breaking them in to a working ration.

It is poor practice to allow a horse to pasture on starch now many grain if he is to go on a strenuous working schedule. A little grain, a little hay, helps in conditioning him, but it should not be been or old stock, a still better combination of the two and good second hay. These are the best possible rations in the spring and early summer. The horse that is fed a moderate ration of grain soon gets very sleek, positively large and lively in going over rough hay, corn and hay. When your plan changes and your horse is to be fed conditions at the end of the day.

In feeding or training farm grain, the horse should be given work with a steady pull, not with jerks. Horses especially under shoeing, and rough riding instead of his regular feed will pay big dividends in a short time.

If the horse takes a long time to get into condition, he can be facilitated by thorough grooming and friction. A good rub down with a stiff brush will get him through the shedding period quickly. After the horse has come in from the field or is not able to harbor the dust which has come on the horse during the day with a soft brush which captures and holds the shedded parts.

A commercial revitalization status which excessive sweating is remedied by rubbing the horse. Excessive sweating weakens the animal and it is best to apply cold water to stop him by rubbing. This sweating. It is also good idea to give the horse a bath in the stable every month or six weeks. Then the shedded parts will be removed with the bath and the horse will be in condition to do a full day's work.

Read What Two Postmasters Said

Not so very long ago the publisher of this paper was talking to an Alberta Postmaster, and this is what the Postmaster said:

While I have not the records, I have a good idea of what amount of money goes out of here, and I am of the opinion that since the newspaper started, the amount of money sent away has decreased by fifty per cent."

Now, to be generous, let us assume it was twenty-five per cent—alright. We have also heard it quoted by a different postmaster that about as much money goes out of a district as is spent within it.

Now, as a guess the average amount spent in Tofield in a week is around $4,000.00 and there is probably about $2000.00 goes away.

If the postmasters we have quoted are correct, the newspaper is responsible for $1000.00 worth of business being done each week, that otherwise mail order houses would get. The profit on $1000 worth of business at ten per cent is $100.00. The amount of advertising carried in this paper is about $40.00 weekly (with expenses to come out of that). This would make it appear that advertisers in the Mercury are doubling their money.

The Kohler Private Electric Light Plant is made at Kohler, Wis., U.S.A., a model town, planned and controlled by the Kohler Co.

There are several different sizes, viz: 800 watt (air cooled); 1500 watt and 2000 watt, (radiator cooled.) There are other models for use on board ship and for moving picture theatres. The 1500 watt which is the one generally recommended for general farm use, is made up as follows. Engine, 3 h.p., four cylinders; four cylinders in an engine of this rating ensures long life and easy and quiet running. The engine specifications, to quote a local garage man, are the same as in a high priced car." The engine is water cooled, each cylinder being surrounded by water.

The generator is well built, four pole, compound wound, and will give life long service.

There is an automatic device, so when you turn on your first light, the engine starts and the last light turned off stops it; there is a governor which governs the gasolene in proportion to the load.

There are no storage batteries (with the exception of a 24 volt battery for starting purposes.) The plant will run for hours or for days. The fuel is brought to the plant from a large tank outside. There are thousands of them in use and they are very popular with those that own them.

The Dominion Budget

When recently there will be differences of opinion in regard to details of the budget presented to Parliament by Hon. J. A. Robb. It will taken as a whole be very acceptable to the people of Canada as remembering the first subsidiary to assist in paying from the burden of taxation imposed upon them. The first, according which a few years ago it amounted would not expect to be equipped

It is estimated that about one-third of all people formerly paying taxes on natural liquids will now be entirely exempt while detailed reductions are made. In the case of those who still will have something to pay. The reduction in the case of those who now incomes are largely derived from investments and dividends will not be so significant.

GENERAL STRIKE IN GREAT BRITAIN

Owing to the inability of the Government and labor leaders to come to a settlement regarding the workers in the coal mines, the labor leaders called a general strike. The miners claim they are underpaid, the owners claim that they can afford no more. For some months past, the government subsidized the mines, but this has been stopped.

The country is already experiencing the strike conditions, some 5,000,000 workers being idle. The workers on the trains manned such as food supplies etc. While on the whole, the first few days of the strike were orderly, there has been a number of clashes with the police. These were however, in but few places and the circumstances causing them are chiefly local. The labor leaders are exhorting the strikers to keep from violence.

Premier Baldwin in the House of Commons on Tuesday said that the strike was a blow to constitutional government and that it was impossible to reconsider the whole question until the general strike order had been rescinded.

It is firmly expected that the government forces will win but in the meantime a vast amount of harm is being done to the trade of the country

The "Holden" of a lien note or chattel mortgage in order to ensure his priority rights must register such document within 30 days from date of making. Registration is "notice to third parties." Should the obligation be still outstanding, or a balance thereof at the commencement of the 24th month from the date of the first filing, the "holder" in order to preserve his rights for the next twelve months, must re-register between the 1st and 30th days of the 24th month after the date of 1st filing. And thereafter between the 1st and 30th days of the 12th month after the date of the second filing and so on. Quite frequently we find that security has been lost through failure to comply with this requirement.

THERE is a fresh unfolding of the wonders of nature in the new scenic area opened up by the Banff-Windermere Highway through the mountains. The glories of the Rockies, the Yoho Valley and Emerald Lake in British Columbia, the Yoho Valley and Emerald Lake are now accessible to the motor world. This latest achievement is the completion of the highway across the famous Kicking Horse Pass in the central Rockies.

From Lake Louise, the gem of the Rockies, the road presently will through avenues of pine and fir, up the Great Divide at Stephen, by easy grades the motorist glides down to Lake Wapta, the centre of a romantic and picturesque region. The newest continues through the Kicking Horse Pass to the Yoho Valley. Here, in British Columbia, a part of the abandoned right of way is used and some of the finest scenery in the world is unrolled for the kind sympathy and assistance afforded us in our recent bereavement.

Leaving the river flats, the road presently winds through the valley of the Kicking Horse River, between Mounts Stephen and Mount Field. On the face of Mt. Stephen can be seen, a few hundred feet above, the opening to the silver-lined mine, which is reached from the flats, by a winding trail. This mine, opened in 1886, is unique in its operation and in its situation, on the side of a grim mountain. It is worth the effort of a trip up the trail and offers fine opportunity for the amateur climber.

Descending from the river flats, the route can be seen, many feet above, winding their way down the valley to Takakkaw Falls. The euphonious Indian name, meaning, "It is wonderful," well describes the beauties of the ribbon of water, with a fall of 700 feet, in clouds of foam. Another branching, tree-lined avenue leads to Emerald lake; a distance of seven miles. This lake, of exquisite coloring, lies placed under the protection of Mounts Wapta Burgess and President, and affords fine fishing.

At Field, the natural bridge is one of the points of interest. A road is under construction from this junction to the western boundary of Yoho park. Then it will be linked up with a highway now being built from Golden.

These roads will give the motorist a scenic circuit probably without parallel in the world. Which will include the finest scenery in the Rockies. From the prairies, by way of Banff and Lake Louise, down to Field and Golden, the road turns east to the city of Columbia, to Windermere valley, through the western gateway to the Windermere road, the return to Banff and on to the Prairies, to made.

The Banff-Windermere highway is already connected on the west, by the Columbia River road, with the 1000 hour, known as the Grand Circle tour, which stretches down the Pacific coast to southern California and returns by way of Arizona, Utah, Wyoming and Montana. The whole highway touches, throughout its length, ten national parks in the United States and Canada. The beauties of the Canadian section, so recently opened to the world, are such as promises for the motorists

Gopher Poisons

By V. W. Jackson, Professor of Biology, Manitoba Agricultural College

All gopher poisons contain strychnine, they differ only in amount and mixture. The minimum standard is 12 grains of strychnine sulphate per field ounce or 2.5 per cent. or about 17 grains of strychnine to a gallon of water to treat as much grain as will soak it up. Sufficient has been found to natural alkaloid and the only bait used is the whole oat or sample but is a poisonous in that it takes exposure of the sulphate to be equal to 1 ounce of strychnine to the pint. Sulphate is more economically used because of the cost and more soluble. For a color poison is to be made attractive and attractive with sweetness and aroma.

The North Dakota mixture excludes glycerine, oxalate, sodium and baking soda. The Canadian mixture uses the potash dried as vinegar for its flavor and aroma. Other mixtures have smiled oil for flavor and aroma will need in their way, all effective in proportion to the strychnine present.

The North Dakota mixture is the most popular home-made one, and made as follows for quarter section, or quarter, or quarter:

For 4 bushels Section Municipal 20 qts. oats 2 lbs or 3oz lbs. 1 oz. strychnine 5 ozs. 32 lbs. 1 oz. baking soda 5 ozs. 32 lbs. 1 oz. starch 5 ozs. 32 lbs. ¼ pt. molasses 1½ pt. 16 lbs. Syrup, glycerine 2½ ozs. 22 lbs. ¼ oz. saccharine ¼ oz. 62½ ozs. Labor 30 mins 20 mins 50 hrs.

Probably cost 12 for 1 200 gopher holes or average quarter section. Approximately 1½ for 4 new gopher holes, average section (gopher holds a, 100 section (half municipality), Dodson

Make a pint of lukewarm paste first and slowly stir in the strychnine and soda powder and stir it till well boil over. Then add the molasses, glycerine and saccharin and stir well. Then pour the warm mixture over 20 quarts of clean oats. Cook about 20 for 10 gopher holes and save hundreds of grain and a hungry field. If done in time (April and May).

ON THE AIR

What Is Doing in the World of Radio

It is said that the radio industry is still in its infancy. Perhaps that is why it keeps so many people up late at night.

London soon will have a theatre in which plays will be staged for broadcasting and not for audience present in person. A test was made recently in Cowan Gardens Opera House when actors was performed and broadcast without stage settings or costumes.

The Hills-Sayles Survey has been incorporated at Columbia, Ohio to give to the world daily a message from the Word of God by radio. The service has been offered free to 562 broadcasting stations in the United States and 22 stations in Canada.

Legislation to regulate rates charged radio stations for broadcasting copyright music was urged at a session of the house and senate patent committees, Washington. Some stations pay as high as $25,000 a year to the Composers' Association.

Effective May 1, CKGW, the Winnipeg broadcasting station of the Canadian National Railways, will operate on a summer schedule starting at 3:30 with the bedtime story, followed by market reports at 5 and the studio programme at 6 p.m. This will also apply to CJRC, Regina.

Tuning a radio set requires experience and familiarity with a set. Many purchasers are discouraged when they get their receivers and hazy difficulty remains, and the initial fun in procurement clearly. It is an art to get the utmost out of a radio set with the lowest amount of power.

The question against the merits of broadcasting become moot for many purposes fields the comes nota serves on that radio receivers are better appreciated when listened to, rather than accepted in. Something is the microphonic condition bears the tempo and distorts the perfect dance rhythm. Sometimes it is static, but on ideal reception evenings it is purely a matter of technical deficiency.

Recently two engineers made a radio set have among them all travelled 250,000 miles between their places of origin and the factory where they new finally to combine it," says the book "in which all experiments are run through thousand different parts, omitting the trifles. Each of these parts was thirty-two parts. Some of these are trifles are dismissible, many are troublesome. No matter, excellent, supplies them all."

Radio savings who become merely as most understand that the story includes among the three men, John Tash himself. "There are reasons in the table to which manufacturers of that are describing which are to be implied that he was confined within the limitations of space, and that the human horns really was proper to him. He is said to have walked in the face down in the road at the day, to have been a man of the world, and, moreover, fell habit to have been one of those men who appears, to Abraham, to have been a man of the world, and to have experienced anything say bag pes.

Ontario Has World's Gold Deposits

A mining expert says that within two years Ontario will be the second gold producing area in the world, outdistancing the Rand, although the latter will lead as regards output at cheaper labor. Ontario has the gold deposits of the world in its back garden with an annual production at present of nearly $70,000,000.

ABRAM AND THE STRANGERS

Golden Text: All the nations of the earth shall be blessed in Him.—Gen. 18:18.

Lesson: Genesis 18:1-8, 16-33.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 128.

Explanations and Comments

Abraham Entertains Angels (Gen. 18:1-8)—Verse 1.—"And Jehovah appeared unto Abraham" as he sat in his tent entrance as noon in Hebron; the first verse says, and the second speaks of "three men" appearing suddenly on the scene. In some of verses twenty-two and thirty-three we must understand that the story includes among the three men, John Tash himself. "There are reasons in the table to which manufacturers of that are describing which are to be implied that he was confined within the limitations of space, and that the human horns really was proper to him. He is said to have walked in the face down in the road at the day, to have been a man of the world, and, moreover, fell habit to have been one of those men who appears, to Abraham, to have been a man of the world, and to have experienced anything say bag pes.

Mr. Coben came out of the back of his store, in response to the clamorous clanging of the bell set off by the opening of Mr. Abie's door. At first he could not see his face thru its bland oval formation. Then he saw that his collar was "Miss Twenty-seven." His face became even. He seemed his most characteristic manner, and fixed it with suspicion.

Joanna snaped of her long. The idea that some of her boys should have presented her with a date! She had forgot about her life, the much too used life.

"Say, you!" she said, "Take a look at your fingers. It's for driving, and it says nothing about the boy going along and see if you can steer straight."

The chauffeur was not impressed. "And where to, Miss?" he repeated, still very stiff.

"I'd like to tell you on phone but you can go to hell when I'm done with you. Meantime just pull in front of my theatre, will you?"

He toyed his cap and received the address. "Mr. Herrick?" you ask to be in a neighborhood not frequented by the upper crust. Herrick's a bum, he's ballbit to have been one of those men who appears, to Abraham, to have been a man of the world, and to have experienced anything say bag pes.

At first he could not see his face thru its bland oval formation. Then he saw that his collar was "Miss Twenty-seven." His face became even. He assumed his most characteristic manner, and fixed it with suspicion.

Bees Choose Strange Home

Experienced Beekeeper Had to Remove Swarm From Taxi

A curious choice by bees of a place for making their home when they swarmed comes from Reading England.

A party had motored out in a taxi from Reading to Henfield, a village about five miles away. They left the taxi for some time in the village, and when they returned it found that a swarm of bees had settled on it and made themselves at home there.

The bees could not be removed immediately, and the passengers had to ride back to Reading with the swarm. The taxi was left in the village.

In the meantime when the taxi was out for the bees were comfortably at home in it, and were already making wax and building in honey. But the taxi was curiously honeyed was driven back to Reading.

The experienced beekeeper was called in and, after some difficulty in removing the bees, the owner of the taxi succeeded in safely hiving the swarm, whose number he calculated at about

Referred Admiralty To Nelson

Officer Wounded At Zeebrugge Won Request To Go Out Again

How Lieut.-naut Commander C. Hill lost, Vesuve, D.C., M.P., once served off the admiralty made a good story. He was severely wounded at Zeebrugge and had an arm from shot he was not satisfied. He worried the admiralty to let him go out again. They declined—and men were not wanted in the navy. At least that was what they said in effect, although they did not put it quite so bluntly. The officer was not to be put off, how-ever. "If you can't give me a ship," he said, "I will serve on a merchant ship." And so he did, and was soon doing for his country. He is perched a top of a column in the "Hall of Unfinished Heroes." Without any further argument of the admiralty let him have his way.

EXIT THE "RED DEER NEWS"

WITH THE last issue in April, the "Red Deer News" ceased publication. The unexpired subscriptions of the paper were taken over by the "Red Deer Advocate." The "News" has been published continuously for the past twenty-one years and was a good weekly newspaper of a solid type. Eighteen years ago, the writer set type for the first time in Canada for the "News," it then being edited and owned by Mr. Carswell, a fine man. In 1925 it was sold to a Mr. Seymour who favored the Conservative cause throughout. There can no doubt the tardiness of the Alberta public in response to conservative overtures and the ever increasing costs of production forced it from the field. Its passing is interesting, not only because it was one of the few Conservative papers in the province, but also because if, after twenty-one years, with equipment and field organized years ago, it was unable to keep going, there is a hint of the difficulties of the country newspaper business as a whole. How long the News has been an unprofitable venture, we do not know, but up to the last it held its head up and died like a gentlemen. We are sorry it has gone.

AMERICAN MAGAZINES

CANADIAN MAGAZINE publishers are much perturbed over the increasing number of American magazines coming into Canada; especially those of an undesirable type. The opportunity for large circulation that the United States afford to progressive publishers set the Canadian publishers at a disadvantage. Large circulations means high revenue from advertising and high revenue from advertising means enlarged magazines and more features, in fact it is the old story of money making money. There is a law that permits of bound publications coming in free of duty and an effort is being made to have this changed.

AS FAR as the undesirable publications are concerned, it is better that they be kept out regardless of the duty paid. But there are American publications that are an asset to any Canadian home. A person's beliefs regarding another country is to a very large extent created by what is read and if the literature originates from the country under consideration, the ideas and beliefs are more real.

For years the Youth's Companion has been coming to the writer's home. It depicts a side of American life, that without it, would almost remain hidden. Amid press dispatches that announce the biggest this and the greatest that and articles that feature the crime wave to the extent that a stranger is apt to believe half the people live by stealing from the other half the healthy "atmosphere" of the Youth's Companion is very welcome here. It stands for a vigorous, healthy and intelligent boyhood and girlhood and without "preachiness" imparts these ideals to its readers. Its editorials and current comment are well worth reading by older folk and contain week by week valuable information on world events. It has just reached its hundreth year of publication and men and women from all walks of life are writing to say that they have taken it for years and years.

THE VEGREVILLE OBSERVER AT TOFIELD

THIS WEEK there was contained in our "Vegreville Observer" a green slip to the effect that the subscription to the "Observer" had been paid for a limited period. We assume most of the other dwellers in the Tofield district received the paper and the slip. This is crowding the Mercury quite close and is a condition of affairs that calls for a counter move.

EXPERIMENTS OF SUMMERFALLOWING

(Experimental Farm Note)

The experiments in summerfallowing which have been conducted at the Dominion Experimental station, Scott, Sask., include depth of plowing, subsoiling, twice plowing, date of plowing, pasturing of fallows, fall and spring cultivation previous to summerfallowing and cultivating during the summer without plowing.

The soil at Scott is a chocolate loam of a slightly sandy nature and the average annual precipitation is 12 inches.

In the depth of plowing experiment all plots were plowed from three to eight inches deep inclusive, and the highest average yield of first crop wheat for eleven years was obtained from 4 inch plowing. The lowest yield were from the 3 inch and 8 inch plowings, which were the same at only 1.4 bus. less than the highest. Subsoiling resulted in a lower yield than those from 4 inch plowing. An increase of 3 bushels per acre was obtained by plowing 4 inches in June and 6 inches in September but the plowing at the same depth in each case or deeper in June and shallower in September has not proven profitable.

In the date of plowing experiment the first crop of wheat after fallow plowed on the 15th of May, June and July resulted in average yields of 25.3, 27.9 and 28.6 bus. per acre respectively, and the oats in the second crop 61.2, 58.9 and 60.8 bus. respectively.

The seeding of one half less of oats per acre on summer fallow after plowing early in June and pasturing all has resulted in a reduction in yield in the first crop of wheat of 2.4 bus. per acre, as compared with bare summer fallow plowed in the same depth. This 10 year average yield from fall plowing 4 inches deep, fall cultivating and spring cultivating previous to summerfallowing are 26.6, 28.0 and 28.1 bus. per acre respectively for the first crop of wheat after fallow as compared with 25.8 bus. per acre from fallow not cultivated before summerfallowing.

U.F.W.A. NOTES

At the last meeting there was quite a good turn out owing no doubt to pleasurable anticipation of entertaining the U.F.A. to a light lunch After disposing of the current business, a very able address on garden plants, was read by Mrs. Warren which was much appreciated by all present.

Our president's paper on "What the U.F.W.A. means to a member" was both enlightening and inspiring. It is a pity that non-members were not there to hear it or they would soon cease to be non-members.

Our next meeting is on May 22nd at 3 p.m. at the municipal building and as it is no close to Empire Day ages. For best results the skim-milk the roll call will be answered by some interesting fact of the British Empire or a patriotic quotation and Mrs. Banks will favor us with a paper on the British Empire. Remember all are welcome, members or no.

RAISING DAIRY CALVES

....(Experimental Farms Note)....

At the Dominion Experimental SStation, Lacombe, the dairy calves are taken away from the dam the first day and pail fed whole milk for the first month beginning at the rate of from eight to twelve pounds per day depending on the size and strength of the calf, the amount being divided into two feeds. At the beginning of the second month a change is gradually made to skimmilk, and at the end of the fifth week skim-milk alone is fed at the rate of fifteen pounds per day, gradually increasing to twenty pounds, the maximum at six months of age. Whole oats or oat chop should be fed as soon as the calf is drinking properly by trapping a handful in the pail just as the calf finishes the milk, then teaching the calf to eat readily. Well cured Alfalfa hay or good upland hay, or even good greenfeed should be supplied daily. Well cured silage may be fed about the third month in small amounts, gradually increasing to five pounds per day at about six months and as it is no close to Empire Day should be fed up to about ten months of age. As soon as the calf is eating grain well, a mixture of two parts oat chop and one part wheat bran should be fed, beginning with half a pound per day and increasing gradually to five pounds per day at six months. All feed changes and increases should be made gradually. By following this general feeding practice, Holstein heifer calves at this station can be developed to a weight of 800 lb at one year and bull calves frequently reach 1000 pounds at this age. All calves are turned out in the open every day for exercise and water, excepting extremely cold or stormy days. Calves are not turned out to pasture until the second summer.

SEE THIS TRACTOR AT WORK AND HEAR WHAT MR. JOE STAUFFER HAS to SAY FOR IT.

He has owned two other makes of tractors, and thinks that this one is a wonder.

You will say "where does its great power comes from"?. Simply because no power is wasted in moving excess parts, as this is the great feature of the John Deere tractor, and it will run satisfactorily on the cheapest grade of fuel, pulling a three furrow 14 in. plow at four miles per hour with drag attached, through places where other tractors would mire. Here is where light weight, good traction and plenty of power counts.

If you are interested, we would be pleased to take you to see this tractor at work.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

Special Train Leaving Winnipeg, July 4, via Canadian National Railways. Entertainment Provided at Various Points of Interest en Route.

PERSONALLY CONDUCTED

Following the close of school for the summer holidays, the Canadian National Railways will again operate its popular "personally conducted" tour to the Pacific coast. This will be the fifth of such tours.

This mode of travel has many advantages. In the first place, it is planned with a view to including in the itinerary the most interesting points, which, with the other arrangements that are made, obviates the necessity of the passenger worrying about connections, sleeping car accommodation, meals, and entertainment en route. This is all done in advance by experts, leaving the passenger free to enjoy to the full the scenery and attractions scattered to such tours.

The tour this year will commence at Winnipeg, from which point a special train of modern sleeping car equipment, dining car and radio observation car, will leave July 5th. After stopping at various points of interest, the train will arrive at Prince Rupert on July 10th. At this latter point the party will embark on a palatial steamship for a cruise of 556 miles through the famous "Inside Passage" to Vancouver. While the tour terminates at Vancouver, those who desire to make a trip to Victoria may have their tickets read "Victoria" as their destination without any additional cost.

The local agent of the Canadian National Railways will be pleased to give you full particulars of this tour.

START NEW RAILWAY LINE

Commencement will be made shortly on construction of proposed branch line of the E.D. & B.C. railway north west from a point near Busby, north of Edmonton. The line will traverse the Pembina Valley, a rich farming territory.

The maple sugaring industry is on the up-grade again. The yearly sugar production with its equivalent in syrup decreased from 22,000,000 pounds in the '20s to 20,000,000 pounds a few seasons ago. For 1925 production is equal to 26,313,000 pounds of sugar.

After one of the mildest winters in the known history of the Rocky Mountains, the Banff tourist season was ushered in during the first week in April, when a distinguished group of Australians, under Sir Frank Heath, of Melbourne, took the general drive through the surrounding mountains.

On the last leg of the 139-day Round-the-World Cruise, the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Scotland" passed through the Panama Canal, and Miss Katherine Kinsey, a passenger, was elected to operate the controls of the two Miraflores locks. In doing this the young lady raised the vessel fifty-four feet. A toll of $17,211.25 was paid to clear the vessel at the canal.

Sir John Pickford, Chief Scout Commissioner and Commissioner for Overseas Scouts and Migration, recently laid before F. W. Beatty, President of the C.P.R., his plans for assisting boys over seventeen years of age to come to Canada. Sir John said that more British boys were going to Australia because the age limit for assisted passages to that country was higher than Canada's.

Increasing prosperity in the agricultural industry, resulting in renewed interest in the acquisition of Canadian farm lands, has had the result of raising the average value of western farm lands from $37 per acre in 1924 to $39 per acre in 1925. For the year Prince Edward Island shows the highest increase at $45 per acre, compared to $40 in 1924.

Of the grain stocks at the port of Vancouver, which are being steadily augmented, European markets received practically 27 million bushels and the Orient 10 million bushels of the 47,640,947 bushels of the 1925 crop, which had been shipped to Vancouver. The subject of grain in store at Vancouver is seldom more than 4,000,000 bushels.

All local trains coming into Windsor Station, Montreal, from the Eastern Townships brought supplies of maple syrup which increased rapidly during April. Similar shipments poured into the Place Viger Station from the Laurentians. Dominion Express officials stated that the quantities were well up to the average of former years, while the positive was also up to the mark.

Getting Your Man When You Want Him

Every traveller knows of the almost heart breaking experience of finding the prospective customer busily employed. To obtain the undivided attention of the prospective customer is half the battle. To this fact to a large extent the success of newspaper and magazine advertising is due.

This form of literature is generally read when the more pressing things of life have been attended to. In the evening—by the fireside in winter, on the porch in summer—people read weekly papers in their leisure hours.

This is the time when business messages are read and tentative purchasing decisions made. To have your message appear in such a way that prospective customers "look forward" to reading it, is certainly getting your man when you want him.

OUR BUSINESS

To a very large extent depends upon the service we render our patrons. To us, patrons do not come to buy what they have not got, but to sell what they have in abundance. The price is dependent upon the finished product, and while always as high as it can be, is generally, other things being equal, the same all over. Prompt and courteous attention, cheque and clean cut ready when called for, expert grading and testing—these are some of the things we are judged by—and we hope not found wanting.

The KOHLER LIGHTING PLANT

The Kohler Private Electric Light Plant is made at Kohler, Wis., U.S.A., a model town, planned and controlled by the Kohler Co.

There are several different sizes, viz: 800 watt (air cooled); 1500 watt and 2000 watt, (radiator cooled.) There are other models for use on board ship and for moving picture theatres. The 1500 watt which is the one generally recommended for general farm use, is made up as follows. Engine, 3 h.p., four cylinders; four cylinders in an engine of this rating ensures long life and easy and quiet running. The engine specifications, to quote a local garage man, are the same as in a high priced car." The engine is water cooled, each cylinder being surrounded by water.

The generator is well built, four pole, compound wound, and will give life long service.

There is an automatic device, so when you turn on your first light, the engine starts and the last light turned off stops it; there is a governor which governs the gasolene in proportion to the load.

There are no storage batteries (with the exception of a 24 volt battery for starting purposes.) This plant will run for hours or for days. The fuel is brought to the plant from a large tank outside. There are thousands of them in use and they are very popular with those who own them.

A GREAT PARADE

Seven excitement was created in Edmonton on Monday of this week, when the Prussack Co., Ltd., unloaded the biggest one day shipment of cars, ten carloads in all, ever received in Edmonton. These carloads, containing Hudson and Essex cars were all unloaded by noon. They were then formed into a long line, and, each car being manned by a driver, some forty in all, were towed down Jasper avenue, while a moving picture was taken, and many rumors suggested. Nearly all of these cars, which were about 90 per cent Essex, — to fill order — had already signed for them. A number of other cars are expected in next week.

Provincial Finances

HOW IT IS RAISED AND APPLIED

A Per Capita Survey of the Situation

The province of Alberta raises and spends about eleven and a half million dollars every year. That is a lot of money, so much that the ordinary individual, whose yearly budget amounts to from two to ten thousand dollars, finds it difficult, if not impossible, to visualize the amount.

Nor will he receive much assistance from the various orators of all shades of politics, who will, during the next two months, entice or commend the expenditure.

Amounts in millions, tossed from the lips of political speakers into the ears of their audiences, cannot convey any real idea of the cost of government.

But the ordinary individual can form some idea of the cost when it is reduced to a per capita basis.

The estimated income of the province for 1926 is $11,899,262. The estimated population of the province is 630,000. Dividing the income by the population, we arrive at a per capita income of approximately $18.56.

None of this money (with the exception of the Supplementary Revenue Tax) is raised by general direct taxation. The greater part of it is paid in return for services rendered, as in transportation, education, health, law administration, etc.

THE INCOME

The principal receipts per capita are as follows:

Dominion subsidy in lieu of natural resources, school lands, etc.	$3.06
Liquor Act, (sales, licenses, etc)	$2.74
Land titles, mothers' allowance refunds, succession duties, fines, etc.	$2.14
Supplementary Revenue Tax	$2.00
Wild Lands Tax	.79
Educational Tax	.36
Amusement Tax	.06
Corporation Tax	.03
Railway Mileage Tax	.03
Gasoline Tax	.50
Auto Licenses	$1.50
Agricultural (game licenses, fur tax, trade books, etc.)	.03
Insurance, etc	.02
Public Health (patients fees, etc)	.03

There are also miscellaneous receipts, totalling $16.57. The balance of the $18.56 is made up of a number of minor items. The average ratepayer can figure from the above what he actually pays to the provincial treasury.

WHAT WE GET FOR THE TAXES

The estimated expenditure for 1926 is $11,877,262.51. This divided by 630,000 population, gives an estimated per capita of $18.54 per head. Below are the principal items:

Public debt (interest on railways, irrigation, drainage, buildings, provision for sinking fund, etc)	$6.48
Executive council (1926 election, representation fund, inspection of mines, scientific research, etc.)	.52
Expenses of assembly, (including members' allowances 17c.)	.26
Agricultural (grants to fairs, educational, prevention of pests, provincial, etc.)	.05
Administration of justice, courts, land titles office, protection of children, etc.	$1.22
Alberta Provincial Police	.38
Mothers' Allowance	.05
Education (school grants $1.95, university 81c, technical, normal, examinations, inspection, blind and deaf children, etc.)	$2.68
Public health (general grants, administration, clinics, operations of mental institutions and training schools)	$1.46
Public Works (highways, market roads, bridges, ferries, upkeep of public buildings, etc.)	$2.18

The above sums represent $17.87 out of the total $18.54.

WHERE CAN WE CUT?

These figures should give the reader a birds eye view of the revenue and expenditure of the province. It will be seen that by far the greatest item is public debt. This is largely due to the railways guaranteed by the Province between 1910 and 1925 not paying their way, with the result that the Province has to pay the interest. The Lethbridge Northern Irrigation system also accounts for a considerable sum as subsidized interest. We are suffering now for the over optimism of past governments, who assumed a liability which was properly that of the Dominion Government or of the transcontinental railways.

The Province signed on the dotted line, and cannot avoid paying the interest now, though every endeavor is being made to turn the burden over to the Dominion or the railways, at the same time protecting the Province's interest of approximately $25,000,000 in the railways. Then as regards health, education, agriculture, police, etc., where are we to cut. We cannot have these things without paying for them.

Capital expenditure has not been dealt with here, but will be taken up in a later article.

—J.M.

THE RESOURCES OF AN EMPIRE

We would call our readers attention to the article in the inside pages of this paper entitled "The Resources of an Empire." This material has been prepared by The Alberta Press Association in order that the resources of this province become better known. If you have a friend in the ULAND Islands or Great Britain or even in the eastern provinces of Canada (we believe this information will be a revelation to reader there) send them a copy of it along. It is good business for if a settler improves his or her condition by coming to Alberta, they also improve conditions by residing here. This province could support one million people, which is nearly twice the number we have now. It is how, better that settlers come in a steady trickle, rather than in one grand rush.

THE RESOURCES OF AN EMPIRE

We would call our readers attention to the article in the inside pages of this paper entitled "The Resources of an Empire." This material has been prepared by The Alberta Press Association in order that the resources of this province become better known. If you have a friend in the ULAND Islands or Great Britain or even in the eastern provinces of Canada (we believe this information will be a revelation to reader there) send them a copy of it along. It is good business for if a settler improves his or her condition by coming to Alberta, they also improve conditions by residing here. This province could support one million people, which is nearly twice the number we have now. It is how, better that settlers come in a steady trickle, rather than in one grand rush.

THE STORY THUS FAR

Joanna, hopeful, pretty, shop girl, is ignorant of her parentage, though that an unknown benefactor has given her a million dollars to spend as she likes. There are no conditions which she must fulfill. The money [illegible] attempts to alienate her affections from Jimmy Dale, her sweetheart, but he will not, for from her. At the bank she meets the banker, Jorgenson, who tells her [illegible] to her identity, and his mean-about-town nephew Dupont, who tries to help her write her first check. Armed with two thousand dollars in crisp new bank-notes that must be in order to make sure he is one of the fortune. The latter implies that she must have "booked" a big man. The chauffeur also implies this. Hurt, Joanna starts home.

What else was there to say? What else to think about? Really any thing but the truth. But John asked her, then:

"What sort of a wife will you be to me, Joanna?" And do you think I'll be the kind of husband you really want?"

And that was John's old fashioned way. Meaning things up in what sort of a wife she'd be. But could she explain? She knew, deep down inside her, that she'd be a darned good one to him, but she hadn't been spending her time thinking up ways to please him. Small chance! The wives she knew were the kind that sent their husbands—they were always buying new rugs for the had tried to wonder, once, why men bought red roses for other men's wives, but she had given it up. She knew why those other women always drank more out of other men's hip pocket flasks than they did out of their husbands', but she couldn't put that into words, either. And she knew, too, that those wives, when they met at dancing places, at the cheaper and gaudier cabarets to which her boys could afford to take them, and at occasional beach parties in the summer time, were not the kind she'd be to John. But how in the devil could she get all that into words across to him? She all she could say to John that time was:

"Yes, you're a pain." You take what you get, and I'll take what I get and whoever kicks first can take the price!"

Which made John say a thing or two also didn't like the way she was acting, of course, and on that was that. She knew perfectly well what she'd do with her dollars all at one time. With ten thousand dollars she was like a millionaire as with the latest kick on down. With one million dollars—her head aches!) Joanna wasn't very good at figuring things out.

Why? What was the attitude, [illegible] unbelievable thing behind it? She'd always mercilessly [illegible] things people thought for the movies, and for the plays she'd even thought of herself as more or less [illegible] broker with an apartment on Park Avenue—and a boat and a maid all her own—[illegible] had crazy dreams like that. But she'd never heard of a thing such as had happened to her. She didn't know what to do about it except to go on [illegible] as if nothing had happened, and, somehow, that was a waste of time. She ought to be out [illegible] her money. But not [illegible] yet.

First, now that she had it, she'd just [illegible] and [illegible] Good Lord! With a million dollars everything she could think of [illegible] months ago. And [illegible] with my kidneys and would not rest [illegible] her bothered me [illegible] gradually got worse and I started to [illegible] Dr. Hartman's Peruna as a solid booth of information of the kidneys, explained by my kidneys. He gave me some medicine and on my way home I bought a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. My husband advised me to take the pills and this what I did. After taking [illegible] I felt [illegible] and by the second box I felt like a new person. I always keep them in the house now and tell others what wonderful work they can do." This statement comes from Mrs. F. Franek, a well known resident of this place.

Doan's Kidney Pills are known all over Canada as the old reliable Canadian kidney remedy. They are known by the whole [illegible] over.

"MONEY TALKS"

IT IS now definitely announced that the Western Canadian, including prairie and coast hockey teams, have been sold to interests, mostly American, and will play in the east next winter. Hockey is strictly a Canadian game. There can be no ice hockey with out ice and there is little opportunity for young players to develop on city artificial rinks. Hockey will without question "take" in the eastern States, but owing to it being a strictly imported sport and there being very little chance for spectators, both grown and growing, to participate in the game, there is some likilhood of the interest palling. Time alone will prove this.

A professional hockey club is a business and an intriguing one, at that, it is necessary that it earn money as well as win games, because unless it, to a certain extent does both these things, its existence is in jeopardy. The opportunity for a professional hockey club to earn money is greater in the eastern States than in Western Canada and because of this the disappointment felt at the Western league's departure is lessened. Business is business. That there is disappointment there is no gainsaying, because after all, professional sport is made possible by the support of the spectators; they pay the piper and in addition to this throw in a host of good wishes unmeasurable. Of course western prairie cities will not be without hockey, but it will be a drop from watching the cream of the hockey world to amateur talent. From the amateurs' viewpoint it is a good thing, the professional were monopolizing the attendance and really good hockey games were going begging for a gate.

The entire situation is a marked illustration of the free and easy wealth of the United States. For years American citizens have been buying the choicest art treasures of Europe, for years they have been paying enormous salaries to movie actors and prize fighters and now they come along and buy out an entire hockey league. "Money talks."

ALBERTA OIL FIELDS PROVEN

After many years of experimental development, Alberta oil fields are proven producers. The field at Wainwright and that in the southern part of the province, both have producing wells. We never were keenly interested in oil production, believing it was a highly specialized business in which a few people made a great deal of money and many people lost some money. We have often stated that cream is more valuable than oil, and up to the present at least was easier to get. We are pleased however to congratulate those districts in which producing wells have been located and we hope that the wells may prove a basis of prosperity to the districts concerned.

AN INTERESTING STATEMENT

We publish in another column a per capita statement of the 1926 estimated receipts and expenditures. This makes it easy for the average man to understand something of taxation. The statement is prepared by J. Mackenzie, secretary U.F.A. publicity department and a former country newspaper publisher. The figures we are assured, are correct, without resorting to decimals. They are also non-controversial. With the possible exception of the actual figures for 1925 they are perhaps the best method of interesting a citizen in provincial finances.

Fifth Annual Tour To The Pacific Coast

Special Train Leaving Winnipeg, July 5th, via Canadian National Railway. Entertainment Provided at Various Points of Interest Enroute

PERSONALLY CONDUCTED

Following the close of school for the summer holidays, the Canadian National Railways will again operate its popular "personally conducted" tour to the Pacific coast. This will be the fifth of such tours.

This mode of travel has many advantages. In the first place, it is planned with a view to including in the itinerary the most interesting points, which, with the other arrangements that are made, obviates the necessity of the passenger worrying a boat connections, sleeping car accommodation, meals, and entertainment en route. This is all done in advance by experts, leaving the passenger free to enjoy to the full the scenery and attractions attendent to such tours.

The tour this year will commence at Winnipeg, from which point a special train of modern sleeping car equipment, dining car and radio observation car, will leave July 5th. After stopping at various points of interest, the train will arrive at Prince Rupert on July 10th. At this latter point the party will embark on a palatial steamship for a cruise of 550 miles through the famous "Inside Passage" to Vancouver. While the tour terminates at Vancouver, those who desire to make a trip to Victoria may have their tickets read "Victoria" as their destination without any additional cost.

The local agent of the Canadian National Railways will be pleased to give you full particulars of this tour.

Of unusual importance to Roman Catholics is the 28th International Eucharistic Congress in Chicago, Ill., June 20th to 24th next.

The church dignitaries are duly appreciative of the efforts made by the Canadian National Railways who have arranged to operate special trains to and from the Congress, and have also made reservations for several hundred people in good hotels at a reasonable expense, and ask their people to make application promptly for the necessary sleeping car and hotel accommodation. The Church authorities were consulted prior to arranging the train service so that the proper departure time from the various centres would be ensured.

Those who desire to use the regular service have the privilege of travelling on a through train which is separated during the summer season from Western Canada to Chicago.

Any agent of the Canadian National Railways will be pleased to give you further particulars and complete all arrangements.

THIRD FORTNIGHTLY CROP REPORT

Issued by Department of Agriculture, Government of Alberta, Edmonton, May 17, 1926

Seeding of wheat is practically completed throughout the province, and seeding of coarse grain is well advanced. Early sown wheat is well above the ground and looking healthy. Growing conditions generally through out the province are excellent. The weather since the last report has been generally cool and showery, with a very few warm days. Almost every part of the province has been visited by rain which has varied in extent from light showers in some districts to heavy downpours in others. Southern districts have received a fair amount of precipitation, and in spite of some soil drifting, conditions in these districts at present are satisfactory. In the central and northern districts rain has been more general.

The outstanding comment to be made upon the situation at present is the fact that all growth in the province is much in advance of former years. Early sown wheat is now several inches above ground in many districts and is growing rapidly. Many rains will be needed in some districts if its rapid growth is to be sustained, but at present conditions may be said to be quite satisfactory.

Cutworms are still active in some districts but measures to control these apparently have been generally effective.

Pasture generally is good and stock in splendid condition.

Latest reports show that the average increase in wheat acreage will be about ten per cent with practically the same in other grain crops. Acreage in the north will show a big increase, and there is some increase in sugar beets, seeding of which is well advanced.

One hears a great deal about the future of Alberta, but if Alberta is to become great, Albertans mus make her so. After Seeding--What?

After seeding there will be time to see about the improvements you have planned to do this summer. Whether it is a ne whouse you are planning or a barn, or a small addition, we will be pleased to quote on the lumber bill for you. We were very successful last summer and we believe gave satisfaction to a number of farmers who built. We stand ready to do the same this summer.

THE JOHN DEERE TRACTOR

SEE THIS TRACTOR AT WORK AND HEAR WHAT MR. JOE STAUFFER HAS to SAY FOR IT.

He has owned two other makes of tractors, and thinks that this one is a wonder.

You will say "where does its great power comes from"?. Simply because no power is wasted in moving excess parts, as this is the great feature of the John Deere tractor, and it will run satisfactorily on the cheapest grade of fuel, pulling a three furrow 14 in. plow at four miles per hour with drag attached, through places where other tractors would mire. Here is where light weight, good traction and plenty of power counts.

If you are interested, we would be pleased to take you to see this tractor at work.

COMMITTEE ON TAXATION AT WORK

The work of the Committee, recently appointed by the government to advise with the Provincial Treasurer on financial matters got under way Monday morning when the first meeting was held at the Parliament Buildings, all members being present with the exception of Mr. Towell, who was unavoidably absent. Matters pertaining to the inquiry into revenue and expenditures of the province were discussed and plans formulated for a thorough study of the problems, local and provincial. A considerable amount of information has already been gathered and is now being compiled for future use.

Recognizing the principal purpose of the inquiry, that of reducing the burden of taxation with those in vogue in other parts of the Empire as well as States of America.

The important question as to the rights of the province and of the municipalities in the field of taxation is one phase that is to receive careful consideration as invitations have already been extended to local governing bodies in the province to place their views before the committee regarding any of the matters coming within the purview of the inquiry.

VIGOROUS ATTACK ON WEEDS

The vigorous campaign conducted for the past two seasons on weed eradication will be continued this summer. Fourteen supervisors have been named by Hon. Geo. Hoadley, Minister of Agriculture, and will be put into the field at once. Conference of these supervisors with officials of the department and weed inspectors of the various municipalities is being held this week at the Olds school of Agriculture.

Akin To The Poets

Sometimes, we think, that, like poets, advertisers are born and not made.

We are reminded of a hearty individual who invariably, when he has anything to sell, comes to the office, or (and this is most important), writes a letter letting us have copy for an ad. That this has been happening for some years is part proof that advertising pays. You would not think to meet him, that the gentleman was an advertiser, yet faith in honest advertising has netted him several dollars. The amount of business done with the gentleman is relatively small, but small straws show which way the wind is blowing.

We know other men, to whom, without a shadow of doubt, honest advertising would be an asset, but an inborn reluctance for publicity costs them several dollars as the months roll round.

Making Use Of Geysers

Town in Iceland Uses Water To Heat Houses

The wonderful geysers in Iceland, in Iceland, are now being used to heat the town and to warm and water greenhouses and gardens.

Water from the geysers is forced through a system of pipes laid to a depth of about three feet in the soil, and the warm water leaves and hastens the growth of such vegetables and fruits.

Next to Iceland's geysers a very large greenhouse is used to grow bananas, while all sorts and vegetables are grown in the open with extraordinary success. It is pointed indeed that with the assistance of its geysers Iceland will be able to compete with the Canary Islands as a purveyor of early potatoes and bananas.

Find Large Munition Dump

Concealed Behind False Wall Encased First Search By Dublin Police

A munition dump, one of the largest ever found, has been discovered by Dublin detectives behind a false wall in a stable in King street, Dublin. The dump consisted of rifle ammunition, 5,000 rounds of rifle ammunition and a box of revolver ammunition; no big rifles; and lots of high explosives, including cordite and gelignite. Many spare parts for rifles and machine guns were found, as well also found. Some of the bounds of the wall were recently erected to conceal chamber vault, but long enough to be observed. The stable, which belongs to one of the citizens prisoners who escape from Monastery Prison about two months ago, has been searched recently by the police, who sealed number.

ISAAC AND HIS WELLS

Golden Text, 1 Peter 4:9 Use hospitality one to another without grudging. Revised Version.

Explanations and Comments

I. Isaac Dwelling in Gerar (Gen. 26:1-17). 1. Famine in the land (v. 1). A hundred-fold (v. 12). Isaac's wealth came from his tending and not great wealth. The great was the household that the Philistines envied him.

Envy (v. 14). In the hearts of us envy is natural. Only those you never envied that other professional men. Philistines (v. 15). You, preacher, have you never envied some more successful preacher who has larger congregations, and better salary? Or lawyer in the town that you are? You, woman, have you never envied the home of your neighbor who happens to be younger and fairer and more admired? Philistines (cf. v. 21 Jones).

Isaac and the Philistines had to do to fill up the wells which Abraham had dug and which the Philistines had filled with earth. The cattle and herds and he moved on to Gerar (v. 17). Isaac dug in the valley of Gerar. It need be a mark of a gentleman to dig wells for others. Such an act commandment on his rights and pick a quarrel at the moment's notice. To do it, that would be a mark of ill-breeding. Why should others and Abraham's wells be closed? Isaac does their fathers' work, but he must better and quicker.

Poison Becoming Cheaper

Calcium Arsenate Or Arsenate Of Lime Is An Economical Insecticide

The old fussy arrived its day and period it well, but times have changed. The car is now the popular means of conveyance, and the grown man the old-fashioned poison for potato bugs ants and sundry other lest eating in fruits, but its day is passing, and there is less fuss made. According to Professor A. V. Mitchell of the chemical department, Manitoba Agricultural College, a newer and much cheaper but effective poison is now on the market. Its appearance upon our markets and should be welcomed by all who have to do with the growing of fruit or vegetables, as well as the present time. This newer insecticide is calcium arsenate or arsenate of lime. It is sold in the form of a fine white powder, closely resembling in appearance the old poison, Paris green, which up on the foliage of plants and trees in the form of a powder. Calcium arsenate is a very large amount of lime and only a small amount of arsenic. It is for this reason that it is so much cheaper than

Communication

Tofield, Alberta,
May 17th, 1926

The Editor, Tofield Mercury

Dear Sir:

I read with interest your editorial in last issue of the Mercury on American magazines and when you talk about the Youth's Companion, I feel right at home. When I was but eight years old (and as the story books say that was a long, long time ago) my father subscribed for the Youth's Companion for my brothers and myself. And for years it never failed to make its weekly visit. How we used to watch for the coming. Usually it reached our postoffice on Thursday's but sometimes, especially in the winter, it might be delayed on account of a bad storm. How agonizing it was to have to wait at least another 24 hours. And how we would bustle our work after school, so as to be through first, and get the Companion before someone else did. I remember but their father or mother sometimes had to decide who got first chance at it. If there was a very absorbing story and we had all been on our good behavior, we would take turns reading aloud, so as to let all know as quickly as possible how the story was working out.

No better, slimmer, more morally healthy paper was ever published for boys and girls of any country. You are to be greatly commended, Mr Editor, for providing it for your young folk to read.

But, Mr. Editor, there are lots and lots more just as good clean papers printed in the U.S. for both old and young. But it seems nothing but the worst that reaches this western country, and the real reason why they are flooding not only Canada but Mexico as well, is because they have such a poor circulation in their own country.

I have been surprised often, when in Tofield on Saturday, to see the number of people carrying a copy of a paper, which in my way of thinking is particularly obnoxious. For many years I lived less than 200 miles from Chicago, where this paper is published, and yet in my home town which is three times the size of Tofield and a very thickly settled farming country around it, this paper is almost unknown today. They take Chicago papers, but it is the more conservative kind. And it is the same all over the States, except in the large cities, where there is a large foreign element, in the mining country, where again there are many foreigners; and in the newer parts of the Western States as well as Western Canada, where for years we did not have much choice of reading matter, but were glad to read whatever came our way. But to believe that those lurid publications give a true description of the real United States, is as preposterous as to believe that one can tell what a man's religion is by the color of his eyes.

It seems that nowadays many people require a "thrill" above all else. Those publications cater to that taste, by seeking out all the most horrible, disgraceful happenings, writing them up in the most dramatic manner possible, with plenty of pictures illustrating them, and give them to the public. They constitute a most dreadful menace to the younger generation. The mind grows by what it feeds upon" and childhood is the most impressionable time of life. And surely those horrible pictures cannot work for good in young people's minds. That is realized in many places and many prominent men and women of the United States are working to do away with this pernicious reading matter. I have read a number of articles lately in regard to what is being done, and what they think should be done. One special big good address by one of the Professors of Princeton University.

The newsdealers are not to blame. As the merchant, they try to supply their customers with what they ask for. I is a hard matter to solve, but one that deserves more attention than is being given to it.

No greater trust was ever given men and women than the one of bringing up children to be honest, loyal, law abiding citizens, and anything that tends to hinder this should not be tolerated

SIQUMA is the Zulu word for HAIL. It means "it chops us down." The Zulu, on observing a storm approaching prepares his "hail sticks." He rubs on the end of these a medicine; he then sticks them through the roof of his thatched hut, being very careful to point them in a direct direction away from his own fields, and, equally carefully away from his neighbors fields. Where his location is such that he is almost surrounded by neighbors fields he has some job on his hands to so point his sticks that the hail will be carefully guided between the several fields. These sticks are also supposed to chase away lightning.
